EASTERN TEAMS HAVE EDGE ON WEST LAST WEEK

New York, May 24.—Intersectional hostilities ceased tonight on the baseball front as west and east called home their storming baseball legions with eastern supremacy temporarily but clearly established.

Termination of the struggle today found pennant races in both major leagues definitely confined for the time being to the narrow limits of four Atlantic coast cities. Philadelphia warriors, much to the growing amazement of baseball men, have fortified themselves at the top in the American and had carried their banners into the thick of the National fight.

Washington maintained a challenging position in the wake of the Athletics, while the Giants were perched far from danger on the National peak, with Brooklyn, in second place, eagerly grasping for a better hold to strike at the champions.

Only one wing of the west forces in the National was able to penetrate the defenses of the east, even as but a single unit of the west at home successfully stood off the invading eastern forces of the junior circuit.

The long exceptions in each loop were Pittsburg and White Sox teams. Each won a majority of games played. Cleveland in the position in the standings, dropped back to fourth place during the intersectional battles while of the eastern cohorts, Boston outfits offered the weakest front.

The sixth week of play produced a heavy exchange of hits in the National, the totals soaring from 64 bingles each for the Cards and Robins to a record accumulation of 94 for the Pirates. In spite of this terrific clouting, however, the Corsairs dropped two of their three engagements to the champion Giants, who again led the senior field for the week, with Jack Scott contributing two outstanding pitching performances.

After having spring pennant hopes dashed on rock-ribbed eastern pitching, the Reds took a brace and won four out of six closing games, with their bozmen reacting from early reverses of the invasion. The rally took the Hendricks brigade back into fourth place—the only change in the standing during the week.

Detroit Tigers had their best week of the season. The only team to win more than half their games in the American, Cobb's men closed their eastern excursion with a salvo of lusty clouts in Washington which almost shook the Senators out of second place.

The Athletics, White Sox, Red Sox, Senators and Yankees could obtain no better than an even break, as a result of which the American standing was affected by only one change—Chicago slipping past careening Cleveland into third place.

J. B. MARTIN TEAM WINS CLOSE GAME FROM HERRUPS

Rain halted in the fifth inning what was proving to be a brilliant pitching battle between Fisher of the Herrups and Pepin of the Velvetmen Sunday afternoon. The Velvetmen, however, won the game 1 to 0 in the second inning on a hit by Jimmy Murphy, Fisher's error and Dona's single. The game was called in the first half of the sixth inning.

Frankie Gley and Krauss turned in the fielding features while Bill Gley also made a brilliant shoe-string catch in the outfield. The crowd at the game was small. Next Sunday the Velvetmen will clash with the Hartford Colored Giants.

AGGIES YEARLINGS LOSE TO SPRINGFIELD FROSH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, May 24.—The Connecticut Aggie yearlings had difficulty here yesterday in solving the offerings of Beech, Springfield Freshmen twirler, and the Storrs team came out on the short end of a 8-4 score. Except for the fifth inning, Beech was master of the situation at all times, holding the Aggies to five hits and fanning thirteen men. In the fifth, however, the Aggies hit him, and aided by Springfield errors, were able to shove four runs across the plate.

Springfield collected 11 hits off Eddy, who was accorded poor support by his team mates. James made a three bagger, while Yates connected for a double. Logan of the Aggies also made a double the only hit for extra bases made by the Aggies.

RUTH WILL NOT PLAY UNTIL LAST OF WEEK

New York, May 24. Babe Ruth's appearance in the Yankee line-up may be delayed until late this week, although the home-run king had planned to leave St. Vincent's hospital tomorrow and play against Boston on Tuesday. His physicians said they had advised him not to leave the hospital before the middle of the week.

Despite chilly weather and occasional showers, Ruth continued his light batting practice at the Yankee Stadium. He has recovered eight of the thirty pounds which he lost during his recent illness.

TIGERS BEAT OUT SENATORS FOR SECOND TIME

Detroit, May 24—Nine thousand freezing fans saw Detroit beat Washington 5 to 2, the victory making the first time this season Detroit has won a series and also the first time Washington has lost two games in succession.

Dauss was effective keeping Washington hits scattered, while Detroit's hits were timely and the Senators' errors costly.

NATIONAL LEAGUE LEADS IN HOME RUN HITTING

Chicago, May 24.—Long distance hitting was more productive of home runs in the National than in the American league last week following an absolute deadlock in this department earlier in the week between the rival circuits. The National league finished the week with season's total of 147 four base blows to 137 in the American league, including games of today, Hartnett of the Chicago Nationals remained the individual leader, extending his total to thirteen home runs. Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals with 9, attained second position.

The leaders:

ACADEMY LOSES HECTIC GAME TO HARTFORD HIGH SATURDAY, 9 TO 7

Through loose playing in the early innings the Academy team lost to Hartford High 9 to 7 Saturday afternoon in a game marred by frequent wrangling with the umpires. Late in the game the Academy pulled itself together and launched an attack that for a time looked as though it might be productive of victory but through erratic base running it fell short of the goal by three runs.

Lloyd Jarvis and Johnny Greene were the outstanding stars of the game. Greene pitched a nice game and deserved a much better fate, but loose fielding at critical times robbed him of a victory. Jarvis was the leading hitter of the game getting two doubles and a single, both his doubles accounting for a run each. The rest of the team played mediocre baseball with the exception of Carlin, who played a nice game at second after he replaced McGowan. Carlin's hit also figured in the scoring in the sixth inning. Burke and Carroll with their one-handed catches also contributed to the fielding features.

The first inning saw Hartford swing into the lead when errors by McGowan and a couple of wild pegs netted them four runs. The Academy was able to get one of the runs back in their half of the first on a hit by Cimikowski who stole second and scored on Jarvis' double to center. Jarvis went to third on Rice's error but was caught at the plate when he tried to score on a passed ball.

Hartford added two runs in the third frame on a hit by Rago, a base on balls and a passed ball and Cimikoski's wild heave to first. In the fourth frame they scored three more runs on a base on balls, an error and two hits. This ended the scoring for Hartford, although they threatened in the eighth inning when a doubleplay with two men on base cut down their chances.

The sixth inning was profitable for the Academy, netting them three runs. Cimokoski hit safely, stole second, and scored when Jarvis poled out his second double of the game. Jarvis scored on Hinrichs' Texas leaguer to right. Hinrichs stole second and likewise third, but was caught at the plate on an attempted squeeze play. Burke was hit and stole second and also third. He scored on a passed ball. The scoring ended when Shorty Hamil struck out.

In the seventh the locals added one more counter to their total. Greene hit safely to left field and advanced when Carroll was hit by a pitched ball. Greene went to third on a passed ball and scored as Cimikoski was being thrown out at first. Carroll went to third and in attempting to score on a slow ball to the pitcher was caught at the plate. The Academy added two more in the eighth on hits by Cimikoski, Brewer and Hinrich. This ended the Academy's chances of scoring.

The Academy taken all in all played a better game than the Hartford team and lost several good opportunities of scoring by taking too many chances on the bases. The score:

NURMI MAKES HIS BOW TO AMERICAN TRACK TUESDAY

New York, May. 24.—Foremost runners of America and Finland will pass in review on Tuesday before New York's first night track meet gathering at the Yankee stadium in special sprint and distance races supporting the farewell appearance of Paavo Nurmi in this country.

Completion of the program today added to the list of events a 300 yard run, in which Allan Woodring proposed to attack the world's record; a special sprint of 100 yards featuring Jackson V. Scholz and Frank Hussey; an 80 yard hurdle race pitting Herby Meyer, American champion, against Carl Christiersen, member of the 1924 Swedish Olympic team; and a 1,500 meter test for Lloyd Hahn, Jimmy Connolly and Willie Goodwin.

Topping these attractions were the struggle between Finland's Olympic heroes and the pick of American track stars. While interest was focused on the meeting of Nurmi and Alan Halfrich over the half mile route, the meet also offered the American debut of the Marathon champion, Albin Stenroos, of Finland, in a one hour race against the record of Charles Pores, who covered 10 miles, 1,493 yards in one round of the clock in 1919.

Willie Ritola, compatriot of Stenroos and Nurmi, as well as 10,000 meter champion, will be a starter against Stenroos.

BULKELEY CHALKED UP ITS TWELFTH VICTORY TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 24—Although playing indifferent ball in the field, the Bulkeley bambinos more than made up for this deficiency with their usual heavy slugging and the purpose in mind was accomplished with neatness and dispatch. It was only an abbreviated contest which lasted until the seventh inning when rain spoiled the party. Bulkeley won by a score of 12 to 4.

The infield work was nothing to brag about in the first few innings but improved with each succeeding inning, until the Bulkeley machine realising the task before it, hit and fielded with that dash and spirit which has marked its twelfth victory in thirteen starts this season.

There was hitting aplenty and of that kind which usually travels on the line. No fluksy hits were included in the total made by the Orange and Black. There was no stopping them and they made short work of Rummage. His successor received the same treatment.

Bulkeley struck for home and country in the fifth and until that frame had been reached, the visitors were in the lead. The deluge of base knocks soon brought about the retirement of Rummage and he was succeeded by Kelman who also was easy. In all, the run making in the fifth included a total of eight runs on five hits and every one of the hits counted runs. Outside of that fifth Bridgeport played good ball, but had the Bulkeley team played its usual brand of ball the visitors would have not scored a single tally. The hits they made with two exceptions were pop-ups which fell safe for hits.

Tillie Daniels was supreme as far as pitching ability was concerned. He was the center of favorable comment and the several college scouts who were in the stands from Fordham, N. Y. U. and Brown all agreed to this. Besides the twirling of Daniels, the heavy hitting of Mansfield and Booth, who had homers, and timely hitting by Sheflott and Gaetano broke the scoreless spell of the Panthers.

The visitors scored in the very first inning. Bjsalm walked, Cremins hit to Gaetano at short who made a rather bad peg to Barry at second and when Falvey mussed up the wayward ball, Bjsalm was on third. A double steal was worked and succeeded, both throws by Sheflott and Barry being a trifle high to get the men.

Bulkeley went the Hilltop nine one better in the second. Gaetano hit safely to center, and Mansfield poked a homer to left field. It was a see saw affair throughout. Bridgeport took the lead away from Bulkeley in the next frame scoring twice. Gaetano mused up Bjsalm's grounder and Cremin's was presented with a hit when his pokey pop fly looped for a hit in the infield. Helenza's single scored both, and Bridgeport was in the lead.

Bulkeley was not to be left behind and tied up the count in their half of the frame scoring once. Barry was hit by a pitched ball and stole second and third on the play. A single by Sheflott brought Hutchison in with the tying run. It seemed to be a give and take affair, with Bridgeport doing most of the taking and little of the giving. The Hilltop nine scored a run in the fourth and went into the lead. Regan walked a sacrifice and a single by Rummage did the trick.

Everything looked gloomy, even the sky, as Bulkeley went in to the fifth inning one run behind. But the gloom disappeared after this frame as did the dark clouds in the sky and everything looked bright again. Hutchison got a handle hit but it was a liner to left center. Sheflott also singled and Booth walked. Gaetano singled through the box and one run was across the plate. Montali bounded one to the Bridgeport first baseman who wrestled with the ball and Sheflott counted. Mansfield walked forcing in Booth. Parisi filed out to Chavkin, but Daniels scored two with a double which bounded off the scoreboard in deep right center. Barry singled and two more counted. This made seven runs with only one out, Kelman relieving Rummage with Mansfield at the plate. He allowed two hits in that frame, one by Daniels and one by Barry, but these were the most damaging of all, for they accounted for five runs. Hutchison up for the second time that inning grounded out and Sheflott fanned for the third out, as Barry counted on a wild pitch. Score:

Over and Over Again.

Over and over again,
No matter which way I turn,
I always find in the Book of Life
Some lesson I have to learn.

I must take my turn at the mill,
I must grind out the golden grain,
I must work at my task with a resolute will,
Over and over again.

We cannot measure the need
Of even the tiniest flower,
Nor check the flow of the golden sands
That run through a single hour;

But the morning dew must fall,
And the sun and the Summer rain
Must do their part, and perform it all,
Over and over again.

Over and over again,
The brook through the meadow flows,
And over and over again
The ponderous mill wheel goes;

Once doing will not suffice,
Though doing be not in vain,
And a blessing failing us once or twice
May come if we try again.

The path that has once been trod
Is never so rough to our feet
And a lesson we once have learned
Is never so hard to repeat;

Though sorrowful teams may fall,
And the heart to its depths be riven
With storm and tempest, we need them all
To render us meet for Heaven.

—Josephine Pollard.

The Fountain.

Glad of all weathers,
Still seeming best,
Upward or downward
Motion thy rest—

Full of a nature
Nothing can tame,
Changed every moment
Ever the same.

Ceaseless aspiring,
Ceaseless content,
Darkness or sunshine
Thy element—

Glorious fountain!
Let my heart be
Fresh, changeful, constant,
Upward, like thee!

Into the sunshine,
Full of the light,
Leaping and flashing
From morn' till night!

Into the moonlight,
Whiter than snow,
Waving so flower-like
When the winds blow!

Into the starlight
Rushing in spray,
Happy at midnight,
Happy by day!

Ever in motion,
Blithesome and cheery,
Still climbing heavenward,
Never aweary—

—James Russell Lowell.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE-AWAKES.

Only a few weeks more and school will close for the long summer vacation. To many boys and girls next month, graduation month, will mean the end of schooldays and the beginning of the hard struggle to gain the top rung of the ladder of success in the business world. To some boys and girls the arrival of graduation day is but the beginning of high school instruction. To others, less fortunate in regard to the pursuit of education, graduation means the end of school days, and the beginning of work days. Some will enter shops and factories, others will become clerks in stores, while still others will take positions in offices. One thing all boys and girls should remember: that is, that the end of school days does not mean that you must stop learning. As a matter of fact, we never stop learning. No one has ever reached the point where he can never learn anything new. The successful man is continually broadening his education. He learns daily, in his business tasks and in his leisure moments many things that are not taught in school. Education does not end with the close of school days. No one is so busy that he or she can't find time to be used for study.

You should cultivate the habit of reading books that will tend to have a good influence on your life. You will find that good books are among the best and most faithful friends you can have. Always remember that you haven't finished your education, and never will in this life. There is always something new to learn in the school of experience.

WINNERS OF PRIZE BOOKS.

1—Mary Idzkowski, No. Franklin—The Boy Land Boomer.

2—Ethelyn M. Robinson, Harmony, Me.—The Camp Fire Girls in the Mountains.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES.

A Loaf of Bread.

Dear Uncle Jed: Here is a story I made up in school about a loaf of bread. A little peasant boy was busy working in a field. His name was Jean. If someone had watched him, they would have seen him drop something in the ground and cover it up.

Jean was planting wheat. Soon little green weeds grew up. These were my brothers, sisters and I.

We were in the field a long, long time. We saw the birds, the trees and all the beautiful world. After a time Jean cut us down. He took us to a barn and threshed us. We were separated from our friends, the stalks. Then Jean took us to a mill.

When we returned, all of us were not there. We were all ground up to little bits. Jean called us flour. Jean sold some of us. I was taken to a baker's. He made me into a loaf of bread. He put me into a hot place, called the oven. It was very hot in there and I was glad when I was taken out.

Then we were sold to people. I was bought by a poor, hungry woman. Oh, how happy the loaves of bread and I made the people! But Jean was the happiest of all, because he earned money by selling us.

MARY IDZKOWSKI, Age 12.
North Franklin.

Boys Were Fighting.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am in the third grade. I hope you will like my story. One day as I was going to school I saw two children fighting. One was as old as I and the other was about 8 years old. I thought this was dreadful. I watched them pelting stones at each other. I had to do something, so I went to the older boy and asked him to please stop. But it was in vain. Soon I saw my cousin coming. He was a stout young lad and he stopped the fight.

HELEN MURPHY.
Norwich.

A Trip to Augusta.

Dear Uncle Jed and all the little Wide-Awakes: I was visiting my cousin last week and she told me about the children who are writing to you. So I thought I would write you a letter and tell you about my trip to Augusta.

My father is a Methodist minister and he attended conference, and mother, brother and I went with him. We had a very nice time and saw many wonderful sights. We visited the insane hospital, which was very interesting. But I decided I wouldn't care to make my home there.

I just love to write letters. I hope you will like my letter so I can write again.

I will close with good wishes to you all. From your new friend.

ETHELYN M. ROBINSON, Age 10.
Harmony, Maine.

Is Going to the Beach.

Uncle Jed: I thought I would write and tell you and the Wide-Awakes that I am going to the beach next month when school closes. My father and mother have got a cottage for a whole month. It is the first time that I have ever been to the beach to stay such a long while. Last summer we went to the mountains in New Hampshire for two weeks. We went on a train and it took all day. I had a great time there and hope I will have as good a time at the beach this summer. I don't know what beach it is, but I think it is in Rhode Island.

JOE LAMSON, Age 11.
Hope Valley.

Five Little Kittens.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to the Wide-Awake circle. One day I was looking for my cat and I couldn't find her. One day I saw my cat near the barn and I followed her into the barn. I found five kittens in the hay. I took them into the house. When I found them they were blind. In a few days they could see. Every morning before I go to school I give them some milk.

IDA KAPLAN, Age 13.
Willimantic.

Making Fudge.

Dear Uncle Jed: One rainy afternoon, having nothing to do, I decided to make some fudge. I used everything that was called for in my recipe book. In adding the vanilla to the fudge, something seemed to have a queer smell. When the fudge was cooled I cut it into small squares, and it was then ready to serve. I gave the first piece to my brother. When he had tasted of it, he immediately ran for some water. Wondering what could be the matter, I tasted a piece and found, to my great surprise, that I had used some castor oil instead of the vanilla.

FRANCES ABRAMSON, Age 13.
Norwich.

Likes to Fish.

Dear Uncle Jed: I won a book last year and I liked it. So I am going to write to you again. You ought to see our fruit trees. They are all blossomed out and they are very pretty. I like to see all the pretty blossoms but they don't last long. We are doing our planting now. My father and uncle are out in the garden today. They are planting potatoes. We are going to have some corn, and lots of vegetables, too.

I am glad school is going to close soon for the summer vacation. I asked my teacher yesterday when we are going to have vacation and she said next month. I like the summer time because I can play outdoors all the time. I go fishing with my brother sometimes. He says I don't know how to fish because I don't pull the line up quick enough. He gets his line all tangled up in the bushes. The fish he catches are only little ones. My dad says all we catch is bait.

ALICE DUHAIME, Age 12.
Manchester.

Three Bantam Roosters.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to the Wide-Awake circle. I have three bantam roosters and three hens. On April 5, 1925, when I came home from school I found eight bantam chickens. One was white but it changed to a brownish color. The others are brown. Two of the chickens died. The other chickens are growing fast.

Every morning before I go to school and when I come home, I feed them. I hope the Wide-Awakes will like my letter.

STELLA KEMLER, Age 10.
Willimantic.

Another New Member.

Dear Wide-Awakes: This is my first letter to the Wide-Awakes. I asked my mother if she thought I could join and she told me to write a letter to Uncle Jed and that I might win a book. The only thing I can think of to write about is my visit to New York. It was the first time I ever was there. I went with my uncle and aunt and my mother in my uncle's machine. We don't have an automobile so he takes us out for rides. This time we went to New York and stayed there for two days. We visited my grandmother and some aunts and cousins. I had a dandy time but it rained most of the time we were there. I went to the moving pictures in Brooklyn. We had a blowout going down and on the way home we lost the spare tire off the back of the machine.

ANNIE STROM, Age 13.
New London.

Won the Game.

Dear Uncle Jed: We beat the Little Tigers the other afternoon after school. The score was 10 to 2. We had a great time playing and I knocked two home runs. I fell down the second time I was making a home run and skinned my knee but I got home all right before the catcher got the ball. We are going to play them again next Saturday. I forgot to tell you that the name of our team is The Sluggers. I am the pitcher. I will write and tell you how the game comes out on Saturday. I have a new glove.

JAMES E. LARRABEAU, Age 12.
Mystic.

Is on a Visit.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have often read the Wide-Awake letters and I like them very much. So I am going to try and write one too. I am visiting at my aunt's now and we have such fun. I play with the baby and sometimes they let me dress her if I am very careful. Sometimes one of my friends and I go out and play ball. I think it's heaps of fun to play ball. I'll bet it would be fun if all of the Wide-Awakes could get together and play games together. Wouldn't we have fun, though? I hope Uncle Jed will like my letter.

IRENE STETSON, Age 11.
Willimantic.

Middle Atlantic States.

Dear Uncle Jed: I want to tell you some facts about the Middle Atlantic states. They are New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. New York and Pennsylvania are each larger than any two of the New England states, but New Jersey is only about as large as Massachusetts. The Middle Atlantic group lies between the Atlantic ocean on the southeast and two of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence river on the north.

Both agriculture and dairying are important industries in the Middle Atlantic states. Wheat, corn, barley, oats and potatoes are raised on the farms, and New York ranks as the second state in the union in fruit raising. Apples, grapes, peaches and other fruits are raised in the Hudson valley, along the shores of the Great Lakes and around the lakes in central and western New York. New Jersey and Pennsylvania also raise much fruit.

CLARENCE CHANDLER, Age 9.
Danielson.

Life of the Robin.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about the life of a robin.

The robin eats the canker worms which destroy apples and cut worms which destroy corn. The robin is fond of wild fruit and insects. When he eats the cherries the seeds drop out and more bushes grow. The robin is fond of earth worms. He flies down into the grass and listens for a worm. If he sees one he will give it a little pick and then eat it.

The robin lives in North America as far north as Alaska and comes when the snow is on the ground. They stay till late in the fall. The robin is found in farms, orchards, and around dwelling houses. They are good builders. He builds his nest out of grass and sticks lined with mud. While he is building the nest the mother bird gets in the nest and rolls around to make it fit her.

Soon in the nest are four pale blue eggs. The eggs are hatched by the heat of the mother's body. Now is a busy time for the parents. The mother has the most work. The young birds eat more than a handful of worms a day. The baby birds are always hungry. They open their mouths as wide as possible and cry for food. In about ten or twelve weeks they begin to learn how to fly. Sometimes a second brood is reared. The parents teach the birds how to drink and bathe. The mother leads the little ones to the ground and teaches them how to listen for worms. The parents love their young ones. Sometimes you can find a frozen robin on the nest to protect the young.

The robin is a cheerful bird. The male has a black head and a red breast. The female has a gray head and a lighter breast. When the young ones first come out they have no feathers, their eyes are shut and the mouths wide open. They want to be warm and fed. In a few days a little down grows, then little feathers grow. The young birds look somewhat like their parents, only their breasts are brown spotted with black.

LIBBY SOLOMON, Age 12.
Norwich.

Is Six Years Old.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am six years o'd and this is the first letter I have tried to write. I have to print the letters but dad says he guessed you can read them. He helped me spell some of the words. I have two kittens and we have a big dog. He chases the kittens

THOMAS SHEA, Age 6.
Putnam.

Hanging a May Basket.

Dear Uncle Jed: One night I said I would like to hang a May basket. Mamma said I could, so I decided to hang it to grandma. I filled it with candy, nuts, apples and cake. I picked some flowers and hung them on the basket. Muriel and I hung it and we hid in the shed. When Muriel heard her coming she whispered "Here she comes," but she went the other way. Then we ran and hid in another place. We stayed there until she found us.

EDNA WHITE, Age 8.
North Franklin.

My Pets.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you, and I hope you will enjoy reading this letter. I have two dogs and their names are Jack and Tinker. One day last week my dog Jack began barking very loudly in our neighbor's swamp. So my sister and I went to see what he had. To our surprise he had a woodchuck up a tree. My sister got a long stick and got him out of the tree and the dog killed him and we brought him home and the two dogs ate him up. I have two cats and a baby calf. This is all for this time.

ADDIE ROBBINS, Age 8.
Canterbury.

The Birds' Nest.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about a bird that built its nest down our well. One morning I saw a phoebe on top of the well, singing, and then I saw her carrying straw and hair. I watched her but could not find where she was making her nest. To my surprise, it was on the side of the well where the rain had washed out the dirt. I have been watching her and Wednesday she laid her first egg. Now I think that is a funny place for her to make a nest, don't you?

EDITH L. MILLIARD, Age 9.
Jewett City.

P. S.—Just before I mailed this letter she laid another egg.

Have Over 100 Chickens.

Dear Uncle Jed: My big sister, the one that is married, and lives near us, has over 100 little chickens. She hatched them in an incubator and they are cute little things. I like to feed them scratch corn and watch them run around chasing each other. She is going to give me one so that I can have some eggs. I hope she gives it to me soon, don't you?

ARLENE PALCZYK, Age 8.

What Scrapper Did to King Eagle

True dignity is fine, and yet
'Tis very easy to upset.

—Peter Rabbit.

The truth of this King Eagle knows. He knows it well. You see it has more than once happened to him. Yes, sir, the dignity of King Eagle, and he has a great deal of dignity, has been upset more than once. And never was it more upset than when Scrapper the Kingbird drove him from the Old Orchard. It had been bad enough to miss Peter Rabbit, and that was due him. There is always a loss of dignity in rushing for a thing and missing it. This had been bad enough, but it had been worse, oh, very much worse, to be driven, actually driven, away by one so small that he would have hardly made more than one good mouthful.

Again King Eagle had missed a breakfast for those hungry eaglets

King Eagle had known just how undignified he appeared as he dodged this way and that way, and all the time hurried as fast as his great wings could take him to get away from that little pest who managed to keep just above him, and kept striking him on his back and between the shoulders. It was the fact that Scrapper was so small that made it impossible for King Eagle to fight back.

When at last King Eagle got rid of Scrapper the Kingbird his dignity was wholly upset. But Scrapper had done more to King Eagle than upset his dignity. Yes, sir, he had done more than that. He had made King Eagle lose his temper. It is bad enough to see a small person lose his temper, but it is very much worse to see a big person lose his temper. King Eagle had lost his completely by the time he was high enough in the blue, blue sky to get rid of Scrapper. With every stroke of his great wings he grew angrier. To have his babies over on the Big Mountains cheated of the rabbit breakfast he had felt so sure of catching for them was hard enough to bear, but to be made ridiculous in the eyes of all the little feathered folk in the Old Orchard was quite unbearable. At least that is the way King Eagle felt about it.

His eyes grew bright with anger as he continued on his way looking for a breakfast for those two hungry children back there in the big nest in a tall tree on the Big Mountain. They must be fed. For in the distance he could see their mother, high in the sky. She also was hunting and he knew that as yet she had had no success. Those young Eagles had had no breakfast, and until they had eaten he himself could eat nothing.

Once as he swung in circles high over the Big River he saw a fish lying on a sandy beach. He had just started to set his wings and glide down to get it when Reddy Fox came out from the bushes picked up that fish and darted back into the bushes. Again King Eagle had missed a breakfast for those hungry Eaglets, and he knew that it was his own fault. Twice he had swung around that fish without seeing it because he had been so much occupied with his angry thoughts. Had he seen that fish the first time, as he should have, he would have reached it before Reddy Fox.

So King Eagle kept on his way more angry than ever. And because he was so angry he wanted to make some one else suffer. Isn't it too bad that anger so often works that way? It really does, you know. Presently, far ahead of him above the Big River a fisherman appeared. King Eagle's eyes gleamed. Then he saw another. They were Plunger the Osprey and Mrs. Plunger. Often they are called Fish Hawks. King Eagle mounted higher in the blue, blue sky. He mounted higher and higher on those broad wings of his and at the same time flew toward Plunger and Mrs. Plunger.

WESTERLY

In the superior court for Washington county, which convenes this (Monday) morning at the court house at West Kensington, the suit to determine the validity of the will of Wanton R. Carpenter, which involves the distribution of an estate estimated at $125,000 will be continued. The suit has been heard by a jury before Judge Edward W. Blodgett in the superior court at Kingston during the past week. It is thought that the hearing will continue the greater part of the present week. Wanton R. Carpenter, whose estate is involved, was well known during his life time throughout New London and Washington counties, where he transacted much business.

That the provisions of the intinerant vendors' law are to be strictly enforced in Westerly was evident during the past week, when a number of peddlers were before Acting Judge M. Walter Flynn, Jr., in a special session of Third District court. On a complaint sworn out by Westerly Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, Benedito Maccaruso, 72 Sutton street, Providence, and Salvatore Tancese, 215 Atwell's avenue, of that city, were arraigned, after they had been taken into custody by Patrolman George Madison when distributing groceries without the necessary license. On their pleas of guilty, each was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $12.80. Without License from the General Treasurer of Rhode Island Maurice Kresnow, 72 Connecticut avenue, New London, and Harry Moltz, 13 Bobart street, same city, were arrested by Westerly Police Sergeant Curtin and in the same session of court each paid the same fine and costs. Sam Lazzarus, Boston, and Maurice Segal, 20 Highland street, Dorchester, Mass., were apprehended by Sergeant Curtin and on complaint of Chief Brown that they "did as a hawker, peddle, sell and offer for sale oilcloth," were fined $10 each and paid the total of $12.80, as paid by othe other vendors.

In Plainfield, N. J., Sunday morning, Sarah Emma Davis, 62, wife of Henry E. Leonard, formerly of Westerly, died at her home. Mrs. Leonard had undergone an operation some time ago and had been ill at her home in Plainfield for the past three weeks.

Mrs. Leonard was the daughter of the late George F. and Sarah M. Davis of Westerly, and was born in California. She was united in marriage with Henry E. Leonard of Westerly and for several years they resided here. Mr. Leonard is head of the New York office of the C. B. Cottrell and Sons company of Westerly. For some time Mr. and Mrs. Leonard resided in New York and then moved to Plainfield.

Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Leonard Burch, of Plainfield, formerly of Westerly; her mother, Mrs. Henry Chester, of Westerly; two sisters, Mrs. George E. Egger of Westerly and Mrs. Arthur Starr of California, and by three brothers, Edgar, George and Joseph Davis.

While returning alone to her home off Oak street, Saturday night, Mrs. E. A. Gardiner stated to the police that she had been attacked by a man, near the Haswell store. She was unable to give a good description of her assailant but claimed that he was tall, wore a light coat and dark brown hat. Striking her in the back the man knocked her down but her piercing screams roused the neighborhood and the man fled up Oak street. Mrs. Gardiner waited at the home of George H. Ray nearby when Sergeant of Police Michael Curtin responded to a telephone call for help. Sergeant Curtin scoured the neighborhood but was unable to locate any suspicious character. Although a number of others assisted in the search, the meager detail gave little upon which to work. Mrs. Gardiner, in a semi-hysterical condition, was taken to her home in a taxi.

Memorial Sunday services were held at Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock when the pastor, Rev. Lewis A. Walker, preached a Memorial sermon. Special music was given by the church choir and Mrs. Ralph H. Keelb, soprano soloist, sang "Cast Thy Burdens Upon the Lord." The services were largely attended, among the patriotic bodies present being, Budlong Post, No. 18, Grand Army of the Republic; Budlong Woman's Relief Corps, Hancock Woman's Relief Corps, Ames P. Chapman Camp, No. 6, Sons of Veterans, and auxiliary; Robert Brucker Camp, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, and auxiliary; Harold W. Merrill Post, No. 18, American Legion; Harley P. Chase Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Battery E, 243rd R. I. C. A. H. D.

The first aid squad of Westerly Fire Department held the first night of its fair with a bazaar and dance in the Westerly Town Hall Saturday night. Due to the severe thunder storm the attendance was not great and the street parade, which had been planned with the P. S. Barber Hose Company and the Watch Hill Fire Company with Westerly Firemen, had to be abandoned.

William W. Grant arrived in Westerly Sunday afternoon from Allentown, Pa., to be the guest of his sisters, Misses Elizabeth M. Grant and Sarah J. Grant.

Frederick S. Opie was a business caller in Woonsocket, R. I., on Friday and Saturday of the past week, making the trip by automobile.

Miss Jessie A. Aitken returned to Westerly on Sunday, after being a visitor in Worcester, Mass., Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Sagar arrived at their home in Westerly Saturday after a trip to Europe, which included a several weeks' stay in France.

Charles E. Redford of New London was a business caller in Westerly, Saturday.

Mrs. Harry W. Maxson of Montreal, Canada, arrived last week to pass the summer months as the guest of Mr. Maxson's father, C. C. Maxson in Westerly, and at their cottage at Weekapaug.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

New York, May 24.—Strength of sterling exchange, which rose to the highest level in eleven years, and within a small fraction of one cent of dollar parity; continuance of the upward movement of stock prices for the third consecutive week; establishment of the highest levels in several years by the bond price averages and stiffening commodity quotations, were the outstanding features of last week's financial markets.

The recent rise in stocks, which has been accompanied by substantially increased public participation, has been interpreted in many quarters as a discounting of expected business improvement during the summer and fall. Wall street also has heard talk that "bull" operators were anxious to get stocks up and distributed before fall on the theory that the reconvening of congress and state legislative bodies will undoubtedly develop agitation for legislation unfavorable to business, and will probably bring increased competition from European manufacturers.

Speculative interest has been shifting from group to group with the public utilities, motors, oils, chemicals and papers showing the best gains this week. Buying of the rails has been selective with the so-called "merger" issues and the northwestern Carriers making substantial progress.

Continuance of easy money accounts for the strength of the bond market and aids the operations of speculators for the advance in stocks. Indications that there is no strain on the weekly federal reserve bank statement, which showed the New York bank to have the highest reserve ratio of the year and within one percent. of the highest in the last eight years.

R., Legion Auxiliary, Red Cross chapter, clergy and borough officials, also Mrs. La Flamme, for whose son the post is named. ## NORWICH TOWN

The annual Cradle Roll Party of the First Congregational Sunday school, was held Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5:30, on the side of the church lawn, near the old well. There was an attendance of sixty, including twelve mothers.

The happy afternoon afforded this large company of children under eight years of age, was successfully carried out under the direction of their efficient leader, Miss Marion L. Bailey. Several out-of-door games were played. Then a pleasing attraction was the candy hunt, which was held in the chapel. During the afternoon the children who had brought their cradle containers, (mite boxes) counted their pennies. Although all have not been heard from, there being more cradles to come in, the total Saturday afternoon was about $9.

This money is to be sent to Miss Anna Learned of New London, treasurer of the Eastern Connecticut Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions. Chairs and rugs were arranged on the lawn and while the children were seated to form a circle Miss Bailey, assisted by Misses Rose Durr, Dorothy Heath, Ethel Whaley, Ida Beebe and Louise Bailey, with Mrs. Walter G. Hitchon, Jr., served animal crackers, dainty cakes and ice cream. The youngest child present was Arthur Prentice Browning, seven months old, third son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Browning of Norwich Town.

At the Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey preached on "Pursuing Our Ideals." The text was Luke 9:62, And Jesus said unto him, no man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the Kingdom of God.

Rev. Mr. Bailey conducted the devotional service at the Christian Endeavor Acorn Institute, held at the Taftville Congregational church, Saturday and Sunday.

In his sermon at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday morning, Rev. James B. Aldrich preached on The Friendship of God. Exodus 33:14, was the text. And He said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest.

Lewis Aldrich, Le Roy Miner, Miss Hazel Cruthers and Miss Florence M. Brown, were the appointed delegates from the Young People's Christian Endeavor society, to the two days' session of the C. E. Acorn Institute at Taftville.

Having spent nearly five weeks at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Peck, of Otrobando avenue, Mrs. Theodore D. Peck returned Friday evening to Westchester, where she will remain indefinitely at the home of her other son, Edward Peck. The latter came to Norwich Town to meet her.

Word has been received in Norwich of the marriage May 15, in New York city, of Allan Bixby, son of Mrs. Emma Bixby of Bliss Place, and Miss Veronica Saris, daughter of John Saris, of Lebanon, Penn.

Miss Ida Beebe has returned to her home on East Town street, following a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lathrop (Elizabeth Luther) of Worcester, Mass., formerly of Norwich Town.

Mrs. Maurice Wallen of Hartford, was a guest recently of Norwich friends.

Mrs. Charles A. Spear of Canterbury turnpike, entertained recently several members of the sewing club.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Johnson, of Upper Washington street, sailed from New York, Saturday, for a stay of several weeks in England. A dinner was given in their honor Wednesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Camp and during the week, Mrs. Johnson was tendered a luncheon at the Norwich Golf club, by Mrs. Grosvenor Ely, and Mrs. Joseph C. Worth entertained at a bridge party in honor of Mrs. Johnson.

SKULL FRACTURED IN AUTO CRASH; DRIVER OF MACHINE RUNS AWAY

Urban L. Cates of Trading Cove is in the Backus hospital, unconscious with a fractured skull, severe concussion of the brain and other injuries received when he was thrown from the automobile driven by Austin De Wolfe, 28, of Moosup, Saturday night, about 11 o'clock on North Main street. De Wolf, according to the police, ran away after the accident and could not be found, but about 4.30 Sunday morning he came to police headquarters and gave himself up. He is charged with evading responsibility and is out on bonds of $1,000 furnished by his employers.

De Wolf had Cates riding with him Saturday night when he ran into the rear of the car of Irwin E. Burdick of 84 River avenue which was standing by the side of the road on North Main street near Ninth street. With Mr. Burdick in his machine at the time was Miss Shirley Dempski of 9 Ninth street. The crash threw Cates out into the street where he lay unconscious and De Wolf left the wreck in a hurry although Burdick shouted after him to come back.

Dr. Paul S. Gadis was called and at once had Cates taken to the Backus hospital. Besides the fractured skull and concussion he is suffering from bruises and cuts on the head and body. Several stitches were required to close a bad cut on his head.

Both machines were considerably damaged.

Had No Driver's License

While operating an automobile out of a driveway on Boswell avenue near St. Mary's cemetery Sunday afternoon, Alex F. Korankiewicz, 21 of North street ran the car into a machine operated by Albert Roy.

Officers John Carroll and Smith who were sent to make an investigation found that Korenkiewicz had no driver's license with him and has not had one this year. He will be in the police court to answer to the charge of driving without a license.

With Roy in his car at the time of the accident were Leo Peltier, Delia Peltier and Laura Breault.

STATE COMMERCE CHAMBER'S ACTIVITIES IN LEGISLATURE

The 26th annual report of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce which is the fourth annual report issued during President Bullard's administration discloses that the chamber has studied, followed and supported or opposed twenty-two different bills or resolutions before the present general assembly.

The report which is a typewritten manuscript nearly thirty pages long sets forth in detail the chamber's study and procedure on each of the different matters which were a part of its programme.

The report discloses that the various activities of the chamber have dealt with many outstanding public questions confronting Connecticut as well as with many matters of direct concern to all types of business men in the state.

The report designates as the five major activities of the chamber during the past year its referendum on the proposed child labor amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the chamber's four-year fight for a pollution of streams bill, its campaign throughout the state on behalf of a new medical practice act, the chamber's efforts to give the public utilities commission of Connecticut the same power of supervision over motor trucks serving as common carriers for hire as is now possessed by the commission over motor buses, and the activities of the chamber's special committee which has been studying "the proper purposes, functions, activities, expenditures, curriculum and future plans of Storrs college."

PATRIOTIC SERVICE BY UNIVERSALIST YOUNG PEOPLE

In observance of Memorial Sunday, the Young Peoples Christian Union of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, held its evening meeting at the Buckingham Memorial with members of the Grand Army post and the Women's Relief Corps attending.

A little sketch in two acts, entitled Our First Flag, was very creditably given, portraying the making of the first flag of the United States by Betsy Ross. Those in the cast, who were the following, wore the white wigs and costumes of the Colonial period:

Betsy Ross, Alice Parsons; Mistress Green, Helena Crandall; General Washington, Betty Pike; George Ross, Virginia Disque; Robert Morris, [illegible]e Bjustrom; soldiers, Dorothy Alquist, Dorothy Parsons, Dorothy Banning.

The sketch closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner, after which Mrs. D. Louisa Atterbury, president of the Woman's Relief Corps, expressed their great appreciation of the interest shown in patriotic subjects by the young people and the service closed with the singing of America and the benediction by the pastor of the church, Rev. A. N. Foster.

VOYAGEURS HELD PARADE IN THUNDER STORM

Thunder and lightning accompanied by heavy rain failed to dampen the ardor of the Voyageurs assembled in Norwich Saturday evening for the first promenade of the order ever held in Norwich and the parade went off according to schedule, although somewhat smaller than it would have been had the weather been more gracious.

Voiture Locale No. 743, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, with its costumed members and over 30 candidates, with visiting voyageurs from several cities of the state, assembled at the state armory Saturday evening and at the hour set for the parade started out with all the "pep" and life that is characteristic of the order covering over three quarters of the line of march planned for the evening. The spirit of the Voyageurs was recognized by people along the streets and the marchers were welcomed with the sounding of horns and cheering.

The parade was led by Chef de Gare Jonathan L. Johnson of Norwich, accompanied by his aides and Uncle Sam. Next came the Prisonaires de Guerre, each wearing a white sack and hobling onto a long rope. The prisonaires were guarded by the members of the wrecking crew dressed in white coats.

The hit of the parade was the French engine and box car owned by Voiture Locale, New London county. With smoke coming from its smokestack and bells ringing and whistles blowing the engine and box car navigated the streets of the city, being driven by Voyageur Lathrop and Voyageur Whitaker, who were the designers and constructors of the big piece of Voiture apparatus. The workmanship was excellent and the engine and box car were acknowledged to be the best owned by any Voiture in the state.

Following the box car were Voyageurs on foot or in automobiles making the number in line over a hundred.

Immediately following the parade work was begun in the armory and Conductor William A. Anderson with his wrecking crew were in charge of the candidates and saw that they "went over the top" in true style while learning the mysteries of the order.

Voiture Locale now numbers nearly 125 members and is fast growing to be one of the liveliest in the state. It was organized less than a year ago in New London when E. P. Armstrong, formerly of Norwich, was state commander. At that time nearly 80 candidates took the degrees. Plans are now under way to bring the Voiture to the fore at New London in August when the state convention of the American Legion is to held.

The Legion is planning a big parade and the Voiture is also planning a large turnout and will stage a promenade during the convention at which time over three score prisoners will be gathered into the order.

The French engine and box car, which is the handiwork of Norwich Voyageurs, will have a prominent place in the parade and will undoubtedly receive great attention along the line of march.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR TELEPHONE OPERATOR

On Thursday evening at the home of Miss Anna Caffery of Prospect street a miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Yolanda Cote by the local and toll operators of the Norwich exchange in honor of Miss Cote's approaching marriage to James J. Fillmore of this city. The event was noted by a huge May basket filled with gifts for Miss Cote after which the evening was spent in a social way solos being rendered by several of the operators with Miss Anna Spicer at the piano. Miss Irene Kiess, Miss Margaret Connell and Miss Margaret Shea also helped toward making it a pleasant evening by showing their ability. A dainty lunch was served after which all wished Miss Cote much happiness to come. Miss Cote has been a toll operator for several years and recently was made a supervisor. Those attending the shower included almost all the operators and were Anna and Mary Caffery, Mrs. Ella Van Dyke, Margaret and Nora Dingivan, Margaret Ensling, Lena and Catherine Leahy, Elizabeth and Margaret McManus, Margaret Sherry, Margaret McVeigh, Josephine Murphy, Adeline White, Edna Shaffer, Cora Watrous, Madeline Marks, Margaret Shea, Mary Walsh, Alice Enos, Anna Spicer, Bertha White, Freda Blinderman, Mary Tracey, Alice Hoar, Rose Malady, Mary Dunn, Elizabeth and Mary Coleman, Josephine Harrigan, Jennie Toomey, Harriet Frederick, Madeline O'Neil, Barbara Odgers, Agnes Armstrong, Anna Murphy, Maude Mitchell, Margaret Connell, Blanche Hedge, Viola Nolan, Alice Avery, Gladys Williamson, Mary Hussey, Charlotte Church, Mary Shea Kelly, Sally Donahue, Irene and Eileen Kiess, Natalie Hamilton, Mrs. Teresa Donavon, Mrs. Pauline Dix and Miss Cote.

Local Boy Leads H. C. Debaters

Holy Cross senior college debating team met its first defeat in its four years of history at a recent meet with the junior class team, headed by Matthew J. Sheridan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Sheridan, of this city. The debate on the question, Resolved, that the power of the Federal Supreme court to declare statues unconstitutional, was vigorously contested. Sheridan was the first speaker for the affirmative and gained the attention of the audience with his sincere delivery.

PLAN RECESS COMMITTEE TO STUDY TOWN COURT

As a result of the number of bills introduced int othe present general assembly providing for the creation of town courts, the judiciary committee is seriously considering the advisability of raising a bill providing for the appointment of a recess commission to make a study of the situation and draft a general enabling act under the terms of which any town may establish its own town court by vote of a town meeting without going directly to the legislature.

The idea was advanced by House Leader Benjamin A. Alling of New Britain and has met with general favor among members of the committee. During the past session the judiciary committee has been called upon to listen to pleas for town courts for the towns of Seymour, Darien, Plainfield and Waterford, to say nothing of a number of amendments to town court bills.

In connection with other hearings the justice of the peace system came in for condemnation as antiquated and obsolete, particularly during the hearing on the bill which provided additional powers for the board of selectmen of the town of Monroe alleged to have been needed to handle the dance hall situation in the Bantam Lake section of that township.

Further argument for such a uniform act was provided when the court bill presented by Representative Edward Garfield Burke of Saybrook came up for consideration before the judiciary committee. The bill provided for the establishment of a court of common pleas for the southern district of Middlesex county and in effect would handle the police court business of the towns of Chester, Saybrook, Essex, Old Saybrook, Clinton, Westbrook and Killingsworth.

While the judiciary committee believed that some court facilities were needed in that section, particularly where the justice of the peace system had apparently failed to function, it was unalterably opposed to the provisions of the Burke bill which would have created a court with police powers, the cost of operation to be borne by the state. Figures gathered by the father of the bill indicated a considerable revenue based upon justice of peace records of cases in the seven towns affected, the committee regarded it as a bad precedent to create a state court for town police matters. The committee's suggestion of a district court supported by the towns to be served by the court was rejected by Representative Burke and the Burke bill is due to be reported unfavorably during the com'ing week.

House Leader Alling, who sits as the judge of the city court of New Britain when not in Hartford, pointed out the divergence in powers asked for by the several town court acts and proposed for consideration by the committee the advisability of a uniform town court act. If such a bill is prepared it will set up the necessary machinery which any town may take advantage of by vote of town meeting. The appointment of judges and deputy judges, however, will be made by the general assembly as heretofore. The judiciary committee will reach a decision in the matter during the present week.

BOY SCOUTS LEADERS ENJOY CAMP PERIOD

Camp Wakenah at Gardner Lake was officially opened for the season Friday night when 100 scout patrol leaders and scoutmasters gathered at the camp for a day stay. While there the patrol leaders, the pick of the troops of Hartford, Middletown, Norwich and New London scout councils, were organized into four troops and received expert instruction in the rudiments of camping.

The scouts were awakened early Saturday morning by a light thunder storm and set about the routine matters of the camp. At 8.15 the Jewish scouts held their religious services. At 9.30 the scouts set out for a short hike, being given instructions on the preparations for a hike, and what to do on a hike. Following the hike the scouts were given instruction in groups. One group was instructed in making shelters, beds and bunks under Scout Executive F. E. Burdick of New London, another, latrines, refrigerators and incinerators by Scout Executive Fred C. Hill; another cooking fires and cooking by Scout Executive H. C. Fowler, and another, woodcraft, pioneering, signal towers, rafts, bridges, wharfs and swinging cranes by Scoutmasters W. J. Schoonman and H. S. Douglas.

The scouts then prepared their own dinners, each troop cooking a different kind of meal.

In the afternoon the scouts were engaged in inter-troop contests using the Brockton Fair rules, under the direction of Scoutmaster Hubart Ryan. Instruction in life saving and water safety was given after the games by Scoutmaster John H. Rose, American Red Cross life saver.

At camp fire Saturday night, Judge Alfred Coit of New London, addressed the scouts.

Sunday morning the boys had opportunity for bird study under expert supervision. At 9.30 religious services were held, the Catholics under Rev. John J. Keane of Naugatuck, and the Protestant scouts under Charles E. White of New London. In the afternoon the scouts were addressed by Capt. Allen B. Lambdin of the Connecticut college, after which they broke camp.

"WHO'D BE IN FOOL'S CLASS?" ASKS FR. REILLY IN SERMON

"Only the fool says in his heart 'There is no God'," said Rev. John J. Reilly, preaching to the usual large congregation at the 9 o'clock Mass in St. Patrick's church yesterday, the Sunday within the octave of the Ascension. "And who would want to be in the class with him?" He was continuing his doctrinal series on the Creed of the Apostles, going on to consider the declaration, "I believe in God." Those who deny the existence of a Creator are chiefly victims of a one-sided education, echoing the opinions of some of their pagan professors in godless colleges, he declared. The Spring has a thousand convincing arguments to prove that there is a Supreme Being of might and power. Men who watch the working out of human plans are not reasonable, to deny that back of all we see there is a Divine Architect, an Unknown Cause of all causes.

So faith itself is no accident—but planned out in the unknowable mind of Omnipotence. It is freely given, could be as freely recalled. Since it is our greatest of all gifts we should surely prize it, exclaiming often, "Thank God for faith."

The deep and childlike faith of so many Catholic scientists was cited by the preacher as an example which should influence us—the belief of a Pascal, the faith of the discoverer of radium, the inventor of the X-ray. Not only in prayer every morning and night should Catholics meditate upon the greatness of their God —by contrast to their own nothingness and dependence—but many times throughout the day each should extol with Saint Thomas, in the ejaculation so brief and pithy, yet which is such an act of love and faith, "My Lord and my God."

The sermon fitted in with the epistle for the Sunday which was I. Peter IV. 7-11, beginning, "Dearly beloved, be prudent, and watch in prayers." The gospel was John XV. 26-27 and XVI. 1-4, Christ's promises of the coming of the Paraclete and His prediction that the Apostles, hence the Church which He was founding, would be destined to triumph only after unceasing persecution and misunderstanding. Father Reilly hoped that each of his hearers would, by prayer and works, do his part toward eventually making true the slogan, "The Sacred Heart of Jesus for the world, and the world for the Sacred Heart."

The preacher assisted Rev. Myles P. Galvin, who read the low Mass, in giving Holy Communion to the customary large number.

"PRICE OF SUCCESS" IS SUBJECT OF TALK

The parlors were crowded Sunday afternoon at the weekly meeting of the local Y. M. C. A. The opening part of the meeting was given over to the singing of hymns, scripture reading and vocal solos by Hugh Kinder. Emery H. Davis offered prayer. Impressive moving pictures were shown; these were the last half of the story of "Judith of Bethulia" and they proved very interesting, portraying as they did the victory of a good woman over evil influences, and finally the winning of a real victory for the right.

Between the reels, Secretary Edwin Hill gave a brief address, taking for his topic "The Price of Success," and in part the speaker said: Jesus said on one occasion, he that taketh not his cross and followeth after Me is not worthy of Me." This passage indicates that to live a true life costs something. What is success? We differ in what constitutes success; some think, the making of money is success: some think holding a prominent position is success, while others think that to be popular means to be successful. There is only one way to measure success, from the highest standpoint, and that is, what a man is, and what he does for the world. All true success is costly; to be a successful lawyer, costs a man real sacrifices; to become a good doctor means years of preparation, and the sacrifices that go with these years. The struggle of Abraham Lincoln to secure an education was a hard struggle, and to follow his conscience regarding the evils of slavery cost him friendship, and finally his life but he was willing to pay the price, and he has blessed the world for all time. It costs much to live a clean, pure, true life; Jesus does not call us to a life of ease but to a strenuous life. Many a man is brave on a physical battle field, but plays the coward in a fight with temptation and an evil habit; it costs something to say no to satan. It cost John the Baptist his head to tell a king that he was living an impure life, but he told him that very thing; it cost Jesus much popularity, and many friendships probably to be true to His Father's will, but He paid the price, and finally went to Calvary and though his own disciples thought when He hung on the cross that He had failed at that moment. Jesus the Christ won the greatest victory ever won, no less than a victory that means your redemption and mine. It will cost you and me much to live a worth while life; but my, how well it pays; let's pay the price whatever it may cost us.

Emmett J. Fritz operated the moving picture machine.

HENRY W. KENT PRAISED BY PRES. OF MET. MUSEUM OF ART

A great extension of the activities of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, was forecast Thursday when Robert W. De Forest, President of the museum, announced that Huger Elliott of Philadelphia, Principal of the School of Pennsylvania Museum and of the School of Industrial Art, had been appointed director of the educational work of the Metropolitan Museum.

Mr. De Forest's announcement said: "Huger Elliott has been appointed director of educational work by the Metropolitan Museum and will assume his duties during the coming season.

"This is no new departure on the part of the museum. It simply recognizes the development and importance of direct educational relations with the schools, particularly the universities and colleges.

"This side of our museum activities has been developed largely by our Secretary, Henry W. Kent. Mr. Elliott comes in on the recommendation of Mr. Kent to meet the increasing demand for service of this character and to take advantage of its greater opportunities."

The present educational work of the museum includes lectures and visits of many classes, particularly from the higher grades of the public schools.

Special free lectures have been given for the deaf and dumb and for the blind. Between April 22 and May 23 fifty two public lectures were on the Museum's educational program. These lectures are given not only by members of the Museum staff, but also by members of the teaching staffs of Columbia University, New York University and Teachers' college.

Mr. Kent's home is at Norwich Town. He went to New York from Norwich art school, where he was curator.

PENSIONS DECREASE 6,464 IN THE PERIOD OF SIX MONTHS

War veterans in Norwich learn that figures compiled by the Pension Bureau show that in the last six months 10,631 Civil War pensions have died.

The number of Spanish War pensioners increased during the six months from 90,226 to 99,030, while the number of widows of Spanish War veterans receiving pensions increased from 16,736 to 17,995.

Among regular army men entitled to pensions there was an increase of 133 and of widows 43. Pensions rolls 133 and of widows 43. Pension rolls of the Indian wars also showed a slight gain.

Of the 24 veterans of the Mexican war on the pension rolls six months ago 6 have died, while 85 pensioned widows of Mexican war veterans died in the same period.

In the last six months the number of pensioners on the government rolls, exclusive of those who served in the World war, fell from 522,007 to 515,543, a net reduction of 6,464.

A tree of unusual beauty is the great pink dogwood at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Vignot facing Chelsea Parade. The handsome tree was planted by the late Mr. and Mrs. William Camp Lanman, original owners of the property.

"As the days of a tree are the days of My people."—Is. LXV: 22.

O the glorified Trees, the blossoming Trees!
May in silk drapery pink and white,
Cherry and apple—tints to please
In orchards—in forest oft hidden from sight
Cornel and cider and shadbush—a cure
For nearest o spasmists, positive, sure!
And were souls but as trees flung in white arrayed
Peace in full bloom o'er thats branches spread,
Broad earth entire were a Paradise made,
The Tree of Life set in the midst, and o'erhead
Blossoms fragrant with love never more to fade—
Then all Nations would gather beneath its shade.

"My peace will I give"—The Christ gift we'd receive,
Bids hatreds discordant and warrings cease,
To the Infinite tuned, every heart would then weave
For itself robes of love white as blossoming trees,
Such saints wear in glory who Hymns of Peace sing,
At home in God's Heaven of perpetual Spring.

—By Rev. George G. Phipps.

Romance

My love dwelt in a northern land,
A gray tower in a forest green
Was hers, and far on either hand
The long wash of the waves was seen,
And leagues and leagues of yellow sand,
The woven forest bought between:
And through the silver northern night
The sunset slowly died away,
And herds of strange deer, lily-white,
Stole forth among the branches gray;
About the coming of the light.
They fled like ghosts before the day:
I know not if the forest green
Still girdles round that castle gray;
I know not if the boughs between
The white deer vanish on the day;
Above my love the grass is green,
My heart is colder than the clay.

—Andrew Lang.

A young Russian was introduced to an aged Englishman, who was slightly deaf.

Just before the Russian, bowed he sneezed.

"Of course," said the Englishman. "I knew your father well."—London Tit-Bits.

KALEIDOSCOPE

The type of parachute used by United States aviators was recently adopted for the British Royal air force.

John Stankovitch ate butter for breakfast that had lain at the bottom of a well at Voluntown, Conn., for fifty years. While digging out a spring his shovel struck something hard. It was a quart jar. He lifted it out and got another, then a third. It was butter—still sweet—that he found. A tag on each jar bore the date of fifty years and seven months ago.

"I want to reach 100 years before I ride in an auto," says Christopher Little, 96, of Pottsville, Pa., "as my expectancy of life will be much reduced by trusting myself in any of these modern contrivances. As to moving pictures, I need only look out my window and see the passing show of present-day dressed women to afford me all the amusement I desire."

A new job—book collector—has been evolved for the Long Beach (Cal.) detective force. At the request of the city library, the chief assigned detectives to collecting the books which are in the hands of borrowers who took them from the library and disregarded notices to return them at the expiration of the loan period. The detectives also collect the fines the are assessed for keeping the books overtime.

James Brownlie, a Glasgow (Scotland, street sweeper for the last five years, was elected recently a member of the city education authority. He will not give up his job on the streets, for his trade union comrades have agreed to do his work during the time he attends meetings of the educational body. Mr. Brownlie is a great reader, takes no interest in sports, and spends all his spare time and change on books of the informative variety.

Winding barrels from a roll of tough "chipboard" paper is accomplished on a machine consisting of a cylinder cut in two parts which may be drawn apart on the axle to produce different lengths. The paper, passing through tension rollers and an adhesive-coating device, is wound for a predetermined number of layers, then a slitting wheel divides the paper, the cylinder halves are drawn apart, and an additional thickness of paper is wound on in the center to provide the bilge.

An inventory taken at Bradford, Vt., shows what a boy of the present day carries. When his pockets were emptied there were nine marbles, a motorcycle wrench, a rubber band, a radiator drain plug, a pair of pliers, two ornamental harness rings, a tire valve cord, a stub pencil, a large button, a pair of leather gloves, ditto cotton, a celluloid hairpin, two lead weights for fishing lines, an illustrated page from a magazine, a stove hinge rivet, a tenpenny nail, two matches and a spring from an oscillating magneto.

A page from a Massachusetts court docket for the year 1656 reveals that Henry Walton was fined for saying that he had as leave hear a dog bark as to hear the Rev. Cobbell preach; that Robert Edwards was fined for excess in apparel in wearing sleeves lace and gold buttons; that William Clay was whipped for spying into the chamber of his master and mistress and reporting what he saw; that John Study was fined for stealing his master's ox and selling it to him; that Robert Pike was fined for living here and his wife in England, ordered to go to her; and that Sarah Collins was fined for railing at her husband.

JURY STOOD 11 TO 1 FOR THE ACQUITTAL OF MISS MACRI

Discharged When Foreman Platt Announced Hopeless Deadlock Existed—Eleven Jurymen Issued a Statement Declaring Belief That Miss Macri Was Justified "in Law and in Fact" in the Shooting of Bagnano—Future of the Accused Remains in Doubt—Each of the Eleven Jurymen Has Offered to Furnish Bonds of $2,000 For the Release of Miss Macri.

New Haven, May 25.—After having the case in their hands for more than 50 hours, the jury considering the fate of Olympia Macri, charged with the murder of John Bagnano, alleged father of her child, announced at 3:22 o'clock this afternoon that it was unable to reach an agreement and was discharged by the court. The foreman, Frank N. Platt, of Milford, announced that a hopeless deadlock had existed since Saturday noon. The case was given to the jury at 11:15 o'clock Saturday morning.

After the court had been adjourned by Judge Christopher L. Avery, the jurymen said that the jury stood 11 to one for acquittal, Irving A. Andrew, a farmer of Orange, holding out for second degree murder.

The future of Miss Macri was in doubt tonight. Following the discharge of the jury, Attorney Joseph Koletsky, counsel for the defense, immediate began plans to secure the girl's release on bonds and 11 members of the jury agreed to furnish bonds of $2,000 each. The jurymen also went to the home of Mrs. Joseph A. Whitney, society matron, who had agreed to adopt both Miss Macri and her child if the former was acquitted, and asked her to act as bondsman.

Judge Avery refused to permit the immediate release of the girl on bonds but announced that he would make a ruling tomorrow on whether it is possible under the law to permit the defendant to leave the county jail under bail. Attorney Koletsky announced that in the meantime he would appeal to State's Attorney Arnon A. Alling to nolle the case. If the state's attorney refuses to do this, it is expected that Miss Macri again will stand trial next fall.

Late today, 11 members of the jury issued a statement in which they declared that in their opinion "the shooting was justified in law and in fact." The jurymen declared that "they had weighed every possible particle of evidence" and they declared that in their opinion "the accused was innocent of any crime" and that "we feel that the girl acted in self-defense and that the shooting was justified." They declared that they believed the story she told on the stand, extended their "warmest sympathy and appreciation" to Attorney Koletsky for his defense of the girl, extended to the accused "our heartfelt sympathy in her hour of great tribulation" and offered to do anything legally "to bring about her freedom."

Juryman Andrew, in a statement issued late today, said that "I did my duty as I understand the oath." His statement says:

"I stuck to second degree murder. That part of the testimony which related the facts leading up to the actual shooting and the fact that she had a gun that day impressed me sufficiently not to vote for acquittal. When I found that I was on the list of jurors I took steps to have my name removed from the jury panel. I simply could not see acquittal for the girl although the story of the mid-wife and the accused brought tears to my eyes. I did not let it affect my judgment during the trial."

Mr. Andrews is married and has six children. He said he had served on juries in two sessions of criminal superior court before. It was said that constables had been detailed to guard his home during the night after threats of violence had been received.

Miss Macri broke down when the jury announced that it had disagreed and was carried into the office of High Sheriff James Geddes. She sobbed for more than an hour and was in such a heart-broken condition that it was not possible to take her back to the county jail for two hours.

The disagreement which was reported to the jury came upon the fourth occasion that the jurors had filed into the court room. Once earlier in the day they reported that it seemed hopeless for them to reach an agreement, but Judge Avery sent them back to the jury room to attempt to reach a unanimous decision.

JESSE L. LIVERMORE HAS QUIT THE STOCK MARKET

New York, May 25—The New York Evening Post says today that Jesse L. Livermore, spectacular Wall St. operator, has quit the stock market.

He has not had an office in "the street," for some years and could not be reached for confirmation or denial of the report.

Livermore, who earned the title of "boy plunger" when he cleaned up his first Wall street million while still in his 'teens, had the market tickers removed from his office several months ago. The Evening Post said that the speculator had not bought or sold a share of stock in several months.

Although Livermore won and lost several fortunes in the market, the newspapers said that he had "quit the street" while still a good fortune ahead.

Wall street, the newspaper adds, refused to believe that the plunger has quite the market. He is said to be utilizing his entire organization of statisticians and clerks to keep elaborate charts and graphs with the latest figures on finance and industry and has devoted virtually all his recent time to dealing in cotton and grain.

TO PERFECT AN APPEAL FOR GERALD CHAPMAN

Hartford, May 25.—Judge Newell Jennings today filed his finding in the appeal proceedings of Gerald Chapman to the supreme court from its conviction in the superior court for murder in the first degree of Police-man James Skelly, of New Britain, for which he has been sentenced to die on June 25. The finding covers 371 typewritten pages and sets out the evidence that the state claimed convicted Gerald Chapman of the crime, and the evidence that Chapman claimed proved he did not commit the crime. It sets out further the judge's charge, many of his rulings, and the arguments of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and Frederick J. Goebel, of New York, senior counsel for Chapman.

With this to work from Attorney Goebel and Chapman's junior counsel, Nathan O. Freedman, will perfect their appeal from the superior court judgment for a hearing at the October term of the supreme court, and Mr. Alcorn will develop his argument in opposition to the appeal. Both sides have ten days in which to file motions to correct the judge's finding if either side should intend.

INDICTED FOR TEACHING EVOLUTION IN TENNESSEE

Dayton, Tenn., May 25.—Another revolution of the Tennessee legal wheel today threw the question of evolution fairly into the courts of the state. John Thomas Scopes was indicted by a grand jury on a charge of violating the Tennessee law against teaching in the public schools certain theories that deny the story of the Divine creation of man as taught in the Bible. A special term of their circuit court was ordered to convene July 10 for trial of the school teacher.

Hicks and Hicks of the special prosecution counsel announced tonight receipt of a telegram from William Jennings Bryan, who is to appear in the ranks of the prosecution attorneys. Mr. Bryan's telegram, sent from Columbus, Ohio, where he is attending the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, was in response to a telegram advising him of the trial date and said:

"Telegram received. Yes, July date satisfactory to me."

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Mussolini Visits D'Annunzio.

Rome, May 25.—Premier Mussolini's visit with Gabriel D'Annunzio at the poet-adventurer's villa, Il Vittoriale, at Gardone, marking the first meeting of the Fascist leader and D'Annunzio since the Fascisti march on Rome, has loosened more speculative comment in political circles than any event of recent months. It is reported that the purpose of the visit is for Mussolini to take over D'Annunzio's villa as a gift to the nation, but political observers believe the two men have bridged their political differences and that the present visit will have far-reaching results.

SNOW AND FROST IN NEW YORK STATE YESTERDAY

New York, May 25—(A. P.)—New York, after having sweltered through the warmest May 25 ever known, only two days ago, shivered today through its coldest May 25 since the weather bureau began to record nature's freakish behaviour.

A temperature of 40 degrees was reached at 7 o'clock this morning, thirty-eight and a half hours after a high record of 92 degrees had been set at 4:36 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The mercury hovered at the 40 mark until 10 o'clock, rising to 43 at 2 o'clock.

Frost is expected tonight where clouds are dissipated by morning and winds are light. The previous cold record for May 25 was 48 degrees in 1877.

Snow and frost today were reported in many sections of new York state. Saranac Lake had one of its heaviest May snowfalls in history. The Binghamton region, where fruit trees have been in bloom for some time, reported a snowfall and cold which it is feared will damage the apple, pear and peach crops. Saranac Lake and Old Forge reported temperatures of 24, points above freezing.

The weather bureau at Washington predicted "heavy and killing" frosts as far south as West Virginia tonight, with only a little less rigorous weather in states further South.

Pennsylvania shared the cold wave, with a temperature of 34 at Pittsburgh. Two inches of snow and freezing weather were reported in the foothills of the Alleghenies. Philadelphia like New York, had a drop of 52 degrees between Saturday afternoon, when it was reached, and 8 o'clock this morning when it was 44.

Meteorologists explained the mercury's freakish behavior by a conflict of winds. New York Saturday morning was feeling highly warmed breezes which had drifted up from Florida and Georgia. A wave of low barometric pressure meanwhile was moving Eastward from the Dakotas. The meeting of the two waves resulted in the heavy storms which swept this section late Saturday.

TRIBESMEN IN ATTACK ON THE SPANISH FRONT

Fez, Morocco, May 25.—An attack by the Yebala tribesmen against the Spanish front in the region of Tahatof is recorded in an official communication issued by the French military authorities here today. The communication confirms the reports of heavy losses sustained by the Yebalas in the recent sharp clashing in the Ouergha river sector. The communication says:

"The Yebalas have attacked the Spanish front in the region of Tahatof, and a Spanish column has been sent there from El Araich. Abd-El-Krimis said to have ordered rapid-firers for the Yebalas.

"The destination of enemy contingents recently reported on their way to the front still is unknown. The Yebalas admit that they lost more than 700 dead along the Ouergha. It is reported that two bombs dropped by airplanes killed 150 of the rebels.

"The situation is stationary in the centre. Infiltrations are reported in the region of Ain Matouf.

"On the east the situation is stationary. Infiltrations are reported around the post of Koudias Ed Kata. The chief of the Riffian contingent from Tixoritine is said to have ordered the conscription of 500 cavalry from among the Gzenaia and Mealsa tribes.

"The enemy is understood to have been instructed by Abd-El-Krim not to attack posts, but to attack tribes and burn villages and crops.

"A squadron of the Foreign Legion put the enemy to flight in the region of Belgacem."

INDICTMENT FILED IN THE "BABY FARM" CASE

New York, May 25—(A. P.)—Mrs. Helen Augusta Geisen-Volk, former German Red Cross nurse and widow of a Prussian army officer, is accused of having "wilfully and feloniously" killed William Winters, an infant, in the indictment charging her with first degree manslaughter which a grand jury filed here.

The woman will be arraigned in court tomorrow to plead to the indictment. She is in prison under $36,000 bail, awaiting trial on charges of baby substitution and violation of a city ordinance relative to the number of children she kept at her "baby farms."

Mrs. Geisen-Volk, the indictment charges, used some weapon in fracturing the Winters child's skull. Nine witnesses, including a nurse formerly employed by Mrs. Geisen-Volk, and the parents of the Winters baby, who died last February 3, apeared before the grand jury.

District Attorney Banton telegraphed Mrs. Josephine Kass, of Hollywood, Calif., for information of her knowledge concerning law violations by Mrs. Geisen-Volk. Mrs. Kass in a telegram to Mr. Banton said she had formerly lived in an East Eighty-seventh street house the back yard of which joined and that she observed incidents which led that of the woman's "baby farm" she believed the authorities should know.

JURY NOT COMPLETE FOR TRIAL OF W. D. SHEPHERD

Chicago, May 25—Sepection of a jury to try William Darling Shepherd for the alleged murder of his millionaire foster-son, William Nelson McCormick, by administering subtle poisons and typhoid germs, developed into a sharp battle of wits today between Robert E. Crowe, the state's attorney and William Scott Stewart, chief of defense counsel but was a losing battle so far as filling the jury box was concerned.

The twelve men locked up tonight included four jurors sworn in last Friday, one venireman tentatively passed by both sides, two veniremen questioned by the prosecution and five who had not been examined by either side.

PRINCE OF WALES WAS ACCLAIMED AT BLOEMFONTEIN

Bloemfontein, South Africa, May 25—(A. P.)—The Prince of Wales rode into the capital of the Orange Free State today at the head of a picked command of 2,000 men from all parts of the state. He left the royal train at a small station two miles outside of the city.

Thousands of cheering inhabitants crowded every point of vantage to witness the superb display of horsemanship by the command in their farewell gallop past. An almost complete left turn in sections of fours with only a horse's length between the sections was executed, the whole column which was estimated to be longer than two miles, thundering past faultlessly. The prince then named a new park, Prince's Park, after which the mayor announced amid cheers that the prince despite his injured hand and bandaged fore finger would shake hands until he was tired. The prince insisted upon ladies being received first. He managed to greet a few hundred of them, but was compelled to end the presentations before the eager thousands that were waiting could approach him.

DEATH SENTENCES OF SOFIA BOMBERS CONFIRMED

Sofia, May 25—King Boris of Bulgaria, an enemy of capital punishment, today confirmed the death sentences of three men who took part in the Sveti Kral cathedral bombing in which 160 people were killed. These are the first death sentences King Boris ever has approved. He declared the plot justified the court martial's extreme judgment.

The three men sentenced to death are Peter Zadgorski, Sicristan of the cathedral; Marco Friedmann and Georgi Koeff.

Now that King Boris has broken his rule of never sanctioning the death penalty, the state prosecutors hope he will approve other death sentences given Bolshevik plotters who have sought to upset his throne.

APPOINTED AMERICAN COMMISSIONER TO CHINA

Washington, May 25. — Silas H. Strawn, Chicago lawyer, at the request of President Coolidge, has accepted appointment to go with Minister John Van A. MacMurray to China as American commissioner, to attend the special conference in Chinese customs provided for in the nine-power treaty.

Mr. MacMurray, who surrenders the post of assistant secretary of state to become American minister to China, also has been commissioned to act for the Washington government in connection with the customs conference.

200 CASUALTIES FROM EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN

New York, May 25.—(A. P.)—A cablegram received today by the Japanese consulate general states that the probable number of dead, and wounded from the earthquake in Japan is 500. Toyo-Oka, with 2,000 families, Kinosaki with 700 and Kushihama with 500 are the principal towns that suffered, the message says. Toyo-Oka and Kinosaki were said to have been destroyed mainly by fire.

No further anxiety for the stricken region is felt, according to the cablegram. Railway communications were established the day after the quake, it says, and relief work is proceeding satisfactorily.

No News From The North Pole Expedition

More Than Four Days Have Elapsed—Dr. Nansen Fails To See Any Cause For Anxiety.

New York, May 25—The North American Newspaper alliance announced through the Associated Press at 9 o'clock tonight that there was no news from the Amundsen-Ellsworth North Pole expedition.

More than four days have now elapsed since the two airplanes left Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, for their pole flight and nothing has been heard from them.

DR. NANSEN SEES NO REASON FOR ANXIETY

Copenhagen, May 25—The newspaper Ekstrabladet today printed an interview with Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the Norwegian Arctic explorer, in which he was quoted as saying:

"Nobody in Norway is anxious regarding the fate of Amundsen. He is capable of handling himself under difficulties and hinderances of any kind. There is no reason to feel nervous about him."

STORMS THREATENING IN THE ARCTIC REGIONS

Oslo, Norway, May 25—The Shipping Gazette says that the Arctic regions are threatened with storms which it is thought will compel Captain Amundsen to return immediately if he is able. The weather forecast is for snow and fog on Wednesday.

HANS NANSEN WOULD GO TO RELIEF OF AMUNDSEN

San Diego, Cal., May 25.—Hans Nansen of the First National bank of San Diego, a nephew of the great explorer, Fritjof Hansen, announced here today that he was raising the funds to finance an expedition for the relief of Amundsen and was certain his plans would be a success.

Nansen said that he was in communication with Haakon H. Hammer, an associate of Amundsen in previous Polar ventures, who now is recuperating from eye trouble at Los Angeles, and that he had assured Hammer he was virtually certain of raising funds to finance the latter's program to go to Amundsen's assistance if the explorer is not located within 24 hours.

DANISH EXPLORER WOULD ALLOW AT LEAST EIGHT DAYS

Copenhagen, May 25.—(A. P.)—Colonel Koch, Danish Arctic explorer who succeeded in crossing the inland ice of Greenland some years ago, believes that at least eight days must pass before hearing from the North Pole expedition of Captain Roald Amundsen.

Colonel Koch said today, in discussing the lack of news from the expedition:

"Naturally, this flying trip is a gamble, but despite the manifold dangers, the silence is in no wise disquieting as yet. From the outset I reckoned that a least eight days must pass before hearing from the fliers. I take it for granted Amundsen will not reach the Polar Point at the first attempt, even with the best navigation.

"Suppose he landed, say 70 kilometers (about 45 miles) from the pole. When he discovered his position I feel sure, knowing Amundsen's character, he would be dissatisfied and would fly on. Probably even then he would not reach the exact polar spot, and would continue afoot until he reached the pole. I do not think it particularly dangerous to land on the ice, which is flat and unbroken for stretches. He might, of course, hit a so-called sastrugi, or windfallows, which would likely damage the planes, but without endangering the lives of the fliers.

"Amundsen is capable of many surprises and doing unexpected things; therefore he may decide to land at Alaska instead of Spitzbergen. I believe most decidedly he would land at Cape Columbia except he were in desperate straits. Amundsen is no er young, a march of 300 kilometers to Lady Franklin, and thereafter 700 kilometers to Cape York would be too much."

SECOND NATIONAL DEFENSE TEST WILL BE HELD JULY 4

Washington, May 25—The second national defense test will be held July 4.

President Coolidge today rejected the war department proposal that defense day must be held on Armistice Day, November 11, suggesting Independence Day "as being a more appropriate date," and preparations were immediately begun to comply with his preference despite the limited time remaining in which to arrange the demonstration.

Acceptance of the earlier date calls for extraordinary efforts to speed up the test machinery so that the muster will show the maximum results possible, and the preparation of plans and instructions already is under way.

In his letter to Acting Secretary Davis, the president did not explain his reason for rejecting the Armistice Day suggestion, saying merely, "I do not approve your proposal that it be held on Armistice Day."

The president's action opened the question whether the need for a test this year justified an effort to prepare for it by July 4. Mr. Davis and his military advisors have felt that such a limited period for preparation would be insufficient for laying the ground work for a test as complete as it was intended to hold if the Armistice Day date had been approved, but they decided immediately that the educational value of the demonstration in promoting public understanding of the new military policy which requires nation-wide civilian cooperation warranted efforts to hold a creditable muster July 5.

Incidentally the president's suggestion of the July 4 date and its acceptance at the war department will result in the test being held on the fifty-third anniversary of his birth. The original muster last year was first planned as a mark of special honor to General Pershing and was scheduled to be held on September 13, his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary and the date of his retirement from active service. By his direction, however, the date was changed to September 12, the anniversary of the battle of St. Mihiel.

Satisfied Kirby Is The Man Wanted

Was Arrested in Newburyport, Mass., in Connection With the Murder of Aida Heyward.

Newburyport, Mass., May 25—Harry A. Kirby, arrested here today in connection with the murder of Miss Aida Heyward of Winthrop, Maine, left here for Augusta by automobile late this afternoon in the custody of Maine officials.

Kirby was questioned for two hours in the police station but it was said by detectives that he added nothing to his statement after his arrest. This was to the effect that he found the body of Miss Heyward in the woods near Lake Maranacook and had "taken care of it" by taking it to the cottage where he lived and where the body was discovered last Saturday.

The prisoner waived extradition proceedings and no preliminary hearing was held here.

County Attorney F. E. Southard of Kenebec County, Me., one of those who examined Kirby said later that he was satisfied he was the man wanted. The murder of Miss Heyward followed the shooting of her aunt, Mrs. Emma M. Towns, the firing of the cottage in which the two women lived and the abduction of Miss Heyward last Tuesday night.

KIRBY WAS MARRIED UNDER ASSUMED NAME

Saco, Me., May 25.—Harry A. Kirby, arrested in Newburyport, Mass., today, in connection with the murder of Miss Aida Heyward of Winthrop, married his present wife under the name of James J. Crawford, in Nyack, N. Y., in 1922, it was learned from relatives of Mrs. Kirby, who was located here today. Crawford was said to have disappeared from Nyack after a scandal involving the death of Lillian White.

LEGAL FOR NEWSPAPERS TO PUBLISH INCOME TAX LISTS

Washington, May 25—Newspapers may publish without hindrance from the government or any one else, any official information which congress makes available to public inspection, the supreme court declared today in deciding two cases involving the publication of income tax lists opened to inspection but left at the offices of internal revenue collectors.

The opinion which was rendered by Justice Sutherland, was unanimous and was based upon a statutory construction of the law, the court finding that it was not necessary to pass upon the constitutional question of the freedom of the press. The cases decided had been brought by the government against the Kansas City Journal-Post and the Baltimore Post, which were sustained in their contentions by the lower court.

"Information, which everybody is at liberty to acquire and the acquisition of which congress seemed especially desirous of facilitating, cannot in the absence of some clear and provisitive provision to the contrary, be regarded otherwise than as public property, to be passed on to others as freely as the possessors of it may choose," Justice Sutherland stated. "The contrary view requires a very dry and literal reading of the statute quite inconsistent with its legislative history and the known and declared objects of its framers."

TESTING NEW TREATMENT FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Washington, May 25.—The suit of gold and serum treatment for tuberculosis, originated in Denmark, has been given preliminary tests by the United States public health service, which has announced that it must, for the time being at least, withhold its approval.

Further tests are being conducted on the basis of new instructions from Denmark, but these have not reached a conclusive stage.

The salt of gold is known as "Sanocrysin." Until it receives government approval it cannot be sold in the United States.

"The door has not been closed," Dr. George W. McCoy, director of the experiments, said today, but he added that he could see no benefit to the thirty calves suffering from tuberculosis which had been treated with the product.

PURCHASE OF STOCK OF 1,800,000 GALLONS WHISKEY

New York, May 25.—Purchase of stock of 1,800,000 gallons of whiskey owned by the Old Overholt distillery of Pittsburgh, was announced today by David A. Schulte, president of Park & Tilford. Mr. Schulte said the liquor would be lawfully disposed of to physicians, hospitals and similar institutions.

In addition to the whiskey, 20 acres of land and fourteen buildings on the outskirts of Pittsburgh were acquired by Park & Tilford. The deal involved $15,000,000 Mr. Schulte said.

CAPT. FINCH TO BE GUEST OF GENERAL PERSHING

New York, May 25.—Captain William Finch, who commanded the White Star liner Baltic which on May 28, 1917, took to England General John J. Pershing and his staff, arrived today on the White Star liner Credric to be a guest at the reunion dinner at the Metropolitan club, Washington, on May 28. Captain Finch will be the guest of General Pershing while in the United States.

BUILDING LABORERS ON STRIKE IN BOSTON

Boston, May 25—A strike of five local unions of hod carriers and building laborers began here today when a conference between union officials and employers ended in failure. Over 5,000 workers are affected. The laborers were taken off twelve construction jobs and union officials declared that the rest would follow tomorrow unless their demands were granted.

THREE KILLED IN CRASH OF TROLLEY AND TRAIN

Southbridge, Mass., May 25—Three are reported killed and 25 injured in a crash between a Springfield-bound trolley and an electric express on the Strubridge-Southbridge line just outside of Southbridge late tonight.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

Efforts of the supreme court to catch up with its docket are not meeting with any success this year.

The Japanese Red Cross notified the American Red Cross that no outside assistance would be needed as a result of the earthquake.

The body of Patrick Roche, aged 58 years, of Blackstone, Mass., was found in Duck Pond, just over the town line in North Smithfield, R. I.

The population of greater Berlin now exceeds the four million mark. Official figures just made public show that the city has 4,114,000 inhabitants.

The government cannot compel army officers to return money received by them in excess of the salary of their legal rank, the supreme court decided.

PLANS FOR EXPANSION OF SEA PROHIBITION FORCES

Lincoln C. Andrews, Chief of Federal Prohibition Enforcement, is to Allow the Coast Guard at Least One Boat For Every Liquor Smuggling Vessel in the Vicinity of American Shores—Fifteen Armed Liquor Chasers Are to Patrol the Great Lakes.

El Paso Texas, May 25—Plans for the expansion of the prohibition navy on the Atlantic to 100 or more craft and for the enlargement of sea prohibition forces on the Pacific to allow the coast guard at least one boat for every liquor smuggling ship in the vicinity of American shores were announced here today by Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of federal prohibition enforcement.

15 ARMED LIQUOR CHASERS FOR SERVICE ON GREAT LAKES

Chicago, May 25.—(A. P.) — The Chicago Daily News says today that the actual work of putting fifteen armed rum chasers into service on the Great Lakes under the command of James T. Brereton of Chicago has been completed and that the fleet will go into action along 116 miles of coast near Detroit. Some armed coast near Detroit. Some armed catch bootleggers, it was said.

Definite plans for patrolling the Great Lakes were made at a conference held in Detroit and from a Lake Erie nucleus the rum chaser fleet will be developed to cover all danger points along the lakes, the newspaper said.

Detroit was chosen for the starting point because prohibition officials believed it to be the wettest spot on the border. Brereton is a prohibition agent attached to the Chicago office and is now in Detroit.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes and E. C. Yellowley, chief of general agents made all plans for the rums fleet while in Detroit a few days ago, ostensibly to watch the Ontario beer rush, the newspaper says.

Jacobs, New York commandant of the coast guard, said incoming patrols of the government's rum blockading fleet had informed him today that five large liquor laden ships had left the blockaded area over the week end, leaving but six rum ships within thirty miles of shore from Nantucket Light to Atlantic City.

A week ago the various rum rows of the mid-1Atlantic consisted of seven ships, but by Saturday the number had grown to eleven. Captain Jacobs said the continued success of the blockade had caused the quintet to weigh anchor. The six patient ships remaining are on far-flung fronts. Four of them are on the once-popular and popular New York-New Jersey row; one is off Block Island, and the sixth is south of Nantucket Light.

ARE GETTING ALCOHOL FROM PATENT MEDICINES

Atlantic City, N. J., May 25.—(A. P.)—Despite the fact that rum row is undergoing the most successful blockade since prohibition, the government is permitting alcohol users to secure their daily nip, Dr. Arthur J. Cramp, of Chicago, told today's session of the annual convention of the American Medical association here. Dr. Cramp is director of the bureau of investigation maintained by the association.

The speaker said that while there is a tendency to decrease the alcoholic content of widely advertised patented medicines, the percentages are so high that they can and are being used for beverage purposes. While the government is spending millions to prevent the smuggling of liquor it is overlooking this source of supply right within its borders, he said.

The warming up process will continue through Wednesday. It will be several days probably before the temperature gets to normal again.

FLAPPERS AND MINORS TO BE DECIDED IMMUNE

Hartford, May 25.—(A. P.)—Flappers and minors, generally, who happen to be present at cabarets, dance halls and any other places when raided will be made immune from prosecution under an old Connecticut law, by the adoption in the legislature of a bill to be favorably reported tomorrow by the judiciary committee.

The bill calls for the repeal of sec tion 2812 of the general statutes, which provides that any minor, or female, or any person to whom the sale of spiritous and intoxicating liquors is by law forbidden who shall loiter on the premises where such liquors are sold or reputed to be sold to be drunk on the premises, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars.

FRENCH FORCES INFLICT HEAVY LOSSES ON RIFFS

Paris, May 25—The heavy losses sustained by the Riffians at the hands of the French and the reorganization of the French army of 50,000 under General Daugan are looked upon here as indicating the seriousness of the situation in Morocco. Added to the military angle is the political controversy going on with regard to Morocco. The truce declared today when the chamber decided to postpone until Wednesday discussion of credits for the campaign in the protectorate, is only a temporary one, for it is considered highly improbable that the socialists and communists will abandon their opposition to appropriations for carrying on the war.

General Daugan has withdrawn his army to the southern side of the Ouergha river, abandoning five posts that were almost continually surrounded by the tribesmen and could be supplied with food only by airplane or after strong, difficult, and probably costly, drives to clear out the Riffians, who swept back as soon as the French again retired.

The French likewise, are getting heavy reinforcements through Casablanca. It is pointed out that the withdrawal of the French to the Ouergha line coincides with the agitation of the socialists over the Moroccan campaign, and is interpreted by some as an effort to prove the welfare is defensive.

Preparations are advancing for renewal of the fighting, and particular attention is being given to the aviation service. Small aircraft carry the wounded from the battlefield to camps where larger planes takes groups of them for various hospitals at Fez, Quezzan, and even Rabat.

Instead the bill directs the highway commissioner to take $2,500,000 from the motor vehicle receipts turned over to him and apply that amount as follows: $1,000,000 for the construction of state aid roads; $500,000 for completing the construction of connecting sections of state-aid roads previously constructed; $1,000,000 for the construction of trunk line highways.

WILLIMANTIC

Under a grey sky that would ordinarily dispel enthusiasm, hundreds of the strikers of the American Thread company answered the second "opening of the mills call," Monday morning by marching in a body to the gates and remaining quietly on the street while a handful of the employes, reinforced by some new arrivals, went in to go to work. Both sides in the controversy stated that they were put in a position to give a definite answer as to those entering the mills. The second call came from an announcement by Agent Don H. Curtis that operatives who failed to go into work Monday morning would forfeit their service rights and their privileges for a pension. The Thread company, though one of its officials made it known that a good many of the employes had returned to work and that the local plant was in operation.

Horace Riviere of Manchester, N. H., Edward F. Callahan of Philadelphia, and Miss Mary Kelleher were the speakers at the mass meeting which followed the silent answer to the company's announcement. The editorials published in a local newspaper were assailed and the strikers were warned not to allow the opinion of the writer to influence them against holding true to their cause. Regarding their chances of having the 10 per cent. wage cut restored, Mr. Riviere, in answer to the editorial which claimed that there was no chance, declared that the local situation was not any more hopeless on the surface than was that in Rhode Island, when 10 and 12 1-2 cuts were restored. He said that he had challenged many editorial writers on strike questions to debate with him and the only one who made answer came out second best.

Edward F. Callahan covered the same ground as the first speaker stating, in milder tones, that the editorial should not have been written until a careful investigation had been made and that the reasons for the conclusions given could be stated in an explicit manner. "Get the real facts and let the world know them," he said, "conclusions and suppositions mean nothing unless they are backed by the reasons which should by all right accompany them."

The third speaker was Miss Mary Kelleher. She thanked the strikers for the faith they had held in their leaders. One of the operatives arose and eulogized Miss Kelleher, reminding the strikers that every prediction which she had made had come true, especially those relative to the methods which the Thread company would resort to, to break the morale of the strikers, to disrupt their ranks and cause them to resume work. This was followed by a vote of confidence taken in the form of a resolution adopted by a standing vote. The resolution read: "That the faith of the strikers in the leadership of Miss Mary Kelleher and Miss Amy L. Hooker in the strike and the counsel of other organizers and speakers of the American Federation of Labor in the past eleven weeks be affirmed at the present time."

Starting the twelfth week of the strike at the American Thread company plant, the concern made its firm stand in the controversy realistic by the announcement that all workers not returning to work Monday morning lost their service and pension rights and that in addition to other machinery removed the printing department was to be taken from the city without any change of its return.

Regarding the removal of the printing department, the striking printers met with Agent Don H. Curtis, Superintendent Peter J. Hinds and Foreman Ernest Melody to go over the situation as it affected that department. As a result of the explanations which followed it was said that at least two of the former employes showed signs of desiring to return to work. The printers were told that there was no chance of a general restoration of the 10 per cent. wage cut. Preparations were being made Monday for shipping the machinery presumably to New York state, where the concern has established two plants.

The early-to-work and early-to-quit situation in Willimantic remains "hung up in the air," as it were, with the manufacturing plants delaying to accept a resolution to change their working schedule so as to conform with that established in the business life of the city. The words Daylight Time have been stricken from the pages of local history for at least another year and the new schedules should not be interpreted as meaning that Willimantic, as a community, is on Daylight Time. The results of a sawed-off trouser and horny fisted clerk speech, made at the last city meeting, are proving rather bad. The clerks have gone out for what they were after. When the city meeting failed to give Daylight Time to them, they went quietly about their business and simply changed the schedules of opening and closing time in the business world. This new plan is working out satisfactorily in itself. Practically all the business houses are on the following plan: Open 8 a. m. Close 5 p. m. Thursdays. Open 8 p. m. Close 11 a. m. Saturdays. Open 8 a. m. Close 5 p. m. With this plan quite the vogue, it is the first time that stores have closed any earlier than 9 p. m. Saturday evenings. The hour has been changed because proprietors feel that 12 hours of work behind a counter is enough for one day. But the results of that famous exhaust of orators are felt by the mill workers. With everything on Daylight Time they would not have lost a single ounce of sleep, but under the present conditions they would have to get to work mighty early, that is, 6 a. m. standard time, in order to quit work at an hour sufficiently early to allow them to do afternoon shopping, before the stores close at 5 p. m., standard time. The local banks now open at 9 a. m. and close at 2:30 p. m., the town clerk's office opens at 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. The probate court and city clerk's offices remain on the same time.

The First Congregational church was crowded Sunday at the annual memorial service. There was special music by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Caswell. The organizations representing various patriotic societies in town were represented as follows, each organization carrying its own colors. Color bearer, Ollie Rock; color guard, Walter McNickle; a delegation of eight from Company C, 169th Infantry, C. N. G.; Captain Joseph R. Morrison, and Lieutenant Ellison S. Smith, World War Veterans; Captain (Dr.) W. P. S. Keating, Winfield Jacobs, Albert J. Piche, William Owens; United Spanish War Veterans, Commander William Guilford; Past Commanders, Frank P. Fenton, John J. Hoey, Jeremiah E. McCarthy and John Gingras; Grand Army Veterans, Adam Dunts and George Herrick. Detachments of Francis S. Long Woman's Relief Corps also attended in a body. The church was decorated in flags and flowers. The pastor, Rev. Arthur B. Wheelock, spoke from the text, "My Soul had them in remembrance."

At the annual meeting of Lyceum of Windham high school, held in the auditorium Monday morning, the election of officers resulted as follows: President, John Nichols; vice-president, Elinor Stanley; secretary, Blanche Thompson; treasurer, Melvin Lincoln. Before being crowned, little Miss Chappell led the children around the throne in a march, then ascended and was crowned by a May king with due ceremonies, while the other children danced around the throne and the gay-streamered Maypole. A number of folk dances and old English games followed. A gypsy dance in costume was given on the grass by Bess Webster and Marion Bailey. The children brought their lunch in May baskets, and were served ice cream and punch. Music for the dancing was from a Victrola, loaned by Mrs. Alfred Harvey.

"The Double Proposal," a comedy inn 3 acts, was repeated by the Scotland Grange Dramatic club at Mansfield Center Friday evening, before a crowded house. At a social given at the Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening, an orchestra, Albert Spellman, violin; Claude Ide, saxophone; Leslie Nichols, flute, and Miss Ruth Nye at the piano, provided music preceding and following the program, which was a novel arrangement of Victrola records (issue of 1928), through which the whole program was given. The Victrola itself was a most unusual affair made for the occasion by the committee. A number of very lively games followed, in which everyone participated, "Jilly is the Miller" being voted the most popular. Cake was served. The committee in charge was Miss Ruth Nye, chairman; Carl Webber, John Wrena and Miss Ruth Webber.

The third and last in the series of competitive programmes was given at the meeting of Hebron grange by the unmarried members of that organization who offered a most amusing radio skit, under arrangement of Roger and Herbert Porter, Miss Eunice Seyms, and Miss Alice Whitney. The curtain went up in the living room of a farmhouse where Ezra (Young Roger) and his wife (Alice Whitney) had just installed a new radio set. After considerable manipulation of the (baby carriage) wheels on the instrument, and more than a little trouble with static, Mr. Ezra proceeded to induce from the instrument a series of lugubrious blasts, wails, squawkings, and trumpetings, that finally resolved itself into so said the announcer, a message from Australia, full of local hits on present members, solos, orchestral music (strangely recitations. Other important points reminiscent of the Hebron band) and touched were Wells Woods and Hope Vale, remote and almost antiquated sections of the town. After a consultation on the part of the judges, first honors were awarded the women members for their programme some time ago and the other two groups are to suffer the penalty of standing treat to the whole grange at supper at the next Wright, of Andover, Mrs. Frank Hamilton, and Byrd Standish.

A dance and children's party was given by the Windham Parent-Teachers association at Windham Center meeting. The judges were Mrs. C. L. school auditorium from seven to ten Friday evening. Three solo dances were given in costume by little Miss Sally Foss, of South Windham. An exhibition of the Argentine tango was given by Madeline Avery and Master Walter Abbe, III, of South Windham. The children played games, and took part in a grand march, cotillion figures, Paul Jones, caprice, and minuet. Mrs. Arthur Bubreuil, of Willimantic, played for dancing. Ice cream and wafers were served. Mrs. Harry Moseley was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

TRAINED MEN NEEDED BY MODERN BUSINESS

A striking proof of the demand for specialized training in the business world, as well as in the professions, is given by the unusually rapid growth of the Bently School of Accounting and Finance, of Boston, Mass. This school, started eight years ago with the object of training men to become professional, commercial and cost accountants, auditors, treasurers, credit managers, etc., has become the largest school of its kind in the world, with an enrollment of 2,353. This enrollment exceeds that of many of the large colleges.

The school would not have attracted this enrollment in the comparatively short space of time it has been in existence were there not a demand for men with such specialized training. The more than 1,000 graduates of the school who are now employed have carried the name of the school to all parts of the country so that young men are drawn to it from a great many different sections.

The Bentley school is a pioneer in its field, and has not only become the leader in size, but its standard is so high that it has earned a reputation among business houses for turning out men equipped to take really responsible positions, and who are good material for high executive positions. Thus the schools has adopted for its slogan: "To be Bentley trained carries prestige in business." And the exceedingly intensive two year course enables a man to arrive at earning capacity in the shortest time possible, compatible with the high standard and ideals of the school.

DELCO-LIGHT CO. IS DOING RECORD BUSINESS

For the second consecutive month all sales records have been smashed by the Delco-Light sales organization, it has been announced by E. G. Biechler, president and general manager of the company, when final reports on April sales were received, and a total of $3,850,000 for the month was shown, according to word that has been received by Carl W. Brown, the local representative.

This splendid April record Biechler pointed out, was attained even though more than 1,000 members of the Delco-Light sales organization were out of their territories for almost a week attending the annual sales convention in Dayton.

"April, with sales amounting to $3,850,000, was a bigger month than March and March with $3,803,000 in sales was a record month in our history," said Biechler. "Sales of all our products contributed to swell our sales volume to a new high record this month," he said, "both those which go into the farm field, the farm electric plants and water systems, and the Frigidaire equipment, household electric refrigerators and ice cream caminets for ice cream r retailers.

Biechler stated that he has every reason to believe that May will again break all records and said that all possible steps are being taken to put the big Delco Light factory in the best possible shape to turn out promptly Delco-Light products in sufficient volume to meet the fast-growing demand for those products.

Breed Theater

All the splendor that figured so largely in the life of Sally when Ziegfeld brought this musical comedy to the stage is not only equaled but excelled in the screen version in which First National is starring Colleen Moore and which is now showing at the Breed theater.

It is in the lawn fete scene, where little Sally blossoms but, impersonating the notorious Noskerova, Russian danseuse, that the gowns play their important part. Colleen Moore had her own ideas about the costume in which she was to do her dance number, and all of the wardrobe experts and designers and milliners on the United "lot" were called to her aid.

From Miss Moore's own designs they assembled a truly ravishing garment of turquoise blue pan velvet trimmed in rhinestones and silver braid. Around the bottom of the skirt and the sleeves are wide bands of platinum fox. The hat is of silver net trimmed with rhinestones and aigrettes.

Silver boots complete the effect. To add a touch of distinctiveness Miss Moore carries a silver net handkerchief with a band of ostrich around the border.

It is in this particular costume (just one of many which the star wears) that Sally, posing as Noskerova, performs her sensational Russian dance.

Hillcrest Theater, Taftville

Shiek Leonard appears at Hillcrest on Tuesday night, only, in person, and who fought in a bout at Waterbury last Friday, and won the battle, appears with four other big time acts. This is your one big chance. We want everyone to take advantage of this special program.

Exceptional Program at the Broadway

Yesterday's performance at the Broadway theater was jammed to the doors, the reason being very plain. Just think of what you will see when you go to that popular playhouse today or Wednesday. A truly wonderful photoplay which alone is worth more than the price of admission and five real big time acts of B. F. Keith vaudeville.

From laundress to Duchess—

That's the jump made by Gloria Swanson, who is now playing in her latest sensation at Broadway theater in the screen role of the new Paramount picture, Madame Sans Gene, a screen version of the stage play of the same name, by Victorien Sardou and Emile Moreau.

The picture was filmed in France in its entirety, with the cooperation of the Fine Arts Ministry of the French government.

Leonce Perret directed. Forrest Halsey, who wrote the screenplay. The Humming Bird and others, made the adaptation.

Charles de Roche is leading man.

The vaudeville program opened with a dance routine called Styles and Steps by George Laurie and Vera Rayne. It is as varied as it is clever. Reed and Ray followed with a comedy offering that garnered the laughs. Some good singing is thrown in for good measure.

One of the season's greatest novelties and one of the greatest vaudeville attractions on the stage today is The Poppy Land revue with an all Chinese cast. Everything that one could desire is played by this great cast which includes songs, dances, music, yodeling and novelties, done in a Chinese way in Chinese costumes and setting and wardrobe of the far east.

That Dublin Gentleman, Larry Reilly, came through with a scorching comedy bit with songs. You will quake with laughter when you hear him tell stories.

The Arades, called the clown and the demon, closed the show with an act of the ordinary variety of acrobatics.

All in all, this is positively the greatest program ever offered in this city. You are going to regret it for a long time if you miss it, so, make your plans now.

Palace Theatre

The show at the Palace the first half of this week presents a vaudeville bill of the most pleasing variety and a picture most entertaining. The vaudeville opens with Tom Lee, a banjo virtuoso and rendering divers popular numbers on the wood saw and a trowel with a perfect intonation. Florence and Hall introduce a comedy skit Lights Out that is just full of good entertainment and singing. They proved a great hit at last night's performance. A wonderful attractive incident of the programme is the appearance of Leila Shaw, whose [illegible] and effervescent temperament are shown to advantage in Thoroughly Good Again, a travesty, in which she is assisted by Sallison and Payton in a Turkish bath. Kept the audience howling with their comedy songs and chatter. Over and Over again, they were called to responds. The Dey Dance Revue closed the show with bits of dance bits individualized by beautiful scenery and setting. Their dancing was received very highly, personally were received with great surprise, their characters being carried out perfect to the finish.

A kiss took her out of the extra class! Such was the experience of Anita Stewart, who is now seen in the leading role of E. P. Selznick's production, "The Boomerang," at the Palace Theatre. "One day," recalled Miss Stewart, "the director asked me to let the girls to kiss the leading man. You see the script called for it, but I was only one and the poor girl was so many that I just couldn't. Next he backed down to me, and although I was scared speechless I complied.

"I don't even remember [illegible] name now, but I do know that he was the idol of our gang. [illegible] evidently satisfied the director, because from that time on I was given small parts. Nice parts, too, and they kept getting larger until I was at last chosen for a leading role. It was again Miss Stewart that leading man [illegible] upon kissing him for paving the way to stardom for me."

In "The Boomerang," Miss Stewart has one of the most dramatic but interesting roles of her career, adapted from the David Belasco stage success which enjoyed phenomenal popularity. "The Boomerang," tells about a young bachelor who believes himself the world's greatest love expert. He opens a sanitarium for the love-lorn and hires a beautiful nurse as his assistant. Before the end of the comedy is reached, the doctor finds himself worse off than any of his patients, but the cure is a success, for he loves for the nurse is returned—after many difficulties.

It often happens that [illegible] his own best cure [illegible]

MRS. CAROLINE M. OATLEY REACHES 100TH BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, May 25—Once again a resident of Killingly has achieved the distinction of becoming a centenarian. At East Killingly Monday, Mrs. Caroline Mowry Oatley observed the 100th anniversary of her birth. Relatives and friends proffered their felicitations, but there was no elaborate observance of Mrs. Oatley's having rounded out a hundred years, the greater part of it in the community where she still looks out upon the world and its doings with the same placidity that has been a marked characteristic of her temperament throughout life.

Still able to read without glasses, interested in doing a bit of sewing, keen as to affairs about the household and, more or less, as to what is going on in the community, Mrs. Oatley easily rates as a remarkable personage—a living example of the sturdiness and enduring vitality of the old New Englanders that were her forebears.

Mrs. Oatley was born in Foster, May 25, 1825, a daughter of Olney and Marcia Ware Mowry. At an early age she came into the town of Killingly and ever since, with the exception of brief periods, has lived at East Killingly, where she is revered by all. In early life she became the wife of Benedict Oatley, dead these many years. She has a son, Herbert Oatley, now past three score and ten; a grandson, Henry Oatley, superintendent of the plant of the Asceptic Products company at East Killingly, where her son is a machinist; a grand-daughter, Mrs. Edith Phillips of Providence, two great-great grandchildren. Mrs. Oatley makes her home with her niece, Mrs. Grace Hill.

One who has known Mrs. Oatley for nearly three-quarters of a century said Monday that he regarded her as a very remarkable woman. An outstanding trait of her personality has been her calmness and even temperment on every occasion, no matter what the stress of the moment or the severity of an ordeal. Her kindness and thoughtfulness are proverbial. Mrs. Oatley is not particularly strong at this season of her 100th anniversary, but her faculties are very well preserved, her age considered.

St. Louis, Missouri.—"After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. ## PUTNAM

As the result of a collision, Saturday afternoon, between a car owned and driven by Arthur Larivierre of North Grosvenordale and a Ford sedan driven by Mrs. Lionel Charron the former was in the city court this morning charged with reckless driving. The accident occurred at the corner of Grove and South Main Sts. The evidence tended to show that Larivierre was on the wrong side of the street when the cars came together.

The court suggested to Prosecutor Eric H. Johnson that the charge be changed from "reckless driving" to a violation of the rules of the road. Mr. Johnson preferred to let the accusation stand as originally made and the court rendered a verdict of not guilty.

A. Richter who lives on Lee street and is employed at the Furrier shop on Main street drove his car into a telephone pole on Woodstock avenue Sunday, breaking off the pole at the base and badly damaging his machine. He was before the court on a similar charge. Judge Geissler made the same suggestion to the prosecutor that he did in the Larivierre case, that the charge be modified. Again Mr. Johnson decided to rest his case as first presented and the court ordered a verdict of not guilty entered.

John Carlson was drunk again over the week end, the evidence being so convincing that even he admitted the charge against him was justified. A fine of $20 was imposed with costs of $12.84, but to this the court added a warning that if Carlson were brought before him again under similar conditions he would send him to the Norwich State Inebriates' Farm where he would have ample time to sober up and reflect on the error his ways.

William A. Poquette of North Grosvenordale was likewise intoxicated when the police encountered him Saturday night. He admitted it in court this morning and the usual fine, $20, with costs of $11.79 was assessed against him.

WESTERLY

The Westerly end of South or Washington county is to be represented on the new by formed Rhode Island state police, for Monday, Col. E. S. Chaffee, in command of the state troopers, announced the appointment of William A. Riddell, 22, of Westerly, as state trooper No. 21, to complete the state force of mounted police. To complete the organization the appointment of a lieutenant remains, but this officer may be named from the ranks.

Trooper Riddell was born in Scotland, the son of William and Mary L. Riddle, and came to the United States with his parents when he was four. In Westerly his parents have resided on both sides of the Pawcatuck river and while living on the West Side, he attended the West Broad Street Grammar school. Removing to Barre, Vt., with his parents, he attended Spaulding High school there and later attended school in Detroit, Mich. When his parents came to live in Westerly, a second time, Mr. Riddle came with them. On completion of his schooling Mr. Riddell was employed by the F. F. Haswell grocery store, under the management of George H. Harper, and then for six years was employed as an auto mechanic by John Thavenet, of Pawcatuck. For the past nine months he has been in the shipping room of the Bradford Dyeing association, at Bradford. In Westerly, he has resided with his parents at 37 Beach street.

He is a member of Franklin lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., of Westerly, a member of the Westerly Highland Pipe band in which he is a drummer, in the same organization in which his father is a piper. His church membership is in Pawcatuck Congregational church.

Generally interested in athletics, he is proficient in boxing and has put them on" with the elder Riddle frequently the latter claiming he can still "give the youngster points."

At the Westerly town hall Monday night, the Westerly town council held a public hearing on the proposed new Westerly zoning ordinance which had been prepared by a committee of the council composed of George B. Utter, Thomas H. Morrison and Louis J. Read.

Between 30 and 40 citizens of the town were assembled in the council chamber, with all the councilmen present with the exception of Councilman Fowler, when Councilman Utter, the chairman of the zoning committee introduced Robert Whitten, zoning expert. The latter detailed the general outline illustrated by a map and two blue prints of the town of Westerly, hung on the chamber walls. Brief mention was made by him of the residentjal, business, commercial and industrial areas and their general character was outline. Provision for change in the zoning law when adopted is by application to the council with a hearing and vote by the council body. The zoning board has a board of appeals, has the power to make adjustment in any particular case, but it cannot change the zones. Present business structures are to stand, but if extension is desired the appeal goes to the zoning board.

At the conclusion of the hearing it was the opinion of the councilmen that the vote by the council to adopt the zoning regulations should go over to the regular council meeting Monday next, the appointment by the council of five members to the zoning board will probably be made at that time. The hearing was held to determine if any changes should be advised to the zoning regulations recommended to be incorporated in the regulations finally adopted by the the council. Of the few changes that will probably result from this hearing there will be, an extension of the business district one hundred and fifty feet each side of the Casino at Atlantic beach, making the total depth 800 feet and to extend from Atlantic avenue across to the Ocean, which is more than the 100 feet originally set. The impression was gained that the size of lots on which houses should be built should not be less than 5000 square feet as compared with the 3000 square feet, originally set and for the more remote areas 9000 square feet.

President Campbell stated that the zoning board will cover all special cases which would come up as exceptions to the zoning regulations, when they could be obtained.

Frank W. Coy remarked as he passed from the chamber. "That all depends on whether a man has a political pull or not!" The remark was greeted by a burst of applause.

It must have been apparent to the councilmen, from the expression of those who attended the hearing, that the personnel of the boy I was desired from citizens of the town, who were not interested in politics and along this line the membership appointed by the council will be awaited with considerable interest.

The argument was precipitated by Howard Thorp, who asked where the appointment lay and was informed that they were to be named by the councilmen. Mr. Thorp remarked that he though the members should be appointed outside of the council, for he did not believe in dual office-holding and if it was so made there would be a lot more of politics injected into the affairs of the office. Councilman Utter stated that zoning work should be carried on by men who were experienced and knew about such matters, as he himself had made a thorough study of the work for several months and that he "wanted to see the work done right."

Henry L. Burdick told the councilmen that he had had considerable experience in zoning affairs in Providence, had had occasion to look up constitutional questions and thought that the short delay in the adoption should be made and that a board of citizens would remove from it the stigma of politics.

Among others who spoke at the hearing were John J. Dunn, Angelo Cappuccilo, Cornelius J. Murphy, Walter Davis, Liddon Taylor, Councilmen Smith, Rossi, Town Clerk Whipple, Solicitor Ferguson and others.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Next week Monday, June 1, the voters of the city are called upon to go to the polls and elect two aldermen, four councilmen, city treasurer, city clerk, city tax collector, two city sheriffs and a member of the board of water commissioners.

The above republican ticket has been nominated with that fact in mind and under the belief that the men are thoroughly capable of administering with high efficiency such duties as the offices would thrust upon them if elected. In most instances they are men of experience, who have for varying periods actually handled, with credit to themselves and the city, the work of the respective places and therefore well equippe dto continue or resume them. Likewise it is to be noted that they are also young men engaged for the most part in personal business activities or professionally concerned in the community's welfare.

The republican ticket is made up of candidates who are committed to an economic a d efficient management of the city's affairs. Their t d in business and in politics is such as to inspire the support of the voters of Norwich regardless of party. They are men of [illegible] ity, men in whom confidence can be placed, men who will shoulder their responsibilities and men who if entrusted with the task of directing the city's affairs will render high grade and conscientious service.

It is service for the entire city and not service for the few that is expected of public servants, and that is what those on the above ticket are prepared to render if given the chance. That chance rests in the hands of the voters. It is a time for those who are clamoring for and [illegible] upon good government to get to the polls and make their votes count next Monday.

THE DEFENSE MUSTER

Regardless of what the feeling may be concerning Defense Day, it is evident that the outburst of objection that was raised to combining it with Armistice day will be met by the decision of the war department to hold a defense muster throughout the country on the Fourth of July.

That, as previously said, is the proper time for the holding of such an affair. It is not intended to be a warlike demonstration, but a mustering of the military strength lears in that direction and it is just the opposite sentiment that is expected on the anniversary of the signing of the armistice, stopping the fighting in the war.

On the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence there is nothing in muster of the manpower of the country for defense purposes to work at cross purposes. It was apparent when the great document was being signed that it would provoke trouble. The more or less thought must have been given to the defense [illegible] of the colonies there was a spirit disclosed back in 1776 which indicated the intent of our forefathers to provide whatever defense was necessary to protect their rights and their declaration that threw off the yoke of the mother country.

As much as we may desire and work for peace, it is impossible to get away from the fact that we cannot neglect our defensive safeguards. We cannot throw caution to the winds. We must look carefully to our protection and in doing so much make certain preparations and maintain certain defenses. Lest we bask in a sense of false security it is well from time to time to know what the American manpower for an emergency is and what condition it [illegible]. A defense muster will keep us posted on this matter and the Fourth of July when patriotism should be at its height is the logical occasion for it.

FRENCH FACING OWN GUNS

So far it doesn't appear that very much progress [illegible] at the Geneva conference relative to the placing of a ban on the shipment of arms and other war material to other countries. Many countries see occasion when such [illegible] in the interest of commerce and government. It is not difficult to point out the undesirable features of the traffic, but neither is it possible to cover up the fact that there are times when it is advisable.

In this connection it is an interesting situation which has been brought to light in the fight now going on in northern Africa. There the Riffs have been successful in their war against the Spanish, and are now putting up a stiff fight against the forces and resources of France. It is not believed that they will be successful in their present undertaking but they have the courage and they apparently have been able to find a market in which to get the necessary war material, which is not antiquated but up to date. This combined with the fact that they are hard fighters makes them hard adversaries.

In view of the fact that they drove the Spanish back to the coast line it is plausible, that they obtained considerable war material from the Spanish but it has also been disclosed as the result of an investigation that the Riffs are equipped with French munitions. Thus in defending themselves against the invasion of the Riffs the forces under Marshal Layautey are being made to face the guns and bullets that were produced in France.

This appears to be one of the situations which is apt to develop when a country undertakes to get rid of a surplus amount of such material, or when as France probably did tries to turn such equipment into cash following the great war. France might have prevented the present trouble had it had any inkling as to where its munitions were going or what they were bought for.

REVALUATION RECOMMENDATIONS

After a year's study of the question of tax assessment in Norwich, and a question which has called for attention for a much longer time, the special committee on tax analysis has completed its work and presented a series of recommendations for consideration by the townspeople.

Norwich is advised that a revaluation of the property of the town is [illegible] needed for purposes of equalization; that the board of assessors be directed to begin such work and carry it out as expeditiously as possible, that necessary equipment be provided, that the pay of assessors should be increased to [illegible] such, that they should have authority to hire clerical assistance and that the hours of the board should be the same as those of other town officers.

Should these recommendations be approved by a town meeting it will mean that the assessors will put in full rather than part time, that their entire attention will be devoted to keeping the tax list up to date, that by the end of next year, at least, a complete revaluation fo the town property should be completed and that by providing for full time for the board there should be overcome the situation in regard to valuation which prevails today.

Norwich has followed along in the same old rut for years and years. It required a long time to make possible a study of the situation here but the chance to overcome the inequalities and the injustices and to equalize the assessments will be presented to the townspeople as the result of the painstaking study which the special committee has given the problem.

The recommendations deserve careful consideration. It is believed that they should be adopted. Nothing is said as to when the revaluation work should go into effect, but it is believed that no part of it should be made effective until, the revaluation work for the whole town has been completed and all can be taxed on the new basis at the same time.

OUR CITY WATER

Norwich has had a [illegible] experience with its city water which it most sincerely hopes will not be repeated.

The horrible taste from the presence of too much chlorine from the chlorination plants made most everyone go dry as far as city water was concerned for the past two days. The explanation given is that because of the decrease in the consumption over the week end the water had been too strongly impregnated, that while no greater amount of chemical had gone into the watermains the flow of the water had decreased to such an extent that it actually contained more of the purifying agent than was intended or desired.

Just why this should have happened on one week end and not others or why there should be any such variance in water consumption over week ends as to make such a difference in the taste and odor of the water doesn't appear.

The modification of the distasteful and disturbing influence was noted throughout Monday, but what is causing no little concern is whether each week end throughout the year is going to be featured with what amounts to an extra dose of chlorine. Few are the occasions before when our city water has produced such a kick.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to the Bulletin)

Washington, D. C., May 25—Next to economy, personal and governmental, the crying need of the people of this country is rest—and rest from legislation. Dyspepsia is the great American ailment. We are so busy chasing the dollar that we haven't time to chew our food. The dollar rolls on, and the heart pegs out, and the Lord alone knows what it's all about. In the majority of instances the epitaphs could be reduced to two words: "Intestines—Intestate." So with legislation. He didn't have it in mind, but the publicity hound who recently had his picture taken lying in a bath-tub and buried in spaghetti suggested the plight of the American people, mazed, tangled and interred in statutory laws.

President Coolidge is doing his best to alleviate the situation. His economy program is its own herald. A drive was gathering momentum for a revision of the tariff, and he puts the brake on that. To the proposal for a revision of the federal reserve act he turned a frigid countenance, even though the proposer would lose the opportunity to feature for a season in the headlines. And what a sigh of relief went up all over this land when it became known that nothing short of a national crisis would budge the president from his determination not to call an extra session of congress. That meant the spraying in chrysalis of a veritable pest of laws.

In 1889, when the republic was established, there were but 626 small factories in Brazil. From 1915 to 1919 nearly 6,000 industrial concerns were established, and in 1920 there were 13,336 factories with capital aggregating over $500,000,000, employing 366,000 operatives, and an annual output valued at $673,000,000. There were nearly 4,000 foodstuffs, 2,300 clothing, 1,600 ceramics, and 1,200 each textile and wood products factories. The textile output reached about $185,000,000; drinks nearly $70,000,000; shoes and preserves $25,000,000 each. The range of manufacture covers a wide variety of products, the major part of the production consisting particularly of those articles having their origin in the country's fields and forests.

The world war forced Brazil to rely largely on her own resources, and the high import tariff and governmental assistance to new industries have featured large in stimulating manufacture. Brazil is larger than continental United States, but despite her industrial growth she will for many years to come be one of our chief sources of raw materials.

There is a growing sense of uneasiness at the intrusion of the federal government in state affairs. Some of the wisest men in the country feel that this interference already has been carried too far. President Coolidge senses that feeling and shows his understanding in his tax program. Federal taxes are being cut to the limit, but state and county expenditures are still mounting. To check them he wants the governors of the several states to get together on their own account and do the job. The other day he had Governors Brewster of Maine, Trinkle of Virginia, and ExGovernor Harden of Florida, representing the governors' conference to be held at Poland Springs, Maine, June 18, at dinner. The president outlined to these representatives of the conference plans by which the states can institute reforms in the matter of commonwealth economy. They are all agreeable.

The president believes if there is concerted action by federal and state government that a considerable part of the taxes borne by the people can be lifted, and the chief executive has in mind the fact that with a lowering of government and state taxes the people of the country will have more money to spend for their own needs and pleasures. The silly propaganda that was being sent out, that the president was carrying his economy plan to the point he wanted people to wear hats seven years old and clothes of the period of 1890, has, by reason of the good sense of the people and their faith in the president, fallen flat, and while there is no doubt that certain selfish interests may try to revive this asinine propaganda, it will be a waste of time, because the American public realizes that the president's policies are sound. The people of this country are tired of being fed cheap buncombe by a class of people whose main desire in life appears to be to fatten their own purses.

The people of the country will stand by the president in his declaration that the navy must not be used for police duty, that it is for the purpose of national defense. This question arose at a white house conference when it was intimated that Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti-saloon league, had plans for using naval vessels in the blockade of the rum row off Sandy Hook.

President Coolidge desires to see the laws enforced. He stands by the secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, in his campaign; but the employment of the navy is a different matter. All things must be done in proportion; therefore the white house has denied the story that the government would expend $100,000,000 in its war on rum smugglers. This, at the white house, was declared to be without foundation. President Coolidge expects the coast guard to stay within its estimate of expenses, which amount of appropriation was carefully gone over before it was made.

An interesting report, just completed by the department of agriculture, reveals the fact that in 1860 it was possible to purchase four eggs for a penny. At the same time corn was sold in the state of Minnesota for 30c a bushel, and wheat for 75c; while in 1846, in Illinois, beef sold at 2 1-2c a pound and stove wood brought $1.00 a cord, while in 1834, in Morgan County, Illinois, cows sold for from $10 to $20 apiece, and live hogs could be purchased at 2c a pound.

At the request of the president a careful study is being made by the various executive departments into the recommendations submitted by organizations which represent practically the entire merchant marine of the country. The report which results from this study will doubtless be used by the president as a basis for his recommendations to the next congress on the subject of the merchant marine.

Just what will be done about the American marine is of course problematical, but it is expected that some plan will be evolved calculated to keep the American flag flying on the high seas. Statistics compiled for the administration, however, show that some action must be taken in behalf of the merchant marine. For instance, during the eight months ending with February last, American ships conveyed 36.39 per cent. in value of our imports, as compared with 39.29 per cent in value of our exports and 32.06 per cent. of our imports in the corresponding eight months ending with February 1924. It is declared authoritatively that this tendency, if left to go on unchecked, eventually would bring our shipping where it stood in 1914, when only nine per cent. of our imports and exports were being conveyed in American vessels.

Why blame the hotel patron for kicking when he has to pay good dollars for poor quarters?

JULIE'S CLEAR FIELD

"I hope you brought your postcards as I told you, Julie," said the able hostess, as she handed Mrs. Bardeen a cup of tea. "Not one of us has been across, so you'll have a clear field and no competition. Julie's going to tell us about her trip," she added to the others. "And just to set the ball rolling, Julie, I've been showing sister's book of European cards That?"—to the guest who was bending over sister's book. "What's written under it? 'Iffley Chapel—Little Norman church with wonderful glass: Oxford.' Did you see it, Julie? Well, I remember sister said only artists and literary people—the ones who know—do find it, so no wonder. But you're going to tell us what you did see. Begin at the beginning, now."

"All right; the frontispiece shall be my passport picture," laughed Julie Bardeen, drawing it from her sewing bag. "It was bad enough so that the British consul—"

But the British consul was drowned in shrieks of laughter as the picture started around the group.

"You ought to see my neighbor, Mrs. Conover's," cried an eager little woman. "She was too funny about her passport! So disgusted because all the information they asked for was about her husband—his birthplace instead of hers, and so on—when he wasn't going at all! Where did you land, Mrs. Bardeen?"

"At Southampton, and from——"

"Oh, that's where my husband landed when he went over!" put in the professor's wife. "He motored through England. Did you, Mrs. Bardeen?"

"Not everywhere." Julie Bardeen grasped her narrative more firmly. "But from Southampton we motored to Winchester, saw the cathedral there, and——"

"Exactly what he did! And then Oxford and then Stratford. Oh, I do wonder if you had the same guide he had at Ann Hathaway's cottage?"

"My funniest guide was in a church in Venice," Julie hurried in breathlessly.

"Oh, Mrs. Bardeen, was that in a church where an Austrian bomb had left a hole in the roof?"

Julie admitted that it was.

"My husband takes off that guide to perfection. He has written an article—Guides I Have Met——"

Julie leaned back and looked around. Everyone seemed happy.

"Sister said——" "My husband thinks——" "My neighbor Mrs. Conover didn't——"

"But Julie," said the able hostess at last, "with all your telling you haven't mentioned Florence, and sister says—"

"Oh, yes, in Florence," said Julie, distinctly, "at a street fair I bought you each a present."

For a minute she had the floor. Out from her bag came three little guest towels.

"Italian drawn work!" "Very mattech on Michigan boulevard!" "Oh, Italy's the place for linen bargains! Sister got a luncheon set with twelve doilies for only——" "Why, Mrs. Conover says she believes the poorest hotel in Italy has linen sheets!" "My husband brought me a hand-tooled bag——" "That wonderful leather work——!" "Such cameos and corals——" "Ponte Vecchio——" "She says they almost give them away!"

In the midst of it all the able hostess remembered Julie's post cards, but Julie explained that sister's collection had covered the same ground and even better than hers. Besides, it was time to go home.

"Well, anyway, Julie, it has been wonderful to hear you tell about it! Almost like going ourselves!"

When Julie Bardeen's husband saw her slipping her European post cards into the table drawer after dinner he felt compunctions. He told her he thought he could keep awake tonight if she cared to try showing them to him again. She hesitated—then, with a sad little wise little smile, she closed the drawer.

"Let's do the puzzle" she suggested —and a perfectly satisfied man sprang to get the evening paper.—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gardner's Lake

Mr. Editor: Perhaps you will allow space for the following statements:

Gardner's Lake—Elevation above tidewater, 370 feet.

Available capacity, 1,000,000,000 gallons.

Watershed, 5 one-half square miles.

Area of pond, 500 acres.

No dam will be required. It will not be necessary to buy farms. There will be no expense for cleaning the basin.

The water can be drawn directly to the Stony Brook basin by only about 5 one-half miles of pipeline.

The water right will cost no more than the Deep river water right.

The cost estimated to the city of Norwich, $400,000; while the estimated cost of the Deep river project is about $1,500,000.

Five and one-half square miles of watershed added to our present 4 three-quarter square miles of watershed would summarize about 10 one-fourth square miles, which would afford a normal yield of 10 one-fourth million gallons daily. The average is made that our present daily needs are but little in excess of 3 one-half million gallons daily. This would leave in our reservoirs a reserve of about 7,000,000 gallons.

Are not these things worthy of careful study before we commit our city to the apparent great expenditures which the development of the Deep river project promises?

Norwich, Conn., May 23d, 1925.
G. WARREN DAVIS.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

This is the sixtieth birthday anniversary of Robert W. Chambers, who is classed among the most successful of present-day American writers of fiction. Brooklyn was the city of Mr. Chambers' birth. Early in life he decided upon a career as an artist and to this end he studied drawing at the Art Student's League in New York, where he was a fellow pupil of Charles Dana Gibson. Later he went to Paris, where he was a student at the Ecole des Beaux Arts from 1886 to 1893. His paintings were accepted at the Salon, where he made his first entry at the age of 24. Upon his return to New York he was employed as an illustrator for several popular publications. Then it occurred to him to make use of his Paris student experience, and his In the Quarter was published the year of his return. It was followed the same year by his King in Yellow, an the success of these two first efforts was such as to turn the young artist permanently to the writing of novels.

From Small Beginnings

James Porter, the Bay Teacher, an Irish Patriot

Oh, listen, Paddy dear, and did you hear! They're hangin' men an' women for the wearin' o' the green!" Those words have a sad significance for the people of Ireland. For century after century Erin has been the scene of disorders and of stern punishment. What the conditions were in the remote past, when the people of Ireland were wholly undisturbed by any foreign invader, no man knows; but during the centuries of history a sort of sad fatality has hung over the island, and with it there has hovered a love for the land that is hardly equalled elsewhere in the world. Among the thousands who died for Ireland was James Porter, a self-taught, self-made man of 45, who was hanged in 1798 for his support of the Irish cause.

"Jim" Porter was born on a little farm—a farm not large enough to form the dooryard of an estate in the South of the United States—in Donnegal—and Donnegal is one of the regions of Ireland where stories of the weird, and where songs that spring from the peasants' hearts, are most familiar. There was no money in the Porter household, and there was plenty of need for hard work. It was not a place of wealth at all, but a place "where health and plenty cheered the laboring swain," though that "plenty" consisted only of potatoes, with meat at rare intervals. "Jim" Porter worked and sang. From a village schoolmaster, much like the master whom that other Irishman, Oliver Goldsmith, describes in The Deserted Village, "Jim" Porter learned to read and write. Then he kept on studying, borrowing books, writing and reading until "the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew." Then he set up as a teacher in one of the many small schools.

Now, with a bit more of leisure, he began to sing still more, and to write down his songs. Still he kept on studying and went to college, where he fitted himself to become a preacher. For a time he was in Scotland—and away from home his love for Ireland grew deeper and deeper. When he returned he wrote much about Ireland, and took up his work with a real desire to bring about good for his people. So he went on for some years, teaching and preaching, and writing songs, and thinking more and more about the unhappy lot of his people. Finally he wrote a series of satiric articles, some of them as bitter as those of the famous satires by the great Dean Sift. He was arrested for treason, given a hasty trial, and hanged at the age of 45. When any man dies because he has loved his country and his people there is room for pity.

CHILD TRAINING

ENLARGING THE CHILD'S VOCABULARY

Ann Ree-Anderson

Numerous ways are given to enlarge one's vocabulary, but as is the case in many matters, it is best, in order that the adult may know many words, to "begin with the child."

If as children we had learned, easily and naturally, a few thousand words instead of only a few hundred, we should now be able, under most circumstances, to speak without hesitation or embarrassment, and there would be no need "to enlarge our vocabulary" by setting ourselves the stint of learning each day a new list from the dictionary.

Over and over we employ the same words, trying vainly to express thoughts about our various experiences. If words were worn out by use we should soon find outselves greatly at a loss to carry on our "every day" conversations. When we make bold to use a word now and then that is not worn threadbare, the blank look of amazement or the sly smile causes us to feel embarrassed, but if these words were inherent from childhood we should not be self-conscious in their use.

An interesting way for the child to get a large, practical vocabulary is through the Synonym Game. The child "wins" who can tell or write the greatest number of synonyms for words taken from some familiar verse, such as:

"Old Mother Hubbard
Went to the cupboard
To get her poor doggie bone;
When she got there
The cupboard was bare,
And so the poor doggie had none."

Synonyms for "went": walked, ran, hurried.

"Cupboard": kitchen-cabinet, pantry, storeroom.

"Got": (which the children should be taught never to use with have) arrived, reached.

"Bare": Empty, stripped.

Of course there are many others.

A verse from Stevenson may be used:

"A child should always say what's true,
And speak when he is spoken to,
And behave mannerly at table;
At least as far as he is able."

"True": honest, reliable, good.

"Speak": answer, talk, converse, chat.

"Behave": act, appear.

"Mannerly": ladylike, gentlemanly, graciously, politely.

The little ones enjoy the game and gain fluency of speech unconsciously. The older children often rule that the words which they have used must be defined, and without using a derivative of the word. A book of synonyms studied after the game is over shows them other words which they might have used.

Stories That Recall Others

STORIES THAT RECALL OTHERS

Just What They Are

Doris, three years old, had been an interested onlooker while mother fried doughnuts and was much interested in the "holes." She sampled them of course and when daddy came home that evening Doris demanded, "a holenut" for daddy.

A Tap on the Window.

Johnny was told by his mother not to leave the front yard in his play. A few minutes later a chum came by and asked him to go kite flying. Johnny went to the gate but remembered his mother's admonition and remained in the yard.

Shortly after another chum with a red wagon asked Johnny to go to the hill to play. Johnny walked through the gate and onto the walk. Then he remembered his mother's warning and returned to the yard.

Sometime later temptation appeared again in the form of another chum with two goats. He left the yard and was almost to the corner when his mother called to him.

"Johnny," she said, "I saw you each time you started to leave and then saw you when you did leave. You remember what I told you—not to leave the yard."

"Then, mother," he said, "if you saw me each time why didn't you tap on the window and help a fellow when temptation was so near?"

Wise men always know more than they tell, but fools always tell more than they know.

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

ARRESTED AFTER AUTO CRASH IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 25—Irving Bruckman, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and evasion of responsibility, was arrested tonight, following the automobile he was operating being in collision with a machine owned by George Allen, Clifton, Broad street extension. William L. Riordan, Norwich, charged with intoxication and Richard Bennett, Norwich, and George A. Smith, Miami, Fla., are being held as material witnesses in connection with the accident. The accident occurred on Pequot avenue near the New London light, where Allen's car was parked along side the highway. The machine operated by Bruckman and in which Riordan, Bennett and Smith were passengers, was enroute from Ocean Beach to the city. Attempting to pass the parked car, it crashed into Allen's car and then was driven away by Bruckman. A telephone message to the police station telling of the accident resulted in Patrolman Edward Riordan and Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray being sent to the scene of the collision. The car operated by Bruckman was found on Montauk avenue with Bruckman still at the wheel and asleep. He was taken into custody. Bennett and Smith were found, a short distance from where the accident occurred and were apprehended when they refused to divulge any facts in connection with the accident. Riordan's car was extensively damaged and is being held by the police.

SALVATION ARMY WORKERS ALL SET FOR TASK OF ONE-DAY CAMPAIGN

Determination to go over the top in the one-day drive for the $5,000 home service fund of the Salvation Army was the spirit of the committee workers as they met for supper at 6:15 Monday evening at the Central Baptist church. Campaign Manager Earl W. Taggart fired the hearts of his co-workers with the ambition to do what has never been done before in a similar Salvation Army campaign, viz: to reach the goal in one day.

James L. Case was called upon to give advice from his experience in many money-raising campaigns and he added stirring words of encouragement, declaring that this effort had some important essentials of success because it was a good cause, one that every worker believed in and for which every man could give his best in making the appeal to the community.

Max Hanover told the group of men that they were going to put this drive over because the slogan of the city is that Norwich never fails in a good cause and he extolled in the highest terms the open handed and warm hearted aid that the Salvation Army gives to all classes and conditions whenever it is appealed to.

Commandant E. W. Wilbur, who is in charge of the Norwich work of the Army, was given a volley of cheers as he spoke of some of the instances he knew of where the Army had rendered invaluable aid in local cases, and General Secretary Edwin Hill, of the Y. M. C. A., spoke in warmest appreciation of the work done by the rank and file and the officers of the Army. We shall be untrue to our city, he said, if we allow this worthy cause to go unhelped.

Major Thomas Seaver, of Hartford, spoke of Commandant Wilbur's long service of 35 years in the Army, which has now brought him to the age of retirement and he referred to the different position which the Army now holds here than it did in the early days when it was shifted around from one meeting place to another, but it now has the fine citadel on Cliff street, for which the people of Norwich so generously provided the funds. He said that Commandant Wilbur had given him figures to show that 1,295 people had been helped in the year and he reminded his hearers that the Salvation Army stood ready always to help any man, who might be down but never out. But its work cannot be done without your help, he concluded, so give up the money we need and set the bells of heaven ringing with rejoicing.

Abner Schwartz was the song leader and there were solos and duets by Adjutant Charles Mehling and his wife, who have charge of the young people's work in southern New England.

After the supper the workers picked up the names from lists that had been prepared and they will go out today (Tuesday) in their one day campaign. Reports of their progress will be made at noon at the Salvation Army citadel on Cliff street and at a supper at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church at 6:15 in the evening.

The supper Monday evening was served by the ladies committee of the Baptist church, an excellent menu of cold boiled ham, potato salad and strawberry shortcake being served. The waitresses were Miss Edith Ellis, Miss Genie Dean, Miss Helen B. Moore and Miss Belle Rathbone. By vote of the gathering John J. O'Rourke was delegated to think the ladies for the supper.

BAIL JUMPER IS CAUGHT BY POLICE

Henry Maynard, of Voluntown, who took advantage of his attorney, Thomas M. Shields, and of the superior court by skipping his bail at the May term when he was allowed to go home on his attorney's representation that he would return to receive and serve a jail sentence which was to be given him, was recaptured Sunday night by State Policemen Frank Kulowski and Ross Urquhart from the Danielson barracks.

As the officers were returning towards the barracks about 11 o'clock they passed a machine parked by the road near Bishop's crossing at Plainfield. Officer Kulowski heard a bottle smashed as they passed the machine and the two returned to investigate. They found several bottles of home brew in the car and when they questioned the man they were satisfied he was Maynard.

He gave them a great fight before they made him a prisoner and it was not until they got him down that they were able to get the handcuffs on him. Maynard was placed in the Jewett City lockup and a mittimus was made out by Judge John T. Barry on which he was committed to the Norwich jail.

As the superior court took an indefinite recess when the business of the May term was over, it is expected that Judge Booth will come here and Maynard will be presented to receive his sentence.

HOLT CAYS POLICE NEED EXPERIENCED HEAD

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 25—The probe that has been going on as to the efficiency of the police department since last December has been completed in that a report of the committee has been made to the city council. It has been made to the city manager and he in turn has submitted his findings to the council. That body has received it in due form and it has been submitted to a committee that will report it back to the council and that body will decide whether the recommendations of the city manager shall be followed out to the letter or whether they shall be ignored. The question is as to what the council will do. The report of the committee was condensed from more than 1,100 pages of typewritten into about a dozen pages of report. There was a separate report from a member of the committee, Councilor Streeter, in which he asked for the demotion of Capt. Pinney, Lieut. Gaffney and Sergeant Murphy and the elevation of Sergeant Samuel Hick to the captaincy, George Perkins and Clyde Murphy to the sergencies and Sergeant Cavanaugh to the lieutenancy. That report, also was referred to committee.

The recommendations of City Manager Holt were to this effect:

That at the present time there is no one in the department familiar enough with the features recommended to successfully apply them. What is needed is to place at the head of the department for such period of time as may be necessary an experienced officer familiar with modern methods, a leader who shall study the capabilities of all members of the force who shall decide what rules are necessary, in short an officer who will reorganize the New London police department and put it on a modern basis of efficiency. It is not necessary that this officer shall be made permanently the head of the police department. With proper instruction, New London can develop its own leaders. What is contemplated is to place at the head and in control of the department a police expert who shall study it, appraise it, introduce new methods, formulate rules, in short, lay out a modern system for the conduct of the department. Promotion, selection of officers, demotion, retirement, in fact, the general realignment of the department would be made upon his recommendation. His employment should be for such time as is necessary to bring about this result. This done, with the selection of officers made on a disinterested basis, with the department assured of the fact that work in it and recognition and promition in it were based solely upon police duty well done and with assurance that there would be a continuance of this program, the department would develop a pride and spirit of organization which should place it among the best in the state. There is no reason why it should not hold such a position. With proper training it would very shortly do so.

Such an expert, such a reorganizer can be secured. I have the assurance of Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright of the New York City police department that he will detach one of his most efficient officers from active work in New York city and assign him to duty with the New London police department for such time as may be necessary for the work of reorganization. This statement from the head of the greatest police force in the United States is most complimentary to New London. This thing is not often done. However, Commissioner Enright, who is a practical police executive, is familiar with the situation in New London and is willing to assign an expert to help us put our department in proper shape.

"I therefore, recommend that the city manager be authorized to employ for such time as may be necessary an active officer from the New York police department for general advisory work in the reorganization of the New London police department."

Councilor Murray contradicted Councilor Streeter's report in which the former declared that Patrolman George Perkins had discovered that liquor was being sold in a room in a place on Bank street and that the sergeant deferred action till the following evening when he went with the patrolman to the room specified and was unable to find any liquor. Councilor Murray declared that the testimony before the committee was to the effect that Perkins "met Lieut. Beebe and not Sergeant Murphy, the latter being met the following night when he proceeded with the patrolman to the room specified immediately and that no liquor was found there."

The recommendations and the strictures by Councilor Streeter brought Councilor Fox to his feet and he made the most vigorous sort of a defense of the police force and especially of the conduct and ability of Capt. Pinney. Mr. Fox read a score of letters of commendation that were written to Capt. Pinney and he was asked to communicate the substance of the letters to the members of the department. This he did. The letters were several of them from the city manager in which the highest praise was given to the captain and to the members of the force. Letters were read from Commander Abernathy of the coast guard complimenting the police on the way they handled sailors who disturbed the peace and of the manner in which they got along with unruly men. The seizure of alcohol in transportation through the city by the police was praised by the city manager. Mr. Fox read letters from the superintendent of the New Haven railroad for the excellent service rendered by the police and asked why these letters were not incorporated in the report of the police probe. He read letters from guests at the Crocker house at the time that hotel was burned praising the work of the police in the highest terms. He also read a letter from Councilor Woodruff in which the latter praised the police for recovering a bicycle stolen from his son and saying that the "police allowed no grass to grow under their feet" while they were seeking the stolen bicycle.

Indeed the councilman asked time after time why the letters of praise were not included in the committee report or made reference to. He said that not one of the encomiums heaped on the police were taken cognizance of in the report. Then he said the committee was biased and prejudiced—that the members had made up their mind as to what the report was to be before the hearing was completed and that they meant to condemn the police. He referred to the fact that the report of the hearing that it might be deleted of all that was in praise of the police. He made a covert allusion to the expense of the committee in furnishing the testimony and said that he could not read the notes he had made as the report was read, by declaring that he wished he had $1,200 that he might employ a stenographer (as the committee did). His attack on Mr. Streeter was to the effect that he had lived here but a few years but that he was to tell the pepole of New London just what they wanted for a police force and decide how it should be managed. He was applauded at times by the gallery, the council chamber being filled in every feet of space that was available for spectators.

Mr. Fox said that he believed the city manager and the captain of police were capable with what assistance they might need from the council to give New London, with the adoption of rules and regulations such a police department as would be among the best in the state. He denied point blank a statement in the report to the effect that the captain of police had never submitted rules, as he had been asked to do, and showed that Capt. Pinney had submitted proposed rules and had asked that the city manager and director of law should cooperate with him in devising such rules and regulations as would be to the acceptance of them and of the citizens in general. To a statement that sergeants who went to a hotel to make a raid found a sergeant of the force in plain clothes standing at the bar Mr. Fox declared that he had a perfect right to be there. That was not evidence that he went there to drink liquor "Why," he said, "if the police will call at certain hotels in the city they will find him there, but they will find that he is there on legitimate business and that he has the right to be there. He said it was no crime for a man to take a drink of liquor when he needs it. "If it was," he went on, "every member of the council would be indicted." As to a statement that a certain officer went to a hotel and there was given an envelope from a safe, he ridiculed the plausibility of the assertion. He said the evidence before the committee was largely what had been told to them; it came from men who were willing to ruin reputations that came from years of hard and earnest and conscientious work—men who were willing to ruin others that they might benefit themselves. He declared that only eighteen of 25,000 citizens were asked to appear, and asked what sort of an opinion can be formed from that of what the citizens of New London want. He was emphatic in saying that the committee was prejudiced and that what they reported was for the purpose of besmiching the reputation of those who had won a place in the estimation of the people and who had served them faithfully and well.

The council did not decide to buy the Seagrave aerial truck, but left with the understanding that the city will buy it when specifications are drawn up to cover the purchase. Councilor Streeter alone opposed that method of doing things.

The council voted to allow the city's inspector of plumbing to inspect the plumbing in Groton, his services to be charged for from the time he left New London till he returned.

INTENTIONAL SECOND EXPOSURE

TWO FAVORITES IN BRITISH AMATEUR GOLF TOURNEY BEATEN IN 1ST ROUND

Westward, Ho, England, May 25—The first day's play of the British amateur golf championship brought about the downfall of two of the "big three" stars favored above all others to capture the title and the trophy.

The reigning champion, Sir Ernest Holderness, was beaten on the 18th green by the Argentine champion, R. A. Cruickshank, a native of Scotland who for five years has lived in Buenos Aires. Roger Wethered, who held the amateur title two years ago, was vanquished by Douglas Grant, a former California champion and an American by birth who for several years has had his home and business in England.

The margin of Grant's victory, achieved by golf that was sound and steady in every shot, was two holes up with one to play. The defeat of Wethered and Holderness leaves by Tolley remaining of the big three of Britain's amateur golfing world.

Tolley also met today an opponent who came to England from an alien land to battle for the championship. He was Hans Samsk of Hamburg, the first German ever entered in a British golf competition.

For a time it seemed that Tolley too was to be eliminated on the very first day of play. Samsk gained an early lead of one hole after an atrocious start from the initial tee, but Tolley quickly got on his game and won by the ample margin of 4 up and 3 to play.

Of the Americans who crossed the Atlantic to play in this championship, only two were called upon to show their wares today, one of them, J. F. Dailey, of the Oak Hill club, Rochester, N. Y., got through with a victory over C. L. Madden of the Temple Golf club, by a score of 2 up and 1 to play. The other, L. V. Cochrane, of the Onwentsia club of Chicago was conquered on the 18th green by last year's British boy champion, a 19 year old Scotchman, Archibald Mathieson, of Edinburgh.

The other two Americans who have entered the amateur championship, R. A. Stranahan, of the Inverness club, Toledo, Ohio; and A. F. Bourne, Garden City club, New York, both drew first round byes and therefore will not have to play until tomorrow.

Except for the defeats of Wethered and Holderness there were no upsets in today's play. In fact the defeat of Wethered was not in reality an upset because Grant for several years has been one of the best amateurs in this country. The only thing that has prevented his selection as a member of the Walter cup team and other international teams has been his American nationality.

The former California champion is the holder of the amateur record for many of the best golf courses in the British Isles, this course and even the more difficulty Royal St. George links at Sandwich, which is his home course, being among them.

Years ago at Deal, Grant reached the semi-finals being eliminated by Robert Harris of Scotland on the same day that Roger Wethered disposed of Francis Ouimet in the other semi-final match. Wethered, who is spending the last part of his honeymoon here, had to fight on uphill battle from the start today as Grant gained the lead almost as soon as the match began. Never lapsing into errors, he held and extended it and then tenaciously clung to his advantage until victory over the slim young Englishman came at the seventeenth hole.

The weather for the first day's play was variable, the morning being calm and balmy. At luncheon a wind arose and there followed for almost an hour a heavy downpour of rain.

When the rain ceased the weather cleared completely and the final matches of the afternoon were played in brilliant sunshine.

WALKER PRACTICES AT WORCESTER FOR TOURNEY

Worcester, Mass., May 25—Cyril Walker came here today to practice over the course of the Worcester country club where on June 2 and 4 he will defend his title as open golf champion of the United States against the ninety-odd golfers who qualify in San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

Walker played a few holes today in spite of rain and was very well satisfied with conditions, just as Walter Hagen, British open champion, was pleased when he visited the Worcester Country club course last week.

The American open champion played with his left hand taped as he had a pulled tendon which is giving him considerable worry. He has been giving his hand electric treatment and in so doing sustained a burn. He said he expected the hand would be fit by June 3.

WALKER GIVEN BANQUET BY HIS ADMIRERS

New York May 25—Returning here today from San Francisco, Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, was dined by several hundred sportsmen at the Hotel Biltmore, after having been received at the railroad station by a band and the Italian hospital fund committee.

He will box Harry Greb middleweight champion, at the polo grounds on June 19 for the hospital funds.

Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, will not reach New York until next week, the champion said.

BILL HAINES WILL COACH COLUMBIA CREWS AFTER MAY 30

New York, May 25.—Fred Miller, coach of Columbia university's rowing crews for a year and a half, retired from his position today, through mutual agreement with the rowing committee. Bill Haines, coach at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will succeed him, reporting immediately after May 30.

Miller's withdrawal as coach follows one of the most disastrous rowing periods Columbia has known. Blue and white eights have placed last in five of their last six races despite feverish efforts on the part of the mentor to assemble the best talent. On Saturday, a reconstructed varsity rowed seven lengths behind Pennsylvania to defeat in the annual Childs Cup regatta on the Harlem river.

On the same day the freshman crew followed Penn and Princeton across the finish line, and the 150-pound boat was defeated in a dual match with Penn.

Saturday night there was a conference in which Miller and the rowing committee participated, and at that time the mutual agreement was reached.

Haines' coming is only for this season, the schedule at M. I. T. having been completed, Maxwell Stevenson, chairman of rowing at Columbia, explained. He added that no planning for next year had been started, this matter being left until after the regatta at Poughkeepsie June 23.

"In the mean time," Mr. Stevenson said, "I am certain that we have material for a crew which can be numbered among the leaders at Poughkeepsie, and I am extremely hopeful that such will be the case when the race is held."

Haines is known throughout the country and for many years coached the Harvard oarsmen. He handled the last crew to defeat Yale, that of 1920. He has had remarkable success since that time at M. I. T. against great handicaps.

Miller is a former Columbia oarsman and has been assistant to Jim Rice, now head coach at Pennsylvania. Rice's three crews swept everything on the Harlem Saturday, an accomplishment which sent his former assistant out of Columbia rowing. Rice was coach at Columbia for a decade, having been dethroned two years ago. He accepted a position as assistant to Joe Wright at Penn and was elevated when Wright resigned last week after a disagreement with the rowing committee of that university.

LARGE NUMBER OF ENTRIES FOR AMERICAN R. A. REGATTA

Philadelphia, May 25.—Forty-seven entries, twenty of them from colleges, are on the program for the annual regatta of the American Rowing association, known as the American Henley, on the Schuylkill river next Saturday.

The list of entries, announced today, show but two crews in the race for first eights—Pennsylvania and the Navy.

Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Navy, Harvard and Princeton are entered in the race for junior collegiate eights.

WILBERT ROBINSON IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE BROOKLYN CLUB

New York, May 25.—Baseball today rewarded Wilbert Robinson for forty years of service as a player and manager by his election to the presidency of the Brooklyn National league club.

The elevation of the veteran manager to the post left vacant by the death of Charles H. Ebbets will not take from the game one of its most popular leaders, however. After he had been chosen by the board of directors this afternoon, Robinson, who for eleven years has been pilot of the Brooklyn team, announced that he would continue to direct the club from the playing bench throughout the remainder of the season.

Robinson's decision gives him a distinctive position in major league baseball, since he will be the game's only president-manager. It was announced, however, that he will be partially relieved as pilot of the team by the appointment of Zach Wheat as assistant manager. Wheat is the veteran player of the club. Jacques Fournier will succeed the slugging outfielder as captain.

The selection of "Uncle Robby," as he is popularly known to the baseball world, met with general favor among fandom and officials. "It is a happy solution of Brooklyn's problems," said President John A. Heydler. "It is also a tribute to Robinson for his long and faithful career in baseball. He is well liked by the stockholders and will smooth over the difficulties that have arisen since the death of Mr. Ebbets and Edward J. McKeever."

Stephen A. McKeever and Joseph A. Gilleaudeau, who were candidates for the presidency during the period of a deadlock among the stockholders following the deaths of Ebbets and Edward J. McKeever, were elected vice-president and secretary, respectively, by the directors.

During Robinson's term as manager, the Brooklyn team won two National league championships in 1916 and 1920.

Robinson, born in Hudson Mass., entered professional baseball as a member of the Haverhill club of the New England league in 1895. The following season he was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics, remaining with that club until 1899, when he joined the famous Baltimore Orioles. John McGraw at that time played third base for the same team.

"Robby" soon achieved fame as a catcher for the Orioles and remained with the club until 1900, when he was shifted to St. Louis for a single season. He returned to the Orioles in 1901. One of his outstanding achievements was a record of seven hits in a single game on June 10, 1902.

Prior to taking up the reins in Brooklyn he was one of McGraw's aides during the Giants' championship seasons in 1911, 1912 and 1913.

SEVERAL GOOD GAMES SLATED FOR N. A. LEAGUE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 25—Probably the most colorful of the early season games to be played in the City league will be the contest which is scheduled for Tuesday evening with the Standard Oil and the Knights of Columbus nines doing the battling. This game is a warm up of what is going to follow the remainder of the week, for on Wednesday night the Submarine Base crew for inaugurating its season against College teams, Saturday will be seen in action opposite the Coast Guard Section Base. The final game of the week will find the Fort Trumbull Stars and the Tabs battling it out.

The Socony nine seems to have a stride upon the Kaceys from the early performance of baseball shown by both nines. The K. of C. nine has been slow in starting its season this year and as yet has failed to round out in form which will be necessary if this team is to be seriously considered a contender for the top position. As a comparison between the strength of the teams in league play, the Kaceys have lost to the Coast Guard Section Base in its opening game, while the Socony nine gained a 9 to 1 victory over the gobs in the meeting with these teams last week.

Last week's games featured the victories of the Sub Base over the Fort Trumbull Stars, the Socony victory and the Knights of Columbus win. Due to the poor weather conditions, the league has not been favored in this manner to have a favorable day for the games. But as the season wends on it is expected that this will be remedied with suitable weather for ball playing.

SHARKEY GETS DECISION OVER AUSTRALIAN CHAMP

Boston, May 25—(A. P.)—Jack Sharkey, of Boston, was awarded the decision over George Cook, heavyweight champion of Australia, at the end of their 10-round bout here tonight. The verdict was not a popular one and the crowd booed Referee O'Connor's announcement of the judges decision for several minutes.

Sharkey apparently received the decision because of his attempts to push the fight at the beginning and his harder hitting, which had the Australian busy covering up in the first few rounds. There were no knockdowns and the fighters spent a good deal of the time clinching. Sharkey weighed in at 188 pounds and Cook at 186 1-2.

In the preliminaries, Marty Donohue of Worcester got the decision over Red O'Grady of Charleston in their six round bout. Alfred Rollinson of Shelton, Conn., recently crowned national and international amateur 112 champion, won his first professional fight by decision in his six round bout with Joey Williams of New Bedford.

NURMI READY FOR HIS FAREWELL TONIGHT

New York, May 25—(A. P.)—In final workouts on the tracks over which they will meet tomorrow night, Paavo Nurmi, wonder athlete of Finland, and Alan Helffrich, foremost American middle distance runner, concluded training for their half mile race at the Yankee stadium—the farewell appearance of the European Olympic star in this country.

Both pronounced themselves fit tonight for the test, which will be the Finn's first competitive race at 880 yards.

Ted Meredith's record for the distance of 1:52 1-5 has stood for nine years. Hugo Quist, Nurmi's closest friend in this country, tonight said Nurmi's aim would be a new record of 1.50.

SPEAKER AND KLUGMAN DRAW SUSPENSION FROM UMPIRE

Cleveland, May 25—(A. P.)—Manager Tris Speaker and Second Baseman Joe Klugman, have been suspended indefinitely for protesting a decision of Umpire Clarence Rowland in Saturday's game with New York for which both were ejected from the game. Notice of the suspension was received before the Indians departed for St. Louis.

The argument arose when Rowland called Klugman out at the plate, the Indians claiming that Catcher Steve O'Neill failed to touch him as he slid in.

BABE RUTH TO LEAVE HOSPITAL TODAY

New York, May 25—(A. P.)—Babe Ruth's physician, Dr. Edward King, declared tonight that he expected the champion American league batter to be discharged from the hospital tomorrow morning. Mrs. Ruth, who has been suffering from a nervous breakdown, planned to go with her husband.

Ruth took his usual batting and fielding practice at the Yankee stadium and announced he intended to see the New York clubs first game tomorrow with Boston.

HARVARD STAR SPRINTER PULLS TENDER IN RACE

Cambridge, Mass., May 25—(A. P.)—Al Miller, Harvard sprinter who pulled a tendon in the 100 yard dash at the Princeton meet here last Saturday and on whom Coach Eddie Farrell was counting for several points in the intercollegiates next Friday and Saturday, probably will not be able to run, it was announced, although he will make the trip to Philadelphia. Coach Farrell said he would take 17 men the meet.

BULKELEY MAY PLAY IN INTERSECTIONAL CONTESTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 25—Bulkeley completes its baseball campaign for this month by opposing two nines, Windham High at Willimantic on Thursday and the fast steping Crosby High nine of Waterbury at the Submarine Base diamond on Saturday (Memorial Day.) With these games scheduled to wind up the activities for this month, the team will play but four more games before the greatest ball team ever turned out at the local school will disband for all time. The games on tap for next month are South Manchester, Hartford Public High, Leominster (Mass.) High and Wiley High of Waterbury.

As the day approaches for the nine to hang up its uniforms and to pursue other professions in life, the baseball team turned out at this institution will rank as the best ever turned out here. Formidable in every manner, strong in every department, a heavy slugging outfit as had been evidenced by the large scores piled up at the expense of leading teams of the state, the Bulkeley team will go down with the highest possible rating a Nutmeg state team ever carried with it. There is no doubt that the team ranks as one of the best in New England, and if the movement afoot now to see the locals engaged in some inter sectional contest goes through it will be the first time that such a thing has been accomplished in base ball for some time to come.

The record of the Bulkeley team is great in all respects not even barring the lone defeat sustained at the hands of the Academy, without due respect to that nine for accomplishing something which it is doubtful if ever any other team will do in the remaining six games Bulkeley has regularly scheduled. The State championship is within reach of the locals if they can wade through the opposition which is before them Saturday and on the following week. There will be no doubt about the matter of this coveted crown and Bulkeley as she reposes now at the top of the heap will be so firmly entrenched in that leader's position that nothing short of a tornado will unloosen the potent Bulkeley nine from that position.

It is interesting at this time to print the record of accomplishment of the Bulkeley nine and the enormous total runs piled up in many instances against some of the strongest teams obtainable to perform in this city. The record follows:

| Bulkeley | | Opponents |
| 16 | Coast Guard Section Base No. 4 | 5 |
| 14 | Coast Guard | 0 |
| 5 | Coast Guard Basin | 3 |
| 7 | Morris High of New York | 1 |
| 16 | Norwich Free Academy | 2 |
| 11 | Meriden High | 2 |
| 6 | Morris High at New York | 1 |
| 11 | Weaver High of Hartford | 2 |
| 8 | New Haven Comercial High | 0 |
| 3 | New Haven Hillhouse High | 2 |
| 0 | Norwich Free Academy | 6 |
| 7 | Colegiate Prep. | 4 |
| 12 | Bridgeport High | |
| 122 | Totals | 36 |

WINDHAM PREPARING FOR CLASH WITH BULKELEY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, May 25—With the idea in view of instilling the requisite amount of confidence into his men in preparation for the much awaited clash with Bulkeley High School of New London Thursday afternoon at the Recreation Park diamond, T. A. Callaghan, coach, gave the members of the Windham High School squad a pep talk this afternoon instead of the daily practice session which was postponed because of the inclement weather. The team is "jinxed." That's the manner local people explain the complete reversal in form. Composed of veteran material, the local club stood a better than even chance of breaking even at least in fact much was expected of the Crimson and Blue diamond representatives. The team has dropped all seven games played to date in spite of the fact that its opponents had shown no evident superiority in the opinion of the writer. The members of the squad however are not in the least discouraged but somehow or other cannot break the fatal spell which has woven defeat in every game so far this season.

In this connection, it can be said that it is a peculiar fact there are no Class "A" and Class "B" high school teams in the state, that is to say that few sport writers class high school nines in two such groups. Baseball as played in the high schools of the state is of a very mediocre grade in comparison to football.

HARVARD CREW ARRIVES AT RED TOP ON SATURDAY

Cambridge, Mass., May 25—(A. P.)—Only two substitutes, instead of the usual four, will be taken along when the Harvard crew leaves here Sunday for Red Top to prepare for the Yale boat race, it was announced tonight. The "combination" crew, usually composed of four varsity men and four freshmen, this year, will number two varsity and six freshmen members, it was said. The shells and volunteer undergraduate training table waiters, will leave here Saturday. The Junior varsity crew will leave Tuesday.

REDS LOSE ANOTHER CATCHER BY INJURIES

Cincinnati, May 25—(A. P.)—The Cincinnati Nationals lost their second catcher for a period of at least three weeks, when an x-ray report made by the club physician showed a fractured finger on Ivy Wingo's throwing hand.

Wingo has been catching regularly since a similar injury took Bubbles Hargrave, the first string backstop, out of the game several weeks ago. Frank Bruggy, the old Philadelphia Athletic catcher has been called upon to help out Asthanax Douglas, the third string catcher, and will report for duty tomorrow.

A meeting of Red directors was held here to bolster up the team.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE PLAYERS REACHES N. E. SEMI-FINALS

Brookline, Mass., May 25—(A. P.)—Clifford Marsh, of Williams College, playing through champion, worked his way into the semi-final rounds of the New England intercollegiate tennis singles championship competition here as rain, for the third successive year, drove the players to the indoor courts at Chestnut Hill for the opening rounds. A team mate Mills Baker, F. S. Osgood of Dartmouth, and J. E. Russell of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, were the remaining survivors of the second round. Two matches were played in the doubles competition.

HARTFORD COUNCIL VOTES FOR SUNDAY BASEBALL

Hartford, May 25—(A. P.)—Under suspension of the rules, by a vote of 23 to 6, the common council tonight approved an ordinance submitted by Alderman Joseph L. Cook, of the fifteenth ward, authorising Sunday baseball in Hartford. There was no debate but an amendment to refer the question to the ordinance committee was rejected by a vote of 21 to 8.

Nutmegs Win.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

The late Sol Levinson of San Francisco was perhaps the world's best-known boxing glove manufacturer. For more than a quarter of a century the gloves used in championship fights were of Levinson's make.

England's famous woman athlete, Miss E. W. Edwards, of the London Olympiads A. C., has decided to retire from competition. At the British women's championships last summer Miss Edwards won the 100 and 220 yards. At Brussels she also made a world's feminine record for the 250 metres.

Charley Babbington, who once was with the Giants and Buffalo, has reported to the Hartford club. He is an outfielder.

Toronto has recalled Pitcher Ralph Judd from the Springfield club and sold him to Hamilton of the Michigan-Ontario League. When Toronto played in Springfield this spring Manager Dan Howley left Judd with the Ponies. He did some fine pitching in spots but was not a consistent winner.

The Martinsburg team, a three-time winner of the Blue Ridge League championship, will make the race for its fourth pennant this season with an almost entirely new roster of players.

Pittsfield has released outfielder Cashmen. He drew his release after giving a terrible exhibition in left field on May 13. Cashman was subject to a fine rassing by the fans after a coupe of bad plays and after the game he went looking for some of the fans who were particularly hard on him. He didn't find them. It is said that Cashman is a former prize fighter.

Mrs. Tait, formerly Miss Lucy Saigeman, who at one time was the world's champion woman swimmer died recently at Eastbourne, England, aged 68.

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

The files of the Norwich Courier of 1850 show that the chief topic of interest in Norwich at that time outside the various doings of the legislature was the Cuban revolution in which the leading mind was Gen. Lopez. The wreck near Worcester of the Norwich and Worcester train in which about 20 persons were injured, two fatally, also caused much excitement here until it was learned that there were no Norwich people among the injured. Extracts from the files of 1850 follow:

Tuesday May 21, 1850—Sunday morning at 4:30 when the steamboat train was about three miles from Worcester one of the wheels on the last car, which was a second class one, broke and the car was overturned and completely broken into pieces and several persons injured. There was a stove in the car which when it overturned threw live coals among the passengers burning them severely. There were no Norwich passengers included in the list of injured.

The Chaffee house in Hartford, well known to Norwich residents, especially those who attended the legislative sessions was burned Saturday night. The building was insured for $2100 with a Norwich insurance company.

Among the passengers who sailed for Europe in the steamer Canada from Boston on Wednesday were Leonard Ballou, Henry B. Norton and John Young of this city.

Thursday May 23, 1850—At Trinity church in this city yesterday, Rev. Edward O. Flagg was ordained by Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Brownell. The candidate was presented by Rev. William F. Morgan and the sermon was by Rev. R. A. Hallam.

The governor has removed William H. Comstock of East Lyme from the office of paymaster general and has appointed Oliver P. Wattles of Norwich to the office.

The body of an infant child, only a few hours old, with its head crushed, was found on Sunday in a field near Gallows hill in Norwich town. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that it had come to its death by blows on the head and had been left abandoned. An investigation is being made.

Saturday, May 25, 1850—Gen. Lopez landed at Gardenas 90 miles from avana on the 13th with about 500 men and took possession of the town. The garrison consisted of about 60 men who made but slight resistance and surrendered. The greatest excitement existed at Havana. The city is under martial law and several thousand military had been enrolled and arms were being delivered to them. It was rumored that the force under Gen. Lopez had increased to about 3,000 and he was advancing on Matanzas.

A portion of the original edition of Gen. Washington's will published in 1800 has lately come to light in Philadelphia.

The Providence and Worcester railroad has just held its annual meeting and reports show that the road has cost $1,954,350.

Joram Petrie is reported to have killed a panther about three miles from little falls in New York. The animal measures 9 feet from tip to tail.

The King Turns Robber

Wrong is wrong, and ne'er can might Ever make a wrong deed right.
—Old Mother Nature.

Nothing is more true than this. Yet it sometimes seems as if many of those who are big and strong think just the other way. They seem to think that because no one can prevent them they have a right to do as they please.

King Eagle was high in the blue, blue sky, very high indeed. Below him, so intent on what they were doing that they did not even know that

But in a minute he was out and slowly flapping upward with a big fish gripped in his claws

King Eagle was anywhere about, were Plunger the Osprey and Mrs. Plunger. They were fishing. They were as high above the Big River as King Eagle was above them. With their wonderful eyes they could look down into the water and no fish could come near the surface without being seen. Back and forth above the Big River they swept. Now and then one would start to shoot down, but before reaching the water would spread broad wings and check the plunge. That was because the fish had taken fright and had darted down where it would be safe. Each time this happened King Eagle set himself to swoop down, and each time he was disappointed.

"Great fishermen they are!" he muttered, forgetting that he himself couldn't do as well.

But at last Plunger shot down and disappeared with a plunge in the water. He went wholly under. But in a minute he was out and slowly flapping upward with a big fish gripped in his claws. Mrs. Plunger circled above him, screaming encouragement. A fierce gleam was in the yellow eye of King Eagle as he watched and waited high above them. He intended to have that fish. Yes, sir, he was deliberately planning to turn robber and take that fish away from Plunger the Osprey. Because he was King Eagle, the mightiest of the feathered folk, he didn't consider what he was about to do as being wrong or right. He wanted to do it, he was big enough to do it, and so he would do it. The only thing he was waiting for was to make sure that when Plunger dropped that fish he, King Eagle, would be able to get it.

The fish was heavy, and Plunger found it hard work to get high in the air with it. So he was satisfied to get a little way above the tree tops and head for his nest, where he and Mrs. Plunger had four hungry mouths to feed. Mrs. Plunger saw him well started and then turned to resume her fishing it was just then that King Eagle with a harsh, fierce scream shot down straight at Plunger.

"Drop that fish!" he commanded.

Plunger didn't obey. He simply tried to fly faster. Mrs. Plunger, screaming, "Robber! Robber! Robber!" turned and flew to try to aid poor Plunger. She got between Plunger and King Eagle.

"Get out of the way!" hissed King Eagle. "Get out of the way unless you want to be killed!"

Of course Mrs. Plunger didn't want to be killed. She had no intention of being killed. But she continued to keep between King Eagle and Plunger. She was watching King Eagle. She was watching those fierce, yellow eyes of his. She knew that as yet he was merely threatening. Meanwhile Plunger was doing his best, twisting and turning and trying to get away. But King Eagle twisted and turned with him and gradually drove Plunger toward the shore. The moment he was over the shore King Eagle set himself for a final swoop. Mrs. Plunger saw the change in his eyes. "Drop it! Drop it, Plunger!" she screamed, and she herself hastened to get out of the way.

Plunger dropped the fish and it fell on the beach. Hardly had it touched the sand when white-headed King Eagle was beside it.

MIS-SPENT SUNDAY, THEN BLUE MONDAY IN THE NEW LONDON CITY COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, May 26—It seems to have been in the air, Saturday and Sunday—intoxication, for there was a class of ten candidates for discipline in the police court this morning when Judge Crandall opened court. Some of the cases had thrills on them, but they were mostly of the common sort and for that reason the penalty was not as severe as it sometimes has been. Among the accused were fellows who had not been up for intoxication in several years. One fellow made his appearance after staying away from court eight years and there were others who had not been accused in three or four years. North Bank street furnished the greatest number of cases, but the rest of the city also contributed to the number, and the government wharf, where there was danger that a drunken man might fall overboard, also provided a single case. In the lot were two brothers who worked all last week and who had a sizable envelop filled with money when pay day rolled around. Another pair hired a cab to take them about the city, but they were not in condition to pay when they finished their ride. That led to their arrest. The pair must have imagined they were millionaires when they indulged in that ride for the clock on the cab showed they were indebted for the ride to an amount exceeding $13. Both protested that they had the cash to settle when they started but they had managed to get rid of so much of it that they could not pay, when the ride was finished. So the Saturdays and the Sundays come and go and those who tarry long with the booze dabbling with time.

Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky, who was indefinitely suspended by Captain Charles A. Pinney Sunday, following Acting Lieutenant James J. Gaffney preferring charges against the patrolman, will not be compelled to submit a lay-off from duty, at least for the present. This afternoon City Manager William A. Holt in a communication to Captain Pinney, advised that the suspension be revoked and the officer ordered back to duty, pending a hearing being accorded the officer. City Manager Holt stated in his communication that because of many matters that made it necessary for him to give them immediate attention, he was unable at this time to set a date for the hearing, but would do so soon.

According to the information supplied Captain Pinney by Acting Lieutenant Gaffney, Patrolman Selesnitsky reported off duty for his lunch period as usual on the night of the 22nd inst., also reported back for duty after the customary 30 minute lay-off. However, it is claimed that after reporting back for duty, Selesnitsky remained for 45 minutes in one of the buildings of the Columbia Leather Goods company, Jefferson avenue, where he ate his dunch. The members of the department are particularly interested in the outcome of the charges, inview of the fact that recently, when Patrolman Dennis Murphy absented himself from his beat about 10 minutes which was a part of 40 minutes he consumed for taking his lunch at his home, instead of a prescribed eating place, the officer received a suspension of 30 days. Selesnitsky at the recent police probe, was one of a half-dozen officers who severely criticised the methods employed by his superior officers in handling the department.

David R. Coffey has sold a building on Ocean avenue, formerly known as the Schwaner tract, to Robert F. McCarthy.

Joseph McDonald, a young man, was interrupted passing along Bank street Friday night, with a gallon container of home-made wine, which was taken from him and placed in the police station by Patrolman Henry Sylvia. The latter was of the opinion that McDonald was a violator of the law, in that he was guilty of transportation. However, he will not be prosecuted for violation of the prohibition law and if McDonald calls at the police station the wine will be returned to him. Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky has investigated the act of McDonald and has come to the conclusion that McDonald was within his rights in having the wine in his possession and that the officer had no information to imply that McDonald was carrying the wine for purposes of sale.

Mrs. R. B. Beebe and infant son, of Lincoln avenue; Mrs. Hermah Protas, 36 Reed street; Mrs. Robert Horton, Summer street; John Faucett, United States Coast Guard patrol boat, 236; Edward Steadman, East Lyme, and Miss Mary Chimento, Westerly, patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were dismissed Sunday and yesterday.

Mrs. Jessie Hatton, of Eastern Point road, Groton, was before Judge Cornelius C. Costello in the Groton town court this forenoon charged with violation of the liquor law, 2d with her son, Joseph Hatton, of the same address. Mrs. Hatton was charged with keeping with intent to sell and her son was charged with transportation. Both entered demurrers, which were overruled, Mrs. Hatton being fined $100 and costs, the latter amounting to $37, and the son received a fine of $200 and a sentence of 60 days in jail, but the execution of the sentence was suspended. Mrs. Hatton and her son were arrested ten days ago following a raid upon their home by state police.

The case of Fred J. Carling, of Westerly, charged with reckless driving, was nolled because of witnesses being unable to identify Carling as the operator of a truck which sideswiped a machine owned and driven by Joseph Couchaine, also of Westerly, on Stanton Hill, Mystic, last Tuesday evening. The nolle, however, was entered by Carling agreeing to pay the cost of officers' fees, $5.37. Couchaine and three companions, were occupants of a sedan and when a truck passed the pleasure car, it is claimed that the heavier vehicle cut in on the sedan, causing Couchaine to guide his machine to the right hand side of the road so abruptly that it struck a telephone pole and slightly damaged the machine. None of the passengers was injured. Following the accident Couchaine complained to the state police of the reckless manner in which the truck had been driven and Officer Irving Nelson overtook Carling on his truck between Stonington and Westerly. Carling admitted having passed a sedan on Stanton Hill, but denied all knowledge of having been a participant in an accident. When Couchaine and the occupants of his car were in court today they failed to identify Carling as the driver of the machine, neither could they give the registration number of the truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth W. Meek, Jr., recently married at the residence of Mrs. Meek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Marquardt, Groton, have returned from their wedding trip and are residing at 27 Gorton street.

Momdelci Brothers, contractors, have lodged complaint with the police because of the frequent practice of youths destroying building material at the corner of Connecticut avenue and West Pleasant street, where the complainants are engaged in erecting a building.

Two youngsters, neither over 15, went to Washington street this afternoon and finding a Ford commercial car parked in the rear of the National Bank of Commerce, entered the machine and in manipulating the mechanism of the car finally got the automobile into motion with the result that it plunged across an areaway and against the bank building. The machine was but slightly damaged. Complaint was made to the police and the boys were taken into custody, to be turned over to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Daniel T. Donohue, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Donohue, Montauk avenue, and Miss Irene M. Roberts, Jewett City. The wedding will be solemnized at St. Mary's church Jewett City, Monday, June 1st. Miss Roberts is a graduate of the Joseph Lawrence Training School for Nurses, class of 1922. Mr. Donohue is employed as cashier by the Central Vermont railroad in this city.

Harry Murray, of Westerly, a patient at Home Memorial hospital was able to return to his home today.

Sergeant Nelson Smith, of the New London police department, is having his annual vacation.

Mrs. Frances O. Crocker, 74, widow of Henry A. Crocker, whose death occurred two months ago, died Sunday night at her home, 94 Howard street, death ending a lingering illness.

News has been received here of the death at Albuquerque, New Mexico, last Thursday, of Charles B. Totman, 76, who for two years had spent the summer at Best View Quaker Hill.

MOTORCYCLE HITS CARRIAGE, BABY DOESN'T EVEN WAKE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 25—Perry Gallup, a former employe of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and until Saturday employed as an auto truck driver by Michael J. Doyle, contractor, was slightly injured this evening, when the motorcycle he was operating plunged across a sidewalk on Washington street and crashed through a window of Fellows' Candy store, No. 19, the smashing of the window following the cycle striking a baby carriage in charge of a little girl and in which an infant was asleep. The babe escaped injury although the carriage was overturned and the infant thrown to the pavement. Gallup was driving the cycle, which is the property of an acquaintance, near the corner of Starr street. As the machine neared Starr street the girl wheeling the baby carriage started to cross Washington street and it is believed that Gallup, who was none too familiar with the mechanism of the cycle, became confused and lost control of the cycle, for the machine appeared to gain speed and finally crashed into the carriage, forcing it from the girl's grasp and then plunged upon the sidewalk and across it to the store where one of the large windows was shattered. Gallup picked up the babe and strangely the child was not even awakened, for it did not open its eyes until several minutes after the accident and escaped as much as a scratch. The police were notified and Patrolman Edward Daniels was sent to the location of the accident in the police car, the officer conveying the baby and the girl who was in charge of it, to the home of the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bosky, 207 North Bank street. The mother of the babe fainted when the child was brought home by the officer, for she feared the baby had sustained serious injury.

MRS. PATRICK L. SHEA DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 25—Mrs. Elizabeth McDonough Shea, 55, wife of Patrick L. Shea, died this afternoon at her residence, 45 Squire street, after a period of many weeks of ill health. Besides her husband Mrs. Shea is survived by a son, Kenneth F. Shea, student at Bulkeley High school and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas F. Shea, of Norwich.

There is one grandchild, Betty Anne, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Shea. She has a sister and brother residing in New York.

Mrs. Shea underwent a serious operation a number of weeks ago because of ill health and it was anticipated that this would result in a permanent return of her physical strength. The improvement, however was but temporary, for recently her condition became worse, finally resulting in her being confined to her home. Her condition failed to improve, until Sunday her life was despaired of. Mrs. Shea passed away at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

She was a woman of most engaging personality, kindly, charitable and affable, and many friends who all along have hoped for her recovery sorrow deeply at her death.

Mrs. Shea, who was 55 years of age August 5th, last, was born in Mystic, living there as a child, but has spent the greater part of her life in New London. Her marriage with Patrick L. Shea, took place Jan. 3rd, 1894, in St. Mary's church and was solemnized by the late Rev. Thomas F. Joynt.

She was a member of St. Joseph's parish.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

The month of May will exceed all previous records in the number of building permits issued and in fact, during the first three weeks has broken all records for the past 26 years. To Monday, May 25th exactly 50 permits have been granted for new buildings in Norwich and the month has yet one week to run. Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton has on file a number of applications which will be granted this week bringing the total close to the 75 mark. In 1910 there were only 49 permits granted for the year and last year, the record year there were 329 permits granted. Now for the first five months there have been close to 200 permits granted by the fire marshal.

That building is rapidly increasing in Norwich can be seen from the large number of permits issued during the first part of 1925. Of course, a large number of the permits granted have been for garages but a $40,000 garage requires the same permit that a $200 one does so from the number of permits issued it is impossible to tell just what the valuation is. There is no doubt but that 1925 will set a record in local building operations both in the number of new buildings and in the value of the new structures. There have been a great many new buildings erected especially dwelling houses.

The permits granted by Fire Marshal Stanton are as follows:

To Wladyslaw Jablonsky to erect a six-room house on Geer Avenue. The house will be of frame construction and two stories high. The exterior will be finished in clapboards with composition shingle roof.

The house will be 28x53 feet with six rooms and bath on each floor with a sleeping porch at the rear of the house. The exterior finish will be in colonial siding with red cedar shingles. The interior finish will be in oak, floors and trim.

Contractor Pukallus is to erect a frame garage on Robbins court for John O'Brien. The garage will be 20x 30 feet with concrete foundation and floors. The exterior will be finished in shingles.

Mr. Pukallus is to erect a four-car garage on Eleventh St., for M. A. Lacavera. The garage will be 20x40 feet.

Another garage on Boswell avenue for Antonie Dempsky is to be built by Contractor Pukallus. The garage will be 20x20 feet and of frame construction.

On the Joseph Perkins road Mr. Pukallus is to erect a 2-apartment house for himself. The house will be 28x55 feet with concrete foundation and brick underpinning. The exterior will be finished in colonial siding with rainbow colored composition roofing. The interior will be in hard finish plaster, oak floors and oak trim. There will be six rooms and bath on each floor with a sleeping porch for each apartment. The windows will be of plate glass.

The value of the new buildings that are listed in the above permits is approximately $85,000, a valuation as placed by the owners.

Building Operations

"Indications are in evidence of a strong upward trend in building activities throughout the United States during the coming summer," says the monthly report for May published by S. W. Straus & Co. of New York. "At no time since March, 1924, has there been such a large volume of building operations in immediate prospect, based on the official reports of plans filed and permits issued in the leading cities and towns of the country. In 355 cities and towns reporting to S. W. Straus & Co. for the month of April, there was a gain of 32 per cent. as compared with April, 1924.

Permits for the new construction work were issued this past week in the leading towns of the state to the number of 402, for new buildings to cost $1,708,423. A year ago 372 permits were issued for new construction to cost $2,677,165, while in the same week of 1923, 322 permits were issued and the total cost of new construction work was $625,398.

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR

New York, May 26.—Stock prices started upward at the opening of today's market, but turned reactionary later under a heavy volume of profit-taking and bear selling. Speculators for the advance succeeded, however, in lifting two score issues to new peak prices for the year. Trading showed a moderate contraction in volume although the day's sales ran well above one and one-half million shares.

Trade news was largely constructive in character. It included the announcement of an advance in gasoline prices in New York city and higher quotations for lead, zinc and scrap steel. Commodity markets also were higher, with much of the buying in wheat and cotton influenced by adverse weather reports.

Professional traders were quick to take profits on first signs of weakness in the standard industrials. American Can broke four points to 187 3-4, while declines of 1 to 2 points were recorded by such popular issues as United States Steel common, Baldwin, Allied Chemical, American Smelting, Coca Cola, Famous Players, Montgomery Ward, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Willys Overland preferred.

The so-called merchandising stocks gave one of the best demonstrations of group strength. Reports of large current earnings stimulated the demand for Associated Dry Goods, Kinney, May Department Stores, Brown Shoe, Simmons company and Robert Reis common and first preferred, all of which attained new peak prices for the year.

Chief speculative interest in the motor group centered in the usually heavy demand for Studebaker, which crossed 48 to a new high on total transactions of about 100,000 shares. Paige Detroit, Packard, Pierce Arrow prior preferred and Briggs Body also touched new highs. Mack Trucks was heavy, dropping back more than 3 points to 176 3-4.

A spirited demand was noted for several specialties in which recapitalization plans or favorable dividend developments are believed to be pending. United States Industrial Alcohol was run up about four points to 94 1-4, the highest price in about five years, on unconfirmed rumors that the stock was to be split up on a two to one basis with dividends on the new stock resumed at the equivalent of $8 annually on the present issue. International Paper, which recently announced the segregation of its water power properties, touched a new peak at 73 5-8 and then fell back to 70 1-8 for a net loss of 2 1-4 points. Union Bag and Paper jumped 4 1-2 points to a new top at 60 1-2 and then fell back to 53.

Other new highs included American Agricultural Chemical, American Tobacco "B," Tobacco Products, Wright Aeronautical corporation, National Dairy Products, Montana Power, United Drug, Ward Baking B, St. Joseph Lead, Cuyamel Fruit and Otis Steel common and preferred, the buying of the last named issues being based on rumors of a merger of several independent steel companies in the Youngstown district. Corn Products Refining sank to a new low at 33 5-8.

The demand for rails centered largely in the eastern coalers. Lackawanna was bid up 4 1-2 points to a new top at 147 but dropped back to 145 1-2 and Reading moved up about 2 points to a new peak 84 1-2 and then cancelled half of its gain. Southern Pacific was heavy in reflection of a relatively poor April earnings report.

Call money opened at 2 3-4, advanced to 4 after midday and thence to 4 1-2 closing at the top. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business in moderate volume.

With the exception of sterling, which held firm around $4.85 3-4, the foreign exchanges displayed a reactionary tone. French francs yielded two points to 5.09 cents, the lowest rate in about two months, and minor recessions also took place in the Italian, Belgian and most of the other important European currencies.

Another Lamb Record.

Randall W. Palmer of Fitchville takes exception to the item in Monday's Bulletin which stated that Everett B. Benjamin of Preston City thinks he has the record on lambs this year. Mr. Palmer with a flock of 8 sheep raised 16 lambs. This, he thinks, surely gives Fitchville the crown on sheep raising for 1925.

The vogue for velvet flowers continues local milliners say. They are used for both millinery and dress trimmings. When used on hats they are usually small and flat, and so placed as to cover completely either the brim or the crown.

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY IS PUSHING ITS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Enthusiasm for the attainment of their objective characterizes the drive of the Women's Auxiliary of the William W. Backus hospital in their effort to secure for their organization this year a membership of at least fifteen hundred. Mrs. Allyn L. Brown, 263 Broadway, who is in charge of the campaign, reports that before it opened, scores of unsolicited memberships had been received through the mail. The whole city is now being intensively canvassed by committees of women who are thoroughly imbued with the importance and necessity of the work of the Auxiliary and who are determined to carry their membership campaign through to a successful finish.

During the past year the Women's Auxiliary has demonstrated to the citizens the value of such assistance as they can render to the management and personnel of the hospital in adding home-like features and otherwise relieving the monotony of the daily life of patients and nurses. Those who are unfamiliar with life inside the four walls of a hospital, do not always realize to what extent life, dark at the best for most of the patients, may be brightened by the introduction of a little sunlight from the outside world. When one's attention is called to it, it does not require a vivid imagination to make one recognize that holidays spent within a hospital are inevitably days of gloom unless the routine of the sick room can be relieved by a little break. Turkeys and cranberry sauce at Thanksgiving and Christmas, home-made cake and ice cream with favors and decorations seasonably suggestive of other festal days, serve in a measure to accomplish this purpose, but these comforts cannot be furnished by the hospital management because they are very properly not included in the cost of maintenance for which patients who can do so are required to pay. These humanizing features can be and are furnished by the Women's Auxiliary.

Among other things which the Auxiliary provided for the hospital during the past year was flat silverware for the wards, the cost being $72. In addition to this, twelve private room trays were equipped with the most up-to-date hospital silverware procurable, the cost being approximately $400. Each tray was furnished with a tea pot, sugar bowl, cream pitcher, soup bowl, butter chip, plate cover and ice cream container. The Auxiliary plans to complete the equipment of fourteen other trays during the coming year.

A portable, auxiliary Gwathmey apparatus, for anaesthetizing purposes, was another gift to the hospital from the Women's Auxiliary during the year. The apparatus was purchased at a cost of $297. It weighs only thirty pounds and makes it possible to administer anaesthetics at the bedside.

Another valuable addition made to the equipment of the hospital by the Women's Auxiliary was a set of four aluminum carriers containing each fourteen test tube thermometers. Similar thermometers are in use in all large hospitals. Besides providing individual thermometers for the patients, when a ward is full, and there are many temperatures to be taken, they are instrumental in saving much time for the nurses.

The gift of an American flag at a cost of $8, to replace one which was worn out, makes it possible for the hospital to continue to join with other public institutions in giving recognition to national holidays and events.

Among other services, too numerous to mention, which have been rendered to the hospital during the past year by the Women's Auxiliary, has been the very important feature of providing entertainment and relaxation for the nurses during their free hours. Too often visitors in a hospital look upon the nurse as a machine and while admiring the efficiency with which she works, they fail to recognize that this efficiency can be maintained at its highest point only while the nurse's morale is maintained at the same point. The Women's Auxiliary has made a special effort during the year to manifest to the nurses that their many friends outside the hospital are personally interested in their welfare and anxious to brighten their lives as far as possible.

Since the date of its organization the Women's Auxiliary of the William W. Backus hospital has demonstrated its usefulness in so many different directions that it is believed there is no doubt that the membership drive will be an unprecedented success.

Memberships will be secured in the adjacent districts as well as in Norwich, this out-of-town work in the campaign being in charge of Mrs. Harry E. Higgins as chairman. Those who are the chairmen in each town are: Mrs. Robert E. Spear, Uncasville; Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, Jewett City; Mrs. Wm. Reynolds, Lisbon; Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, Gales Ferry; Miss Evelyn Cranska, Moosup, Central Village and Plainfield; Miss Gladys Crombie, Hanover; Miss Katherine Holton, Franklin; Mrs. Edward J. Graham, Lebanon; Mrs. Fred. Madley, Goshen and Exeter; Mrs. F. B. Ricketson, Taftville; Mrs. Blanch Case, Baltic; Mrs. William A. Bennett, Preston City; Mrs. Main, North Stonington; Mrs. Nathan Gilman, Bozrahville; Mrs. L. Broder, Colchester.

BROWN GET-TOGETHER HAD 30 ATTENDING

GATE TENDER AT SAYBROOK FOUND DEAD

Five minutes after assuming his duties, Harry Getchell, 55, gatetender at the Middlesex turnpike crossing of the New Haven road at Saybrook, was found dead at his gate platform at 11:05 Sunday night. The body was discovered by a man named Skeggs, of Deep River. Death was due to heart failure according to Medical Examiner Erwin Granniss.

When Mr. Skeggs approached the tracks in an automobile with the intention of crossing the Shore line tracks, he found one gate set against him and the other raised, and realizing the unusual position of the gates, he started a search for the gatetender and found his dead body on the platform. He immediately notified the authorities and Medical Examiner Granniss shortly after viewed the body, giving his verdict of heart failure.

Mr. Getchell had reported for duty at 11 o'clock and it is evident that he was stricken immediately after taking up his work for the night. He had been in poor health since he was injured in an accident about six weeks ago when an automobile bus of which he was an occupant was struck by a New Haven road train on the Valley division at the Ferry road crossing at Saybrook.

Mr. Getchell was for 15 years a brakeman on the Valley division of the New Haven road. Later he became a trolley car conductor and upon the abandonment of the trolley in Saybrook he went to work for a concern in Essex and it was while going to work there that he met with the railroad accident in which he was injured.

Mr. Getchell was a highly respected citizen of the town and was a member of the Saybrook lodge of Masons. He is survived by his widow.

CONTINUANCE IN AUTO CASES IN CITY COURT

In the city court Monday morning Benjamin Brody of this city was presented on the charge of driving past a standing trolley car while passengers were alighting. His case was continued for six months.

The case against Austin DeWolf of Montville, accused of evading responsibility after an automobile accident Saturday night on North Main street was continued till June 6 at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Leo Roy Robbins. This is to await the result of the injuries to Urban Cates who was thrown out of the DeWolfe machine and is unconscious in the hospital.

Benjamin Cutler of New Britain was charged with passing a fraudulent check. He was assessed $8.25 and given a suspended jail sentence of 30 days.

Anthony Mierzlewski, 18, of this city, charged with reckless driving had his case continued until May 30.

A jail sentence of 30 days was meted out to a Norwich man on the charge of beating his wife.

Alex F. Korenkiewicz, 21, of North street, who was involved in an accident near St. Mary's cemetery, was fined $25 and costs for violation of the motor vehicle law in not having an operator's license issued to him.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by Henry Tubbs, 28, Harry Vailizueutt, 36, Alex Warwisinowicz and Anthony Izbicki, 29, all being charged with breach of the peace as a result of a fight at a christening Sunday night at No. 44 Sturtivant avenue. Tubbs was found guilty and given a fine of $25 an costs, paying in all $39.06. The other three men were discharged by the court.

Struck by Automobile

Charles Sakellarides, who is employed at the Chelsea lunch on Franklin square, was struck and knocked over by an automobile late Saturday afternoon in front of the Bulletin building on Franklin street. The machine was driven by Reuben A. Hyman of 28 Market street. Sakellarides was considerably bruised and was attended by Dr. J. W. Callahan.

FIRE WAGON BOUGHT AHEAD OF APPROPRIATION

The annual report of the board of fire commissioners, presented to the common council at its last annual meeting, recommends that a new motor car will need to be bought for the deputy fire chief, but the appearance of the car last week in Norwich at the Rinella-Leeney motor car co. sales rooms shows that the car has been bought ahead of the appropriation. The car is duly lettered on the side "Deputy Chief" and on the hood "Norwich Department."

The money needed for the additional piece of apparatus is not shown but is partly indicated by the $4,000 from $75,850 to $79,850.

The following is the fire commissioner's annual report:

Fire Commissioners' Report

To the Honorable Court of Common Council:

Gentlemen:

In compliance with an ordinance the board of fire commissioners respectfully present the following report for the year ending May 1, 1925. Nineteen meetings have been held for the dispatch of department business. The new station, known as No. 3, located on the Joseph Perkins road, has been completed and the company installed therein.

New battery plates were purchased for the fire alarm battery and other necessary repairs to the system were made at this time. Owing to the very low water conditions during the year it was deemed advisable to purchase 500 feet of three inch hose to use if the occasion required going to the river to pump water any distance in order to overcome some of the friction with long lines of hose.

Necessary repairs were made at some of the stations, but the station located on West Main street, known as No. 5, remains as reported one year ago. It is expected that a special appropriation will be made at the next city meeting to cover the cost of erecting a new station in this district. No new fire alarm boxes were purchased during the year as the appropriation would not allow the necessary expense.

The apparatus assigned to the several companies is in first class condition. The car used by the deputy chief will have to be replaced by a new car, and to meet the expense necessary to purchase the new car and to make repairs to some of the stations the appropriation for general expense will have to be increased. A detailed report of the number of fires, losses, etc., during the past year will be found in the annual report of the chief of the department together with the expense of maintenance of the department.

Respectfully submitted:

EDWARD CROOKS.
WILLIAM H. ALDRICH.
FRANK L. RINELLA.
Board of Fire Commissioners.

TRADITIONAL "PETER'S PENCE" TO BE SUNDAY OFFERTORY

Since the earliest days of the Catholic church, the faithful have been accustomed to make an annual offering for the support and aid of whatever Pope happened to be the spiritual head of the church. This contribution has been familiarly known as "Peter's Pence," having originated in the offering to Saint Peter. Much of it goes for mission extension, charities, etc. This same contribution is to be taken up in this diocese of Hartford the coming Sunday, in accord with the following circular letter from Bishop Nilan, read from the pulpit in each of the 212 parishes Sunday:

EPISCOPAL RESIDENCE
Hartford, Conn.
May 12, 1925.

Dear Father: The annual collection for our Holy Father will be taken up in the churches of the diocese on the feast of Pentecost, May 31st. This collection is the only source of income on which His Holiness can depend to meet the ever-pressing demands made upon him in the discharge of those duties which are his as Vicar of Christ and Shepherd of Christendom.

To anyone who has an appreciation of the variety and scope of the Holy Father's obligations in the stupendous work of directing the activities of the Universal Church, it is very evident that he has need of great financial resources. And as we are all children of the Church and the beneficiaries of those spiritual favors which Christ gives through her ministrations to us, we all should bear our share of the burden in a measure proportionate to our means. Our offerings will at once be a mark of our gratitude to God for the gift of faith which has come to us through the church and a tribute of filial devotion to him whom we recognize as our Spiritual Father.

During this period of reconstruction in Europe the flow of funds to His Holiness has been greatly reduced in some places and in others it has been entirely interrupted. In view of the fact we venture to hope that this year your offerings will give still greater proof of your devotion to the Vicar of Christ.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN J. NILAN,
Bishop of Hartford.

SOLTZ WATERFORD FARM IS SOLD AT AUCTION

Five bidders and eight bids, and the Soltz farm on the New London-Norwich turnpike, in Waterford, was sold to Thomas C. Dillon, real estate dealer of New London, Saturday afternoon for $4,050, by James R. May, auctioneer, under orders of the superior court on foreclosure proceedings brought against the Soltz estate by the Savings Bank of New London.

More than 50 possible bidders assembled in front of Mr. May when the sale began. Described by the auctioneer as a farm of about 80 acres, with about 500 feet frontage on the highway, and with a four-room house, an outhouse and shed.

Mr. Dillon stated after the auction that he "had no definite plans for the property and bought it as an investment."

This is the fourth sale of Soltz estate property. The property at 133 and 137 North Bank street is still to be sold at auction. This consists of several brick and frame dwellings with land extending to the New Haven railroad property on Water street.

WHEEL COMING OFF SENT CAR THROUGH RAIL

An automobile driven by James Wilbur of 174 Elizabeth street came near going through the side of the Eighth street bridge and into the shetucket river late Saturday afternoon when a front wheel came off, causing the car to plunge into and take down a good section of the bridge railing. Mrs. Wilbur was in the car with her husband but neither was hurt.

STREET DEPARTMENT HAD YEAR OF MUCH WORK

Extensive and varied work, some of it unexpected, has been done by the street department under the direction of Street Commissioner John C. Donovan.

There were 74 trees removed from the city streets in all districts of the city during the past year, and 541 trees were sprayed. Trees were planted on Rockwell street. During July and August there were two very severe wind and rain storms, causing a great deal of damage to trees, uprooting them and tearing off great limbs, which necessitated a great deal of extra work and money in this department of the work.

There has been much activity along building lines in this city during the past year, so that the approximately 238 new houses necessarily brought a large collection of garbage and ashes which was not planned for in the year's appropriation for this purpose, making it necessary to rebuild the Brockway truck to take care of the extra collection, thus making the regular working equipment a truck short. The Quad truck was used on oiling. Due to the shortage of city water, none was used for sprinkling purposes, this truck, with the one taken for ashes makes the department two trucks short on regular work. About 9,085 loads of garbage and ashes were collected, an average of about 60 or 70 loads more per week than last year. The triangle at Centennial square was made into a small park, Centennial park. A curb was built around it, grassed and a maple tree planted in the center.

Under the head of unforeseen expenditures was Meyers avenue sewer. This street comes to a dead ending with the grade of the street pitching to the dead ending with gutters running into private property doing considerable damage to property and causing large washouts and carrying dirt and all sorts of rubbish onto private property. This had to be taken care of at once and the city received permission to cross private property and lay over 300 feet of cobble gutters and 160 feet of 18 inch acron pipe, and connected into brook.

On account of the extending of the dock at the Richmond Radiator Co., this sewer had to be extended into the river for quite a long distance and required much work to be done under water. By the co-operation of the local management of the Radiator company this work was done by the concern that was employed to build their docks as they were equipped to do work under water, the Radiator company and the city paying equally the cost of this work.

Also under the head of unforeseen expenditures, was Hedge avenue sewer. This sewer was laid years ago of cement pipe and shortly after the city had accepted this street this sewer cement pipe having worn out, gave way and caused sewer to block and back out into the street. This sewer was underground at the river at a depth of 65 feet and constructed at that depth for 80 or 90 feet, finishing at a depth of 5 feet running at about 275 feet. This had to be rebuilt and laid with acron pipe.

STORRS HENS MAINTAIN STEADY EGG LAYING GAIT

The hens at Storrs are holding steady. As a matter of fact the total production was fifteen eggs better than for the previous week but forty-five eggs less than a fortnight ago. The lay for all pens was 5,395 eggs or a yield of better than sixty per cent. The race for first place was hotly contested. At the close of the week there were ten pens including Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds and White Leghorns, none of which were separated by a margin of more than three eggs. Five Point Leghorn Farm at Mt. Ephraim, N. J., finally won out with a score of 58 eggs for the week. Keewaydin Farm's pen of Barred Rocks from Darien, Conn., Geo. Phillip's pen of Leghorns from North Haven, Conn., and D. Hart Horton's pen of Rhode Island Reds from Farmingdale, L. I., all tied for second place with 57 eggs. Harriet Smith's pen of Barred Rocks from Newburyport, Mass., and F. S. Chapin's pen of Reds from Longmeadow, Mass., tied for third place with 56 eggs each. Barred Rocks owned by Longmeadow Farm at Dallas, Penn., Rhode Island Reds entered by Geo. B. Treadwell at Spencer Mass., and two pens of Leghorns bred by Hilltop Farm, Suffield, Conn., and Hanson's Leghorn Farm at Corvallis, Ore., all tied for fourth place with 55 eggs.

Radio contestants and others who follow the laying trials at Storrs, will be interested to know about recent changes in the broadcasting program. The college station has been quiet for the past several weeks because it was in the process of being remodeled. Weekly reports on the progress of the entertrise will henseforth be put on the air with 500 watts or five times as much power as formerly. Meanwhile there has been a slight reduction in wave length from 248 to 275 meters. Contestants and their friends residing anywhere in New England should be able to readily tune in on these reports that are broadcasted every Monday night at 7:15 eastern standard time. Under good conditions of reception the contest reports should be easily picked up as far west as the Mississippi and as far south as the Carolinas. Contestants should note that the college expects at any time to be assigned new call letters that read WCAC instead of WABL as at present.

SUES TROLLEY COMPANY FOR SMASHUP INJURIES

Mrs. Catherine Polomski of Jewett City, wife of Joseph Polomski, is the plaintiff in a suit for $5,000 damages against the Connecticut Co., for injuries she received when the automobile driven by her husband was struck by a trolley car about 1 1-2 miles southerly from Danielson. Mrs. Polomski was riding on the back seat of her husband's machine, which came to a stop on the trolley tracks between 10 and 11 p. m. on Aug. 3, 1924 and was run into by a trolley car. The cause of the automobile stopping is not known, it is claimed, but it is stated that it was through no fault of the operator of the machine. Mrs. Polomski was thrown against the front seat of the automobile and as a result of her injuries suffered a miscarriage. It is claimed that she has spent or will be obliged to spend $1,000 for medical attendance and that an operation is necessary. The claim is made that the operator of the trolley was negligent in failing to keep a proper lookout ahead in order to see the automobile standing on the tracks.

The suit is returnable before the superior court in June.

A CANDLE

A candle makes unto itself a shrine
In which its beam may shine:
In all the myrtle fanes that ever were
It showed the sweetest
As in no palace of lost years
Is now a candle clearer
A flower, it seemed—a very flower of light.
Born on the bound of night,
All suddenly it rose—shot into bloom
Against the west-wood's gloom:
Lovely and lonely, kindred to the star
New-lit in heaven far.
To me a wanderer—the long day done,
At last my refuge won,
It showed the pathway to the open door,
It bathed the ocean floor—
More blest than symboled rose in wine-dowed fane
That gleam behind the pane!
Oh, would that it again, once evening might
But walk by candle-light,
And touch the hand that set this flower of grace
Within its welcoming place!

A candle... Still, to me, a starry flower,
The soul of vesper hour
And it shall make unto itself a shrine
In this small room of mine:
And it shall rise, within a quiet air,
As though it breathed a prayer;
Yet, like a flower, if any gust avail,
It only seems so frail!
For both though lowly bending in that gust,
Themselves would readjust
(Perchance, I dream that those a prayer release
So passionate for peace).
My candle sleeps . . . then, wakes with sudden haste—
Towards what it loves, it wastes:
It gives itself—and, like the flower, it goes
It gives itself—and, like the flower, it grows
In ways that no one knows.
Oh, wherefore do I wish that I, tonight,
Might walk by candle-light

THE WATER-LILY

In the slimy bed of sluggish mere
Its root had humble birth,
And the slender stem that upward grew
Was coarse of fibre and dull of hue,
With nought of grace or worth.

The goldfish that floated near
Saw only the vulgar stem;
The clumsy turtle paddled by,
The water snake with its lidless eye—
It was only a weed to them.

But the butterfly and the honey bee,
The sun and the sky and air,
They marked its heart of virgin gold
In the midst leaves of spotless fold,
And its odor rich and rare.

So the fragrant soul in its purity,
To sordid life tied down,
May bloom to heaven and no man know,
Seeing the coarse vile stem below,
How God hath seen the crown.
—James Jeffrey Roche.

SPEED BOATS BEAT THE 20TH CENTURY LIMITED

Gar Wood Twice Changed Boats in the Drive Down the Hudson River—The Boats Were Caught With Cold Engines When the First Section of the Century Left Albany 40 Minutes Ahead of Schedule—The Train Because of the Pre-Schedule Start Had to "Loaf" on the Trip—Elapsed Time For the Boats Was 2 Hours 58 Minutes, For the Train 3 Hours 39 Minutes—Century Usually Covers the Distance in 3 Hours 9 Minutes.

New York, May 26—(A. P.)—Gar Wood twice figurately swapped horses in the middle of the stream and beat the running time of the crack train of the New York Central lines, the Twentieth Century Limited, from Albany to New York. He used two of his speed boats to do it, changing from one to the other at high speed down the Hudson river.

The powerful motors of the bay Gar IV overcame fate and circumstance in the roaring down-river race, speeding to victory at the rate of 46.5 miles an hour. On the Hudson river's east shore, the first of the train's four sections, in sight of the racing boat's crew at virtually all times, sped Manhattan-ward at an average clip of 81.94 miles an hour.

In the boat were Gar Wood, his mechanic, Arlin Johnson; Charles F. Chapman, editor of Motor Boating, who was official observer and timer, and a newspaper reporter. Wood had little to say on landing beyond promising that he would bring "my two Miss Americas here after the Detroit races and beat any train you can run over these tracks." He would not discuss the Teaser's record beyond saying that he had not attempted to break it.

Mr. Chapman, in an official report of the race made late today, stated that the Baby Gar IV maintained an average pace of 42 miles an hour. The elapsed time of the boat for the run was 2 hours and 58 minutes, according to Chapman's figures, while the train, counting that it started with the boat, took 3 hours and 36 minutes. Chapman calculates that the Century was beaten by 35 minutes.

But the figures, in this case, do not tell the entire truth. For the contest started in confusion when the Century's first section shrieked out of Albland forty minutes ahead of schedule, catching the wood boats, the Baby IV and the Baby Gar V, flat-keeled, as it were, and with engines cold. So the train was well on its way, a mile or more down the line, before the boats' crews had scrambled madly to their places, cast loose and started in pursuit.

Because of this pre-schedule start, the train had to do considerable 'loafing' on the trip, although on some stretches it travelled at a 59-mile-an hour rate and one more than one occasion was ahead of the racing boat. Below ahead of her schedule, other trains of the line had to be considered and for safety's sake the Century's engineer alternately speeding and slowing down, brought his train into Manhattan an even thirty minutes behind running time. This is, the Century took 3 hours and 39 minutes to make the trackage it ordinarily makes in 3 hours and 9 minutes.

Allowing the Century five minutes for a change from steam to electric locomotive at Harmon, the speed boat beat the train's time thirty-six minutes. Had the Century run on schedule Wood's margin of victory would have been but six minutes. His time was 18 minutes slower than that made by Richard F. Hoyt's speed boat teaser in a test run up the Hudson to Albany last Wednesday.

There was something of a festive air about the whole proceeding, popularly called a "race," although the Century had to adhere strictly to the rules of the road, in spite of the early hour there was a good crowd on the pier at Albany awaiting the start. The mayor arrived too late to see the beginning, owing to the first section's surprise start. For the same reason the several airplanes which hovered over the train and boats throughout the trip didn't get off to a good start and the scheduled broadcasting from an army dirigible through stations WJZ and WGY didn't come off as well as it might otherwise have.

Crowds assembled along the river banks a great deal of the entire distance and every bridge was lined deep with motorists and pedestrians. From the rear platform of the first section of the train Mrs. Gar Wood and a party of friends excitedly watched the progress of the contest.

It was from this vantage point that Mrs. Wood saw her husband do two daring things in his determination to overcome circumstance. At Harmon his Baby Gar IV, which he was piloting, was trailing the Baby V in charge of his brother, George. So he signalled George to slow down and, with the boats still driving ahead at a brisk rate, he leaped to the five's deck, believing that craft's engines to be running more smoothly than those of the four. George jumped to the four. But as Poughkeepsie the Five stopped a motor valve and again the pilots hazardously exchanged boats, with both craft scooting forward in clouds of spray that glistened against the morning sun. Precious minutes were lost in the double exchange.

Crowded shores greeted the Baby Gar IV when she whizzed across the line at the Columbia Yacht Club. The club's float was overloaded with cheering people. Thousands lined Riverside drive and other thousands looked down on the panorama from the heights of the Palisades of the New Jersey shore.

FOUR JURORS DISQUALIFIED IN THE SHEPHERD CASE

Chicago, May 26. (AP)—The Shepherd trial at adjournment today found itself set back a week through disqualification of one of the four jurors sworn last Friday.

Three jurors, one venireman tentatively passed by both sides, one questioned briefly by the state, and seven who had not been examined occupied the jury box at adjournment after eight days of questioning had resulted in 139 men being excused from jury duty. The third special venire of 100 men was in court today.

Harold Pillar, one of the four jurors sworn in last Friday, discovered overnight that he was biased against the state, had an opinion, and was prejudiced against capital punishment. As a result he was ordered dropped from the panel by Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

Twice during the day William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, defense counsel, sought to have Judge Lynch direct the state's attorney, Robert E. Crowe, to drop his investigation of alleged jury tampering at least during the Shepherd trial.

Judge Lynch ruled with the prosecutor, however, that the excused veniremen no longer were wards of the court and that the state's attorney, or the defense counsel, were privileged to summon the veniremen for interrogation as to possible efforts at "fixing."

Mr. Crowe continued to call in discharged veniremen, his aides questioning more than two score, but no jury tampering was uncovered.

In excusing undesirable veniremen today the prosecution brought its total of peremptory discharges to nine of its twenty, while the defense used the third of its score.

SULTAN RAYA AND MOROS DRIVEN FROM FORTRESS

Manila, May 27—Governor General Leonard Wood today received a dispatch from Major Johnson, governor of Lanao province, announcing the successful assault of the fortress from which Sultan Raya and other Moros have been defying the authorities for some months.

After a preliminary shelling with field guns and mortars the fortress was stormed by the constabulary. Seven Moros are known to have been killed. Some escaped. The constabulary suffered no casualties.

OBITUARY

Ernest Dewitt Burton

Chicago, May 26—The passing today of President Ernest Dewitt Burton, of the University of Chicago, at the age of 68, brought from his associates here the tribute that he had exemplified the highest ideals in education, had won success as an executive and was a "wonderfully fine neighbor."

Dr. Burton died this morning from peritonitis after a six days period in which he strove courageously to survive an operation for the removal of a cancerous intestinal growth. He will be buried Thursday.

AMERICAN RELIEF FOR AMUNDSEN IF NECESSARY

Washington, May 26—Secretary Wilbur declared today he regarded as "remote" any chance of sending the dirigibles Los Angeles or Shenandoah into the Arctic in search of the Amundsen Polar expedition.

The present intention, he added, is to await the departure of the McMillan expedition to the north next month, and if the explorer has not reported by that time, to see what can be done by scouting with airplanes of that party. His own idea, however, was that if the Amundsen party had been forced down, there would be little chance for the aviators to find them in the vast white wastes about the pole.

If the party can be found and relief work is necessary, he declared, the navy will be disposed to do what it can, recognizing the call of humanity. Although beyond that call there is no claim upon the United States with respect to the expedition, government officials from President Coolidge down have shown considerable interest in inclined to favor American relief for the undertaking. The president is in Amundsen if it is necessary and practicable time has come to consider such a ticable, but he is not convinced that project.

Secretary Wilbur declared he was for sending lighter-than-air craft in not enthusiastic over the suggestion to the Arctic. He would be very reluctant, he said, to order any naval aviator into that region, and as to the use of navy equipment by volunteers, any plan would have to be demonstrated as sound, adequate and practical, before he would give it his approval.

Two years ago, he recalled, the navy decided against sending a lighter-than-air craft into the Arctic because the project was "neither wise nor sane." The question of expense entered into this decision, he added, but was only one factor, and there was also the question of risks devolving upon dirigibles in going into new and untried conditions in the Arctic. Although the navy is considering the possibility of sending the Los Angeles or the Shenandoah to the relief of the in event of an emergency, he declared, even this was only a tentative proposition so far.

Stockholm, May 26—Great enthusiasm had been aroused in Swedish musical circles by the announcement that a Boston, Mass., physician, Dr. Richard Hogner, has offered a prize of 2,000 kronor to be awarded through the Swedish National Singing society which soon will hold a monster music festival here. The competition is open to Swedish-American composers, the subject is to be a patriotic [illegible] by Eric Gustaf Geijer, entitled "Manhem," a poetic term for the Scandinavian countries.

FIFTH DAY WITHOUT NEWS FROM AMUNDSEN

New York, May 26—(A. P.)—The North American Newspaper Alliance announced through the Associated Press at 9:00 o'clock tonight that it was still without word from the Amundsen-Ellsworth-North Pole expedition.

It is now five days since the two planes started from Kings Bay, Spitsbergen, headed for the Pole.

NO ANXIETY FOR THE FATE OF AMUNDSEN

Oslo, Norway, May 26—Doctor Hesselberg, chief of the weather bureau of the Norwegian capital, a student of Polar exploration, in a statement published today said he saw no reason for anxiety regarding the fate of the Amundsen-Ellsworth flying expedition to the North Pole.

He recalled that Amundsen stopped several times on his way to the South Pole in order to obtain a sufficient number of observations. At the North Pole, Dr. Hesselberg said, Amundsen would certainly be very scrupulous about his observations, and probably would require several days to complete them.

Even should there be no news from Amundsen for several months there would be no reason for despair, the weather expert said, for the reason that the expedition is equipped with skills, tents and equipment which, he believed, should enable the explorers to march over the ice to Cape Columbia on Ellesmere island north of Greenland.

REPORT ON INVESTIGATION ON NEW BRITAIN POLICEMEN

New Britain, May 26—(A. P.)—The discipline committee of the police board reported at a meeting of the board tonight, in regard to its investigation of the case of Policeman Liebler, Malona and Feeney, who are alleged to have made misstatements on the witness stand during the trial of Gerald Chapman.

The committee reported that Patrolman Feeney's testimony was practically true with the exception that the policeman testified that he was present when the uniform of Patrolman Skelly, shot and killed by a bandit, was removed from the body. That, the committee reported, was inaccurate. The committee was under the impression, it reported, that this inaccuracy was the result of agitation and not of any willful intent to evade the law.

In the case of Patrolman Malona the committee reported that he testified in court that he did not know the name of the man who later proved to be Hostler Johnson. The committee said that the patrolman knew his statement to be untrue. The patrolman told the committee, it reported, that he was under the instructions of State's Attorney Alcorn and that he was under the impression that he was not to mention Johnson's name.

With reference to the case of Patrolman John Liebler, the committee took exception to three statements taken by the officer on the witness stand. The committee had a manuscript of Raymond Smith, official court reporter, and it found that Liebler had denied on the witness stand that he had discussed the murder of Patrolman Skelly with his brother officers prior to the trial. This statement was untrue and he made no satisfactory explanation, the committee reported. Liebler also testified that he did not remember of Patrolman Skelly identifying Walter Shean as the man who shot him. The committee found that this also was incorrect, it reported. Liebler also testified that he did not know the name of the man who later proved to be Johnson, which also, according to the committee was not correct. The committee reported that Liebler said that he was testifying under instructions by Mr. Alcorn.

The committee reported it did not believe any attempt had been made on the part of the three witnesses to deceive the court or that their misstatements had any effect on the result of the trial. The committee further reported that because of the fact that these men appeared before the discipline committee and admitted their inaccuracies, that that action itself constituted a reprimand and the committee felt that the men had been sufficiently punished.

The board accepted the report with minor recommendations.

HARRY K. THAW AGAIN IN NEW YORK NIGHT LIFE

New York, May 26—Harry K. Thaw, whose re-entry into the night life of Manhattan for the first time since the evening he killed Stanford White is the present sensation of the white light district, said today he might remain in the city "half an hour or three weeks." He was found at the Hotel Roosevelt and admitted his identity.

"I'm simply here on business and I'm going to attend to that business and leave," he said over the telephone. "What do you want to pester me for?" he complained, "lots of people come here. If something happens I'll let you know." He did not say what he expected to happen.

When he was asked if there was truth in rumors that he intended a reconciliation with his former wife, Evelyn Nesbit, the telephone clicked and the interview was over.

Thaw was first discovered in New York Sunday night, when he appeared at Texas Guinnan's Night club in the roaring forties, accompanied by Faye Gray, a dancer, and lavishing tips on the cabaret staff and flowers on the women in the place. Although gray haired, he is reported to have shown great zest over being again in New York among the lights and music and well dressed women. The cost of his evening, including a $500 tip to the orchestra, is estimated at $1,500.

He is said to have told friends that he was bored with his life as a gentleman farmer in Virginia, where he had been living since his release from a Pennsylvania asylum.

Ernest Berger Was Assassinated in Paris

Victim of Madwoman's Bullet Intended For Leon Daudet, Leader of the Royalists.

Paris, May 26—(A. P.)—Ernest Berger, treasurer of the newspaper L'Action Francaise, fell a victim to a madwoman's bullet intended for one of his chiefs, Leon Daudet, leader of the Royalist Association and editor of L'Action Francaise, or Charles Maurras, co-editor.

The assassin was a woman named Bonnefoy a domestic forty-four years of age. She made rambling statements to the police, and a mass of letters found in her room, apparently leaves no doubt that she had long suffered from persecution mania.

Bonnefoy told the examining magistrate that as Daudet and Maurras had ignored letters in which she had revealed to them the activities of spies on the Riviera she considered them criminals. The woman watched for them from a cafe opposite the offices of the newspaper for several days. She saw Berger, whom she mistook for Maurras leave and followed him to the subway. She pushed her arm over the shoulder of another person and shot Berger, and ran away.

When she saw by the newspapers that she had killed the wrong man, she gave herself up. The police declare that Bonnefoy's landlady told them of threats which the woman had made: one wanted to kill Poincare, Daudet, Maurras, or someone, because she knew many things, and that would teach them to give her justice.

DR. MAHER CRITICISED BY COMPTROLLER SALMON

Hartford, May 26—(A. P.)—State Comptroller Frederick M. Salmon bitterly criticised Chairman Stephen J. Maher, of the state tuberculosis commission when the latter appeared before the legislative appropriations committee, in executive session, to explain the commission's point of view in the McCook estate condemnation proceedings.

The comptroller took Dr. Maher to task for not inviting him, as one of the four members of the commission designated by the 1923 legislature to institute the condemnation suit, into the meetings of the tuberculosis commission which decided how much of the McCook estate to condemn. Dr. Maher replied that, as he construed the act, it named the comptroller to act with the commission in the condemnation proceedings after the tuberculosis commission had decided how much land it required for the extension of the Seaside state sanatorium for children afflicted with bone tuberculosis.

Comptroller Salmon said he felt that Attorney-General Healy was not entirely to blame for what United States Senator Bingham characterized in his inaugural address as governor as the "dilatory" prosecution of the condemnation suit authorized by the last session of the legislature.

Following Dr. Maher's statement to the committee, it was practically decided to report favorably upon a substitute for a bill created by the legislative committee on humane institutions which provides for the appointment of private counsel to carry out the condemnation suit. The plan is, however, to have the private counsel appointed by the governor instead of the tuberculosis commission, and to state specifically in the bill the exact section of the McCook estate which is required. It is proposed to take a 200 foot strip, and State Highway Commissioner MacDonald was requested to dispatch an engineer to East Lyme to make surveys sufficient to provide the necessary facts for inclusion in the bill.

Attorney General Healy was before the appropriations committee last week and voiced vigorous opposition to the proposal to engage private counsel, which originate with Representative Mary B. Weaver, of New Milford.

CLEM SHAVER TO RETIRE AS CHAIRMAN DEM. COMMITTEE

Washington, May 26—Reports were current here today that Clem Shaver of West Virginia, was preparing to step out soon as chairman of the democratic national committee and that Representative William A. Oldfield of Arkansas, the present chairman of the democratic congressional committee, had been agreed upon as his successor. Party leaders, meanwhile, are planning to have a meeting of the committee, probably within three weeks.

Information that a compromise had been reached on the democratic national chairmanship leaked out, coincident with announcement by Mr. Oldfield of preliminary plans for the fight to be conducted by the democratic party in the 1926 congressional elections. Mr. Oldfield plans to confer in Atlantic City Saturday with a number of the democratic leaders in preparations for campaigns in the special elections in New Jersey and Massachusetts.

It has been known some time that a change was impending in the building personnel of the national committee but how or when it was to be accomplished, leaders have failed to disclose. Two or three groups within the committee have been jockeying, and it is understood that the private conversations among members from time to time have revealed no objection to Mr. Oldfield from any quarter.

Mr. Shaver was said to have informed committee members several months ago that he would not retire until a harmony candidate had been found.

To the end that a compromise might be found, exchanges have taken place between representatives of Mr. Shaver, William G. McAdoo and Gov. Smith, and it appears to leaders here that a fight over the national chairmanship can be avoided.

Secretary Weeks came to Boston from Washington last Saturday.

April Good Month For The New Haven Road

More Than Doubled Its Net Income in Comparison With Same Month Last Year.

New York, May 26—The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad more than doubled its net income in April in comparison with the same month last year, the total of $664,024 after all charges, being an increase of $360,304. Railway operating revenues increased $134,894 to $10,855,444. Operating expenses were cut $258,937. For the first four months of the year, net income amounted to $1,766,891 compared with $316,262 in the same period of 1924, a gain of $1,451,139. Expenses were reduced $1257,318 in the four months.

CHARLES A. BRICKLEY ON TRIAL IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Mass., May 26. (AP)—Charles A. Brickley, former Harvard football star, went on trial in superior court here today before Judge Hugo A. Dubuque and a jury on charges of forging and uttering and larceny, after it had been necessary to send deputy sheriffs out into the streets for 10 men to complete the panel. The indictments charge the former athlete with obtaining possession of shares of Bigelow Hartford Carpet company stock from William J. Hines, an official of the company, under false pretenses and converting them to his own use.

Mr. Hines, the first witness for the commonwealth, testified that he met Brickley when he entered the employ of the Carpet company at the same time as Archie and Theodore Roosevelt. The three men were placed under Mr. Hines in his capacity as wool expert. He declared that Brickley, in June, 1922, told him he was making as much money in stocks as he was in the mill, and this conversation led to an assertion by Brickley that he would buy Bigelow Hartford stock at a lower figure than Hines could buy it.

Hines gave Brickley $2,000 to buy stock, he said, and some time later the former Harvard star came to him and said that he needed some Bigelow Hartford stock to show the Worcester and Boston people from whom he was to make the purchase for Mr. Hines, in order to prove to them he was buying it for one of the stockholders. Mr. Hines told of turning over his stock to Brickley, and of leaving for Europe without getting either the return of his old stock or that for which he had paid Brickley $2,000.

On his return from Europe, Mr. Hines declared he went to Brickley at the office of Gibson and company, former brokers in this city, and asked for the return of his stock. Brickley told him he would have it for him in a few days, adding that when he returned in a few days with his attorney Brickley told him the certificates must have been stolen from Gibson's office. Hines testified that Brickley told him he would make good the $2,000.

The witness told of another conference with Brickley and counsel for Gibson at which he was told the stock had been forged, but not by Brickley. He later discovered that the stock had been used for security for a loan in a Springfield bank, he said.

OLYMPIA MACRI HAS HOPES OF BEING RELEASED SOON

New Haven, May 26—(A. P.)—Olympia Macri, who has been on trial here for more than five weeks, charged with the murder of John Bagnano, alleged father of her child, and who failed to gain her freedom yesterday when one juryman held out for second degree murder after eleven had voted for her acquittal, had hopes tonight that she soon will be released from the county jail, a free woman.

Decision on this point will be made by State's Attorney Arnon A. Alling, on or before June 9, he announced. In view of the fact that the jury in the Macri case was unable to reach an agreement, the state's attorney has two alternatives. He may demand a new trial, which probably would be held during the June session of criminal superior court, or he may "dispose of the case otherwise." This statement was taken to mean that the state may possibly nolle the case.

Defense Attorney Joseph Koletsky, offered two motions at a session of court before Judge Christopher L. Avery. One was for a speedy re-trial and the second that Miss Macri be admitted to obail. It was in reply to these motions that the state's attorney announced that he planned to dispose of the case "by trial or otherwise" at the summer term of court opening June 23 and that he would make his decision known by June 9.

In view of the fact that an early decision on the case will be reached, the counsel for the defense did not press his demand that the defendant be admitted to bail which has been offered by eleven of the jurors and Mrs. Josepha Whitney, who has expressed a willingnes to adopt both Miss Macri and her child.

1875 CLASS OF YALE TO CELEBRATE IN MONTREAL

New York, May 26—Matter concerning the use of liquor at Yale class commencement dinners have led to a controversy between President Angell of the University and Newell Martin of the class of 1875.

Mr. Martin wrote to the New York Times that he and others would celebrate their semi-centennial anniversary at Montreal with discreet and well-ordered dinners instead of at New Haven because of what he regarded as a hint by President Angell that old graduates were not wanted at commencement reunions if they intended to set a bad example to undergraduates by drinking.

In reply today Dr. Angell denies that he has made any restrictions on alumni dinners, but says that the Yale corporation indorsed a recommendation by class reunion committees that there be strict compliance with the law with reference to the liquor question.

Mr. Martin wrote that he did not share Dr. Angel's "horror of wine." To this the president replied: "I certainly do not entertain the opinion which be attributed to me, but this is a personal matter which need not be discussed."

Dr. Angell makes no comment on references in Mr. Martin's letter to a statement that Yale students have been earning money by acting as prohibition agents.

DEBT TO AMERICA TOPIC OF DEBATE IN FRENCH SENATE

M. Briand Sustained General Taufflieb in Claim That France Must Follow the Example of Great Britain and Fund Its Debts Without Delay—General Taufflieb Contended That the Problem of Disarmament Could Not be Taken Up With the United States Under Favorable Conditions Until the Debt Question Was Disposed Of.

Paris, May 26—(A. P.)—The policy of the United States senate toward the guarantee pact signed by President Wilson in 1919 received a stout defense in the French senate. An attack by Senator Gouraju on "certain American politicians" who he said threatened France with their cannon while they left her without the security promised by President Wilson drew from M. Briand, the foreign minister, the statement that there was no ground for questioning the propriety of the United States senate's action on the guarantee treaty. He recalled that those engaged in the peace negotiations were made well aware that the senate could not be expected to ratify such a document.

M. Briand again intervened in the debate to approve the remarks of General Taufflief said. "This does not that France must follow the example of Great Britain and fund its debt to the United States without delay, and he added: "Serious conversations to that end have already begun."

"It is indispensable that we discuss our debts with the United States," General Taufflieb said. "This does not mean that we must pay immediately. But a settlement must be made without delay. France has affirmed her desire to pay; but that is not enough. Let us open serious conversations with Washington."

M. Briand from the government bench interrupted—"they already have been."

General Taufflieb added that the problem of disarmament could not be taken up with the United States under conditions favorable to France unless the debt question was first disposed of.

"The surest way of getting a proper hearing in London on all these questions," the senator declared, "is to approach them by way of Washington."

The debate which was on the foreign affairs budget of 1925, covered the whole range of foreign affairs.

"Whatever may be the shortcomings of the Treaty of Versailles," Mr. Briand said, "we must stick by it. It is a question of probity and respect for our signatures. We cannot under any circumstances sacrifice our national honor to security."

Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, M. Briand asserted, was talking for German public opinion when he said that the allies by remaining in Cologne had failed to respect their signature and that the violations of the Versailles treaty with which Germany was reproached could not be very serious because the allies had not made them known.

"The foreign minister explained that the French note, which has been drafted for presentation to Germany, was characterized by a spirit of great moderation.

M. Briand defied anyone to show where France at any time had taken any steps in the direction of repudiating its debt.

"France," he declared, "has often worked for history more than for her interests. She would never consent to accept the role of bad debtor. We shall settle our debt; we want to do it under the reasonable conditions that I am sure we shall obtain from our creditors."

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR TALKED OVER DEBT

Washington, May 26—(A. P.)—The question of Italy's debt to the United States was brought to the forefront by a visit to the treasury of Baron G. De Martino the Italian ambassador, who talked over the whole subject of the Italian obligation of $2,138,542,000.

While the conference was devoid of concrete results it marked the first step by Italy with respect to her debt and initiated conversations which treasury officials hope will proceed into actual negotiations of funding terms.

Baron De Martino's mission was understood to have been largely for the purpose of ascertaining Mr. Mellon's views and there was a frank discussion of the problem's faced by Italy and the law which defines for the American administration the terms which it can accept from its foreign debtors. The ambassador was said to have eliminated at the outset any thought that may have rested in the minds of officials that Italy's moves hinged on action by France.

The question of a moratorium or period of delay being included in the final settlement was broached by the Italian envoy as well as the subject of an amortization rate for reducing the principal amount in annual installments. To both of these indirect inquiries, the American policy of being as lenient as conditions permit was reiterated. Baron De Martino was given assurance that the responsible officials here desire to be helpful and want to aid him in working out an agreement on the basis of Italy's capacity to pay.

KIRBY DENIES THE MURDER OF MISS AIDA HAYWARD

Augusta, Me., May 26.—Harry A. Kirby, accused of the murder of Miss Aida Hayward on the night of May 19, at Lake Maranacook, Winthrop, and arrested in Newburyport, Mass., yesterday, admitted today, according to County Attorney Frank A. Southard, that he had a .32 calibre revolver and some cartridges, which he threw in the lake. Searchers have been unable to find the weapon and it was said that a diver would arrive from East Boston tomorrow to attempt to locate it.

Reiterating his denial of any part in the murder of Miss Hayward, Kirby told the authorities that the morning after the shooting of Miss Hayward's aunt, Mrs. Emma M. Towns, the firing of her cottage and the abduction of Miss Hayward, some men knocked on the door of his cottage and told him of the crime. It was in that place that the body of Miss Hayward was found last week. Kirby said he joined others in searching the burned cottage, a mile away, and later returned to his home.

Kirby corroborated a statement made yesterday by his wife that he married her in 1922 in New York state under the name of James J. Crawford. He said that shortly afterward, he left an institution for feeble minded in Letchworth Village, N. Y., where he had charge of a ward, when suspicion pointed to him in an investigation of petty thefts, and that he came away, arriving finally in Portland, where he again met his wife and revealed himself as Harry A. Kirby.

Kirby told of having been arrested for larceny in earlier life, and of escaping from the Queens county jail in New York city, where he was serving a sentence for grand larceny.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AGAINST MODERNISM

Columbus, Ohio, May 26—(A. P.)—The entire Modernist-Fundamentalist controversy in the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. came to a sudden, dramatic climax in the denomination's general assembly here.

The governing body of the church held that affirmation of the virgin birth and other biblical miracles is a necessary qualification for one to enter its ministry. It rebuked the Presbytery of New York for licensing ministers who do not so believe and remanded two such cases for settlement in conformity with the stand.

The modernistic element in the Presbytery immediately offered statements asserting that the Presbytery itself is the sole agent in determining qualifications of ministers and declaring it would continue to "stand on its constitutional rights."

In the face of an apparent spirit of rebellion among other liberals in the fathering, Dr. Charles R. Erdman, moderator of the assembly, offered a resolution which provided for the appointment of a commission of fifteen to study the entire issue and report back to the next general assembly.

It also adopted by an overwhelming vote, thus postponing for another year final settlement of the issues involved.

The resolution asked for the commission "to the end that the purity, peace, unity and progress of the church may be assure."

BROKER M'NULTY ENJOINED FROM DOING BUSINESS

New York, May 26.—Found to have been bucketing orders and to be insolvent by more than $1,000,000 Frank H. McNulty, stock broker, formerly associated with Horace Stoneham, brother of Charles Stoneham, baseball magnate, was permanently enjoined today under the Martin anti-stock fraud law from doing business in New York state.

McNulty has offices in New York city, Chicago, and Pittsburgh and formerly had branch offices in Syracuse and Elmira, N. Y. A statement from the office of Attorney General Albert Ottinger reported that more than 500 customers, both men and women, are hit by the crash. One man, said to be prominent in Pittsburgh, was the loser by more than $200,000 it was said.

Similar proceedings have been taken against McNulty in Pennsylvania, the attorney general's statement said. The restraining order precludes further operations by McNulty or any of his associates except on the basis of the fullest disclosure of information to his customers, a condition which will forestall under risk of jail penalty, bucketing of orders or other illegal practices.

Accompanying Mayor Behrens will be George H. Woods, president of the Rotary club and Bridgeport Savings bank; George E. Crawford, president of the chamber of commerce; Edward S. Willett, member of the mayors' taxation revision committee which drafted the city administration's tax bill; and Frank D. Bell, member of the finance advisory board.

FRENCH NEGOTIATING WITH ABD-EL-KRIM

Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, May 26.—Reliable advices here report the presence at Tangier of the colonel-in-chief of the French information service for the purpose of negotiating with Abd-El-Krim for ending the Rifian offensive.

According to the same sources, this action of France is in line with the French policy namely, that the Moroccan problem is of a political character, that France has the role of a colonization nation and that the employment of arms should be resorted to only in extreme cases.

These advices say that the French have lost more than 2,000 in killed in the present fighting with the Rifians. It is explained that when the rebels invaded the French zone not a French soldier was to be seen in the region.

McMahon, of Providence, international president of the Textile Workers of America, advised the operatives to stand united in their fight and not to be misled by outsiders, or by any assertion or suggestion on the part of the press that they return to work. He said that he had no hesitation in telling them that they would surely win, advising respect of constituted authority of the law when they should be told to move, saying this should be obeyed. He said that while all had the right of opinion, it was for the workers themselves to decide how the strike was to end, commending their manner of conduct through the period of the strike and their support of the organizers. The exchange of two pieces of property in the town of Hebron was effected Monday morning at the town clerk's office, when the farm belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Waldo, at Burroughs Hill, 114 acres of land with house and farm buildings, was exchanged by the owners for the brick House on Church street, on Hebron Green, owned by Mrs. Everett Lord. The Waldo farm has been in the family for three generations. The brick house was built over one hundred years ago by Pierce Denver and is one of the most interesting and charming of the old houses on the street. At one time it was the residence of Captain Oliver Phelps. Later it was used as the rectory for the clergymen of St. Peter's Episcopal church, across the street, and occupied by Rev. William Warland. Even as recently as eighty-odd years ago, it was used as a hat factory, and one of the elder residents but a few years dead could remember seeing the yard full of hats, drying on frames in the sun. In this connection one might mention the cabinet factory which stood next door, on the present site of the Misses Pendleton's garden, where, among other things, a very good coffin used to be obtainable for a dollar and fifty cents or less.

The films included "Building a Skyscraper," feats of engineering involved in the erection of the colossal Strausse building in Chicago, shown for the first time in this part of the country; "General Germ's Waterloo," a scream from start to finish, and "The Romance of Silk," showing the process of silk worm culture and the making of silk thread in Japan, finishing with the processes of finishing the thread, dyeing and weaving the silk cloth in this country. The Japanese scenes were especially attractive, and views of the masses of silk worms in different stages of growth were received with much interest.

The early New England colonists, including Mansfield, tried to produce silk. This accounts for an occasional Chinese mulberry tree, still to be found in Gurleyville and nearby places.

See what happens when these pure suds replace harsh soap

IN the important matter of soap, many women mistake harshness for cleansing ability and cheapness for economy. And so, they feel it necessary to buy different soaps for different tasks.

You have probably often asked yourself: "Is it possible to find one soap that is actually best for every purpose? One soap that will cleanse, yet save my hands?"

We are sure of it, but it must be a very remarkable soap.

It must be Pure—Safe for the tenderest skin or the most delicate fabric—Rich in suds for thorough cleansing—Easy to rinse out—Economical.

For 46 years Ivory Soap has fulfilled every one of these requirements.

Ivory's abundant suds penetrates pores and fabrics, cleansing them efficiently and rinsing out quickly, with never a suggestion of harm to the most delicate skin or the most precious garment.

And it is economical. Ivory's price alone would not be conclusive evidence—it is the amazing value which that price represents and the very real savings in clothes and hand-lotions that come from Ivory's use.

Ivory is in four forms to make it convenient for every cleansing purpose, from face and hands and finest silks and woolens, to dishes and general laundry.

So, instead of going through the constant bother of buying several different soaps for special purposes, why not have an "Ivory shelf" stocked with Ivory Flakes, and Laundry, Bath and Guest Ivory cakes? If you should run short of one, you know you can use any of the others with perfect satisfaction, for they are all the same pure Ivory.

Ivory Flakes for shampooing

For a wonderful, sudsy, quick-rinsing shampoo, nothing is finer than Ivory Flakes. Pure, rich suds that remove oil and dust thoroughly, without irritating the scalp, and then rinse out completely, leaving the scalp soothed and the hair light and fluffy.

Here is a fine, simple treatment for your complexion

Wash your face once or twice daily with warm water and Ivory Soap. Rinse in warm water and follow with a dash of cold. Dry thoroughly by patting with a soft towel. If your skin needs it, rub in a little pure cold cream.

WAUREGAN

About twenty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Addison M. Tracy hung them a large and beautiful May basket Monday evening. Among the gifts in the basket was a gold piece, in appreciation of Mr. Tracy's work as clerk of the Wauregan Congregational church, for the past 20 years. The evening was pleasantly spent with music, games and fun for all. The event was a great surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Tracy. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy are arranging for a three months' trip, across the country to the coast, where they will visit relatives at Los Angeles and Oakland, Cal. Those present Monday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Westcott, Mr. Bethell and family, Mrs. Ethel Atwood and Helen Atwood, Dorothy Atwood, Henry Leach and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loring and Mrs. Gertrude Tracy.

A big "sea change"—steamships to motorships—is predicted in the annual reports that judging from present indications, "the motorship will supersede the steamship in much the same way as in the course of the last century the steamship superseded the sailing ship."

Broadway Theater

A complete change of program including five new big E. F. Keith vaudeville acts and another fine picture opens at the Broadway theater tomorrow. The acts are of first calibre and is certain to please the most discriminate.

Scandals of London society sensational marriages of scions of nobility and chorus queens of the British capital, and the gay night life of London, not so well known, but fully as hectic as the much-heralded night life of Paris, form the spectacular background for Mary Philbin's latest starring vehicle, The Gaiety Girl, Universal-Jewel's production, coming tomorrow to the Broadway theater. The wistful heroine of Merry-Go-Round and Fool's Highway is cast into the maelstrom of London's theatre circles, in a compelling screen adaptation of The Inheritors I. A. R. Wylie's noted novel.

A notable cast supports Miss Philbin in her latest story; three of the best-known character artists of the screen, a famous picture beauty, a well-known leading man, and other interesting folk. Joseph J. Dowling, who played The Miracle Man, enacts the role of the stern old grandfather, scion of a royal family, and James O. Barrows, remembered for his work in The Signal Tower, is the old servitor of the ancient family.

De Witt Jennings appears as the new-rich millionaire, a war-time profiteer; and Lydia Yeamans Titus, noted character actress and former stage star; William Haines, another leading man, and Grace Darmond, of the beautiful gowns, are others in the cast. Spectacular reproductions of the old English castle, of the Gaiety theater, the Ritz, and famous London streets, built for the production, are a compelling background for the big production.

Local Dealer Comments on Dodge Brothers New Slogan

"The slogan 'Better and Better' which recently appeared on poster boards and in magazines and newspapers everywhere, following closely the announcement of the purchase of Dodge Brothers by Dillon, Read & Co., has aroused renewed comment regarding one of the outstanding policies of Dodge Brothers, Inc., according to Mr. Jordan of The Jordan Auto Co., local Dodge Brothers dealer.

"Constant improvement of a basic design has been the established policy of Dodge Brothers ever since their first car was offered to the public," he said, "and will continue to be under the new ownership.

"Registration figures for last year show clearly the wide recognition which has been accorded this sound policy. Totals for the United States show that Dodge Brothers made a gain of 25 per cent, against a loss of 11 per cent sustained by the industry as a whole. This year, week after week, all sales for corresponding periods of previous years have been excelled by as large an amount.

"Most automobile buyers today understand how much better it is for the engineering and experimental departments at the factory to concentrate their thoughts and efforts on the betterment of a well tried basic design rather than on the development of next year's model.

"It is also evident that the development of new designs, the experimental work on a new model and the making of the dies and special tools and machines necessary for the production of radically different chassis is very costly. This expense, which in modern volume production of motor cars may easily run into the millions of dollars, is, of course, paid for in the final analysis by the car buyer. The great saving made by Dodge Brothers, Inc., as a result of this policy is faithfully returned to the buyer in the form of greater value in the car.

"Furthermore the car does not suffer the high depreciation which invariably follows the announcement of a new annual model and the owner's feeling that his car presents a 'last year's' appearance.'

"During ten years there has been a constant betterment and refinement of Dodge Brothers chasis details. Improvements in ease of operation, riding comfort and appearance have been made without any radical change in the well tried, dependable chassis."

When some men make mistakes they repeat them by way of apology.

In the large store, 32x70, which is occupied by Sellas Spa the walls are wainscotted in South American gum wood with beautiful matched panel inserts and mirrors of V-cut glass, surmounted with a central oval mirror, also in the V-cut glass. Above the wainscot the wall is finished in the new craftex design, harmonizing admirably with the soft, satiny finish of the woodwork. From the decorative steel ceiling hang the lamps for the overhead lighting system, the globes decorated in a Trojan design. The floor is of tiling in an attractive design and the mop board is of green marble. A capacious marble soda fountain occupies one side of the room with glass candy counters on the other side and two large plate glass windows at the front and a large art glass window at the rear furnish abundant light.

Two separate rooms in the basement are used for the ice cream and candy making departments, both finely lighted by windows opening onto the lane in the rear of the building.

Lyceum Theater, New London

The appearance of Ethel Barrymore at the Lyceum theater, New London, for Friday evening, May 29, when Arthur Hopkins will present that popular actress in Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's celebrated play, The Second Mrs. Tanqueray, admirers in New London will turn out in force to welcome her.

Miss Barrymore combines a genius for light comedy with a power for expressing emotion, which is very rare, and in her portrayal of Paula Tanqueray she is required to display all those brilliant gifts which have previously been revealed in a series of widely varying and compelling characterizations. Paula has been enacted in America by several famous actresses, notably Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Olga Nethersole, Madge Kendall and Mrs. Leslie Carter, and it will be most interesting to watch Miss Barrymore's performance of this role for she is without doubt the leading American actress of today.

The Second Mrs. Tanqueray, was written by Pinero when his art was at its maturity. Thirty-one years have elapsed since its first performance at the St. James theater, London, but its story is just as fresh and moving today as it was then.

Miss Barrymore will be surrounded by a well-chosen cast of players.

Mail orders for Miss Barrymore's performances at the Lyceum can be sent in at once.

Bread Theater

To most theater-goers the appearance of a star in a Ziegfeld play means just one thing—she has passed the test of "glorification" for which this noted producer is famed. Ziegfeld long has been known as the Glorifier of American Girlhood.

In First National's screen version of Sally, which will be shown at the Bread theater for the last time, Colleen Moore is the star, but she is not a product of the Ziegfeld genius, although she has been "glorified" through her own genius.

In Sally, Colleen Moore makes this winsome child of destiny live upon the screen with all the fire, pathos and charm that marked Sally's lengthy stage life. First National's production is also more glorious even than the musical comedy version which was Ziegfeld added renown.

Sally was adapted to the screen by June Mathias, editor-in-chief of production, and was directed by Alfred E. Green.

The textile products exhibit to be held here in June by the Eastern Connecticut Mills association, is already practically assured of being an outstanding success. All space available for exhibits by the mills at the state armory, excepting the stage, has been allotted and the stage space will be taken prior to the opening of the exhibition on June 11. Up to Tuesday 35 mills, mill supply houses and manufacturers of textile machinery had procured space for exhibits they are to make. Woolens, worsteds, silks, threads and cottons in surprising variety will be shown as well as machinery used in their production. It is certain that the thousands who will flock to see the exhibit will be no less than amazed at the diversity of the textile manufacturing done in eastern Connecticut. Few realize the perfection to which textile manufacturing has been brought in this section, so the show will really be a revelation to the public and something to make the people of eastern Connecticut proud of their textile manufacturing establishments. It is anticipated that several thousand people will visit the exhibit during the three days it will be open—June 11, 12, 13.

Again is heard in the land of cry of those whose orchards are being damaged by marauding deer. It is not always that these property owners have the opportunity of availing themseves of their right to visit retribution on the deer, for the beautiful creatures are very shy and keep out of harm's way a great deal of the time. The point is that the deer continue to do damage and to revive the great question of their value to the state compared with the value of orchards they damage or crops they destroy.

The treaty is still in force. Perhaps the new arrangement is something to ponder over and fail to understand, but it is an upsetter of another settled conviction about history, nevertheless. Possibly application of the agreement was only to real vessels of war.

MICHAEL REYNOLDS FOUND. FATALLY INJURED IN ROAD

Danielson, May 26—State officers from the Danielson barracks were engaged during Tuesday in investigating the mysterious circumstances surrounding the fatal injuring at Central Village Monday evening, of Michael Reynolds, 65, who died early Tuesday morning at the Backus hospital, in Norwich.

Mr. Reynolds was found just before 9 o'clock Monday night lying on the trolley track near the boarding house at Central Village, by Mrs. Edward Potvin and Mrs. Lena Caron, both of Moosup, when they were on their way to their homes in Mrs. Potvin's car after a shopping trip in Danielson.

They observed a dark form on the tracks and, having run by, reversed the car and backed it to where the form had been seen and established that it was a man. They notified Sheriff Tillinghast and a message also was sent to the barracks here.

Mr. Reynolds was removed to the boarding house and later to the hospital at Norwich, where he died soon after his arrival.

The assumption most generally accepted Tuesday was that Mr. Reynolds had been hit with an automobile and left to his fate. When found he was lying cross-wise of the tracks. He had a fractured skull and one side of his face badly lacerated and crushed in, his left leg broken in three places and his right leg mangled and bruised. He also appeared to be injured on the left side and had sustained severe internal injuries. His face and clothing was more or less covered with heavy black grease such as is used on cars. Near him on the ground was a dollar bill, presumably one that had been given him by his son earlier in the evening.

A check-up of the case by State Officer Ross V. Urquhart indicates that Mr. Reynolds, who had been making his home with his son, Michael, since the death of the senior Reynold's wife, something over a year ago, had gone out about 3 o'clock for a visit at a neighboring home. He remained calling until about 8:40, and left stating that he was going home. He was evidently traversing the short stretch of highway between the home where he had been visiting and his own place when the accident befell him. Search during all of Tuesday failed to unearth information that would aid in definitely fixing the facts as how he came to be hurt. Mr. Reynolds had been employed as a spinner in a mill at Central Village. Tuesday morning the body was brought from Norwich to Central Village, in charge of F. W. Tillinghast and Sons.

PLUCKY WOMAN SEIZES INTRUDER IN ROOM

Danielson, May 26—Attawaugan is another village that has a mystery to consider. This affair concerns the entry during the night season of the home of Miss Florence Stott in that place by two young men, who save Miss Stott and her sister a real fright, but found the young women thoroughly capable of defending themselves. One of the sisters was awakened by whispering near her room and awakened her sister. Miss Florence grasped one of the intruders by the shirt collar and did her very best to detain him until she could establish his identity, but he managed to wrench himself free, quite severely injuring one of Miss Stott's fingers in so doing. The motive for breaking and entering the home of the Misses Stott does not appear to have been other than robbery. State officers are investigating the case. The break was made about one in the morning.

TRADE SCHOOL CLOSING ITS MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Putnam, May 26—For the 10 months' period ending April 30th, the total student hours of attendance at the State Trade school, exceeds by approximately 6,000 hours the total 10 months' attendance hours of last year. All the trade classes are being well patronized and there has been considerable inquiry for training in the building trades that are not incorporated in the school's program at present. The school is endeavoring to serve and there is adequate proof that it is fulfilling the need of the young man who is not contemplating a professional or commercial career through the regular channels of academic education. It is gratifying to see a boy who entered the school in a state of timidity and uncertainty in a short time find that which appeals to his inclinations and native ability and through that chosen trade develop into a state of confidence and self-reliance in his ability to perform useful service, both for himself and the community in which he lives. At no time in the history of our country has there been a greater need and greater opportunity for men trained in the trades and sciences of industry.

A number of young men have entered the textile department in the past few months. The school has on hand inquiries from a large textile industry in Connecticut anxious to secure young men trained in the principles of cotton manufacturing so that they may build upon this training and thereby become more capable of department management. Two young men have been placed in this capacity by this company who were graduated from the school some time ago. The outstanding feature of the textile industry today is the high degree of specialization and the lack of systematic apprenticeship training in the trade as a whole. For this reason there is a scarcity of men who are familiar with the fundamentals of the trade in their entirety.

It is expected that the carpentry department will take the contract for building a house in a nearby town. Complete plans have been drawn by the carpentry boys in their drafting work and complete specifications have been drawn up. The accumulated trade knowledge and experience which goes into the building of a house today calls to mind the great strides which have been made in the direction of incorporating scientific discovery and invention into every day comforts and conveniences of the home. There is much to know in this trade that carries the boy's interest who is ambitious for his own future and who has an eye to form and effect in the designing and building of comfortable and attractive homes.

In the electrical department a number of boys have been graduated during the year and this department is well filled. For the young man looking for a large field of endeavor, this work offers possibilities beyond the prediction of the most visionary. The mysterious force, electricity, and its possible applications seem inexhaustive. In this course the boy begins with a study of magnetic principles and goes through to the more complex subjects of electrical phenomena and their practical application in illumination, power plant operation and other phases of this work.

Machine department students are busy building tools and equipment for the new State Trade school at Middletown. The boys feel pleased that they are competent to build equipment suitable and acceptable for use as permanent equipment in another school of the system. One tool being built for the Middletown school is a magnetic chuck. This chuck was designed in the Putnam school and Middletown will have the second one built, which is a very effective and time-saving device.

The usual academic and shop problems as related to the various trades are co-related in a practical manner in the drafting department. The different divisions of the various departments come to these classes at different times and receive training in the related sciences of the trades. In this department one is struck by the fact that performance is always dependant upon thought and the quality of thought in a large measure determines the quality of performance, and that education of any kind should mean knowledge—when, how, and where to use it.

Special classes in Home Economics are to be conducted after the close of the high school term until August 1st, when attention is given particularly to classes in elementary subjects, homemakers' courses, and high school extension work.

PLAINFIELD

There is nothing to the gossip that the local Army and Navy post is "bucking" the G. A. R., of the town. Commander Fred Provost, of the post, states that when the A. & N. club put on a basketball team this past season he made a public pledge that all money made would be used in the up-keep and decoration of the deceased service men's graves on Memorial Day. The post is now accused of taking the honor of decorating the graves of soldiers and sailors from the G. A. R. He says that such is not the case, as he has had interviews with Samuel Butterworth, the pastors of the town churches, and Mr. Bragg, of Central Village, in arranging for the decorating on Memorial Day for this village. Mr. Provost states that the men agreed with him in every respect. The commander stated that Mr. Bragg saw the women's committee connected with the Memorial Day [illegible] and they voted that they were willing that Joseph Vanasse A. [illegible] should take over this work. The Army & Navy took into consideration that the ranks of the G. A. R. are depleting so fast and that the wives of the veterans are getting on in years, it is time that the younger generation should take up this work. He saw one veteran's wife who had twelve wreaths to make for Memorial Day. This woman is well past the three score and ten mark and should be resting the few remaining years of her life. He says it is entirely out of the question that the Army & Navy club "buck" the G. A. R., and as commander of the local post he stands for justice to one and all.

The Plainfield town team is in for a real hard tussle next Saturday with the Wauregan Fire Company ball club. The Plainfield-Wauregan game will be one of the events during the afternoon at the Firemen's celebration. Manager Kagan is putting his team through some hard practice this week. Howard Nolan, the "Rabbit" Maranville, of the Worcester club, will play short; Beausoleil, who pitched for Providence last year, will be on the mound for the locals; Bill Pechie, who has played with some crack eastern teams, will be at the first sack; "Unk" Goslin, Sacred Heart Academy player, will hold down the trouble corner. The local fans will see a real ball club wearing Plainfield colors.

Automobile owners are clamoring over the condition of the highway between the village and Dorrence Hill. It seems that some one has forgotten that this part of the highway needs repairs. Holes ranging from twelve inches to twenty, are open for the motorist to joggle over the best he can. Last week two automobile owners in this village broke their chasis while traveling over this stretch of road. Because this part of the highway will be paved with cement in another month is hardly reason for the condition of the road. A little sand and gravel would help make it easier for traffic through the town of Plainfield.

Pouring cement was resumed Tuesday morning after a lay-off of three days due to bad weather.

The twilight town league started off with a regular world series celebration at the local baseball diamond Tuesday night, the Clerks playing the Mill Spinners.

Many of the socalled professional actors are but professional amateurs.

COLCHESTER

In spite of the fact that the weather was bad Saturday evening, a large crowd attended the house warming dance given by E. Cutler, Inc., to celebrate the opening of their new third warehouse on Lebanon avenue. Due to the electrical storm, there were no lights until 10 o'clock, but the place was well illuminated by the headlights of several automobiles parked up by the doors of the warehouse. The sight was very effective as the building inside was gayly decorated and festoons and Japanese lanterns were suspended in a novel way. Among those present were friends from Boston, Hartford, Norwich, New London and East Hampton also from other nearby towns.

Samuel Elgart of New York was a guest of his mother, Mrs. D. A. Elgart over Sunday.

An alarm of fire sounded Sunday afternoon about two o'clock. The fire company was speedily out for a chimney fire at the home of Nathan Liverant. The fire was quickly subdued by the use of the chemical tank, and but little damage resulted.

Leo White of New Haven was visiting friends in town over Sunday.

Donald Frazier of Salem was a week end caller in town.

The meeting of Hattie Jackson Temple Pythian Sisters was held in Pythian hall Tuesday evening. The Grand Chief Lena Gates of Willimantic and her associate officers made an official visit. After the work of the evening, an entertainment was provided by the committee in charge and a fine lunch was served. There was a large attendance.

Patrick Connors of Hartford was a guest at Fred J. Hudson's on Broadway over Sunday.

James O'Brien of New Haven was at his home on Hayward avenue over Sunday.

Only a lumber dealer can be in his office and out of doors simultaneously.

After all else failed, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought sure relief from constipation

Thousands have cleansed their systems of constipation's poisons.

Constipation exacts a telling price. Its hideous poisons lead to over forty devastating diseases. But let Mrs. Rench, of Iowa, tell her story:

"Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the very best I ever used for chronic constipation. I have used all kinds of medicine and nothing helped me like ALL-BRAN. It has such a nice flavor and it is cheaper than paying out hundreds of dollars getting relief.

Yours truly,
Mrs. A. P. Rench,
Box 107, Marcus, Iowa.

Don't neglect constipation. Drive its terrible poisons out of your system. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN brings sure, permanent relief. It is what doctors call a bulk food. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal, natural action.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Also try the recipes given on the package. Results guaranteed or your grocer returns the purchase price. Made in Battle Creek, Mich. Served in leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

The fact that this is the off year in elections, or the year when no mayor is to be chosen, should in no way result in a decrease in the interest in the selection of city officials for the ensuing two years. Every election is important and reasons aplenty can be found for seeing that the best possible men are selected for the positions of trust and responsibility which go with the administration of city affairs.

Even though the election of the entire republican ticket would not give the republicans control of the court of common council, the wisdom of not leaving the selection of the city fathers to the votes of a few ought to be thoroughly understood in the interest of good government.

In the maintenance of city government Norwich is no different than any other city in desiring the best to be had. That best is going to be determined by the voters. The city government that results from a lack of interest is going to measure up no higher than the public effort that is displayed in getting it.

There is a duty resting upon all the voters, women as well as men, to get to the polls and to elect candidates who can be relied upon to conscientiously meet the responsibilities of [illegible] office, to work for the greatest [illegible] number and to [illegible] the rendition of such service.

It is the interest of good government and of the support of economy and efficiency in city business, the voters of Norwich will make no mistake in the choice of the candidates presented by the republican caucus. They will be in a position to be of valuable service even though they will not be numbered among the majority. Don't let the fact that it is an off year keep you from voting.

MARKING THE HIGHWAYS

Concerning the marking of United States highways, the Chicago Post observes that "The automobile has become such a common means of travel, even for trips covering the entire length and breadth of the land, that the use of the standardized marking cannot fail to be of great assistance to those traversing the main tourist routes. Little need exists for the placing of such signs on more than a few roads in each state, as the majority of tourists follow certain well defined trails."

The endorsement is in keeping with many others. It recognizes the need of keeping the tourist informed on the main United States highways. So far so good, but while there are a great many who are traveling on these highways, crossing the continent, or going for lesser distances, there are many more who are making use of the state highways. For the same reason that the marking of the United States highways are necessary the placing of proper guides for the users of the state highways is of the greatest importance. There are more who use the state highways than there are those who are crossing the country. They may be going for a long or short distance but they want to know where they are going, where to turn to reach their destination and where not to turn. This information should be available to them. It is desirable in the interest of traffic conditions, but as a matter of convenience it is the logical development that should accompany the steady increase in motor travel.

Let every town place clear signboards at every cross road indicating direction to certain cities or villages and the distance and a service of untold value would be rendered to those who may be strangers in that particular part of their own state, visitors from a neighboring state or even tourists who are seeking a locality which they otherwise are bound to have difficulty in finding.

THE RUBBER SUPPLY

Just at this time of increased rubber prices many will recall the advice which was given not so long ago that this country ought to be concerning itself regarding the production of its own rubber. It was pointed out that there were opportunities for this in the Philippines and that for our protection against those who could control the market there should be no needless delay.

Now we are told by the department of commerce that the rubber market [illegible] under the control of the British that it will be possible for that country through the boosting of the price to pay off the British war debt to this country. That means that while we are buying rubber at the advance in price we are virtually putting into the British coffers the money necessary to meet the war obligations.

This of course calls to mind the situation which was created by the British during the war in restricting the amount of rubber we could obtain, and it gives new emphasis to the fact that it is upon the British colonies that the greatest dependence is placed for the world rubber supply. With about 70 per cent. under British control and working under the restriction act which caused the production to drop and the prices to rise it was easy to collect the difference between 17 and 70 cents a pound and to look forward to getting the difference between the $135,000,000 we spent last year for raw rubber and the $400,000,000 which we are expected to pay this year.

Such a situation can be regarded by the British as legitimate business. But how are we to regard it? Doesn't it bring to mind the fact that we have failed to appreciate the possibility of just such a development, that we ignored the situation that was developing and failed to bring ourselves to the position of preparing against such a situation?

The British are going to make a nice clean up on rubber, but in the end it should mean that we will get busy about making ourselves independent when it comes to raw rubber.

THE FISH SUPPLY

When Secretary Hoover sets out to give a clear idea of conditions in most any direction he invariably succeeds. He has been talking to the fish conservation conference at Washington and he has been giving them some figures which demonstrate the need of giving serious thought to conservation if the future is going to get any consideration.

From the study of the situation as made by his department the situation in regard to fish is not so different than that concerning the timber supply. There has been followed a policy of considering that there is no limit to the amount of fish that can be taken from the sea and still leave just as many available for all demands, but it has gradually come to be understood that some provision must be made for replacements. The draught on the sea has been greater than the production, quite the same as the inroads into the timberland of the country has been greater than the reforestation efforts.

Attention is directed to the fact that the shad, lobsters and other fish are being obtained in small number and at correspondingly higher prices, that many are being put out of employment because of the change and it becomes evident that the continuation of such methods will mean the extermination of a certain supply unless measures are taken to conserve what is available and provisions made for encouraging a greater supply.

Various conditions have contributed to such a state of affairs but it is none too soon to give serious thought to the determination of the right measures and assiduously applying the remedies agreed upon.

DOWNING THE RIFFS

Are France and Spain going to join hands for the purpose of eliminating the Riffian menace to the peaceful conditions in Morocco? There seems to be a possibility of it, either through joint action or by Spain giving France the right to pursue the Riffs on Spanish territory.

Abd-el-Krim had no thought of striking at the French and the Spanish at the same time. He picked out the Spanish for the first blow and it appears that he delivered it in a manner so effective that the Spanish forces are now occupying only the strong points along the coast. Encouraged by that success, he has pushed into French territory. Marshal Lyautey is of course on the defensive, and could participate in an offensive to only a limited extend without encroaching upon Spanish territory. If he could do this with a full understanding with Spain that it is not for conquest but for the elimination of a common enemy a great advantage would be gained by both. It might even be possible to interest Spain in resuming its offensive to hasten the end, and to recover territory which the Riffs have gained.

With a working understanding there would be nothing for Spain to lose under the circumstances. Rather would it appear to be to the advantage of Spain as well as France to put down a menace which has demonstrated its ability to make serious trouble.

HELPING HER ACROSS

"I thought," the Hyde Park man confided, "that after the tango-maxixe-Boston-dip dancing craze of quite a number of years ago had faded out and married couples who really were too old to dance, but insisted defiantly on dancing just to prove they weren't too old, had parked their battle axes peace now would reign in my family as well as others, there being nothing much for Imogene and myself to fight about! But—"

"How I hate that word 'but!'" declared his friend from Woodlawn.

"But whenever I have Imogene downtown," went on the Hyde Park man, "life is just as terrible as ever."

"The woman has developed a complex about crossing the thoroughfares and how we have escaped arrest up to date is the world's best mystery. Approaching a crossing I firmly and as stealthily as possible insert my hand beneath her arm. Imogene stiffens up at once. It seems she loathes, hates and despises being trundled across the street by another person just as though she were feeble-minded.

"'I am not,' says she, balking right in the face of the surging multitude bent on getting on the other side, 'going to be dragged across in front of plunging and careening street cars a big bus going north, two others going south and some more turning several corners! To say nothing of limousines switching around from side streets after the whistle has blown for side streets to continue on!'

"Still restraining myself, I inquire just what does she want—shall I run into the department store on the corner and purchase her a nice pair of silk-and-wool wings, outsize, guaranteed not to shrink, or will she wait until I can tunnel across and for 'ca'sava sake, c'mon, because in a minute there will be a riot behind us!

"'Well,' she retorts, 'can't you see that he's blown his whistle for north and south traffic to resume and how could anything except a radio wave get across that jammed and seething street now?'

"Naturally it couldn't and I am quite bitter about the fact.

"'Now!' I cry desperately, when again the whistle blows and the impetus of my sudden move carries Imogene off the curb about a rod into the street. Then she jerks back desperately—explaining that she thought that driver with the cast in his eye was coming straight on right past the policeman, and the car innocently turning into the street from around the corner back of us chips some wool from the back of my overcoat and skins Imogene's heel.

"'There!' she snaps, 'what did I tell you? Rushing right out without looking! Wait! That street car certainly is starting up—well, maybe the driver didn't hear the whistle; that's the way lots of people get killed! Do stop dragging at my arm!'

"We reach the center of the street between two street-car tracks by the time the whistle again blows and, hanging on by main force, I keep her there amid the hurlyburly until again there is a cessation of traffic and we finish our perilous jaunt. The only reason she quits telling me what she thinks of me and I stop expressing my opinion of her is that we haven't any breath left—and we're too mad at each other to talk anyhow."

"How in the world do you suppose she has safely crossed the streets all these years when she is doing it alone and you aren't there to help her?" asks the Woodlawn man interestedly.

"That's a thought!" gasped the Hyde Park man dazedly.—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The education of the rural masses of Mexico, of whom more than two-thirds are said to be living in misery, in dirt, in disease, and in abysmal ignorance, is the object of a comprehensive program into effect President Calles will rely chiefly upon Dr. J. Manuel Puig Casaurane, who holds the post of Secretary of Education in the Federal cabinet. Dr. Puig Casaurane though but 37 years old, is considered well qualified for the huge task intrusted to him. He began his career 14 years ago, and during that period he has practiced medicine; has held a seat in the legislative council of the Federal district; has been manager of a large daily paper; and has successfully directed the recent presidential campaign; has traveled and lived abroad; and he claims with pride a year's residence in the Mexican penitentiaries in the interest of the recent revolution.

John Tyndall, the Surveyor, the Great Scientist

A young man with a serious face was engaged in making the surveys for new lines of railroads. He was only a subordinate, and the work that he carried on was not of the first order of importance. Like George Washington, he was a surveyor. Like George Washington, he became something far greater, and something entirely different. That quick-witted, ready-spoken young Irish surveyor, or engineer, was John Tyndall, then just setting out in life. He was immensely pleased to have his position, for he had worked hard to obtain it. He had no idea that a distinguished future lay before him. All that he knew was that he had been born poor, that he had struggled to obtain an education, that he had secured a good job, and that he meant to do good work. That intention is one of the most certain passports that there is to great success and to lasting fame.

John Tyndall had had to work with his hands as a boy, but he had taken advantage of every chance to study. He had read many books, had mastered serious problems, and by the time he was 19 he was working as a surveyor. In the six or seven years that followed, John Tyndall kept up his evening study. Nothing could take him from his books. The more he studied by himself the more he wished for the opportunity of school and college. He saved his money, taught school for a year, and then sent himself to a great university. When he arrived there he settled down to the hardest kind of study. Here was a boy—or man, for he was 28 years old when he entered the university—who was in dead earnest.

He won his degree. Most people have a strange theory that graduation means the end of study. For Tyndall it was only the beginning. He plunged into scientific researches with twice the energy that he had shown before. He made original investigations and then gave lectures on the results he had found. At the age of 32 he was made a member of the Royal Society, the highest honor given in England.

Four or five years before he had been an unknown Irish boy, without college training. His years of hard study now began to bring him great rewards. He went on studying harder than before, and investigating every department of physics — heat, light, sound, electricity. He became one of the founders of modern science, opening up new paths, leading to new results, leading to new ways of thinking. He spent his vacations in the Alps, where he climbed the highest mountains with a courage that seemed [illegible]s, and there he investigated the [illegible] the movement of ice and many [illegible] problems, turning even his pleasures into science. He was utterly devoted to the finding of truth, and thus was a remarkably happy man. He worked hard, wrote many books, and died at 72, leaving behind him a world that was vastly better because of his work. That was a triumphant career.

A New Variety

Joe's mother was explaining to him about the circus, the posters having fired his curiosity. He was told about the parade and the sights to be seen, were marshalled before him in fancy, and great stress was put on the cowboys. He listened gravely but said nothing. When silence on his part was noticed she asked him "Why Joe, don't you want to see the cowboys?" "Well, yes mother dear, but I'd rather see a lamb boy."

How Could One Tell?

Mrs. X is the possessor of a shingle, and boasts that she doesn't have to use one hand to hold her hair out of her eye while she writes with the other. Some of her friends wanted to patronize her barber and she directed them to the shop. She didn't know his name but said he had a gold tooth. Two friends arrived at about the same time, each picked a barber with a gold tooth, and each recognized the other after getting in the chair. They compared notes later and found that neither one had been under the ministrations of Mrs. X's barber. Further investigation disclosed three barbers in the shop wore gold teeth.

Everywhere this New Delco-Light has won an Instant Welcome

A month ago we announced a new Delco-Light electric plant—Delco-Light at a new low price—Delco-Light so inexpensive in cost that it could bring the blessings of electricity to every farm home in America.

Thousands of farmers have found, in this new Delco-Light, the thing they've always wanted—a genuine Delco-Light plant that they could have, completely installed on their farms, at a cost that was really low. Thousands of farm women have found the Delco-Light that would lighten their burdens and bring new happiness to their families—all at a very economical cost.

We Want You to Know About It

Here is a brief description of the new Delco-Light, and some general information about our remarkable new plan of complete installation and easy time payments. Read every word of this information. And then write or telephone immediately for the details of our complete offer.

A 600-Watt Non-Storage Battery Plant

The new plant is a genuine Delco-Light in every respect—full 600-watt capacity, strong, sturdily built economical in operation. It is equipped with a standard Delco starter and an economical starting battery. And its price is only $195 f. o. b. Dayton—the lowest price and the greatest value ever offered in a Delco-Light electric plant.

Complete Installation at a Remarkably Small Cost

In addition to this, special arrangements have been made whereby the Delco-Light Dealer in your community will install your plant and wire your house for five lights to be located wherever you specify. You will receive with the plant five beautiful spun-brass lighting fixtures complete with bulbs.

And all of this—plant, installation, wiring, fixtures, everything ready to turn on the lights—will cost you only $53, in addition to the price of the plant itself.

$115,000 LIBEL SUIT AGAINST HENRY FORD TO STAND

New York May 26—Federal Judge Knox today denied an application to dismiss the writ of attachment obtained by Herman Bernstein, editor of the Jewish Tribune, against Henry Ford in Bernstein's libel suit against Ford and the Dearborn Independent Publishing company. The decision permits to stand an attachment for $115,000 against Mr. Ford's credit, which had been levied here.

Judge Knox said that Mr. Bernstein's case appeared to be of sufficient strength to warrant attachment of the defendant's funds. Evidence presented by Mr. Ford's attorneys, he said, lacked rebuttal to the allegations of the plaintiff's affidavit.

An affidavit made by William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, failed to make a comprehensive denial of Mr. Ford's inspiration and approval on a series of articles which appeared in the Independent, on "International Jewry," Judge Knox said.

"It is reasonable to suppose that such denial is impossible," the judge asserted in his opinion.

Mr. Bernstein's suit for $200,000, was brought August 18, 1923. A few days later it was announced that a balance of $115,000 which Mr. Ford had in the Corn Exchange Bank here, has been attached.

CLAIMS WATER TASTE DUE TO ROAD TAR

Claims that the rank taste in the city water last Saturday and Sunday were the results of seepage from the freshly tarred Salem turnpike, near a brook that discharges into Trading Cove brook were made by a Norwich man who made an investigation for himself Tuesday afternoon, but were scouted Tuesday night by President John P. Corkery of the water department and by Henry T. Gorman, supervisor of the state highway department.

A section of road for about 400 feet on each side of the brook beyond the West Plain cemetery had been freshly tarred Thursday and Saturday forenoon and the theory was advanced that the flood of rain that came down Saturday night sent the tarry water from the road down into the brook and from there into the pool of the pumping station. The Norwich man stated that he found the grass along the edge of the brook coated with oil and he was satisfied that this was the explanation for the taste that kept everybody from using the water Sunday.

Supervisor Gorman declared that he believed the tar which had been applied to the road as late as Saturday morning had all been absorbed and it would not mix with water anyway, but he admitted there was a possibility of the tarry substance being carried off to some extent. The slope of the road is down to the bridge on both sections that had tar placed on them, but no tar was placed on the bridge, he said.

President Corkery reaffirmed his belief that the trouble was a surplus of chlorine in the water and when asked why this had not been noticed before at the week-end, he stated that the quantity in use had been increased last Wednesday upon orders from Mr. Noonan of the state department of health because there had been complaints that the water was insufficiently chlorinated. He did not think, however, that the increase had been enough to account for the state that was so noticeable and he declared that the flow of four million gallons of water made it impossible, in his opinion, for any possible tar seepage to be noticeable. Mr. Corkery said that it was not unusual at times to have a surplus of chlorine where water is chlorinated and that the Hartford water department has noticed this condition to exist at times.

Since the trouble of Saturday and Sunday the amount of chlorine in use has been cut down and a number of hydrants have been flushed, Mr. Corkery said, and the water is right again in all parts of the city.

Lyon, all of Waterford, who sued for $700, all against Esther Herrup and Isaac Meyers, of Hartford, were withdrawn from the superior court docket without costs according to papers filed with Clerk George E. Parsons of the superior court.

WOMEN OF ARCHDEACONRY MET AT CHRIST CHURCH

At Christ Episcopal church Tuesday morning a service league meeting of the Women of the New London Archdeaconry was held with holy communion at 10.30 o'clock. After communion the regular business session was held. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Chittenden. Miss Franklin of Hartford reported that Connecticut's quota of $20,000 had been raised and Miss Mary Richards of this city reported for the supply department as did Miss Alice Bennett. Mrs. Warner, diocesan chairman reported on the prayer partnership and Deaconess Roberts told of the church conference at Pomfret. Mrs. E. S. Acheson of Middletown presided over the session and made a strong appeal for a district manager.

Basket luncheons were enjoyed and the following women of Christ church served tea and coffee to the 125 women present:

Mrs. Channing M. Huntington, chairman, Mrs. George Turner, Mrs. William R. Clark, Mrs. Albert A. Guile, Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, Mrs. Boynton, Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Anson R. Grover, Miss Mary Osgood, Miss Marthe Osgood, Miss Louise Robinson, Mrs. Frank A. Robinson, Mrs. Lee Roy Robbins, Mrs. Earl Mathewson. The tables were arranged by Mrs. Beverly Bliven, Miss Mary Osgood, and Miss Mary Richards.

At the afternoon session occurred the roll call of parishes and this was followed by a missionary service with Rev. James Fleming James, Ph. D., as the speaker. He spoke on the subject Prayer. There were large attendances at both morning and afternoon sessions.

COLUMBIA

Word has been received by relatives in town of the sudden death in the Golden Gate hospital of Los Angeles of John Bogue, 66. He was a brother of the late Mrs. James Utley of this place, and was well known by the older residents of Columbia. His body will be brought East. Raymond E. Lyman is making the necessary arrangements for an observance of Memorial day, although he feels somewhat discouraged at the apparent indifference of some of the World war veterans. There is a standing vote by the town authorizing an annual expenditure of $25 for the proper observance of the day, but the selectmen do not feel justified in using any of the money for music, and as under the law the money must be expended under the direction of the selectmen, no music will be provided. So far as arrangements are perfected, it is planned to have a delegation of veterans and citizens visit the West street cemetery at 9 o'clock Saturday morning where the graves will be decorated and prayer and remarks offered by Rev. C. C. Haun.

The exercises at the center cemetery will be at 10 o'clock where there will be singing by the school children who will lay a bouquet of flowers on the grave of each soldier other exercises at the center cemetery have not yet been arranged.

There are no Civil war veterans now living in Columbia, so that the duty of observing the day falls to the lot of the World war veterans and the patriotic citizens and it expected that they will show their patriotic interest by their presence.

It is a curious fact, but scientists seem agreed that four out of five hail storms occur in the day time and those during the day are usually the most intense and damaging. This fact is quite true irrespective of the sections of the country in which such storms are studied.

Stay Sweet Cards Blooms like corn.
'Tis years, dear lovers, we can see you may not wed;
I hate advice, but I suggest—let the straight
Go your way in vain;—
For her voice lives on the breeze, and her
spirit comes at will;
In the midnight on the seas, her bright
smile haunts me still;
For her voice lives on the breeze, and her
spirit comes at will
In the radiance of the sun she has her bright
smile haunts me still.

At first sweet dawn of light, when I gaze upon the deep;
Her form still greets my sight, while the stars their vigils keep;
When I close mine aching eyes, sweet
dreams my senses fill;
And from sleep when I arise, her bright
smile haunts me still;
When I close mine aching eyes, sweet
dreams my senses fill;
And from sleep when I arise, her bright
smile haunts me still.

I have scaled 'neath alien skies, I have trod the desert path;
I have seen the storm arise, like a giant
in his wrath;
Every danger I have known, that a reckless life can fill.
Yet her presence is not flown, her bright
smile haunts me still...
Every danger I have known, that a reckless life can fill.
Yet her presence is not flown, her bright
smile haunts me still.

ACADEMY, NFC CLASH TODAY ON CAMPUS

TODAY IN LEAGUE GAME AT CAMPUS

After being defeated in the last two starts the Academy team will clash with Chapman Tech this afternoon at the Campus in the second meeting of these two teams in the race for the Eastern Connecticut Interscholastic pennant. In the first meeting at New London the Academy won a 4 to 1 victory with a team that was not as strong and experienced as it is today. From all indications it would appear that the Academy should have no difficulty in administering a second beating to the New London team.

Coach Brigham will send Lloyd Jarvis against the Tech batters and the port-sider should be able to bend them over the plate in a way that the hits will be few and far between. Jack Hinrieks will do the catching, Burke will be at first and Carlin will replace McGowan at second. Carlin played a nice game against Hartford Saturday and in the practice Tuesday afternoon showed up well. Cimikoski will be in the short field and Les Carroll will cover third. In the outfield will be Capt. McGowan in left, Johnny Greene in center and Eddie Brewer in right. This outfield is as good as any outfield in the league and all are good hitters. Brewer is getting his hits in at opportune times and Johnny Greene is pounding the ball hard. McGowan is showing more hitting ability this year than ever before and is a dangerous man in a pinch.

Chapman will use either Brown or Gero against the locals today. Brown is no mystery to the Academy team for they hit him easily in the game at New London and he has not improved since then. Gero is an unknown quantity and has made an impressive showing against some of the weaker teams that Chapman has played earlier in the season. Then there is Dean another unknown quantity who may be called upon to perform.

From all accounts Chapman is not very confident of winning and are notably weak against left hand pitching which is the main reason for their doubts about the outcome of the game.

This game is an important one as regards the interscholastic league for if Chapman wins it puts them in the lead and puts the Academy in a tie for second place with Stonington. However if Norwich wins it leaves them sitting pretty at the top of the ladder and needing only one victory to cop the title. The standing in the league to date is as follows:

| | Won | Lost | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Academy | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Chapman Tech | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Stonington | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Westerly | 1 | 2 | .333 |

The umpiring today will be done by Hank Morin, veteran umpire and ball player, who has been giving such excellent service around Connecticut for the past few years. Hank umpired at Connecticut Aggie games for several seasons and also in Hartford for a number of the professional teams there. When Hank is running a game he is boss and that is all there is to it. The game is called for 3 o'clock.

SEVERAL SPEED RECORDS BROKEN AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26—(A. P.)—Speed records of the Indianapolis motor speedway were bowled over in rapid succession during the qualifying trials by Earl Cooper, Harry Hartz, Pete De Paolo and Leon Duray. Duray topped the record smashing performances by finishing the ten mile qualifying dash in five minutes, 13:03 seconds, an average speed of 113.96 miles an hour.

Shortly before Duray's performance, de Paolo had gone the ten miles in 5:18:35, an average of 113.083 miles an hour. De Paolo's mark had just displaced that set by Hartz whose time was 5:20:19, an average of 112.48.

The time established by Hartz had broken the record made only a few minutes before by Cooper who started off the programme by qualifying in 5:25:83, an average of 110.487.

The record for the qualifying trials previous to today had been 103.84 miles per hour and was established last year by Jimmy Murphy.

In addition to upsetting the record for the 10 mile dash, Cooper, Hartz, De Paolo and Duray also bettered the best time for one lap which was 109 miles an hour and was established in 1923 by Tommy Milton.

BULKELEY AND MANCHESTER IN TRACK MEET FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 26—Bulkeley will engage in a dual track meet with South Manchester High at this city Friday afternoon. The entire number of events will be engaged in with the meet marking the second such attempt in outdoor performances by Coach Frank B. Hamlen's proteges. One or two other meets are also being planned, and one definitely scheduled is the meet which will bring the Academy and Bulkeley into competition again. The date for this meet is set for June 9, and the interest which went with the meet recently held at Norwich will no doubt transfer to this city when the athletes lock themselves in this grip for supremacy.

Realizing its weakness in the field events, Coach Frank B. Hamlen is spending considerable time with the squad in endeavoring to develop a good javelin thrower, alongside a shot putter and a pole vaulter. There is no doubt about the supremacy of the Orange and Black athletes in the running events, for they demonstrated that very successfully against Norwich. The practice has been steady and faithfully attended by members of the team. The events of this meet will be announced in the Bulletin Friday morning.

Elwood Zuccardy, miler extraordinary, and who has been doing good work in the shorter events, was elected captain of the track team for this year, uZccardy's rise to the position of a fine miler had considerable to do with the election of the leader's position. He deserves that honor, for he has been working faithfully to put Bulkeley on the track map again. Zuccardy is a senior this year, and his rise in the running events has been spectacular, for he has been unheard of prior to the meet with the Academy. But great things are expected of him now, and there is a likelihood that he will not disappoint his followers.

BRITISH TOURNEY BECOMES A FREE FOR ALL STRIFE

Westward Ho, England, May 26—All favorites and almost all the foreigners had been eliminated from the British amateur golf championship when the third round was completed late this evening. The play had been on for only two days, yet there remained among the 32 survivors, no Tolley, no Wethered, no Holderness and no invading Americans, a circumstance unparalleled since the end of the war saw the rise of a new school of young amateur stars and almost an organized attempt from overseas to take the British amateur trophy away from this island.

Only four invading Americans, none of them topnotch golfers, made a bid for the title this year. One of them was eliminated yesterday and the other three were beaten today. Sir Ernest Holderness and Roger Wethered were eliminated yesterday, before they had fairly begun their battles; E. F. Storey and C. J. Tolley were put out today by almost unheard of golfers.

Thus, it is, more than in any recent year, "anybody's championship." Among the sixteen survivors in the lower half of the draw is Douglas Grant, formerly of California, but who for several years has been in business in England and made his home here. Grant yesterday defeated Wethered, and today put J. S. F. Morrison, of Sunningdal, out of the running, 2 up and 1 to play. Tomorrow morning Grant will play R. W. Crummack, several times champion of Lancashire.

COBB SETS LIFETIME RECORD FOR EXTRA BASE HITS

Chicago, May 26—Ty Cobb, American league veteran and leader of the Detroit Tigers, today cracked out his 1,000th extra base hit during his career of 20 years in the Major leagues and shattered a record held by Honus Wagner, of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Wagner during his lifetime in the Majors was credited with busting out 998 long distance blows.

The Detroit star, who was out of the game at the start of the season this year, because of illness, has steadily increased his stride, which already has made him the greatest holder of records in the Major leagues.

Cobb has appeared in 28 games this season and has collected 44 base hits, 19 of which were for extra bases. At the close of last season the "Georgia Peach" had a total of 981 extra bases.

Cobb recently shattered Wagner's mark for total bases and established a record mark for singles made in a lifetime and total bases during a Major league career. He also made a new mark recently for total number of hits and total runs scored, in addition to a greater number of times at bat than any other player.

RUSSELL AND OSGOOD TO MEET IN N. E. TENNIS FINALS

Brookline, Mass., May 26.—Joseph Russell of Manila, P. I., captain of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology tennis team and Franklin P. Osgood of Pleasantville, N. Y., Dartmouth tennis captain, will meet tomorrow in the finals of the New England intercollegiate singles championship on the Longwood Cricket club courts. By good headwork Russell today won his semi-final match from the defending champion, Clifford Marsh of Buffalo, N. Y., a Williams sophomore, while Osgood won a hard, three hour battle from the Williams captain, Mills P. Baker.

The Dartmouth doubles team also worked its way into the final round when F. Osgood, singles finalist and K. Boyd disposed of J. E. Russell and E. C. Hinck of M. I. T., 6-3, 6-4, 7-5. C. Marsh and M. Baker of Williams will face the Dartmouth pair in the finals tomorrow afternoon, having defeated D. M. Hill, Jr., and P. Lord of Bowdoin 7-5, 7-5, 6-4.

WESTERLY LOSES LOOSE GAME TO SO. KINGSTOWN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., May 26.—Westerly High school lost to the South Kingston High team of Wakefield on Tuesday afternoon at the Westerly athletic field by a score of 10 to 5. Too many bases on balls liberally given by Pitcher Meikle of the Westerly outfit had a large part in the downfall of the local high school players. Their defeat will prevent an over-confidence in the Stonington game at Stonington on Memorial day.

LYMAN MEMORIAL WILL PLAY WINDHAM TUESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, May 26.—Lyman Memorial High school is the last minute addition to the Windham High baseball schedule, according to an announcement made by Mgr. Clarence Redman Tuesday afternoon. The Lebanon team will be the attraction at the Recreation Park field in this city next Tuesday afternoon. The local management has been dickering for this game for the past few days but it was not until today that arrangements were completed. Tuesday afternoon Coach T. A. Callaghan outlined a stiff practice session which the squad went through with a good deal of enthusiasm for the Bulkeley clash Thursday.

The Bulkeley team has a very impressive record this season but this does not phase the local team a bit. Indications are that Jack Gadarowsky will be seen at third base instead of Storrs in the Bulkeley game.

TAYLOR'S DOUBLE IN TENTH HELPS ALBANY TO WIN

Waterbury, May 26.—Eddie Taylor's two base hit to left field with two out in the tenth inning of today's game with two runners on the bases paved the way for a 9 to 6 victory for the Albany club over the local team. Poor fielding by the Brassmen in the early innings resulted in their downfall.

Catcher Red Munn, of the Albany club, broke his right hand in the seventh inning of the game when he attempted to catch Cosgrove's foul fly off the grand stand. He fell to the ground and had to be carried off the field.

Manager Bill McCorry of the Albany team was banished from the game in the tenth inning by Umpire Breslin when he was called out at first base on a close play. Score:

The game was the third victory for the All Stars the other two victories being at the expense of the Hoffman team. The game was won when Stockwell hit a home run with two on base. Schuster also hit a homer during the game.

DODGERS DOUBLE AND HAVE MADE GOOD RECORD IN BASEBALL

Storrs, Ct., May 26.—Sumner A. Dole, former Massachusetts Aggie football star and now varsity coach at the Connecticut State college, continues to turn out winning teams at the Nutmeg institution and from what is apparently only mediocre and inexperienced material. This year, after giving the college its first undefeated football team, and a basketball team that won ten of fourteen combats, Dole continues with his work, building a baseball team that to date has lost but three of nine contests and gives every promise of winning most of the remaining games.

The Nutmeg Agrarians have won their last four contests, defeating New Hampshire 7-5, Springfield 5-4, Rhode Island State 21-6 and Clark 5-0. Trinity was defeated early in the month, 6-1. A 6-6 tie game was played with Wesleyan at Middletown, and games were dropped to Brown 5-1, Colby 10-4, and Springfield 6-2. Return games have yet to be played with Clark, Trinity and Rhode Island, before the Aggies engage in their two-game series with Massachusetts Aggies on June 12 and 13. Of these, the Mass. Aggie contests are the only ones which seem likely to prove to be further stumbling blocks to Dole's men, if past performances can be taken as a measure of their playing ability. Coach Ball at M. A. C. has a club that has been turning in some good work this season, and they should furnish their Connecticut rivals with plenty of opposition.

Dole's Connecticut team this year is one that has shown a great improvement over the team of a year ago, as well as other teams of recent seasons. Starting with a squad that lacked really experienced men, Dole has been forced to experiment with his men and shift them about until he finally arrived at his present combination, one that has given results unequalled by any Connecticut Aggie nine in recent years.

For pitchers, Dole has Wells, Nanfeldt and Makofski, and of this trio Wells is the only man who has experienced a full season of varsity twirling, making his letter in this berth last year. This season he has borne the brunt of the pitching for the Aggies, either starting or being used as a relief hurler in every game but one. Makofski, who is the regular first baseman, has been used to a limited extent in the box. His best piece of work was whitewashing Clark 5-0, when his chance of hurling a no-hit no-run game was spoiled by one lone bingle in the nine innings of play.

Dole's infield is made up of Makofski at first, Schofield at second, Captain Ahern at third, and O'Brien at short. This quartet is by far the best infield combination seen at Storrs in some years, and it is in a large measure responsible for the success attained to date. O'Brien is the oldest member of the team in service, now playing his fourth season with the Aggies. In addition to playing a fast game at shortstop, he leads the team in batting with an average of .344. Captain Ahern at third is another veteran who has been putting up a fast game this season. It is Makofski's third season on the ball team, while Schofield, the last member of the infield, came up from the freshman team of last year.

Seymour and Gilbert of the outfield are members of last year's nine, though this is the first year they have played the outfield. Gilbert caught last year, and Seymour played second base. Tiernan, the remaining member of the outfield, is another member of the team who is this year receiving his first taste of varsity competition.

NURMI BEATEN BY PENN STATE STAR IN FINAL RACE

Yankee Stadium, New York, May 26—Anan Helffrich, Penn State star, gave Paavo Nurmi his first defeat from scratch in this country at a half-mile here tonight.

Helffrich ran the noted Finn into the ground on the last turn and in the stretch, reaching the tape a good ten yards in the lead as thousands climbed to their seats and cheered the United States' first real conquest over the great Finn.

The American attempted a slow pace at the start and Nurmi soon took the lead, staying out for three-quarters of the distance. The time was 1:56 4-5 as compared with the American mark of 1:52 1-5 made by Ted Meredith, May 12, 1916.

It was not a great race but it was interesting. Nurmi, Helffrich and John Barnes of New York and Barnes led them through the first lap. Nurmi stepping ahead of the American at the first turn.

When the first quarter had been passed, Barnes stepped aside to let the stars fight their own battle. Half way around Nurmi still retained the lead but on coming to the turn into the home straightaway the American drew up to even terms, raced in this position for a dozen steps, and then sped away.

Victor at every distance from three-quarters of a mile to 5,000 metres, Nurmi showed tonight that the half mile, wherein a burst of speed at the end is necessary, is not for him. Many track followers had criticized him for undertaking such a task against such a remarkable runner as Helffrich.

The Olympic champion will sail for home on Thursday with his one defeat against his marvelous record built up in scores of races from Maine to California.

Helffrich's time for the distance was 1:56 4-5, somewhat behind the record of 1:52 1-5 set by Ted Meredith in 1916.

While Nurmi failed in his last race, his countryman, Albin Stenroos, succeeded in his first. This burley marathoner, 33 years-of-age and the father of two children, conquered ten Americans in a running feat of one hour and broke the American record for 10 miles, 1,492 yards, set by Charlie Fores of the Millrose A. A., on June 1, 1919. Stenroos' distance was 11 miles 153 yards and only 50 yards behind came the New England distance veteran Jimmy Hennigan of Dorchester, Mass.

O'BRIEN LEADS AGGIES IN BATTING AVERAGE

(Special to Bulletin.)

Storrs, May 26—The Connecticut Aggie baseball team, which will meet Trinity in Hartford next Saturday, cannot be called a team of sluggers, as at present there is but one man with an average of over 300. Yet the Aggies have been travelling at a rapid pace, winning their last four games in a row, and dropping but three contests since the season started. Ability to hit in the pinches, coupled with good defensive play is largely responsible for the success obtained to date. O'Brien leads the Storrs batters with an average of 344.

BILL LATHAM RE-ELECTED CAPTAIN OF TECH CREW

Tech oarsmen liked the captains who led their eights at the institute this season well enough to elect them all over again at the crew dinner which officially closed the season at the institute on Saturday evening. William Latham, of Norwich Town, Conn., who rowed at No. 4 on the eight this spring was re-elected for the coming season, while Millard M. Greer, of New Castle, Pa., who stroked and captained the 150-pound eight this spring, also was re-elected. Under their leadership, Tech expects to progress even farther next spring than was true in the campaign just closed.

Vandels Have High Average for Season

The Rose City Vandels have an exceptionally high playing average for this season so far. They have met some of the best local amateur teams in the county and have come out with an average of 666.2. The Vandels owe most of their victories to the fine work of their infield and the tightening of their pitchers in close places.

The following is the schedule of games played so far this season:

| Vandels | Opponents |
|---|---|
| 5 | Falls Kachems ..... 10 |
| 15 | Norwich Independents ..... 5 |
| 3 | Lyman Memorial High ..... 8 |
| 8 | Polish A. C. ..... 3 |
| 13 | Orioles ..... 11 |

to strike them by playing a double header. The Giants will have to have their lineup in the bulletin tomorrow morning or the Vandels will not play. As the two clubs are too strong to play for a call the Vandels will play for the sport of the game.

BROWNS TRIM INDIANS IN BOTH GAMES OF TWIN BILL

St. Louis, May 26—With good pitching the Browns won both games of their first double header of this season here today against the Cleveland Indians. Elam Vangilder hurled the first victory, 8 to 4, and Dave Danforth toiled the second, 5 to 4. Ken Williams, outfielder, slammed out a circuit clout in the ninth inning of the first game in which George Sisler, Brown playing manager, banged four hits. About 3,000 attended. Score:

KACEYS WIN PITCHERS' BATTLE FROM SOCONY

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 26—Local fans saw one of the tightest games they will see for a long time to come when the Knights of Columbus, playing fine ball in the field, although outhit, managed to hang defeat on the Standard Oil nine by the close score of 1 to 0. Joe Cranker and Bill Johnstone were the opposing twirlers and they were in fine fettle this evening. The support accorded the Knights twirler was better than Johnstone received and that accounted in one sense of the word for the victory scored by the Knights. Johnstone allowed three hits and Cranker allowed four, three of these coming in the last inning.

The only run of the game was scored in the first inning by the Knights. H. Smith walked and Joe Barry, attempting to sacrifice, bunted to Johnstone who threw to second forcing Smith. John McInnis hit to Foote at third, Barry going to third on the play, and when Couillard over-threw in an attempt to catch Barry at third, Barry scored with the only run of the game.

Double plays by the Knights cut off attempts made by the Socony nine to break into the run column. The score.

FLOWERS GETS VERDICT OVER LOU BOGASH

Bridgeport, May 26—Tigers Flowers, Atlanta, Ga., negro middleweight, won the referee's verdict over Lou Bogash, of Bridgeport, in a 12-round bout here tonight. Flowers carried every round and opened cuts over both of Bogash's eyes and drew blood from his nose and mouth, giving the Bridgeport boxer the worst lacing of his career.

Bogash was overweight and sluggish, while Flowers was at his best, peppering Bogash with a long left to the face and landing with frequent rapidity about the body with right hand wallops. Bogash weighed 172 1-4 pounds, Flowers 166 1-2.

Frisco McGale, a sparring partner of Flowers, and Phil Jackson, of Bridgeport, battled to a draw in the semi-final. The verdict was unpopular, many thinking McGale had won.

Johnny Saxon, and Buck Kelly, both of Bridgeport, fought to a six round draw in the third preliminary. Red Garren, of Waterbury, outpointed Joe King, of Bridgeport, in a six-rounder, while Steve Culver, of Bridgeport, scored a technical knockout over Jack Gess, also of Bridgeport, in the third round of a scheduled four round bout.

CARPENTIER A BETTER JUMPER THAN DEMPSEY

Paris, May 26—Georges Carpentier defeated Jack Dempsey at the Sporting Club of France this afternoon, but the competition was high jumping. After an hour of strenuous training, punching the bag, shadow boxing he suddenly asked Georges Andre, France's Olympic hurdle champion, to set the bar at 4 feet 6 inches, which the American cleared.

Carpentier, who had been training in another part of the gymnasium, suddenly shot out and did likewise. Gradually the bar was raised by inches to five feet, which both men negotiated, Carpentier easily and Dempsey haltingly. Finally Dempsey missed at 5 feet one. Carpentier reached 5 feet 6 inches, while Dempsey looked out and applauded.

It was commented, however, by those who watched the training that Dempsey's ring work stood high above that of Carpentier. The American was lively, with fast footwork and lightning hooks, while Carpentier appeared to be slow and loggy.

HILLIES NOSE OUT PONIES IN NINTH

Springfield, Mass., May 26.—Pittsfield checked its own losing streak as well as Springfield's winning streak here today, winning by 6 to 5. The winning run came in the ninth on Purcell's walk and Thrasher's hit to center, which got past Becker. Seven pitchers took part. Score:

DODGERS TAKE BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE HEADER

Philadelphia, May 26.—Brooklyn tightened its hold on second place by taking both ends of a double header from the Phillies today, 10 to 4 and 3 to 1. Vance allowed 10 hits in the first contest and fanned 10 batters. Grimes let the Phillies down with six hits in the second game. Score:

Billy Mink Loses Respect

Respect once lost you'll find with pain
'Tis difficult to e'er regain.
—Old Mother Nature.

King Eagle stood beside the fish he had forced Plunger the Osprey to drop. He stood erect, his snowy white head held high as he watched Plunger and Mrs. Plunger fly away to resume their fishing. He looked every inch a king. Billy Mink, peeping from under an old stump, thought so. Many a time had he admired King Eagle flying high above and thought him well named the king of birds. He thought the same thing now as he watched from his hiding place. There was a nobleness in that great white head. There was haughty pride in those fierce yellow eyes. And when Billy Mink looked at that great hooked bill and those big curved claws his respect for King Eagle was greater than ever.

For a few minutes King Eagle stood there and Billy Mink remained in hiding, his respect growing with every second. It was a queer feeling, this feeling of respect, for there are few whom Billy does respect.

Now, if King Eagle had picked up that fish and flown away at once Billy would have gone his way with more respect for King Eagle than for any one else in all the Great World. But King Eagle didn't fly away at once. Just a few feet away on the edge of the water he saw part of a fish which had been washed up. King Eagle is not particular. He really doesn't care much whether his fish be fresh or not. That piece of fish would do for his breakfast, and then he would take the fish he had taken from Plunger home to his hungry Eaglets on the Big Mountain. King Eagle started for that piece of fish.

He told King Eagle that he was a robber and a big bully

You should have seen the eyes of Billy Mink pop out. King Eagle, hopping along the beach, and of all the awkward, clumsy folks Billy had ever seen it seemed to him none could compare with King Eagle. You know King Eagle's great curved claws were not intended for walking and they were dreadfully in his way. There was no dignity about him now, not a bit. His wings were lifted a little and he was so awkward that Billy Mink wanted to laugh. He did so. All his respect for King Eagle vanished in a twinkle. There was nothing royal or kingly about him now. He might be a fine fier but he certainly was a joke when it came to getting about on the ground.

Billy looked over to where King Eagle was gulping down that fish. He was so occupied that he [illegible] noticing anything else. Then what do you think Billy did? He darted out like a little brown streak straight over to that fish Plunger had dropped at King Eagle's orders. He seized that fish and began to drag it toward that old stump. That proves how completely Billy had lost his respect for King Eagle. Five minutes before he wouldn't have dreamed of doing such a thing.

King Eagle bolted the last mouthful and looked over to the fish he intended to take to his hungry children. It wasn't there where he had left it. It was moving, moving straight toward an old stump on the edge of that little beach. King Eagle was more awkward than ever as he hopped back to that fish. He looked anything but a king. Billy Mink continued to drag that fish away until King Eagle pounced upon it. Even then he tugged at it until he had to let go and dodge as King Eagle struck at him. Billy jumped back and to one side. What do you think he did then? He arched his back and snarled right in the face of King Eagle. He told King Eagle that he was a robber and a big bully and actually was impudent enough to claim that fish as his own because he had found it.

And there was nothing King Eagle could do about it, because on the ground he was so awkward. So he picked up the fish, mounted into the air and started for home, leaving saucy little Billy Mink actually angry because he didn't have that fish.

WESTERLY

For the respectful observance of Memorial day this year in Westerly, the following is presented by a member of the local board of conference of the Westerly patriotic organizations:

It is generally hoped that Memorial day this year will be observed by all as a strictly veterans' memorial, that people will abstain from the decoration of family plots and graves and bring their tributes of flowers for the honor and memory of those brave men who have gone forth to defend our homes and our flag and secure to us the peace we enjoy. Think only of them on their one day of remembrance and see that every veteran's grave is remembered, not only by the flag and the scarlet geranium, but with the grateful tokens of recognition of neighbors and friends. They gave themselves, health, hopes and life—let us cover them with the flowers of memory, during the precious years while we still have a remnant of our G. A. R. with us."

As usual automobiles will be needed Memorial day to carry members of the Grand Army, Spanish War Veterans, Woman's Relief corps and disabled World war veterans to the cemetery.

It is hoped by the committee that these will be volunteered by those who are able to do this service to assist in the observance of the one day in the year kept sacred to the memory of the vast heroic army who have been mustered out.

Any one who can supply an automobile for use on Memorial day is to notify any member of the committee or telephone 2795. The committee is Emma S. Bromley, Bourdon Babcock, Sarah A. Vredenburg.

Although the High street grammar school has been in use since last fall, it was only Monday night that a public inspection was invited when hundreds of parents and other visitors were shown through the building also given an opportunity to see the 480 or more pupils at work and play, just as if they were attending a regular day session of the school. From 7.30 until 9 the auditorium, recreation room and class rooms were crowded with visitors.

An interesting feature of the program was the presentation of a large American flag and a Bible to the school by Hope council, No. 6, Jr. Order United American Mechanics, and Martha Washington council, Daughters of America. The presentation address was made by Rev. Walter Parmelee, D. D. The flag and Bible were identite with the ones which these two organizations presented the new Bradford school when it was dedicated.

In the auditorium on the first floor three pageants were presented as follows: 7.30-7.50, A Plea for the Trees, grades 5 and 6; 7.50-8.10, Mother Goose in Safety Land, grades 3 and 4; 8.10-8.45, The Meaning of Our Flag, grades 5 and 6. The pageants were directed by the grade teachers under the general supervision of Miss Pauline W. Stahle, principal of the school, who had the entire open night program in charge. Joe Fabre was in town visiting with his family last Friday, it being an off day for the Providence baseball club, of which he is a member.

The franchise has recently been transferred from Newark to Providence and the first home game under the new franchise was played Saturday. A number of local sports went to Providence to see their favorite son in action, both Saturday and Sunday.

Joe is going fine, is rated as one of the best fielding shortstops on the circuit and has continued his terrific hitting and the latest figures available show him to be socking the old apple at a .346 clip.

There is some talk among local fans of getting together and having a Fabre Day at Providence soon.

The baseball game at Ashland park Sunday was called off in the first inning owing to the downpour of rain. Each team scored two runs in the first and it looked like a real battle.

Manager Chase has secured the same team to appear on the local grounds again the coming Sunday.

Ralph Nickerson of College Point, L. I., spent the week-end at Mrs. S. H. Holmes'. He is a nephew of the late Dr. Holmes.

One enterprising and patriotic merchant has already decorated his store window for Memorial day.

The townspeople all appreciate the courtesy of the managers of Finn Opera in giving the use of the theatre for the Memorial day exercises, also for the Chorus rehearsal.

Deputy Sheriff Dolan was driving through Lisbon on the Newent road Sunday afternoon, when he saw a horse evidently strangling, having wound the rope around the tree to which he had been tied. The animal was down on the ground choking to death. Officer Dolan jumped over the wall and cut both rope and halter before the animal was relieved. The owner of the horse had been notified by people in a passing machine, who also had seen the animal's predicament, and the owner was running to his rescue with a case knife ready for action.

Following are the committees which assisted in the Memorial services Sunday, May 24, in Pachaug. Frank Morgan, chairman:

Every soldier's grave in this town, whether he enlisted from this town or not, will be decorated under the direction of the American Legion post. As far as decorating the graves is concerned, the list of names remains the same as has been published in these columns years before, and none are to be added excepting one. Samuel Norman states that he has found in a Geer record the name of "Fighting" Samuel Geer, whose grave is in the cemetery near his home. Not only the soldiers' graves in this town are looked after by the local post, but three in the town of Lisbon, that town furnishing flags.

Jewett City is very proud of the fine exhibition given by the children of St. Mary's Parish at Palace Theatre, Norwich, Monday evening. The Butterfly drill was awarded first prize and the orchestra the third. A crowd of Jewett City people showed their community spirit, and sat out the five hour programme and applauded until puffed out hands and lame arms were the talk on the street Tuesday. They certainly backed up their home town. The programme was of unusual talent from beginning to end. But the outstanding feature was the brilliant spectacular effect of the exquisite hand-painted butterflies, the changing lights adding to the beauty of a number not equaled in many a professional act. It requires infinite time, talent and patience to train and costume twenty five children for so elaborate an act much more so than a one-person act.

Rev. G. Keene Gray went to New York Monday to spend the week end to meet his family who are coming from Newcastle, Kentucky, arriving here Saturday.

The Jewett City news letter sent by mail Monday night wandered around like a lost soul again, and did not arrive at its destination until late Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. N. J. Babcock has charge of making the wreaths for Memorial Day, the workers going to the Town Hall Thursday afternoon at one o'clock. It is work that every woman can do, and many workers make easy work. Also it is a patriotic duty.

In spite of pouring rain Sunday afternoon, a merry party met and hung Lewis A. Thornton a beautiful and well filled May basket, in honor of his 89th birthday. After topics of the present ady and past were discussed. Mr Thornton with the aid of his great-grandsons investigated and admired the contents of his basket which contained handkerchiefs, flowers, cigars, candles and fancy cookies. Mr. Thornton is a Civil war veteran and had five grandsons in the World war who wore the O. D. and navy blue. It was one of the few times in the twenty-six years of May basket hanging that "Grandpa" Thornton was completely surprised. Miss Ruby Thornton served cake and punch, assisted by her nieces.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Evan Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hewlitt and children, Lois and Edwin; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray and son, Hrbert Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gray; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gray; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray and son Lewis; Mrs Charles Langbehn and son, Herman of Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert A Babcock and son Adelbert Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Gray; Miss Ruby Gray and Arthur Gray.

The Chamber of Commerce is to meet tonight (Wednesday) in Pachaug Grange Hall for their usual banquet and arrangements for community spirit.

Fifty neighbors and friends of Simon Brewster were invited by his family to come to his home Monday afternoon, and surprise him on his seventy-fifth birthday. He was completely surprised and enjoyed the pleasure of seeing so many friends and receiving the gifts they brought him. Cake, coffee and ice cream were served. His nearest neighbor, James Armstrong, who is 81, came and brought a May basket which he made himself. Mr. Brewster has been a life long resident in Griswold, and friends hope that he may live many more useful years.

A Reminder

(Contributed.)

A few days hence we will all do honor to the flag we love so well or at least a part of us will.

About one year ago, I was sitting at my window overlooking the street. The sound of fife and drum attracted my attention and I watched for the "procession" which I knew was near. It came, a small detachment of men in khaki and—the Flag. From where I sat, I could see several men who were watching the passing as I was. One of them bared his head in the presence of the flag. One! And only one!

I turned away from the window, pondering. I said to myself: What exactly what does the flag mean to me?"

And this was the answer I gave myself, as I later walked unmolested up the street, free to enjoy my "life," my "liberty" and my "pursuit of happiness."

The flag of the United States of America means my right to pass along the streets and roads of this my country, undedicated, unquestioned, so long as I am law-abiding.

The flag means my right to earn a living in any honest occupation I choose, my right to an honest deal in any honest undertaking, my right to vote—to have a voice in the structure and direction of the government, my right to a home which I may locate as I choose and make as comfortable and beautiful as I know how, my right and my children's right to climb as high as I can in my calling or profession and my right to voice my convictions on any subject within the law of right and justice.

The flag means my right to such religious ideals and practices as mean most to me, provided they do not infringe on the rights of others.

The flag means my right to travel peaceably in other countries, under the power of its protection and the glory of its prestige, so long as I am conscientiously law-abiding, in these countries.

It looks to me as though the flag of the United States of America means my unquestioned right to "a place in the sun"—protection and liberty for me and mine; a right purchased by men and women of high ideals who wor and established this right for us by dauntless courage, mighty struggle heroic self-denial, the shedding of blood and giving up of life.

Shall I then be careful to bow to the neighbor I pass on the road, to the minister, judge, merchant, friend, and yet omit to salute the flag which stands for the rights of every living American citizen and for the memory of all those who have passed on before that the glory of this flag might yet live?

If those sacred rights and equally sacred associations, symbolized by the Stars and Stripes, are not worth the bowing of the head or the lifting of the hat when the flag passes by, then——?

Fence Posts That Last

Concrete fence posts need no paint or repairs; they cannot rot, but grow stronger with age. They present a neater, more efficient appearance and hold the wires securely—forming a safe enclosure for field or yard. They can be made indoors during the winter and set up in the spring.

If you make them yourself your building material dealer can give you an Atlas book that tells you how—or he can direct you to a concrete products plant where you can buy them ready made.

Of course, you will want to be sure your concrete is made with Atlas Portland Cement.

Chrysler Breaking Sales Records While Demand Goes Still Higher

The public's insistence on results that only the Chrysler Six delivers grows more emphatic week by week and month by month.

Mounting sales figures in the weekly reports for the United States show that the Chrysler Six—already a record-breaker in popularity—is soaring higher than ever before.

The latest weekly report registers an increase of 116% in retail sales over the corresponding week of 1924.

The sales for that week were 65% bigger than the very biggest week of 1924.

Furthermore, the last three weeks reported are the biggest weeks of 1925.

April, 1925, shows the largest month's business in Chrysler Six history.

Always mounting to higher and higher figures.

In Illinois, for example, April, 1925, shows an increase of 237% over 1924; Connecticut and the Boston district, including the remainder of New England, 133%; the Atlanta district, including Georgia, South Carolina and Florida, 364%; San Francisco district, including California, New Mexico and Nevada, 89%.

There never has been anything like it as a demonstration of public approval.

All of which becomes even more amazing, more significant when you recall that in 1924 the Chrysler Six had already established sales records unequaled in a quarter-century of motor car history.

Turn to the chart at your right. It shows you in simple and graphic way Chrysler Six production month by month.

See how the lines shoot up as Chrysler factory facilities were increased to meet the even more emphatic public demand for Chrysler Six results.

The public knows exactly what it is about. It has long waited for Chrysler Six quality and performance and it is determined to enjoy their advantages—even to the abandonment of cars previously owned, that cost thousands of dollars more than the Chrysler Six.

The public knows that no matter what the make or price, only the Chrysler Six gives them Chrysler brilliance of performance, Chrysler roadability and ease, Chrysler quality, economy and the score of other advantages that belong to this car alone.

We are eager to have you find out for yourself what these Chrysler Six results are.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON BILL GIVING HIGHWAY DEPT. $3,000,000 FOR ROADS

(Special to the Bulletin)

Hartford, May 6—The committee on appropriations today recommended a favorable report on the bill that will provide $2,500,000 for state roads. The appropriation will be made from funds paid into the treasury by the motor vehicle department.

The legislators passed on a considerable volume of business today and considered some bills yet to come in preparation for the final adjournment on June 3rd.

Senate

The senate was called to order at 10:50 (standard time) by Lieutenant-Governor Brainard. Prayer by Chaplain Ayer.

A favorable report was received from the committee on finance on the bill authorizing the city of Waterbury to issue street improvement bonds to the amount of $200,000 at a rate of interest not more than 5 per cent. Calendar.

Secretary of State Francis A. Pallotti submitted, a list of corporations in the state on December 31, 1924. On the motion of Senator Cronin the list was ordered on file in the office of the secretary.

The committee on banks reported favorably on the bill to permit the payment of small loans at any time, and on the refusal to accept the payment the banking commission may revoke the license of the person or corporation refusing it. Calendar.

A favorable report was received from the committee on the judiciary for the transfer of Minnie Island in New London county to the state. Calendar.

The committee on the judiciary reported unfavorably on the bill validating deeds to land acquired for highway purposes. The bill was rejected.

Calendar

Passed: Incorporating the Stonington fire district; to prevent obstruction to traffic by vehicles on highways and as amended on the motion of Senator Pelton to prevent a vehicle from parking on a highway opposite a car that stood on the opposite side; appropriating $33,000 for new elevators in the state capitol; appropriating $29,700 in addition to the sum of $225,000 already appropriated for the teachers retirement fund; appropriating $10,000 for sidewalks, etc., at the Normal school in New Britain; appropriating $147,630 for improvements of the equipment of Connecticut state hospital; appropriating $12,000 for repairs at the state library building; that the aggregate indebtedness of a municipality shall not exceed 5 per cent. of the grand list; that liquors seized shall be destroyed on the order of the court, but if the liquor is not declared a nuisance by the court the liquors shall be returned to the owner who shall be indemnified for his expenses.

The House

The house got under way at 11:38 today with Speaker Darbie in the chair. Prayer was offered by Chaplain Lewis. Business from the senate—most of it concurred in—took up the first quarter hour of the house session.

Under suspension of the rules the house adopted resolutions appointing Frank H. Foss, judge, and Russell Andrews, deputy judge of the city court of Willimantic; also Archibald Duffield, deputy judge of the city court of Derby.

Favorably reported by the judiciary committee and tabled for calendar and printing were bills: Allowing expenses of the state police commissioners up to $1,500; providing that traveling expenses of county commissioners shall be allowed at 3 cents a mile for railroad travel and 8 cents a mile by automobile; No. 644, releasing any rights of the estate of Andrew Torzoska; an act concerning executors' bonds; requiring dealers in antique furniture to be licensed; concerning the termination of corporations; providing for the repeal of the law concerning loitering of women and minors; No. 839, validating the incorporation of the First Episcopal society of Litchfield.

This bill was also amended in the house and returned to the senate.

On motion of Mrs. Alsop of Avon, the unfavorable report on bill No. 294, providing state aid to towns for public health nursing was taken from the table and the bill was recommitted to the appropriations committee.

The committee on public health and safety reported favorably bill No. 897, providing for reports of the pharmacy commission before July 1 of each year; and bill No. 292, raising the standard for the practice of optometry. Tabled for calendar.

"Keep the Velvet"

Socony Motor Oil literally cushions all the moving parts of the motor in a film of velvet-like consistency. More than this, it seals the combustion chamber so effectively that the maximum power of the explosive mixture is delivered in full, and, in addition, resists to a high degree excessive engine temperatures. All these factors make for longer motor life, greater power, minimum repair bills.

Fill up on Socony Motor Oil. Note the difference in costs—the cost of actual operation and the lessened repair bills. In fact, any way you wish to reckon it, use Socony and "Keep the Velvet!" Insist upon Socony Motor Oil; resist cheap and spurious imitations.

NEW LONDON TO HAVE TWO TRIPS TO NEW YORK BY STEAMER DAILY

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 26—The New England Steamship company is planning the operation of two steamers between this port and New York daily, instead of one, as is the case now and if the present plans of the steamship company are carried out, and there is every reason to believe that they will be, two steamers will depart from New London for New York for this port. Edward S. Doll, agent of the line in this city, stated this afternoon that he had received the tentative schedule and he was of the opinion that the boats would be started, running on the new schedule as contemplated.

The new schedule calls for a boat to leave New London at 10 a. m. daily and arrive in New York at 5.30 p. m., and another to leave port at 11 p. m., and reach New York at 7 a. m. The steamers will leave New York at 10 a. m., and reach here at 5.30 p. m. and another will leave Pier 40 North river at 11.15 p. m., and Pier 78 foot of East 23rd street, East River, at midnight and arrive here at 7 a. m.

In the many years that the steamship company has operated boats between this port and New York, but one steamer has been operated from New London and New York daily, but water travel having become popular with the travelling public and immense crowds having been carried by the steamers the past few years the steamship line anticipates the starting of the new schedule June 15th.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today caused the operator's license of William B. Waterman, Glenwood Park, to be suspended. Waterman was recently fined $100 in the police court of the charge of reckless driving, Waterman's car having wrecked the machine of Frank Bray, 114 Riverview avenue, and in which Mrs. Bray was a passenger, crashing into it on Montauk avenue. Mrs. Bray escaped injury, but Bray was under treatment at a local hospital many weeks.

The commissioner also suspended the license of James O'Connor, 27 Winthrop street.

Maria E. Squires and Ray S. Atwood have sold a tract of land on Gorton street to Christine M. Meek and another parcel on the same street to Reynolds and Ellen Selderquist.

Alvin E. Vail has sold to Ethel R. Edgcomb a house and lot on Blackhall street.

Gus Olsen, of this city, was arrested this afternoon by Traffic Officer Frank Linehan, charged with intoxication. Olsen was locked up pending his hearing in the police court tomorrow morning. Olsen was on Main street, between State and Masonic streets and in staggering about the west side of the street he lurched several times against the plate glass windows of several stores. Finally in trying to grasp one of the windows in an aid to support himself, he staggered into a store entrance and then fell backward and landed upon his head on the sidewalk, being rendered partially unconscious. A crowd collected and Traffic Officer Linehan, who was on duty at the corner of State and Main streets took charge of Olsen. At the police station an ugly cut which Olsen sustained over the left eye was treated by City Physician George P. Cheney.

The funeral of John Carney was held this morning at 9.45 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a mass of requiem being sung by Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger. The bearers were John Mulgrew, Fall River, Mass., John Carney, Jr., William McCormick and Harry Carney. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, Montville.

The funeral of David Stuart, eight years old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Moran, 95 West street, was held this morning. At 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan. The bearers were J. Stanton Cook, Daniel Moran, Eugene Cook and John Moran. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

William J. Hall, 44, died late yesterday at his residence on Masonic street, death ending a lingering illness. Mr. Hall was a mariner by occupation and is survived by his widow and one son. He was a member of New London lodge of Elks.

Clarence Nguen, of United States transport General Nathaniel Greene; Misses Clara, Lillian and Gloria Ruisi, Westerly, and Paul Pukan, 7 Front street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were dismissed today.

Mrs. William Cadman, 12 Riverview avenue, and Mrs. Charles Waterbury of Old Lyme, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Albert Frink, 45 Church street, complained to the police late this afternoon that a stove that he had stored in the rear of his residence had been tampered with and that parts of the stove had been taken away. Sergeant John Cavanaugh was assigned to the complaint and quickly rounded up several boys, who reside in the neighborhood, who admitted taking the parts. These were returned and Frink was satisfied to have the complaint dismissed, inasmuch as he had recovered his property.

Raymond Grever, 41, of 32 Golden street, was taken into custody this afternoon by Sergeant John Cavanaugh charged with the theft of $11 from a Waterford woman. He is being held at the police station to await the convening of the police court tomorrow morning.

Grover, who is a soldier, under compensation, and who is a sufferer from shell shock, having served in the World war, was following a practice of long standing of visiting certain stores, and sections of State street in search of tobacco coupons, which he has a mania for collecting. He visited the Five and Ten Cent store and while there noticed a purse on the counter. Grever took the purse and removed the money and his act was observed by the manager of the establishment, who took the pocketbook from Grover. He did not detain Grover, but allowed him to leave the store, after which he gave the purse to the owner, when she made inquiry for it. Later the management of the store notified the police that Grover had taken the money and he was quickly found pursuing his search for coupons along the street. When taken to the police station he admitted his guilt and turned over the money to the officer; later in the day the woman recovered her property. Grover has been a conspicuous figure about State street for several years in his search for the coupons, which appears to be his sole amusement. That he derives a certain amount of pleasure from his searching activity is evidenced from the fact that he negotiates them for premiums, principally sporting goods, and then gives his premiums to boys.

Edward McLaughlin, of Union street, was found down and partially unconscious on State street today by Motorcycle Officer William Bates and John Foley. The officers, believing that McLaughlin was intoxicated, took him into custody. At the police station the condition of McLaughlin changed, for the acts of the man did not carry out the belief of the officers that McLaughlin was drunk so City Physician George P. Cheney was summoned. The examination revealed that McLaughlin had an epileptic fit and he was accompanied to his home as a matter of precaution.

Announcement is made of the engagement of James Anthony Buckley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Buckley, Best View, Waterford, to Miss Loretta Cecelia Havens, daughter of Mrs. George Randall Havens, Niantic.

As a result of the alleged testimony of one of the police officers who was a witness at the recent probe of the special committee of the city council to determine the efficiency of the police department, appearing in a local newspaper Monday, a suit for defamation of character may be instituted. The alleged utterances of the witness, the officer whose testimony was reproduced by the publication has caused a feeling of extreme enmity to exist between him and the other members of the force.

Carlos Selesnitsky is the officer whose testimony appeared in print and he is one of the youngest members on the force, having been appointed about two years ago. In his purported testimony, Selesnitsky is quoted as calling some of the officers stool pigeons, because of their alleged carrying of information to Captain Pinney, while others were reported to have been almost habitual drinkers and were frequently on duty while intoxicated. One of these officers alleged to have been maligned by Selesnitsky, made it known this afternoon that he had decided to consult an attorney tomorrow and if the facts in the case warrant, he will cause Selesnitsky to defend his statements in court, as defendant in a civil action for damages.

Abraham Gordon has broken ground for a residence on Montauk avenue just south of Perry street.

The Memorial day parade this year will not vary much from those of past years. The troops from the ships in the harbor, from the submarine base, the coast guard vessels and the cadets from the academy will participate in the parade, to music by a band. The Grand Army veterans will turn out, but with slim ranks, for its members are so far advanced in years, that they cannot endure the hardship of a march. Business will be generally suspended, and many of the stores will be closed to business.

No one seems to know whether the city council is going through with an arrangement a fortnight ago for hiring a ball ground in the town of Waterford for the coast guard cadets. It was understood that the plan was to be questioned as to its legality, but as that course was not pursued at the council meeting last night, it is to be assumed that opposition will not arrive.

Dealers in gasoline announced this evening that the price was to be advanced tomorrow. The demand for it will be increased during the next three days because of the holiday and the increased number of machines that will be in use.

Policeman John Sullivan is on his vacation.

Miss Charlotte Anne Keefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keefe of Broad street, who received her B. A. from Connecticut college in the class of 1919 and her M. A. from Columbia university in 1920 after majoring in English, will leave this city June 12 for Vancouver, B. C., from where she will sail on the Empress of Russia June 25 for a lecture tour of the orient. She will accompany Miss Helen Parkhurst, who will give a series of lectures for the Imperial Japanese Education association and the National Association for the Advancement of Education in China. Miss Parkhurst is the originator of the Dalton laboratory plan of education which is used in many schools in England. She is now head of the Children's university school and of the University high school of New York, in which Miss Keefe is an instructor. According to present plans, Miss Keefe will return late in September.

FOUR NORWICH YOUNG MEN PENALIZED IN COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, May 26—Four Norwich young men, Roland A. Bennett of Rogers street, William P. Riordan, Irving Bruckner and George A. Smith, the last named spending a season with friends in Norwich, were in the police court this morning where all were penalized for their conduct here last night. They said they came to attend a dance and that they got into a private affair at Lawrence hall at the start, but that they went from there to Ocean Beach where they "picked up" a couple of girls. The fellows bought a bottle of whiskey and that led them into a crash with the automobile of George Allen, of Waterford. The Allen machine was on Pequot avenue at a standstill, with women passengers in the car, when the Norwich machine ran into it. The left fender of the Allen car was badly bent, the left forward front wheel was wrecked and the tire of it pulled off and the front axel was sprung. The Riordan car was also badly damaged, but it was not put out of business. The operator of the car, Bennett was fined $50 and his companions were taxed $10 each and the costs of trial. All settled but that required some negotiation. The quartette admitted that the ride was an expensive one. Bennett will lose his license to operate a machine for awhile. Riordan was in a car that killed a young girl named Lyons, at the time residing on Montauk avenue in this city, some months ago on the Hartford state road.

192ND REGIMENT IS TO TRAIN AT TOBYHANNA

The 192nd regiment, Field Artillery, C. N. G., armed with 155mm Howitzers, will spend its yearly training period of 15 days at the field artillery range at Tobyhanna, Pa., from July 5 to 20, inclusive.

All motor equipment which will be needed at camp will be sent overland with the Service battery from Danielson a few days in advance of the departure of the rest of the regiment. All rations, telephones and other necessities will be furnished by the regiment itself and each section will get much training in the performance of its duties. The officers and men will be quartered in tents and all cooking will be done on field ranges.

The character of the Virginia country is mountainous and the terrain is well suited to the needs of artillery fire. All the skill of the gun batteries will be called upon to emplace the guns, run telephone lines to the observation posts and the guns, and observe the results of the fire as a shell will be easily "lost" in this type of country.

Norwich is represented in the 192nd regiment by Battery B and the Combat train which are stationed at the Norwich armory.

Of interest to all members of the National Guard of Connecticut is an extract from General Order No. 15, A. G. O., dated May 15, 1925, which says "that no unit shall be paid for more than 60 drills during the fiscal year," which explodes the rumor which has been heard during the past few weeks in regard to the pay of the local batteries and band.

Tobyhanna, is situated in the mountains of Pennsylvania near the New York state line and is surrounded by several famous summer resorts and hotels. It is said that this country is worth going miles to see and the regiment is indeed fortunate that such a place of scenic beauty should be selected for its annual encampment. It is ideally situated for a field artillery range and much benefit is expected to be derived from training at such a post as Tobyhanna as the regiment will be practically self supporting in all ways.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER AT SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Williams of East Hartford and associate officers of the Grand chapter of Connecticut Order of the Eastern Star. The new chapter has twenty-three charter members. It will meet in the lodge room of Putnam lodge, F. & A. M., of Woodstock, which dedicated its new Masonic temple in 1924.

LICENSES RESTORED AT AUTOMOBILE HEARINGS

Devney of the motor vehicle department. There were three cases involving fatal accidents, in all of which the licenses were restored by the inspector, as the driving had been shown free from criminal liability.

Locke, Willimantic, operating under influence, license restored; Thurston Campbell, Jr., Jewett City, operating under influence, decision reserved; Charles Champlin, Baltic, operating under influence, not present; Tony Lynch, 31 Warnet St., Groton, operating under influence, will have to take examination for next license; Robert T. Anderson, Norwich State hospital, fatal accident, license restored; Fred W. Johnson, Montville, operating under influence, decision reserved; Dr. John L. Renehan, 101 Main St., Danielson, operating under influence, licensme restored; Mrs. Minnie E. Saxton, 327 Broadway, Norwich, fatal accident, license restored; William J. ### DIVORCE IS GRANTED FOR WIFE'S DESERTION

The contested divorce suit of Charles V. Alquist, who is a mechanic in New London, against Effie Kenyon Alquist of this city was heard here Tuesday morning in the superior court before Judge Isaac Wolfe, who granted the divorce on the ground of desertion. The couple was married July 7, 1907 and desertion was alleged on Sept. 18, 1918. The petitioner asked the custody of a six year old daughter.

In his memorandum of decision Judge Wolfe said:

"A decree of divorce in favor of the plaintiff may be entered. The care and custody of the minor child is committed to the defendant with the right of the plaintiff to see the child at reasonable times. The plaintiff is ordered to pay to the defendant for the support of such child the sum of $10 a week beginning May 30, 1925 and until Jan. 2, 1926 and thereafter the sum of $8 a week."

GOVERNOR TO APPROVE ALL COUNTY DETECTIVES

Approval of the governor will be required for the appointment of county detectives by the state's attorneys after July 1, under a bill slated to be favorably reported in the legislature by the judiciary committee. At present, the approval of judges of the superior court is required, but the judiciary committee has taken the view that the governor, as the administrative head of the government, will be in a position to co-ordinate the efforts of the county detectives and the state police if given the veto power over appointments of detectives as he has, in effect, over appointment of state policemen. Some county detectives have not been co-operating with the state police agencies, both of which are paid from state funds, and have been working at cross-purposes.

The terms of all the present county detectives will expire July 1, under the terms of the judiciary committee bill, and it will be incumbent on the state's attorneys to reappoint at once, subject to the approval of the governor.

LAFAYETTE MAIN WINS JUDGMENT FOR $630.96

Judgment for Lafayette F. Maine of North Stonington to recover $630.69 in damages from the estate of the late George H. Apsley of North Stonington was handed down Tuesday by Judge Isaac Wolfe of the superior court before whom the case was tried in this city last week. Mr. Main brought suit on a claim involving the balance due on a touring car that was sold to Apsley.

. . . . . and then he changed to Blackstone

Smoker's "Static"

(How to avoid it, even on a foggy night!)

The first few puffs came sweet and clear. Then interference set in. Halfway through, all he got was a harsh, "static" taste. And then he tuned in on Blackstone.

Now he "gets Havana"—clear and sweet—every night and any time during the day! Blackstone methods assure perfectly-made, firm-ash cigars—always free-drawing and even burning. For factory-fresh cigars—try the handy Pocket Packages of 5 or 10 foil-wrapped cigars—the same mild, full-size Blackstones as those sold from cedar boxes.

Blackstone was a fine cigar 52 years ago. It was even finer 10 years ago. It is at its very finest in this year of 1925!

MARKET WAS FIRM

New York, May 26.—Trading in today's stock market showed a further contraction in volume, but the general undertone was firm. Buying was of a highly selective character with the best gains being recorded by the motor, oil, chemical and merchandising issues, but the advance in these groups was by no means uniform. The day's sales ran about one and one-half million shares.

Speculative enthusiasm was kept in check by the high renewal rate for call money, although bullish sentiment was created by the announcement of higher gasoline prices along the Atlantic seaboard, and the maintenance of the regular Chicago and Northwestern dividend, which was reported in danger about six weeks ago. Irregularity developed in the commodity markets, wheat prices advancing on further unfavorable weather reports, while cotton lost ground on circulation of bearish crop estimates.

The advance in the oil shares was led by Independent Oil and Gas and the Pan-American issues, which closed 1 1-2 to 2 points higher with some of the buying apparently influenced by unconfirmed rumors of a merger of these two companies. Good buying was also noted in Tidewater and General Asphalt. The Standard Oil issues were heavy.

Reports that several motor car companies will break all production and sales records this month stimulated a demand for those shares, Hudson, the Maxwell Motor issues, Paige-Detroit, Packard preferred and Studebaker preferred all attained new peak prices for the year.

Among the many other stocks to record new high quotations for the year were United States Industrial Alcohol, common and preferred, Sinclair company, National Department Stores, Consolidated Cigar, Case Threshing Machine common and preferred, Martin-Rockwal, Eaton Axle, Otis Steel, All-American Cables and International Shoe.

The splendid showing made by the eastern coal carriers in the April earnings statements stimulated the demand for those shares although many of the early gains were wiped out by profit-taking. Lackawanna closing 2 1-2 points lower at 142. Chicago, and Northwestern closed fractionally higher at 57 3-4 after having sold above 58. "Big Four" jumped six points to 146 just before the close.

Standard Industrials showed moderate improvement. United States Steel common, American Can and Baldwin closed fractionally higher at 117 5-8, 188 1-4 and 114 1-4 respectively.

Call money opened at 4 per cent, and held steady at that figure throughout the session. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Weakness of French francs, which dropped six points to 5.03 cents, the lowest price in about two months, was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Selling of the French currency in the European cantols and New York was generally attributed to the uncertainty regarding the ability of Finance Minister Caillaux to put through his taxation program.

Demand sterling ruled firm just under 84.86, with considerable interest manifested here in the report that the Bank of England had purchased 1,166,000 pounds in bar gold. Norwegian exchanges developed strength, presumably on reports of the public sale of a Norwegian loan in the local market within the next few months.

BOND MARKET

New York, May 26.—Bond prices again faltered today under the influence of profit-taking and a slight stiffening of call money rates. Underlying conditions of the market showed no perceptible change from their recent favorable aspect, although the appearance of independent points of strength and weakness gave trading an irregular appearance.

Price shading tendencies today were most pronounced in the semi-speculative railroad and public utility bonds. Disappointment over the lower April earnings of many of the carriers accounted for the selling of numerous issues, which had been accumulated with an eye to early favorable developments. Pennsylvania, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Northern Pacific, Chicago, Terre Haute and Central of Georgia lines were among those which lost ground.

Oil company obligations, after yielding temporarily on realizing sales, resumed their upward movement today in response to a general advance in gasoline prices. Skelly 6 1-2s and Pan-American 6s scored gains of a point. Activity continued unabated in the Standard Gas 6 1-2s, which will be retired next month at 105. Because of the conversion privilege these bonds have sold as high as 135 1-2. After a recent relapse, they turned upward again today, advancing two points to 130.

Unusual activity in Bolivian 8s, which mounted more than 3 1-3 points to a new high price for the year, made these bonds the center of attraction in the foreign list today and aroused inquiries in investment circles as to additional Bolivian financing in the near future. European obligations were firm, with French issues maintaining a firm tone despite weakness in the franc.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 26.—Unfavorable crop reports both from the northwest and southwest, together with a sharp advance at Winnipeg, turned the wheat market upgrade here today after an early decline. As a result, the close for wheat was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 2 3-4c higher. May $1.71 3-4 to 1.72 1-2 and July 1.63 3-8 to 1.63 5-8, with corn up 3-4c to 1 1-2c decline, and oats varying from 1-8c off to 1-4c p. The outcome in provisions ranged from a setback of 12c to 5c advance.

Before the wheat market here established any decided new trend toward higher prices, general selling to realize profits led to an early break of about 2c a bushel. However, pronounced rallies began after word was received from a leading crop exporter that considerable permanent damage to spring wheat in the northwest had been done by the recent polar wave, and that very heavy losses are threatened there unless rains come soon. Aggressive buying on the part of the commission houses accompanied the fresh upward swing of the market. Later, there were also reports from the southwest telling of crop deterioration, and this gave an additional lift to values.

Warmer weather did a good deal to ease down corn and oats, although advices from a wide extent of territory tended to confirm reports of damage by frost. There were also predictions of more frost tonight. Provisions averaged a little lower, sympathizing with hog values.

TAFTVILLE

Saturday's electrical storm played some queer pranks in the vicinity of Riverside Grove, where trouble with a power transformer brought about a condition that appeared as though the air was charged with electricity. Every faucet and metal object in the houses gave a person a shock if they were touched; the rain spouts on the outside of the houses were charged with electricity, and horses passing on the road were thrown down in several instances. Repair men were soon on the job and shut off the electric power of the houses nearby, until the trouble could be remedied.

Mrs. Raymond A. Pingree and little daughter Lois of Saylesville, R. I., are the guests of Mrs. Pingree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel L. Aberg and family of North Third avenue.

As part of the musical programme at the Taftville Congregational church Sunday morning, Harold E. Linderson played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Nellie Howie on the organ. Miss Mary G. Taggart also sang a solo with Miss Howie at the organ. This special music was very well rendered.

The membership campaign in Taftville for the Backus Hospital Auxiliary is in charge of Mrs. F. B. Ricketson, and the results so far have been very gratifying. Among the members enrolled are over one hundred ladies of the Sacred Heart Parish.

One of the most interesting and helpful meetings held during the gathering of the Christian Endeavor Accord Institute at the Taftville Congregational church was the early prayer meeting at the parsonage, under the auspices of the local Christian Endeavor Society. This meeting was helped by the visiting members of the institute. The young people met at the parsonage at 7 a. m. It was hoped that the meeting could be held on the hill behind the parsonage, but the wet morning prevented this, so it was held indoors. Herbert Hicks, the executive secretary of the Christian Endeavor work in Connecticut had charge of the meeting, after which refreshments were served before going down to the church school at 9:15 a. m. About 15 young people were present.

SUMMONED TO COURT AFTER AUTO CRASH

After a collision on the road at Taftville Tuesday night about 9:30 between automobiles driven by Officer Edmund Maloney of the Norwich police force and John L. Coman of Preston, the latter was summoned to court on the charge of reckless driving by the state policeman from the Groton barracks who investigated the accident.

Officer Maloney was driving his Buick sedan towards this city, accompanied by his son, and Coman was driving in the opposite direction in a Hupmobile touring car N-4755, belonging to John H. Smith of this city. The car driven by Coman raked the left side of Officer Maloney's car and the left front wheel of the Coman machine collapsed, causing the car to shoot off to the left and land on the sidewalk. Marks in the road that were measured by the state policeman showed that the Coman car traveled 50 feet after the wheel collapsed.

OWNERRS OF RUM BOATS FORFEIT THEIR BONDS

Hartford, May 26—Owners of ten rum running boats seized by the United States authorities, bonded for an aggregate of $17,050, appeared in federal court today through their attorneys, and forfeited bonds rather than see the boats sold by court order. Judge Thomas had signed the decrees asked by Assistant U. S. Attorney George H. Cohen and ordered the sale with the understanding of an alternative. The boats on which bonds were forfeited, with the amount, and appraisal set by the government in each case, were: The schooner Pocomoke No. 2, $3,500; the gas screw boat Anna, $2,500; Mary $2,500; J-467 $1,300; Three Links $1,500; Del Ray 2nd, $1,200; Edith Louise $1,100; La Felice $800; Hattie T, $800; Mascot $800.

The long docket of offenders, the majority of whom pleaded guilty to violations of liquor laws by possession, sale and transportation of alcoholic beverages, Judge Thomas imposed a total of $4,200 in fines with additional costs in many cases. The minimum penalty imposed was $500 and the minimum $10.

JUDGE FILES FINDING IN CHAPMAN'S APPEAL

Judge Newell Jennings has filed his finding in the appeal proceeding of Gerald Chapman to the supreme court from his conviction in the Hartford superior court for murder in the first degree of Policeman James Skelly of New Britain, for which he has been sentenced to die on June 25.

The finding covers 273 typewritten pages and sets out the evidence that the state claimed convicted Gerald Chapman of the crime and the evidence that Chapman claimed proved he did not commit the crime. It sets out further the judge's charges, any of his rulings and the arguments of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and Judge Frederick J. Groehl of New York, senior counsel for Chapman.

With this to work from, Judge Groehl and Chapmans junior counsel, Nathan O. Freedman, will perfect their appeal from the superior court judgment for a hearing at the October term of the supreme court, and Mr. Alcorn will develop his arguments in opposition to the appeal. Both sides have one week in which to file motions to correct the judge's finding if either side should intend.

After a study of the findings, Mr. Freedman announced that he would soon file a motion to correct the finding the correction to be in the form of a request for an addition to the finding, which has yet to be worked out.

ENGLISH CHURCH ARMY GROUP COMING TO NORWICH JUNE 16TH

Tuesday, June 16th, Norwich will have a brief visit from the Church Army which arrived in New York from England early this week. The crusaders number 22 and will divide for work. Eleven will come to Norwich and visit Trinity Episcopal church, later going to Christ church. Arrangements have been made by the two rectors, Rev. J. Eldred Brown and Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong to give the visitors a cordial welcome.

The twenty-two members of the Church Army of England wear khaki uniforms and have come here on a three months' evangelistic campaign. There are two tenor and one baritone soloists and five musicians in the party and all will take part in the chorus work. The instruments consist of two cornets, a trombone and two bassoons. One of the hymns they have made popular in England is "Get God's Sunshine Into Your Heart."

The evangelists are well-educated young men, who are enthusiastic in their work and are prepared to rough it. They traveled third class on the steamship Carmania. They carry their kits upon their shoulders like soldiers and sleep on the floor in their blankets.

The twenty-two members of the Church Army, with the two who arrived in advance to make arrangements, will be divided into two columns for their tour of America. One will be in charge of Captain Hubert Atkinson and the other under Captain Arthur Casey.

Captain Arthur Hanson, who is the only gray-haired man in the party, explained that he was going with them but was not attached to either column. He stated that he had taken an interest in the Church Army work for more than a quarter of a century. Its aim was to bring back to a religious life the people who have forsaken it. He added that the members are of the Protestant Episcopal church and number 1,800 men in England. The delegation has come to the United States at the invitation of the leading American Episcopal bishops. Captain Hansen continued, including Bishop Manning of New York. During their stay in New York the members of the Church Army will make their headquarters at the Diocesan House, 416 Mulberry Street.

JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANT IN AUTOMOBILE SUIT

Judge Isaac Wolfe in the superior court here Tuesday afternoon quickly decided in the case of Dr. Alpheus N. Williams of Mystic who sued Mrs. Abbie G. Clyde and her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Clyde Bucklyn, both of Old Mystic, for $3,000 damages because of an automobile accident on June 29, 1921. When the evidence was in and the attorneys rested the case without argument, Judge Wolfe promptly declared that the plaintiff had failed to make out his case and directed a verdict for the defendant.

The claim by Dr. Williams was that he had been crowded off the road in his automobile by the machine driven by Mrs. Bucklyn and owned by her mother, this causing him to cross the trolley tracks and strike a pole. The machines were traveling in opposite directions and passed each other about on a curve near the John R. Babcock farm on the Mystic road. He claimed that as he was driving with the trolley track on his right, the other machine approached him and was traveling so far out in the middle of the road that he was obliged to turn off to his right to avoid a collision. When he testified Dr. Williams produced a piece of rope with which he said he measured the wheel marks of the cars. Other witnesses for him were Loren E. Daboll, who showed a plan of the scene of the accident, Edward E. Buckley, Frank B. Buckley, Elmer Doyle, Damon Boynton and James A. Campbell, the last named a passenger in the Williams machine.

Mrs. Hazel Clyde Bucklyn, who is principal of the Old Mystic school, testified that she was at all times on the extreme right of the road and that the Williams car was being driven at an extremely fast rate of speed. Her mother supported her testimony very positively as to the position of the Clyde car in the highway, and Leah Campbell Musante of Old Mystic, who was riding in the back seat was also a witness.

Adelbert W. Carter of Wethersfield, a salesman, who was visiting a relative and saw the accident from where he was standing on a wall testified that the doctor's car was going over 50 miles an hour, and that Campbell who was riding with the doctor, told him he had been watching the speedometer that showed 55 miles an hour. He said he had been there all he time and there had been no measuring of marks in the roadway.

59 MEN ENTOMBED IN COAL MINE IN NORTH CAROLINA

Result of an Explosion Below the 1,000 Foot Lateral of the Mine—Rescuers Have Succeeded in Bringing to the Surface Six Bodies—It is Feared That Most of the Others Have Perished.

Coal Glen, N. C., May 27. (AP)—The fate of 71 or more miners entombed at 9:30 o'clock this morning by an explosion below the 1,000 foot lateral of the Carolina Coal company's mine, near here, was undetermined tonight. Rescuers had succeeded in bringing to the surface six bodies and it was feared most, if not all of the others had perished.

Records of the mine showed that 59 men, 39 white and 20 negroes, had composed the crew which went into the mine at 8 a. m. It was believed that that figure might represent the number entombed on a final check.

Hope was expressed tonight by Elon H. Butler, vice-president of the mining company, and William Hill of the Cumnock Coal mine nearby, that some of the entombed men might still be alive. Miners from the Cumnock company aided throughout the day in the work of rescue.

Mr. Hill said that the air was clear in the mine below the point where the bodies were found, and this was held to indicate that the entrapped men might have a chance. The fans were kept going all day in an effort to purify the air in the inner passages of the mine so that rescuers might be able to penetrate deeper.

Mr. Butler said the best information he had been able to obtain was that the first explosion occurred in the second right lateral of the mine, approximately a thousand feet from the entrance. If this was true, he added, the main shaft may not have filled with gas but merely have been blocked with debris.

DIFFICULTY IN GETTING JURY FOR SHEPHERD TRIAL

Chicago, May 27. (AP)—Extreme difficulty was encountered today in efforts to obtain a jury to try William D. Shepherd for the alleged feeding of germs to his millionaire fosterson, William Nelson McClintock. At adjournment of court examination of 24 veniremen had produced no additional juror.

Three jurors, one man temporarily passed by both prosecution and defense, and eight veniremen who had not been interrogated were locked up overnight.

Apparent ill-feeling between the prosecutor, Robert E. Crowe, and chief of defense council, William S. Stewart, which has been indicated in clashes in court since Crowe ordered an investigation of jury fixing in the Shepherd case and in other cases defended recently by Stewart and his partner, W. W. O'Brien, flared up today.

The prosecution once demanded Stewart be reprimanded after the defense counsel had objected to the examination of a venireman. Stewart pleaded for the "protection of the [illegible] charge of jury [illegible] was held in abeyance today. Judge T. J. Lynch permitted counsel for James Callan an additional 24 hours to prepare replies to 28 questions.

Prosecutor Crowe looked toward New York tonight for the arrest of Shepherd. While missing witness, viewed by both state and defense, although New York detectives reported they had been unable to trace White beyond a fictitious address.

The prosecution insists his testimony will bolster that of Charles C. Fulman, at whose school Fulman says, Shepherd obtained typhoid germs and the knowledge needed to slay young McClintock with them.

WYLIE DIVORCE FIGURES IN PROVIDENCE CASE

Providence, R. I., May 27.—(A. P.)—The Providence Journal will say tomorrow morning that the divorce granted on March 21, 1923, to Elinor Hoyt Hichborn Wylie, daughter of the late Solicitor General Henry Hartyn Hoyt, of the state department at Washington, poetess and prominent member of New York and Washington society, is among more than 100 divorces which Attorney General Charles P. Sisson will seek to have vacated on the grounds that they were fraudulently secured through the Rhode Island "divorce mill."

Mrs. Wylie is now the wife of William Rose Benet, eminent literary critic, novelist, and associate editor of the Saturday Review. Her New York address is 142 East 18th street, but she is said to be living at present in Bridgeport, Conn., or its environs.

She married Benet on October 5, 1923, shortly after her divorce from Horace Wylie, then a wealthy Washington clubman, became absolute in Septembmer, 1923. Wylie is a present in an accountant for the Couzens committee investigating administration of the federal revenue laws, having left the bulk of his $300,000 estate to the wife and four children whom he deserted to elope twice in 1911 to Europe with the present Mrs. Benet, who was then Mrs. Philip S. Hichborn.

At that time, Philip S. Hichborn, who was the son of the late Rear Admiral Philip Hichborn, for many years chief constructor for the United States navy, petitioned for a divorce from his wife, but before he obtained it, he committed suicide at the home of his sister, Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., of New York, and Providence, now Mrs. Paul Pearsall of Washington, D. C. The court disregarded Hichborn's death and granted the divorce plea which named Wylie co-respondent. A son, Philip S. Hichborn, Jr., who is 19 years of age, was adopted by Mrs. Pearsall, and is now a student at Middlesex school in Concord, Mass.

Francis P. Dougherty, Providence attorney, recently indicted for "divorce mill" operations was Mrs. Hichborn Wylie's attorney when she secured her divorce in Providence from Horace WWylie. The dispositions were sworn before Leonard W. Horton, master in chancery, who, is in Providence county jail awaiting trial on charges of conspiracy to secure fraudulent divorces, subordination to perjury and forgery.

COMPROMISE REACHED IN STAMFORD COURT FIGHT

Hartford, May 27.—(A. P.)—A compromise was reached today between the leaders of the opposing forces in the Stamford city court fight, which stirred up a bitter debate in both branches of the legislature three weeks ago. State Labor Commissioner Harry E. MacKenzie, chief sponsor of the resolution reappointing Judge Samuel Young and Senator Matthew H. Kennedy, of Stamford, chief opponent of the resolution, declared a truce in a conference in the senate ante-room as a result of which Senator Kennedy will withdraw his opposition and the resolution will be pulled up in the senate tomorrow and probably passed.

INDICTED TEACHER'S VIEWS ON EVOLUTION

Lexington, Ky., May 27. (AP)—John T. Scopes of Paducah, Ky., who is under indictment by a grand jury at Dayton, Tenn., of charges of violating the state's anti-evolution law, believes that "man and all animals ascended from the lower orders but I have never seen or read any scientific statement that man 'descended from a monkey' and I do not believe that."

Mr. Scopes made his statement here today while visiting the University of Kentucky, from which he was graduated last June. The 24-year-old teacher in the Dayton schools appeared to be somewhat embarrassed by the publicity which the Tennessee test case, instituted by his friends, has brought to him.

The trial, he believes, affects not so much himself as the educational progress of the state.

He denied any pretensions to scientific knowledge or that he had ever professed to teach any science but the elementary high school courses in general science. This is his first year as an instructor since he was graduated.

Scopes teaches physics, biology and and other general courses.

"No person could teach even the most elementary courses in biology without recognition of the evidences of man's evolution," Scopes said, in affirming his acceptance of modern scientific theories of evolution and the development of man. He said he believed that man and the anthropoid apes came from a parent stem, but not that one descended from the other.

GOVERNMENT SUES TO RECOVER GERMAN PATENTS

Washington, May 27. (AP)—The government filed in the supreme court today an appeal in its suit to recover German patents from the chemical foundation. The government lost in both the district court of Delaware and in the circuit court of appeals.

Certain persons and corporations engaged in the dye and chemical industry, the government charged in its bill, conspired to acquire a great number of American patents, copyrights and trade marks owned by Germans and thereby obtain a monopoly of the dye industry in the United States.

The conspiracy, it alleged, also was entered into by officers and agents of the government, and in pursuance of the scheme, it added the alien property custodian during the war seized approximately 4,500 such patents and copyrights and trade marks. He sold them, the bill stated, at private sale to the Chemical Foundation, a corporation of which he was alleged to be an officer and the stock of which was held by persons and concerns accused of having taken part in planning the seizure and sale.

BRANFORD BOY KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Branford, Conn., May 27. (AP)—Stanley Teresko, 13 years old, was fatally injured here today when he was struck by an automobile driven by George B. Pickop, assistant superintendent of the Malleable Iron Fittings company, alderman of the 3rd ward of New Haven. The boy died while being taken to Grace hospital in New Haven.

The Teresko boy, with two others, including his older brother, were riding home from school on a truck and Stanley decided to get off. Despite the attempts of his brother to keep him on the truck, the boy jumped off, directly in the path of Mr. Pickop's machine which was going down hill.

The boy was thrown to the pavement. Walter Lord, proprietor of the Double Beech house, was driving a machine directly behind that of Mr. Pickop, and he picked up the injured boy and placed him in an automobile driven by Mrs. James McLay, who was on her way to New Haven. Mrs. McLay drove to Grace hospital but it was found that the boy had died on the way to that institution.

According to Mr. Lord, Mr. Pickop, who was going down hill, stopped his machine as soon as possible and returned to the scene of the accident.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Sourabaya, Java, May 27—The Italian airman, Commander de Pinedo, arrived here today on his flight to Australia and Japan.

NEW INDICTMENTS AGAINST FALL, DOHENY AND SINCLAIR

Washington, May 27—Determined that the oil scandal case shall go before a criminal court, the government today obtained new indictments against Albert B. Fall, E. L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

The indictments charge conspiracy in connection with the leasing of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill naval reserves, and in this respect are more comprehensive than those quashed recently in District of Columbia supreme court.

A charge of bribery, which the original indictment attached to Fall, E. L. Doheny and E. L. Doheny, Jr., was omitted, and E. L. Doheny, Jr., was not reindicted.

Atlee Pomerene, of government oil counsel, said the indictments were asked for as a precautionary measure, and that the government would fight through to the supreme court to have the original charges go on trial. For this reason, he said, reindictment of the bribery accusation was not sought. There also has been a question as to whether the statute of limitations has expired on the bribery charge.

The new indictments covering the oil leases, charge that the conspiracy included the sale of oil to the government without competitive bidding, the purchase of storage facilities, buying of kerosene, lubricating oil and petroleum and the adoption of a credit sale method of purchase by which no cash passed to the United States.

In the Doheny indictment the alleged payment of $100,000 to Fall is covered, while in the charges against Sinclair is the alleged passage of $230,500 in liberty bonds from Sinclair to Fall. This count was not in the original indictment.

An effort was made by the government's special oil counsel in the Cheyenne, Wyo., civil proceedings for annulment of the Teapot Dome lease, to bring out an alleged passage of bonds from Sinclair to Fall, with the now defunct Continental Trading company, limited, of Canada, as intermediary. The indictment returned today against Sinclair and Fall, however, do not attempt to specify how the alleged $230,500 transaction took place.

Other new charges specify execution of the lease of April 7, 1922, to Teapot Dome, and the executive of a construction contract dated February 9, 1923.

BRICKLEY TO TESTIFY IN OWN DEFENSE TODAY

Springfield, Mass., May 27—Charles E. Brickley, former football star at Harvard, will take the stand tomorrow morning, in his trial before Judge Hugo A. Dubuque and a jury in superior criminal court, to tell his version of the circumstances in the summer of 1922, which resulted in his indictment for forgery and larceny in connection with certain stock transactions.

Bank officials and a number of other witnesses testified against Brickley today, among them Montgomery S. Gibson, one of the firm of Gibson and company, former brokers here, with whom Brickley traded in 1922 and who aided in securing from the Commercial Trust company, a loan of $5,500 on stock which the commonwealth claims Brickley obtained fraudulently from William J. Hines, of Thompsonville, Conn.

Gibson testified that the stock when brought to his office by Brickley was unendorsed by Hines and he told of calling in Kurt Sternburg, a former employe to come in and sign Hines' name to powers of attorney, Sternburg did so as a favor to Gibson. Gibson then told of getting the loan with the fraudulent power of attorney in the name of Gibson and company and of giving Brickley $1,900.

Testimony showed that Sternburg acted in ignorance in signing the powers of attorney, and his wife, on the stand, told of Brickley visiting her home and threatening that if the loan he had secured on the forged stock were not taken up her husband would be sent to jail.

The day's evidence against Brickley closed with Raymond H. Flagg, treasurer of the Commercial Trust company on the stand. Mr. Flagg told of loaning Gibson and Brickley two sums totalling $10,500 with the stock in question as security, and declared that no part of the loans has been repaid. The stock was recovered from the bank by Hines in civil proceedings.

TWO LOS ANGELES ENGINES DISABLED DURING FLIGHT

Lakehurst, N. J., May 27—The navy dirigible Los Angeles returned to its hangar at 7 o'clock tonight with two engines out of commission after a six and a-half hour flight over the sea, New Jersey and New York, during which it covered 260 miles. The airship started its course with one "dead" engine and another developed trouble during the flight.

The disabled engines caused no inconvenience, however, Captain George W. Steele, in command, said the craft could be maneuvered by any one of its five engines under ordinary conditions.

There were sixty-five persons on board. Lunch was served shortly after leaving the flying field and again over New York city at an altitude of 2,000 feet on its return trip.

While in the air over New York a broker, one of the passengers, sent a radio order to his firm presenting his shares in a business enterprise for a fellow passenger. In an hour a reply was received completing the transaction.

The Los Angeles will be kept in her hangar until June 8 when it is scheduled to fly to Minneapolis, returning June 10.

PRESBYTERIANS DEADLOCKED ON MODERNISTIC QUESTION

Columbus, Ohio, May 27—The 137th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. ended here today with the modernistic faction asserting that if its actions are ratified by the church body generally, a split in the denomination is inevitable.

Thought to have been settled yesterday, the controversy flared up anew again in the closing session with both sides taking an unequivocal stand.

What its eventual outcome will be rests in the hands of a commission of fifteen, which is to be appointed within the next two weeks by D. Charles R. Erdman, moderator of the assembly, and which is empowered to study the whole issue and report back to the next assembly.

The appointment of this commission, it was asserted by Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, New York liberal, was the only thing that saved a definite break now.

Trotzky Now Holds Soviet Economic Post

Member of Council That Will Direct Russia's National Industries.

Moscow, May 27—Returned from political exile, Leon Trotzky, who as soviet minister of war organized the military machine that saved the red regime from foreign and domestic foes has been appointed to a position from which he will have an opportunity to work out soviet economic salvation.

Trotzky's selection was a member of the presidium of the supreme economic council, and chairman of the general concessions committee, was officially announced today. The appointment is to be a purely economic and technical post under Dzerzhinskyn chairman of the supreme council of national economy, and removes the former idol of the red army from the orbit of active politics and places him in a position where all his time will be occupied with important reconstruction, economic and industrial problems.

Gregory Pyatkoff, whom Trotzky replaces as chairman of the concessions committee, and whose health is impaired, will continue administrative work with the committee until a diplomatic or other agreeable appointment has been found for him.

The supreme economic council of which Trotzky becomes a member, manages and directs Russia's national industries, and its importance may be measured by the fact that Dzerhinsky, one of the soviet's ablest executives, is at its head. It consists of twelve members, each of them administering an important part of the government.

Communist political observers say it is possible for Trotzky, after completely retrieving his political prestige and proving without a doubt that he will be a good communist, to succeed Dzerhinsky as chief of the supreme economic council, the latter would be given a wider sphere of duty. No such change is likely, however, until the communist party congress meets in November.

Meanwhile Trotzky will be entrusted with the important work of drawing plans for the electrification of the whole of Russia, which Lenin considered "the first step toward pure communism for the country."

At the instance of the soviet government Trotzky also is likely to broaden the scope and activities of the concessions committee, which now is regarded one of the most important departments of the entire government. From the number of concessions recently granted foreigners, it is evident that the Moscow government intends in an increasing measure to develop Russia's natural resources by the efforts of outsiders as one of the chief means of reviving the prostrated industrial life here.

SHIPPING BOARD TO SELL 200 SHIPS AS SCRAP

Washington, May 27—The shipping board took a step today toward weeding out obsolete vessels and placing its fleet on a more compact basis, adopting a resolution recommended by its scrapping committee specifying that 200 designated ships should be advertised for sale as scrap.

The action was hailed by Chairman O'Connor as one which would enable the board to turn its attention more definitely to the sale of ships for operation. He left immediately after the board meeting for Detroit to keep an appointment tomorrow with Henry Ford, who is expected to bid for the ships to be scrapped, and in addition has indicated that he might buy 20 or 30 others for operation, including a number of refrigerator vessels.

Mr. O'Connor intends to discuss the refrigerator vessel situation with the manufacturer and also the possible purchase of other ships for operation along lines indicated in a conversation with Mr. Ford a few weeks ago. The refrigerator ships have been idle several years, but it has been said they could be used to carry automobile parts to South America and bring back fruits.

RIVALRY AMONG BANKERS FOR FOREIGN FINANCING

New York, May 27—Growing rivalry among American bankers for foreign financing resulted today in the transfer of the Norwegian government's current business,—a $35,000,000 refunding loan—from its recognized bankers, the National City company and J. P. Morgan & Co., to a new group, headed by Blair and company, which last week let a $45,000,000 Argentine loan to the Morgan syndicate.

Spirited competition for the Norwegian loan developed, enabling the government to place its bond issue with the successful bidders at the lowest rate of interest it has ever commanded in this market—5½ per cent. The bonds, which mature in forty years, will be offered next week at a price slightly below par. Proceeds from the sale will be used to retire an 8 per cent. issue, which is callable next October.

CARL WILSON FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Bridgeport, May 27—Carl Wilson, of Stamford, was sentenced to state's prison for from five to ten years by Judge Edwin Dickenson in criminal superior court this afternoon. After less than an hour's deliberation, a jury returned a verdict against Wilson finding him guilty of manslaughter for the killing of emry A. Redd in Stamford last Thanksgiving day.

Judge Dickenson, before passing sentence, commented that the jury's verdict was a just one and by it they virtually found Wilson was in addition guilty of perjury, he having made denial of the charges against him while on the stand. A jury at Wilson's first trial was discharged, unable to agree.

Edward Townes and Elijah Wright, imprisoned for several months as material witnesses against Wilson, cavorted in high glee when they were released today after the jury's report.

OBITUARY.

Springfield, Ohio, May 27.—(A. P.)—Mrs. Jacob Jones, 75, who claimed the honor of knitting the first red sox worn by the Cincinnati Reds, died at her home here today. The sox were knitted 61 years ago by Mrs. Jacobs when she was a small girl working in a Cincinnati shop. The sox were worn by the Reds on their trip to California.

Amundsen Relief Plan Declared Premature

Project at Los Angeles Halted on Advices From Spitzbergen.

Los Angeles, May 27.—Plans for a seaplane expedition to go to the relief of Roald Amundsen, Polar explorer, which have been going forward here for several days under the direction of Haakon H. Hammer, who led the relief of Amundsen in 1923, have been halted on advices from Spitzbergen, headquarters of the American-Norwegian expedition, that such a program is premature. This announcement was made here today by Hammer.

SAYS AMUNDSEN PLANNED TO GO TO ALASKA, TOO

New York, May 27—Amundsen planned to go on to Alaska in the event of success in his quest for the North Pole, it was announced today by Bernon S. Prentice, New York stock broker and brother-in-law of Lincoln Ellsworth, the explorer's companion on the trip.

"I happen to know it was Amundsen's intention, if conditions were favorable at the Pole, to go on to Alaska," he said.

Prentice announced that he was certain of an American advisory committee appointed by Amundsen and Ellsworth before their departure to take relief measures should they be necessary. His statment is considered important in the discussion which has arisen considering the expedition's intentions in the event it reached "the top of the world."

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer and Wrangel Island Colony founder, told the Associated Press last Saturday that he was convinced Amundsen planned to extend his flight to Alaska after reaching the Pole. This assertion met with a number of denials, several sources giving the assurance that Amundsen and Ellsworth planned to return to Spitzbergen directly after the Polar flight had been accomplished.

Prentice made no comment on these conflicting assertions beyond stating that he "happened to know" the Alaska trip had been Amundsen's intention, and adding: "I know that he (Amundsen) sacrificed the advantage of having a radio apparatus with him in order to be able to take on additional gasoline."

Prentice's statement regarding the American advisory committee for relief was made in connection with published proposals of Hans Nansen, now in San Diego, to start a fund-raising campaign for relief purposes. Prentice said he had telegraphed Nansen today that any such effort was "just yet premature." In a telegraphic reply, Nansen told the broker that his relief fund suggestion "was merely a friendly idea and the extent of it has been publicly exaggerated" and that he would discontinue his efforts, offering to assist if called upon in the future.

USELESS TO SEND PLANE IN SEARCH OF AMUNDSEN

Oslo, May 27.—(A. P.)—Professor Hoel, geologist of Oslo university and a noted expert on polar ice, suggested today that if the Amundsen expedition found it could land at the pole the members would spend several days surveying and taking observations. He thinks that it would be useless to send an airship in search of Amundsen, as it would be like looking for a needle in a haystack. At any rate he considers it too early to talk about sending a searching party.

$10,000 VERDICT AGAINST UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITER CO.

New Haven, May 27. (AP)—By order of Judge Leonard J. Nickerson a verdict for the defendant in the $10,000 suit of Rev. Martin Heringer of the German Baptist church of Meriden against the Underwood Typewriter company was returned by a jury in civil superior court today.

On June 13, 1924, the Rev. Mr. Heringer and Mrs. Betty Sara, a member of the congregation, left Meriden by automobile to attend a state conference in New Haven. In Wallingford, it was charged, the automobile was in collision with a truck owned by the Underwood company. Mrs. Sara was thrown out and killed and the pastor sustained serious injuries.

Counsel for the defendant claimed there was no evidence showing that he truck struck the pastor's car and pointed out that the Rev. Mr. Heringer himself could not tell what hit his machine, whether the truck or something else.

Judge Nickerson granted the motion of the defense that the jury bring in a verdict in favor of the defendant and directed the jury to bring in such a verdict. Plaintiff's counsel served notice of an appeal to the supreme court.

COUPLE MISSING SINCE EMBARKING IN CANOE

Annapolis, Md., May 27—Anxiety was felt at the naval academy this afternoon for the safety of Lieutenant Gerald Selby, of the medical corp, and Miss Lucille Merrill of Roxbury, Mass., who have been missing since they embarked in a canoe on the Severn river yesterday.

Last night Lieutenant Selby and Miss Merrill failed to return to shore when expected. Today, when the finding of a canoe, believed to have been theirs, upside down in the river and a coat thought to have belonged to Lieutenant Selby, conviction grew at the naval academy that the pair had met with accident.

Mrs. Selby, wife of the lieutenant, was nearly overcome with grief this afternoon and had given up hope that Lieutenant Selby would be found alive.

MacLean, 32 years old, of 363 Willow street, New Haven, an engineer, was arrested today by Detective Sergeant Sutherland and Policeman G. Spellman, charged with issuing fraudulent checks. A warrant for the man's arrest was issued last November on complaint of the Regina Shoe company, of 749 Main street, this city, who alleged that he offered a fraudulent check for $25 in payment for a pair of shoes and stockings. MacLean retained tonight Lawyer George S. Schwolsky, of this city to defend him.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD FOR MODIFICATION OF RULES

Alabama Senator Declares the Present Rules Stand For Endless Delay if a Senator Desires to Enforce Them— Contends That Reasonable Opportunity For Debate is Necessary, But That Unreasonable Debate Defeats the Very Purpose For Which Legislature Body is Assembled—Quotes Instances of Filibusters.

Birmingham, May 27—(A. P.)—Under its present rules, the United States senate is "controlled by and reflects the will of a minority," Senator Oscar Underwood, democrat, Alabama, declared tonight in an address to the Associated Industries of the state: He endorsed the campaign looking to modification of the rules, undertaken by Vice-President Dawes, who also was a speaker of the occasion.

"The rules of the senate today stand for delay—endless delay—if a senator desires to enforce them," Senator Underwood said. "That some rule must be adopted that will enable the majority of the senate to control its affairs and conduct business in an orderly and effective manner, is an issue that appeals to the common sense and good judgment of the people of this country."

To illustrate the long-held recognition among public men of the need of change, the speaker recounted in great detail various efforts in the senate itself from 1804 to the present time. Leaders of both parties took the initiative, he said, but without success. He recalled that more than a few of the senators endorsing proposals for cloture were strong supporters of "states' rights" and pointed to this as an answer to the fear, expressed in some sections of the south, that cloture might "endanger the civilization of the south."

"It must be manifest," he continued, "that the senate has not filibustered against bills only when there was some great fundamental question involved relating to human rights and human liberty. Only once has that occurred, and that when the force bill was before the senate.

"In most of the other filibusters the incentive was the grasping for political power or for political advantage. I think it can be truthfully said that sometimes a filibuster has defeated a bad piece of legislation, but it is equally true that filibusters in the senate have at times defeated most meritorious and necessary legislation. As to whether the legislation defeated was right or wrong, necessary or ill-advised, largely depends on the viewpoint of the man or men who conducted the filibuster.

"Take for instance the ship purchase bill. This bill had been passed by the house of representatives and came to the senate. The men who opposed it and filibustered it to death were earnestly and honestly opposed to it. On the other hand, if a vote could have been obtained it would have passed the senate by a decisive majority. At that time we could have built or purchased splendid sea-going vessels for less than $40 a ton. Very shortly thereafter we became involved in the great war and we paid $150 to $200 a ton for the vessels that we built and our total expenditure amounted to nearly $2,000,000,000. Between August and October of 1914 cotton dropped from 14 cents a pound to five cents a pound due almost entirely to the fact that we had no ships to carry our surplus cotton crop to the markets of Europe."

Another "notable instance of protracted debate destroying legislation," cited by Senator Underwood was that involving the lease of Muscle Shoals.

"It must be borne in mind," he agreed, "that reasonable opportunity for debate is necessary in order that good legislation may be passed. But it must also be borne in mind that unreasonable debate not only accomplishes delay and defeats the very purpose for which the legislative body is assembled, but often is used for ulterior purposes that will enable a minority to dictate to a majority the terms on which legislation may be passed. The world's experience in regard to procedure in legislative bodies is nothing new—it traces back for 1,000 years. More than ten centuries of experience has gone before us, and we find that with this experience guiding the world, cloture exists in one form or another in all parliamentary bodies of the civilized world except those of Sweden and Hungary and the senate of the United States. So far as I know, a reasonable limitation on debate that can be enforced by a majority is a part of the rules of every state legislature in this country, and we have found no dire results coming therefrom."

DAWES SAYS REFORM IN SENATE RESTS WITH VOTERS

Birmingham, Ala., May 27.—(A. P.) Power needed to reform rules of the senate rests alone with the voters, Vice President Charles G. Dawes said here tonight in an address before the annual meeting of the Associated Industries of Alabama, and he hopes to invoke that force in his effort to change a system under which the upper house of congress "has done business for 119 years without effective cloture."

His is an unsought task and he is not "in search of contest or trouble," he asserted, but there has come to him "the conviction that it was the duty of the vice president" to carry this issue in a non-partisan and non-sectional campaign to those states which will elect senators in 1926.

General Dawes said he hoped to see "that this non-partisan issue is clearly defined" in the primaries for nomination of senators, adding that he was concerned because of his constitutional relations with the senate "in the common sense expediting of business."

Speaking from the same platform with Senator Oscar W. Underwood, General Dawes declared that "the south is too intelligent to be deluded into the idea that to protect it against another force bill the right at times should be given to a minority, or even one senator, to throw a monkey wrench into the legislative machinery of the common government."

Answering critics of his reform campaign, General Dawes said that unlimited debate "had not checked multiplicity of laws but had resulted in their passage without proper consideration." Those who maintain that the only bill affected by a filibuster is one under discussion and that their personal judgment is conclusive as to what constitutes public opinion. He referred to the force bill, beaten by a filibuster, as "a wrong measure" which would have been repealed if passed. This isolated argument of piroponents of present rules, he declared, was an effort intended "to affect the great intelligent south and to revive those unhappy issues which had died alike in the north and south."

He said he was asking only that the minority "protected as it is by the checks and balances of the constitution, shall not exercise veto rights over the will of a majority when that majority desires only to exercise its constitutional rights of legislation."

GERMANY'S DISARMAMENT DEFAULTS OUTLINED

London, May 27.—(A. P.)—Germany's defaults relative to disarmament as specified by the treasbury of Versailles have been outlined for presentation to Berlin in a note that probably will be dispatched next week by the council of ambassadors.

The note and a covering letter which have been agreed upon by France and Great Britain will point out that in view of the fact that the allied committee of control has concluded that Germany has not fulfilled all of her disarmament obligations, the allied experts have agreed upon a list of defaults which will be described in very plain language. This will be done so that there will be no chance of further misunderstanding in Berlin regarding what Germany yet has to accomplish before the evacuation of the Cologne area is considered.

On the whole France considers Germany has fulfilled her obligations in the destruction of armaments, say French authorities here, but there are still thirty or forty factories for war materials which yet are to be transformed into commercial establishments.

Objection also has been raised to the large German war staff, the state police, and regarding a number of other points of secondary importance. French opinion regarding these questions, as expressed here, is that by is that what yet remains to be done by Germany may be effected by the end of September if the Berlin government displays the proper spirit. If the note is successful and its recommendations are carried out, it is considered probable that the British will withdraw from Cologne soon after September.

399 INSURANCE COMPANIES DOING BUSINESS IN CONN.

Hartford, May 27.—(A. P.)—The sixtieth annual report of Howard P. Dunham, Connecticut insurance commissioner, made public today, shows that there are 399 insurance companies registered in his office and permitted to do business in this state. Fire, and fire and marine lead the list with 237 and there are three marine, 35 life, 73 casualty and 51 fraternal.

Few bills relating to insurance supervision were introduced at the 1925 session of the general assembly, the commissioner reported and no legislation was proposed by the department. Only one general insurance bill was enacted. This was an amendment to section 4155, authorizing fire insurance companies to hold proceeds of certain policies in trust. The amendment was introduced, the report says, for the purpose of clarifying the section and does not give the companies any powers not already possessed.

In general statistics covering 1924 the commissioner reports that commissions paid during the year amounted to 22.98 per cent. of the premiums received, a slight increase over the previous year. The dividends paid stockholders represented 18.06 per cent. on the capital stock paid up, a decrease of .71 per cent. from 1923. The dividends paid by the Mutual Fire Insurance companies to policy holders amounted to $20,108,636.54. The total unearned premium reserve, on December 31 was equal to 37.73 per cent. of the premiums written during the year.

The premiums received during 1924 by all companies doing business in this state show a decrease of $1,139,360.49 for fire, and an increase of $1,799,888 for all others. The losses paid in 1924 show an increase of $24,366,929.52.

$25,000 LIBEL SUIT SETTLED BY A MONETARY PAYMENT

Bridgeport, May 27—The $25,000 libel suit brought by Jenny Hobe, resident of Westport Avenue, Norwalk, against the Hour Publishing Company, of Norwalk, alleging that her character was defamed in article appearing in the Norwalk Hour, issue of March 22, 1917, has been settled by a monetary payment, Judge John Keough informed Judge A. F. Ells in superior court today.

It was alleged that the story, which appeared in the Norwalk paper a week before the United States severed diplomatic relations with the imperial government of Germany, intimated that Mrs. Hobe was a "German printer."

The article told of the erection of a wireless transmitting station at Mrs. Hobe's home, "Hillcrest" and the maintenance of a machine shop into which no one was admitted.

According to the news item it was claimed Mrs. Hobe was a party to a "plot of unbelievable proportions."

WILLIMANTIC

The American Thread Company emphasized its standing in the present strike controversy Wednesday by statements to the effect that the printing department of the plant, which has employed forty-three operatives, is being removed permanently from Willimantic and that the concern will not, as previously made known, consider any concession which would bespeak of an arbitration or grant of any kind other than the wage scale as it stands, following the 10 per cent cut January 12, last.

When the decision to remove the printing department, which was the most complete plant of its kind in the city, was first reached, a conference was held between the employes of that department and officials of the company. The printers were notified of the impending danger of the loss of the department which once removed would never be returned here. The conference was practically without result, consequently the machinery is following the way of other machines from other sections of the mills which have been loaded onto auto trucks and railroad cars and taken to other cities.

Agent Don H. Curtis of the local mills said that a good number of employes are now working and in several of the departments production has been started. He declared that this week had brought a substantial increase in the number of those being employed and that the plant would continue to operate with workers, from Willimantic or elsewhere. He also stated that reports that the company had made overtures to the strikers by privately promising a return of ten per cent for those who returned to work was absolutely untrue. The employes now working, he said, were receiving the same wage as was effective when the strike was declared.

Due to the fact that the theatre was being prepared for other business, the strikers held a short mass meeting Wednesday morning with Edward F Callahan as the speaker. Mr. Callahan gave out advice as to the attitude to be taken and the confidence which the strikers should have that they are ultimately facing a glorious victory. He expressed the hope that within a short time both interests would sit about a conference table and come to a satisfactory adjustment of difficulties. Besides getting plenty of fresh air and sunshine the strikers started to have a little fun Wednesday, playing a single men and married men's baseball game at WinSham Field. This (Thursday) morning a minstrel show will be staged for them under the direction of Jimmy Curran with a cast taken from the strikers' ranks. Miss Amy L. Hooker presided at the mass meeting.

The Business Men's Association met in special session Wednesday morning and voted to appoint a committee to join a committee from the Clerks' Protective Association to interview the manufacturing officials of the city and get their version of the new advanced time schedule adopted by the business men of Willimantic. The plan is to get the sentiment of the manufacturing interests as to whether or not they favor conforming their operating time to the new schedule which, as it stands today, might well be called a burlesque on Daylight Saving Time. President T. Frank Cunningham of the association appointed as a committee, J. Francis Keon and John E. Brick. A report will be made within a few days in the meantime the business hours begin one hour earlier in the morning, closing at five o'clock afternoon. All stores will be closed Saturday, Memorial Day.

The decoration of graves, offering of prayers and delivering of addresses will be carried in conformity with the annual Memorial Day programme, Saturday, in the cemeteries of the Town of Windham. The morning pilgrimage of veterans, relatives of deceased soldiers, National Guardsmen and local Bands will take place as usual, with visits to Windham Center, North Windham and St. Joseph's cemeteries. The afternoon parade will start for the Willimantic cemetery at two o'clock. The eulogy will be delivered at 2:45 o'clock. Since May 30, of last year, four names were added to the records of deceased veterans: Daniel Holbrook and Daniel Eastman, Civil War, both buried in the Willimantic cemetery, Roderick Lussier and Carl Johnson, World War veterans, the former buried in St. Joseph's cemetery and the later in the Windham Center cemetery. Isaac Perry, a Spanish-American War veteran, of Windham, died during the year at the Soldiers' Home at Noroton. He is buried in another city.

Comrades, James Haggerty, Adam Dunts, Timothy Gillon, Joseph Slater and Charles Henry; Spanish-American War: Commander Joseph Guilford, Frank P Fenton, Jeremiah E. McCarthy and Arthur W. Sweet; World War, Captain (Dr.) W. P. S. Keating.

On that occasion Samuel Chesebro will give an illustrated lecture on his tour of Europe and Asia. President Dr. George E. Wilcox was in charge of Wednesday's meeting.

MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER FOR ASHFORD EXERCISES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Warrenville, Conn., May 27.—The people of Ashford are very fortunate to secure as Memorial day orator, Guy Davis Gold of Hartford. He comes of a patriotic line, as in his father's family, five out of eight boys served on the Union side in the Civil war and five of their sisters married wearers of the blue.

Mr. Gold served in the Student Volunteer corps in the Spanish-American war, was in charge of interned Germans and Austrians at the camp on Ohlinp's island, Boston Harbor, during the World war. In the fall of 1918 he went to Siberia to assist in the establishment of an educational and welfare programme among industrial workers there. Later he joined the American expeditionary forces during the winter of 1918-19, and remained in Siberia and Manchuria until the spring of 1919. He assisted in organizing recreation and educational centers, schools and hospitals and also assisted in the evacuation of the Czecho-Slovak troops and later in releasing some 30,000 prisoners of war. He has traveled much in North China and Japan, and only recently has been visited in this country by representatives of the New China, regarding their industrial programme.

He is a forceful, magnetic speaker, and his subject for Memorial day is "America, the Daring."

WESTMINSTER

The text for the Sunday morning worship in Westminster was "inasmuch as ye did it unto one of them ye did it unto me," and an account was given of the Summer Vacation Service rendered by young college women and men in mining camps, prairies, on the frontier and in city slums and other neglected parts of the land.

The topic for the mid-week Home Prayer hour is "What (service) shall I render unto the Lord for all the benefits unto me?"

The Six Church Fellowship meetings of the South Windham Conference met at Wauregan, receiving a warm welcome and carrying out a worth-while program.

At the business session, after lunch Rev. Truman S. Childs of Ekonk resigned his office held for the three years, of secretary and treasurer, and nominated Rev. Ralph Knight of Canterbury Green, who was elected. A unanimous vote of thanks was given Mr. Childs for his faithful and able service.

Another characteristic Fellowship action was that of voting the money in the treasury ($25) to assist Westminster's fund to pay for the parsonage to replace the one burned last fall.

Raymond Green is working for Chas. Lavalje at Plainfield.

A large number of young people from various sections of Westminster attended the benefit dance given William Veits, who is just recovering from serious illness, with many critical weeks in the hospital.

The dance was a financial success. The informal fellowship-meeting of six or eight neighboring churches of several denominations, so ably planned by Rev. William A. Prentiss of Westminster's grandmother church, Plainfield Congregational had to be postponed on account of Sunday's rain, which made very bad roading. In spite of this, six autos reached Westminster, one of these from Packer, another from Taftville and the others from nearer. No date has yet been determined for the postponed meeting.

CHILDLESS HOMES

Read Mrs. Benedict's Letter Praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kewanee, Illinois.—"When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run-down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my teens and until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. MARY E. ## Wauregan Well Child Conference

We recently heard of a connecticut town where 50 babies died in two years. It is a small town of perhaps 3,000 souls. It is not an unusual town. Its people are intelligent. Its doctors are skillful. Its nurses are careful and capable. But one thing has been lacking. No doctor and no nurse can prevent sickness after you are sick.

This town where 50 babies died in two years has held open a Well Child Conference. Why? A physician of a Well Child Conference can prevent sickness and possibly death, by having an opportunity to see children before they are sick. An examination before you are ill may disclose something just beginning. Its far reaching effect is felt not only in a healthier, happier childhood, but also in a stronger, finer manhood.

The Well Child Conference in Wauregan is held on the first Wednesday afternoon of every month, from 2 to 4 o'clock, in company hall. The conference this month comes on June 3rd.

The Saintly Girl, Mary Philbin's spectacular, new starring vehicle, a Universal-Jewel adaptation of I. A. R. Wylie's novel The Inheritors, comes today to the Broadway theater. The new picture, the first in which Miss Philbin appears in the modern garb of a girl of today, follows her sensational successes in Merry-Go-Round and Fool's Highway in one of which she appeared as a Viennese girl, in the other as a waif of New York's old Bowery.

It is a story of a penniless, bitter existence in a household that has slipped to decay, adapted by Bernard McConville from The Inheritors, a story by I. A. R. Wylie. It is a modern story, a graphic document of life in a world brought up to date by industrial progress and real estate agents.

Mary plays the role of the girl Joseph Dowling plays the role of her grandfather. Others in the cast are De Witt Jennings, William Haines, Otto Hoffman and Freeman Wood. King Baggot directed.

At the Bread

David Belasco sold his great stage success, Seven Chances, to Buster Keaton and Buster's first moving picture version of a stage play is said to be seven times as funny as the original Seven Chances.

Seven Chances, written for Belasco by Rol Cooper Megrue, and produced with tremendous success in New York, was adapted to the screen by Jean Hayes, Clyde Bruckman and Joe Mitchell. It is coming to the Bread theater for a three days run beginning today.

It looks as if hereafter Buster will continue to make film versions of stage plays, for Buster's scenarists have transformed Seven Chances into the funniest scenario ever submitted to the comedy star.

Buster's supporting cast, selected by Lou Anger, general manager, consists of Ruth Dwyer, leading woman; T. Roy Barnes, famous stage and film star; Snitz Edwards, Julia Fowler, Marion Harlan, daughter of Otis Harlan; Lora Bara, sister of Theda Bara; a bevy of fifteen other beautiful "baby stars" and some 2,772 "brides" of all ages and sizes.

Others who materially aided on Seven Chances are Fred Gaboorie, art director; Denver Harmon, cinematographers, Byron Houck and Elgin Lessley; Al Gilmore, Sidney Kull and Bert Jackson.

As an added attraction the management of the Bread theatre has booked a true detective story of The Girl and the Gangster. Chapter of the Man and the news reel are also on the same bill.

Broadway Sunday

Leatrice Joy feels old fashioned in her up-to-date clothes.

Her 1925 dresses seem passe.

The trouble may be due to the fashion expert brought to Hollywood from Paris to design the styles worn by Miss Joy. Mildred Harris and the fourteen girls appearing as beautiful models in The Dressmaker from Paris.

All the gowns created for Miss Joy are of the year-ahead variety that after wearing them daily for two months her own clothes give her a feeling that she is antediluvian in the matter of dress in spite of the fact that they are right up to the minute.

Approximately a hundred gowns were created expressly for the picture.

Leatrice Joy and Ernest Torrence are featured in The Dressmaker from Paris, which will be shown at the Broadway theatre next Sunday to remain for four days.

Paul Bern, who made Worldly Goods and Open All Nite, directed. Adelaide Heilbron and Howard Hawks are co-authors.

Boost Norwich

Recently there has been a concerted movement by the people of the city to boost Norwich and buy at home. With this determined boosting by the citizens, Norwich will surely be brought to the attention of many outsiders and thereby all of its commercial activities will become beneficial.

The acquisition of the agency of the Steinway pianos by the Hanover-Curtland Company, formerly The Talking Machine Shop, Norwich makes it possible to purchase the highest grade musical instruments right in the city. It also means that the many people have enough regard for the city of Norwich to place a Steinway Agency in the hands of one of its mercantile establishments.

In the last three or four years, this city has been daily taking on a beautiful modern aspect. It has several new buildings which lend new dignity to the Commercial section. Many stores have put in most up to date new fronts. The modernizing of the city is going on daily. A most important addition to these improvements is the "white way," which during the night displays the beautiful glow of New England in all its glory.

The Norwich Chamber of Commerce deserves great credit for its interest in boosting the city. It is interested in many activities which have this aim in mind, and as time goes on, Norwich will be an ever increasing shopping center, offering the surrounding towns a more complete line of the highest class of merchandise and modern conveniences.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

It is probable that this year's investment for flowers for Memorial day will surpass any record ever made in Danielson in observance of this holiday. This in itself is significant of the widespread observance of the day, dedicated to those who have served the nation, under arms and have passed to their reward, but observed very generally now by the survivors of hundreds of families.

No meeting has yet been held of the special committee appointed a week ago this evening at a town meeting to investigate and report as to Killingly's need of increased school facilities. However, the committee has the remainder of the spring and the entire summer before it for study of the problems it must consider prior to making a report in advance of the annual town meeting in October

Representatives of patriotic societies are requesting that there be a general display of flags in Danielson and other communities of the town of Killingly on Memorial day. This will be one way of honoring those who have fought in the nation's name and of inspiring the patriotism of those who compose the nation today. Danielson can make a splendid showing of the national colors if it will but do so.

Indicative of what the American legion purposes to do in its endowment fund drive, for which active work will be done here, and as to why it is being done is set forth ni a measure, as follows:—

As the last gun was fired on the western front on that morning in November of 1918, the world put from it the memory of the nightmare of war. Men hoped and thought, in the exultation of that hour of release, that the toll had been taken, the debt paid—and turned to their routine tasks. In their hurry to do so, they overlooked one significant thing, the consequences of the war, branded deep into the very vitals of society.

The dread casualty lists of the war days, it is true, disapeared shortly from the front pages of the newspapers. But the toll had not been taken. The debt is not yet all paid—nor will be for many a year to come.

This very day fifteen more veterans are dying because of their service to their country. And to-morrow will add its fifteen—and so on for a crowding succession of tomorrows.

At the present time there are 33,000 disabled veterans of the war stretched upon beds of pain in government hospitals. And with every day that passes, the number is growing. Five hundred men are borne in every week to take their places in this comradeship of pain.

There are others, too, who are being added daily to the casualty list of the war. They are the orphaned and dependent children of veterans. There are 5,000 of them now who are not getting the attention and the chance in life their fathers would have given them but for their service to the country. It is estimated that by 1932, 38,000 of them will be in need of help. Several hundreds are emergency cases. Hungry, dirty, ragged, neglected, without home and without school, something must be done for them now.

The general public has an opportunity to do its part for them and for the disabled veterans by contributing to The American Legion's $5,000,000 Endowment Fund, now being raised throughout the country.

For the third consecutive morning minimum temperatures of 41 and 42 degrees were recorded here Wednesday.

The fire department was called out at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening for a chimney fire at property on Furnace street owned by Mrs. Nellie Brown.

Large delegations from Danielson will attend Memorial day services Saturday morning at East Killingly and at Brooklyn.

William Burns of Worcester was a visitor with friends in Danielson Wednesday.

The committee of the American legion being organized here for the purpose soon will be engaged actively with its campaign for the Legion Endowment fund.

State officers are handling the direction of traffic over a one-way section of Plainfield street, where new concrete roadway is being built.

Danielson is on the route of motor bus excursions that are to be run out of Boston during the summer to various points in western Connecticut and New York state.

Officers here are anticipating the heaviest motor traffic of the year on the coming week end, which is a general holiday period.

Oscar Trudeau of Montreal motored here for a visit with relatives and is remaining for a time.

Investigation continued during Wednesday to account for the manner in which Michael Reynolds of Central Village met death Monday night, but nothing definite had been developed.

Mrs. William Mullally and members of her household are expected to arrive at their cottage at Alexander's lake today to remain for the season, coming from New Rochelle.

This week the Alice Eleanor shop will be open Friday instead of Saturday evening.—Adv.

Mr and Mrs. William A. Burrows returned Wednesday from a stay at their cottage at Oakland Beach.

It was stated Wednesday that the retail price of gasoline would be advanced a cent a gallon in this territory today.

GEORGE A. HAMMOND, 84, PIONEER SILK MANUFACTURER

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, May 26—George A. Hammond, one of Putnam's few remaining Civil War veterans, who has had much to do with the city's political and industrial life, observed his eighty-fourth birthday Tuesday at his home on Oak Hill. Mr. Hammond is in rather poor health and never leaves his home.

George Asahel Hammond was born in Hampton, Conn., May 26th, 1841, a son of George R. and Sarah Bottum Hammond. He attended the public schools at Hampton, also helped with the work on his father's farm. Later he became a student at Williston Seminary and afterwards taught in Hampton, Canterbury and Abington.

In September 1862 he enlisted as a private in Company G, 26th Connecticut volunteer infantry. He was later promoted to orderly sergeant and for a time was acting lieutenant. After his return from the war he taught for a year and then went to Mansfield, Conn., entering the employ of his uncle in a silk mill. In 1873 Mr. Hammond took up silk manufacturing for himself in Putnam, with George M. Morse and Charles C. Knowlton as his partners. Mr. Morse later sold out to the other two. The concern has always been successful and now is Putnam's leading mill, operating under the name of the Hemingway Silk Company.

Mr. Hammond was for many years deeply interested in the civic welfare of Putnam. He was one of the first champions of the establishment of lighting and water systems, was a president of the Putnam Light and Power company, a moving power in the organization of the Putnam Foundry and Machine company, has been president of the Putnam Box Corporation and was an organizer and former president of the Putnam Business Men's association.

He has been sent several times to the general assembly, first from Mansfield, in 1876, and later from Putnam, in 1885 and 1886. In 1896 he was a member of the electral college which chose William McKinley president of the country, and was a delegate to the national republican convention, which had nominated Mr. McKinley for the office. He was also a delegate to the national conventions of that party in 1900, 1904, 1908 and 1912.

In 1905 he had been again made representative to the general assembly from Putnam and was made a member of several important committees. Finally in 1912 he retired from legislative work after completing a term in the state senate, representing this district. For over thirty years he was a member of the Putnam school board, chairman for half that time.

He is a member of Israel Putnam Lodge of Odd Fellows, Quinebaug lodge of Masons, the Royal Arcanum and was a loyal member and past commander of A. F. Warner post, G. A. R., now dissolved.

Mr. Hammond married October 12, 1865, Miss Jessie Crandall of Canterbury. Two children was born to them, Charles H. Hammond, born in 1868 and died in 1885, and Bertha E., later the wife of Dr. Neil Macphatter of New York. She died in 1900. The death of Mrs. Hammond occurred on September 12, 1917.

The parade program for Saturday morning was posted through the village Wednesday and is as follows: Formation will be at the Community house at nine o'clock. Parade will start at 9:30, will circle the new village and stop at the Episcopal church. A hymn will be played by the band and will be followed by prayers by the rector of that church. The band will play a hymn during the ceremony of placing a wreath on the honor roll. The same program will be carried out at the Congregational church, and at St. John's Catholic church. Ceremonies will be held at the brook that flows through the town. The firing squad will pay respects to the dead.

Very Old Clock Runs

In the tower of Wolvey (Nuneaton) in England, there is a clock that has done duty since the time of Charles II until recently. The second dial, made of wood, was put on in commemoration of the victory of Trafalgar. There is a record of its having been repaired in 1740 and recently, when the clock was being moved, a hive of dead bees and about 50 pounds of honey were discovered behind it.

Iron's Heat Controlled

By means of a new invention, worked out from a very simple principle, an electric iron, percolator and similar equipment will automatically shut off the current whenever the instrument gets overheated. It is a thermostat arrangement and before the iron gets too cool, it will again start heating. The invention will considerably lessen the number of fires result ing from overheated irons.

Cologne, Germany, soon will have the highest office building on the continent of Europe. Though it will be only nineteen stories high, the German press speaks of it as a "sky-scraper on the American model," and tourists travel across the city to view it.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTIONS

Because 4500 lost their lives by drowning last year does not necessarily mean that the toll will be the same this year. Unless greater efforts are made to reduce it, it may be expected, however, that it will mean the loss of about that same number during 1925 with the chances of having the total range much higher.

Many of the drowning accidents are due to the fact that the persons did not know how to swim and were unable to take care of themselves in the water. For that reason it must be regarded as a highly important public service that is being rendered by the Y. M. C. A. in offering to teach swimming to the boys of the city between the ages of 11 and 18. With this institution possessed of the facilities for such training, in the shape of a modern swimming pool and a capable instructor, this offer to give something for nothing and this effort to aid in the preventing of drowning accidents ought to result in a quick acceptance by those for whom the instruction is offered and intended.

Last year there were 26 who received the benefit of similar instruction. This does not mean that the 26 are immune from drowning or may not at some time lose their life by drowning, but it does mean that they have been taught how to swim, what to do if they are suddenly thrown overboard and how to render assistance to others in case that becomes necessary to save life.

We are taught to take care of ourselves on land. Too many of us are utterly unable to care for ourselves in the water and yet hundreds of thousands tempt fate and pay the penalty when a few swimming lessons would provide a most valuable preventive.

There isn't anything better in the way of physical exercise than swimming. With the summer close at hand the chance to get greater enjoyment out of the bathing beach and to learn how to swim should be improved. Such precautions are responsible for the saving of many lives and the prevention of many untimely deaths.

The community has reason to appreciate this service and certainly those for whom it is intended should.

THE FAST MOTOR BOAT

Much attention has been attracted by the performances of Gar Wood's speed boats on the Hudson. They can certainly travel and make it possible to cover a long distance in a short time. But it is rather far fetched to regard the tests which have been made as races with the New York Central's fast express train. Perhaps it was quite as near as races of that character might be expected, but while the motor boat was doing its best to win the same cannot be said of the express train. It was pursuing the even tenor of its way, adhering to schedule and making certain stops.

That the distance between Albany and New York was covered in a shorter time by the speed boat than by the train is not disputed. The facts speak for themselves on that point. But no claim is being made that the train was doing its best, or could not be driven at such speed as to have done better than it did or better than the boat.

In the operation of trains it is to be realized that due consideration must be given to the safety of the people being transported. While the train was capable of going 50 miles, or better, an hour, no such speed was attempted. The running time of the train between the two points does not in fact indicate what might be done if the train could actually participate in a race. It is to be realized that it takes two to make a race and in this instance only the boat appears to have been actually racing.

The accomplishment does not in any way serve to detract from the performance of the motor boat. It left Albany when the express did and got to New York quicker, and it demonstrates that it is still possible to get a surprising amount of speed from a craft that is pushed along on the top of the water. Mr. Wood deserves full credit for the noteworthy performance.

USING OUR SHIPS

For years, even before the war, our merchant marine has been the subject of much discussion. There were demands for its increase, for the transportation of more of our commerce in American ships, but there was no serious effort made to retain our lost prestige on the high seas until the war forced us to scurry about and build ships which could be obtained in no other way.

Now we have a merchant marine. It is in some respects far from what might be desired, and it is by no means busily engaged. There are great numbers of ships in government control and too many of these are idle. It has not been possible to find purchasers for them who would put and keep them in operation under the American flag.

And yet it is worth noting that during the year 1924, out of a total of 92,000,000 tons of exports and imports, the American ships carried a total of 44 per cent. of that tonnage. That is a different story than might have been told a decade ago. American ships carried 56 per cent. of the imports and 34 per cent. of the exports. We have been regaining some of the lost business. American ships are again being seen in harbors where they had become almost total strangers. We have opened up new trade routes and the American flag is not a curiosity in the ports of the world.

But while the situation has been improved we have not as yet gotten as many ships as there should be into the hands of private capital. The government still has too many of them tied up waiting for purchasers. We have the means of carrying a much larger tonnage. The hope of the country is that this will result but the time cannot come too quick when the government will be out of the business of running this merchant marine and the much sought and needed merchant marine is in the hands of private capital.

INCOME TAX FIGURES

Now that the question of publishing the income tax figures has gone through the courts and the United States supreme court has declared that the newspapers violated no law in publishing what was made public, it becomes evident that the provision in the law which declared against the publication of the provisions amounts to nothing, even if congress believed that it would. It is established that the figures are open to publication as long as it has been provided that they should be publicly displayed. That settles that matter definitely, and the effort to back up the interpretation which it was believed congress intended has failed.

Now it remains to be see what if any action congress will take as the result of the test which has been made with the publication of the figures. It has always been maintained and still is, that the publication of the income tax figures was a mistake, that it simply furnishes material for the curious and makes possible the placing of an entirely wrong interpretation upon them.

There has never been any question but what congress could make the figures public if it desired. The contention has been that it did not intend to, and by the retention of part of the old law endeavored to stop publication. That interfered with rights obtained when publicity was authorized.

It was possible for the last session of congress to have revoked the order of secrecy concerning the figures, but it did nothing of the kind. It remains to be seen whether the next congress will take such a step in response to the widespread opposition to such publicity.

DODGING DEBTS

Connecticut doesn't owe Uncle Sam to pay any of its debts, and perhaps Missouri doesn't look to the federal government to meet its obligations but that is what was recently undertaken when a certificate of indebtedness issued by Missouri was presented to the United States treasury for payment.

The certificates were dated June 1, 1875, signed by the governor and are for the sum of $9,98[illegible] They were issued to get money to pay the Confederate soldiers from that state in the Civil war.

As might be expected the treasury refused payment. The debt is one which should be met by the state which contracted it. There was nothing which the federal government had to do about it and there is no reason why it should be expected to pay it.

The situation in Missouri may have been different 50 years ago but in view of the fact that it took action of the character indicated, and from all indications the action was authorized, here is a responsibility resting upon that state to meet the obligation. Such is no more than is expected when one government succeeds another in other countries, or in this country.

When the money was raised by Missouri the persons providing it were not asked to give it or to make a contribution. Perhaps that would have been a better way, but apparently there was no thought at the time but what Missouri would pay its debt. But whether it does or not there is certainly no reason why it should be assumed by the federal government and Uncle Sam rightfully has no intention of paying it.

Think of Massachusetts referring to the fact that it had "only" eleven motor fatalities last week!

Japan isn't obliged to go to other countries to make a study of the disastrous effects of earthquakes.

One wouldn't mind mowing the lawn mower so much if it only produced the material with which to keep the heater fires going.

It must have been a bit disappointing for Nurmi to lose his farewell race in this country, but he's won laurels enough for during a memorial visit to offset it.

In telling about the large amount of government waste, Secretary Hoover is doing what others have done. But it is through constant hammering at it that people are awakened to the necessity for a change.

Atlanta and Leavenworth prisons are complained of because they are not modern enough. But with both of them overcrowded, having 2500 or more prisoners each when they were intended to accomodate only about 1200, it doesn't look as if the conditions kept down the attendance.

FROM LUCILLE'S DIARY

When I came down to breakfast on Sunday morning and saw mother and Cousin Fannie belonging in the porridge and the hot biscuits I asked where Tilly was. "Not sick, I hope," I said.

"No, she isn't ill but her sister is," answered mother. "She received a long-distance phone call last night just at dinner time and she took an evening train."

"Oh, dear," I sighed, "and has she gone to care for her?"

"Yes," added father, grinning at me wickedly. "Tilly has been given a month's leave of absence and now, my child, is a chance for you to win some honors for yourself."

"Of course, I shall do all I can to help," I said with dignity, because I knew that he was chaffing me, "but it just happens, dad, that I shall be away part of the time. I'm going out to Riverbend tomorrow to stay with Besse Hall for a while."

"Indeed?" remarked mother. "When was that plan made?"

"Oh, I don't know exactly," I replied nonchantly, and then I went to the upstairs phone and called up Besse, telling her that if convenient I would run out to Riverbend on Monday and make her a little visit. I reminded her that she had said she wished me to see her home.

"Why, y-es," she answered, "but I think you would like it here better in the summer time, Lucille."

"Oh, I love the country at all seasons and it's never more beautiful than when the snow is on the ground. Is there anything I can do for you in town before I take the 3 o'clock train, dear?"

"No, thank you. I'll meet you at 4:30," she said and she did meet me, on foot.

"I hope you don't mind walking, Lucile," she said. "We have put our sedan away for the winter. I'll have a boy bring up your suitcase."

Of course I had to say that I adored walking, but I must confess that I did not enjoy trudging through the deep snow up to Besse's house. I quickly decided that if we were not to have the use of the car I should pass most of my time indoors reading. Besse's mother and brother were cordial to me, and we had a delicious supper, but the evening was dull, because Besse was writing a report for the village charity union and her brother went out, and her mother left us early for bed. I found the guest chamber a chilly place, and I made up my mind that Besse was right—Riverbend is best in summer.

In the morning Besse and Mrs. Hall invited me to attend an all-day sewing meeting of the charity union. I begged them to go without me, saying that I was a poor needlewoman. Hilda, the maid, served me such a dainty luncheon that it occurred to me that it would be a comfort to have her with us during Tilly's absence.

"Wouldn't you like a month in the city, Hilda?" I asked her, and when she heard what a good time she could have seeing all the big shops and going to the fine movies she agreed to come. Then I hastily penned a note to Besse explaining that something important was calling me back home, and I thanked her heartily for her hospitality.

Hilda called a taxi for me and I got away on the afternoon train. She promised to follow today, and she did. Her eyes were red with weeping when I met her at the station.

"Mrs. Hall and Miss Besse were terrible angry," she announced at once, "but I told them I had promised you, and they said—well, Miss Lucile, I wouldn't like to tell you just what."

"I'm surprised Hilda, that they would try to stand in your light when you had a such a nice chance for a pleasant change. However, we won't discuss them." I remarked, but Hilda would tell mother how kind the Halls had always been to her and how very they were at her sudden departure.

"Lucile," declared mother majestically, "you must immediately telephone Besse and apologize, and ask her to take Hilda back right away. I hope you won't ever do such an outrageous thing again."

And that was all the thanks I got for my trouble.—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Born forty-five years ago, the son of one of the cleverest financiers in England and grandson of a very able member of parliament, Sir George Lloyd, the new High Commissioner of Egypt, had a liberal heritage of brains, which enabled him to acquit himself brilliantly at Eton and Cambridge; and in the early twenties he began a career full of the promise that is ripening to great achievements. After an apprenticeship in the great banking house which bears the family name, he went to Constantinople to learn diplomacy; and, later, traveled far to widen his knowledge of the world and of men. When the war trumpets sounded, he was among the first to answer the call to battle. He fought bravely in Palestine and Sinai under Allenby; with Maude in Mesopotamia; and with the Arabs in Arabia; and after doing good work on a diplomatic mission to the late czar, he also had a spell of fighting in Galicia with the Russians. Such are the splendid training and equipment of the man who, while still young in years, has been chosen to succeed Allenby in Egypt.

From Small Beginnings

Oscar Farenholt, Able Seaman, a United States Admiral

When Admiral Dewey steamed away to make his famous attack on the Spanish at Manila Bay it was with the consciousness that behind him in the naval station at Shanghai, China, he had an able and thoroughly vigilant man guarding his supplies and ready to send him immediate information if the situation should demand it. That man who was the able backer of Admiral Dewey in the greatest crisis of Admiral Dewey's career was Oscar Farenholt, the one man who, in the entire history of the United States Navy, rose from the rank of lowest seaman to that of rear admiral. That is a proud distinction—to rise from being the humblest of sailors to become commander of many ships. It was patriotism that drew Oscar Farenholt from his home in Texas into the United States Navy at the very beginning of the Civil War. He was then only 16 years old, a mere boy, but then, as all through his life, he was ready to do all that he could.

Wherever he was, he was contented to do his full work, without grumbling. Indeed, the man who constantly grumbles at his lot, who is always wishing that he were in some other position than the one in which he happens to be, is never sure to rise in life. Perhaps the quickest way to gain promotion is to do such thoroughly good work where one happens to be that promotion will take care of itself. The dissatisfied person is never successful anywhere.

In various naval engagements in the Civil War the boy-seaman did his full duty. He was among the wounded but never among the shirkers. By the end of the war he had become an ensign. He remained in the Navy, patiently doing his work, and during the years between the Civil War and the Spanish War he advanced slowly in rank. When he was 66 he was made a rear admiral. The story of such a steady and sure advance from a position of low rank to a position of the utmost importance to the country is one of the many proud stories that the people of the United States have recorded.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What Prohibition Has Done.

Mr. Editor:—The attack of the "Old Yale Man," upon Dr. Angell of Yale would not be worth noticing, if it were not for the last sentences in his article in the N. Y. Times, this morning. He says: "The basis of society formerly was a dinner. Nobody gave a dinner unless he had a good cook and good wine, but as it is now a dinner is nothing but stupied eating. Think of a dinner years ago to Chauncey Depew such jolly dinners, with wine, and now—just sitting there stuffing oneself with cold storage chicken! And the clubs—look at them! Every place a morgue, and the more men one sees in them, the duller they are. Yes, prohibition is effective. It has stopped comfortable drinking." Here we have a pronounced declaration in favor of prohibition. Scarcely a day passes that I do not run against people who are rabid against the Volstead act, because it does not prohibit social drinking, and makes law breakers of a large proportion of otherwise respectable citizens; that any one wishing to pay the price can get all the liquor they want any where in our country. This "Old Yale Man," is of the same mind as Dr. Inge in regard to the dryness of America. Dr Inge was royally entertained during his visit to this country and unhesitating said he found no violating of the Volstead act in social life. While we pity this old man of 75 because he can find no jollity in his declining years without wine with his meals, we can congratulate him upon having done a good thing before his lips are mute in death. This plain testimony in favor of prohibition, which taken in conjunction with Dr. Inge's confession, proves that much of the present day propaganda of the violation of the law is exaggerated, and deceives the uninformed. It is really refreshing to read such an out and out wimpering of a childish old man when he can't have his drink to wash down his "storage chicken" and tone-up his silly mirth. What a contrast to Chauncey Depew. The grand old man, who has passed his ninetieth birthday, a sound, sweet, mirthful society man! He can enjoy his club dinner and contribute inexhaustable jollity for others to enjoy, because he learned more than 50 years ago that wine stole away men's brains taken even moderately at social function. So for this proof that prohibition does prohibit, we can pity the "Old Yale Man," and bid him speed to Montreal for his dinner with wine, which will doubtless make the "false teeth" click and the wigs shake with the silly mirth.

HALF GALLON BEST MOUTH WASH—60 CENTS

Make It Yourself—As An Antiseptic, Much More Powerful Than the Weak, Flavored and Foaming Kind.

Have you ever heard of Kojene, the most powerful, non-poisonous, non-alcoholic antiseptic known?

For killing disease germs it is more than seventy-five times as powerful as the ordinary mouthwashes for which you have long been paying high prices.

A six ounce bottle of Kojene which is sold for 60 cents at Lee & Osgood Co., and other progressive druggists, will make half a gallon of a fine tasting, yet unflavored mouthwash—it leaves no artificial, nasty aftertaste—just a feeling of absolute cleanliness.

You don't need to make it all at one time—a half teaspoonful of Kojene added to water will make a half tumblerful.

If you try it once you'll save a lot of money. Smokers use it before retiring and awake in the morning with a delightful sense of mouth cleanliness.

Money back—gladly—if you don't say Kojene is the most wonderful antiseptic in the world.

Be certain that the fish you buy is strictly fresh. Your nose is probably your best barometer in this, for the fish store having an unsavory odor, is bound to contain something creating that atmosphere, and just on general principles should be avoided. # PYTHIANS' 50th ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED BY WAUREGAN LODGE

RUDOLPH HENSCHEL
Chancellor Commander

The Wauregan ball room was the scene of a most enjoyable affair on Wednesday evening when Wauregan lodge, No. 6, Knights of Pythias, held its fifty-sixth anniversary banquet and entertainment, nothing having been spared to make it a feature night in Pythianism in Norwich and one long to be remembered by the Knights and their guests.

Over 150 sat down at the tables in the dining hall shortly after 6:30 o'clock and for several moments there was laughter and pleasure as the many favors were opened and the favors of fancy colored hats were brought to view, turning the scene into one of merriment. Table decorations were of cut flowers and the section for the orchestra was decked with palms, the decorating being by Hawkins the Florist.

After a brief prayer by Grand Prelate Arthur F. Mitchell the following menu was enjoyed:

Grapefruit Maraschino
Hearts of Celery Pickles
Queen Olives
Vegetable Soup
Roast Swedesboro Chicken, Stuffed
Apple Sause
Potatoes English Brown
Stewed Corn
French Bread
Neapolitan Ice Cream
Assorted Cake Coffee
Favors Cigars
Souvenirs

Throughout the banquet Louis M. Crandall acted as song leader and many of the favorite song hits of the present day and of days gone by were enjoyed. One song was dedicated to the grand officers of Connecticut, the officers of Wauregan Lodge and speakers, while others were dedicated to the women or men, making in all a happy selection for the evening.

An additional pleasure was the playing of D'Atri's Wauregan Hotel orchestra, which gave a most pleasing concert programme, introducing many new numbers which were given with delightful smoothness. The concert programme included among other hits The Futurist March ..... McKinley That Someday ..... E. Luz Dance of the Goblins ... Engelmann March of the Manikins .... Onivas Only a Year Ago ..... Albers Maid of the West ..... Zenecnik Dance of the Crickets ..... Seredy

As a surprise of the evening a treat was in store for theladies and while the men received cigars as favors the ladies were presented Pythian compacts in beautifully decorated cases, making a most timely gift in honor of the anniversary celebration.

As extra treats of the evening a number of local people entertained in song and dance, every number being given in a most clever manner, the vocal selections being well received and the dance numbers greeted with prolonged applause. The first number was You Can't Fool an Old Horse Fly sung by little Miss Lucy Lord, who gave as an encore a soft shoe dance exhibition to music. Both numbers were received with insistant applause. Another greatly enjoyed number was a tenor solo, Rose of My Heart, sung by Fred J. Maples, who was in fine voice and whose rendition met with instant favor. In closing the entertainment William Donohue sang two late song hits, When We Were Seventeen and Goodbye Blues, the latter a snappy jazz number.

Welcome By Chancellor Commander.

At the conclusion of the entertainment Chancellor Commander Rudolph Henschel welcomed the Knights, speakers and guests, on behalf of Wauregan lodge, voicing the wish that everyone might have a pleasant evening assembled with the Knights in observance of the 56th anniversary of the institution of Wauregan lodge in Norwich.

Toastmaster Josiah Greenstein then spoke briefly concerning the fundamental principals of Pythianism which are friendship, charity and benevolence, the creed which makes for a better understanding of one's fellow man. He then mentioned the birth of Wauregan lodge which was on March 19, 1869, and urged the members ever to bear in mind that a lodge can rise no higher than the moral standing of every individual holding membership in that body.

His Honor Milo R. Waters was called upon for remarks and responded by stating that he was pleased to be present on the occasion of the 56th anniversary of Wauregan lodge. My first social visit after I was elected mayor, he said, was at an anniversary celebration of Wauregan lodge. Then you numbered about 35 members. Last year, said Mayor Waters, you had doubled your membership when I attended your banquet and this year finds you with a substantial increase in membership. I congratulate you on the work you have done in your order and for the work you have done in your community, for any lodge such as yours is a civic asset.

To your state officers and national representatives, I bid a hearty welcome to Norwich. May they find Norwich hospitality to their liking, so much so that they will be pleased to come again and be with us at future gatherings.

Address By Grand Chancellor

Grand Chancellor Frederick M. Parsons was then called upon and responded by thanking Wauregan lodge for the invitation to attend the banquet. Wauregan lodge has the right to be proud of its record, he said. The first Pythian lodge in Connecticut was instituted in New Haven on November 17, 1869 and four months and two days later Wauregan lodge was instituted, making it the third oldest lodge now in the grand domain of Connecticut. Four years ago there were few active members of your lodge, but in 1924 you numbered over 75 and today number over a hundred. Pythianism in Connecticut has a big job ahead this coming year. One job is the Pythian home project and we must see to it that this does not fail. Members must see to it that only good men are taken into the order that we may not suffer through rejections. Connecticut ranks third in gain in the United States and we are striving to make it even better during the coming year.

The world needs the active, breathing spirit of Pythianism for through it may be gained a better understanding of one another. In parting my hope is that fraternal love may abound in your lodge and from thence throughout the world.

Judge Barnes Speaks

The next speaker was Knight Hon. John H. Barnes who spoke on Friendship which he said was something the world needed today as never before. There are many "isms" in the world today, he said, but friendship is the real thing. Alexander the Great when a young man thought he knew all there was to know but Egypt taught him much and Alexandria even more. All these wonders of his day have been blotted out and can we say that evolution did that? It did not, all this was caused by a lack of friendship and brotherly love among nations and between man and man.

History tells us this is true, nature and science tell the same story. Caesar tells of the province where people banded themselves together in friendship and never broke their word. Friendship gave to the world William the Conquerer. Nature teaches of friendship through the story of the beetle and bee seeking nectar. The beetle took but gave nothing whereas the bee gave and thence received. We must give as well as receive. Science in the story of blood and white and red corpuscles teaches of friendship for the white ones take care of poison in our blood.

Let us not wait until a friend is dead before we help him. The best honors after death are not worth as much as a good turn done during life. Let us show friendly spirit no matter of what creed, race or color. Make our lives a service not just words, for no friendly act ever goes unrecorded to the One who knows. The kindly act of a Persian king to the Hebrews of years ago was remembered by Heaven for Persia today is the only nation to come down through the centuries without a change. During the world war only two nations sent grain to the war zone, the United States and Persia. This teaches that no friendly act is forgotten by Him above.

Speaker From Hartford

The final speaker of the evening was Dr. George M. Cohen, assistant United States attorney of Hartford, who gave a most interesting talk on The World We Live In. I can say, tree, blue, table, or many other words, he said, and what you think I mean is altogether different from what I mean. Therefore I show you that we are living in an impossible world. I own a house, no mortgage, no insurance, I want to burn it down. It's mine, why shouldn't I have the right. I want to cross the street whenever I choose. It's my life I risk so why have I not the right. The same with many other things, they are mine so why cannot I do with them as I wish.

DR. PAUL A. SCHWARTZ

Are we getting along as we ought to is the great point. Years back man believed that might was right and the strong did as they pleased until someone stronger stopped them. Therefore as a means of protection man arranged a system of laws and society was born. Each individual was compelled to give up some of his own rights and received some others in turn.

If every man lived as he has a right to do this world would be an impossible place to live in for a moment. We must give and take. This reason brought into being society, laws and customs. That is why we cannot burn our house, cross the streets when we want to or sing at early hours in the morning. We have not the right for we injure, endanger or disturb our neighbors.

The Lord so constituted us that we can convey our meaning. I say tree and if we do not agree in thinking I am able to explain what I mean in such an exact manner that you cannot but see it as I do. That is the trouble with the world today. We do not try to see things as others see them. We do not try to understand him, learn the why and wherefore that causes him to believe this or that. There is too much prejudice.

Friendship, charity and benevolence are only the foundation for the big thing, which is brotherly love. Religion teaches us of man's relation to God and man's relation to man. If our men and women practice brotherly love, it brotherhood is universal, we would overcome all this. After all we must live as men and brothers. Laws make us give things and take others but we should go further, we should cease preaching brotherhood and begin to act it. Let us take the brotherhood of Pythianism and spread it into the world and make the world what God intended it to be, a place where the Golden Rule is applied as He intended it to be. May Pythianism preach and act a real, "honest to goodness" Brotherhood of Man.

Grand Officers Honor Lodge

In its 56th anniversary banquet Wauregan lodge had an honor conferred upon it through the attendance of many of the grand officers from various sections of the state including Grand Chancellor Frederick M. Parsons, Grand Vice Chancellor William L. Morgan, Grand Prelate Arthur F. Mitchell, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals George E. Wright, Grand Master of Exchequer William M. Potter, Grand Master-at-Arms Charles Anders, Grand Inner Guard Walter R. King, Grand Outer Guard Edward E. Aspinwall and Supreme Representative Dr. F. C. Margraff.

Guests were present from many out of town cities including Providence, Hartford, Colchester, Seymour, Bridgeport, Plainville, Jewett City, Willimantic and New London, as well as visiting knights from out of town.

Following the addresses of the evening dancing was enjoyed until 12:00 o'clock with music by D'Atri's Wauregan Orchestra during which such musical hits as Pale Moon, Indian Dawn, Titina, Oh Lady Be Good and Baby Dolls, were played in splendid harmony.

Officers of Wauregan lodge, No. 6, during the present term are as follow: Chancellor commander, Rudolph Henschel; vice chancellor, Dr. B. M. Goldberg; prelate, George Schiller; master of works, Samuel Ableman; K. of R. & S., Aaron Segal; master at arms, Philip Hertz, M. of E., James E. Smith; M. of F., Harry Schwartz; inner guard, Fred Herinqa, outer guard, J. J. Zimmerman.

The success of the 56th anniversary banquet was due to the untiring efforts of Dr. Paul A. Schwartz who was general chairman, and his assistants, Rudolph Henschel, Simon Mandel, Maurice Epstein, Fred Herman, Philip Hertz, Robert Goldstein, Barney Rubinstein and Dr. B. M. Goldberg.

JARVIS PITCHES ACADEMY TEAM TO VICTORY OVER CHAPMAN TECH, 4 TO 3

Lloyd Jarvis, the Academy's portside pitching ace hurled a brilliant game against Chapman Tech Wednesday afternoon, winning by the close score of 4 to 3. Not only did he pitch a nice game but his hitting also figured in the scoring as his long sacrifice fly to centerfield in the fifth inning accounted for two Academy runs. Morris Brown, the dusky hurler for Tech, pitched a good game but his wildness in the fifth inning when he passed two men was his undoing. Jarvis fanned seven and held the Tech boys to four scattered singles. Brown on the other hand fanned ten men, allowed seven hits and walked four men and hit another.

Jarvis should have had a shutout to his credit but for a few lax plays on the part of his team mates, the Academy players making six errors behind him.

The first few innings saw the Academy playing loose ball but after the second inning they tightened up and played good baseball. The visitors threatened in the first frame when errors by Burke and Carroll put men on bases but fast fielding kept them from crossing the plate.

The Academy scored in the first inning. Carroll fanned. Mc Gowan shot a sharp single to center and stole second. Jarvis walked and McGowan went to third on Hinricks out. Brewer brought McGowan home with the first score on a sharp hit to short. Jarvis being held to third. Cimikoski was an infield out.

Chapman got its first counter in the first of the second when Carroll fumbled Montgomery's roller. Gero was out, Carlin to Burke. Montgomery going to second.

Montgomery scored when Cimikoski got M. Brown's hit go through his legs. Chapman added another run in the third inning when Ruddy Courbois slashed a line drive to center. Johnny Greene let the ball get away from him in trying to make a shoe-string catch and Courbois pulled up at third. He scored a minute later when Johnny Brown hit through the infield.

Chapman's other score came in the first of the eighth when Jarvis hit the first man up. Courbois sacrificed Hewitt to third and he scored on Aquillo's infield out. This ended Chapman's scoring and practically eliminated her from the pennant race.

The Academy went scoreless in the second, third and fourth innings but in the fifth was presented with two runs. Greene, the first man up in this inning drew a pass. He went to second on Carlins sacrifice. Carroll was walked and McGowan was hit filling the bases. Lloyd Jarvis lined a long fly out to centerfield that Courbois caught after a long run but fell and before he could recover Green and Carroll had scored.

In the seventh inning the Academy scored the winning run. Greene was walked and stole second and Carlin bunted beating the trough to first after the attempt to get Green had failed. Green scored when McGowan worked the squeeze play but Carlin in attempting to score from second was caught at the plate.

One of the brilliant spots in the game was when Brown fanned three Academy batters in the sixth inning on nine pitched balls. Jarvis in the ninth inning almost duplicated striking out two men and the third filed out to Eddie Brewer.

Hank Morin who umpired kept the game snappy and was on the job every minutes. It was a pleasure to watch him work and both teams got all that was coming to them. The score:

WINS 75,000 POUNDS ON ENGLISH DERBY RACE

Liverpool, England, May 27—James Carew, an employee of a shipping firm here, won nearly £75,000 sterling by holding the coveted winning ticket of the Calcutta sweepstake on the Derby, the world's greatest racing prize. Carew will have to give one-fourth of the prize money to a London firm that bought a quarter interest in his ticket as Manna, the winner, for £2,000 sterling.

Another quarter of Carew's sweepstake coin also will have to be given away, for he sold a second fourth in his ticket for £2,500. Carew will have to be satisfied with half the prize, about $190,000.

Showing that luck never comes singly, Carew learned today that he was entered in another sweepstake in Hull by a friend and had drawn Manna in that, which brings him another £50 in prize money.

Asked how it seemed to be such a big winner, Carew said, "I feel very comfortable about it. This morning in order to keep out of excitement, I left my office in good time, went home, had lunch and at 3:30 o'clock I went to bed. I lighted my pipe, closed my eyes and smoked peacefully."

Carew was "smoking peacefully" when Manna romped home to make him independent for life. He says he does not know what he intends to do with the money but that he will give some of it to a Roman Catholic Girls' orphanage at Great Crosby.

WINDHAM MAKES LAST CHANGES FOR BULKELEY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 27—Coach T. A. Callaghan of the Windham High school team announced after practice Wednesday afternoon that he had decided to effect several changes for tomorrow's game with Bulkeley at Recreation Park. The most radical of these is the transfer of M. Usher, leading hitter whose defensive work at third has been dragged to the outfield. Haggerty has been assigned to third. Haggerty has shared the pitching burden with Johnny Melia, who starts against Bulkeley and he will continue to do so. Haggerty, however, in the remaining games of the locals schedule will be stationed at third when Melia is on the mound.

Usher will supplant Sawicki in right field while Sawicki replaces Merrill in left. Merrill has been benched because of his weak batting. In practice today Usher performed well in the outfield and the team showed up to much better advantage, the infield especially showing accuracy of Mr. Callaghan's judgment. Haggerty two seasons ago played the shortfield for Windham but owing to the lack of pitching material Coach Callaghan decided to make him a hurler. As a moundsman Haggerty has shown up well despite his failure to turn in a victory which was not wholly his fault, the defensive work of his teammates being below par.

With these changes Coach Callaghan believes that Bulkeley will find stiffer opposition than was expected at the first of the week. The members of the squad are not confident, for they are aware of the real strength of the New London team which local people believe to be headed for the state title. However Windham players are a determined lot. Odds favor the visitors by a wide margin but Windham is from all appearances not believers in advance dope. Their followers do not become enthusiastic when asked as to the possible outcome. Leaving all judgment aside who knows but what after 7 setbacks under any ordinary circumstances would have discouraged any team this determination in the face of odds will turn almost certain defeat into victory.

SMITH TURNS IN LOW SCORE FOR QUALIFYING ROUND

Longbeach, N. Y., May 27—Seventy-four leading golfers of the east and Emmet Harper of Youngstown, Ohio, passed their first test in the eastern district trial rounds of the national open golf tournament today.

They played their 18 hole allotments in 84 or better, thereby assuring their participation in the second half of the necessary thirty-six which will be played on Friday. Tomorrow 65 or more, who did not appear today on account of the record entry in the eastern division, will be selected for the final play of the qualifications.

MacDonald Smith, touted as the winner of the open championship as a result of his tremendous performances through the winter competitions, set a furious pace today, posting an exceptional seventy in which he scored six birdies. He was two under par for the round, breaking the competitive record of 71.

Surprise came early when Martin J. McLoughlin of Plainfield, N. J., reported a 73 and he stands tonight second to Smith. Later there came another bolt from Nantucket, Mass., when John G. Gurley turned in a 74, destined to prove their place figures. H. C. Lagerblade of Bristol, Conn., repeated the performance of Chrley and brought another dark horse into the first line of combatants.

The veteran Pat Doyle playing a steady game throughout drove his way to a 75, and a position ahead of many of the more favored stars of the links. Then came some names well known to every follower of golf, Walter Hagen, Joe Kirkwood, Tommy Armour, Francis Ouimet, and Fred McLeod.

The Greeneville Rosedales are without games for Sunday and June 7th. The Rosedales would especially like to hear from the Hardigs, Yantic Mills team, Robert Gair, Yantic Grain, Hallville, Westerly, or the Jewett City Speedboys. For games call 521-3 or get in touch with M. Goldblatt, 432 No. Main street, Norwich.

TAFTVILLE WILL OPEN BASEBALL SEASON ON MEMORIAL DAY AGAINST NEW LONDON

Taftville, that thriving little suburb of Norwich, will make its entry into the 1925 baseball scenes on Saturday of the Providence street grounds when the Taftville A. A. team will clash with the fast Tabs of the New London Twilight league. This game will be the first of a schedule of stellar baseball attractions that Manager Jim Treland is arranging.

This game is more or less of a tryout game for the team and should prove a good attraction as the Tabs are contenders for the New London title against such teams as the Sub Base and Socony teams, rated as the best in the eastern part of the state. Manager Treland expects to use either Marry Mills or Lefty Dugas in the box with Eccleston on the receiving end. Later in the season he is to get the services of Lloyd Jarvis of the Academy squad and when he gets Jarvis he gets one sweet little pitcher.

Leo Jarvis, elder brother of Lloyd, has been appointed coach and field captain for the Taftville team and will play the outfield and also do some of the pitching. Dolph Dugas will cover the initial sack with Bog Cardin at the keystone position. Chip Dugas, the grand old man of baseball, will be seen again at the third sack. Chip is going better today than he did when there were fewer gray hairs on that wise old head of his. Gauthier will cover short. In the outfield will be Leo Jarvis, Lloyd Jarvis, later in the season, Eddie, Joubert, Gaudette and Lucier.

The Tabs will use Dickenson in the box, the boy who allowed Westerly only two hits and beat them 1 to 0 in a game that is now down in history. The remainder of the Tabs lineup will be Ryan lf; Bukewsky 2b; McInnies ss; Angelier 3b; Selewsky c; Falvey of Denton rf. Of this lineup outside of Dickenson the best known player is Joe McInnies who has played at the State hospital last year and also with the Duwell club. The others on the team are equally as good and it is expected that the game will be well worth seeing.

SUB BASE SWAMPS COAST GUARD TEAM 18 TO 3

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 27—The Submarine Base swamped the nine from the Coast Guard Base No. 4 in a city league twilight game here this evening by a score of 18 to 3. Errors on the part of the Coast Guard figured largely in the final score. The base running of the Sub Base was wild, the over throw to catch them at various stations added to the scores attaind.

The going was too rough for Morrison and he retired in favor of Hale in the fifth inning. Hale was wild and when he did put one over the plate, the Sub Babe batters shelled it to all corners of the lot scoring five times. The game was called in the fifth inning on account of the approaching darkness.

Anctil, catcher for the Base, led the hitting with three safe drives out of four times at the plate. Score:

MEHLHORN LEADS FIELD IN WESTERN TRYOUTS

Chicago, May 27—Bill Mehlhorn of the Westmoreland club, of Chicago, western open champion, took the lead today in the midwestern elimination play of the national open golf championship at Oawentsia by scoring 33-38-71, compared with par 35-36-71 for the 6,440 yard course.

Larry Nabholtz, of Cleveland, Lloyd Gullickson, of Columbus, and Laurie Ayton, of Chicago, scored 72 each.

Chick Evans, of Chicago, former national and open amateur champion, outstripped the amateurs in spite of a recent illness, and scored 37-37-74 to nose out Bog Gardner, twice national amateur champion, by one stroke.

Harry Hampton, of Memphis, and Alex Cunningham, of Toledo, tied for fifth place with 78, while eight other players shared 74 with Evans, including Hock Hutchison, formerly British open champion.

RUSSELL WINS TENNIS TITLE IN N. E. TOURNEY

Brookline, Mass, May 27—Joseph E. Russell, of Manila, P. I., captain of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology tennis team, combined steadiness with a varied service today to win the New England intercollegiate tennis singles championship on the courts of the Longwood Cricket club. He defeated Franklin P. Osgood, of Pleasantville, N. Y., Dartmouth tennis captain, in a hard fought 4-set 6-0, 6-2, 1-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Osgood teamed with his college mate, K. Boyd, won the doubles title for Dartmouth in the afternoon, the two defeating Clifford Marsh, last year's singles champion, and Mills P. Baker, the Williams captain. The scores were match 6-2, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.

THURSTON WINS PLACE IN CONN. TENNIS SEMI-FINALS

New Haven, May 27—J. W. Thurston, of the Hartford golf club, by persistent play, has won a place in the semi-finas in the state tennis championship matches being held here. Mr. Thurston is called by many the "iron man" of Connecticut tennis, playing two and three matches daily with much younger opponents.

Today's games resulted as follows:

Second round singles:

A—L. Hopkins, Yale, defeated F. C. Miller, Yale, 6-4, 8-7, 6-0. Harold Egan, Beaver Hills, defeated J. W. Wheeler Bridgeport 6-2 6-4; H. L. Hopkins, defeated R. G. Newell, 6-2 1-6, 6-2; Kingdom Jackson, Yale, defeated E. T. Merrick, Yale, 6-1, 6-3 and Arnold Jones, Yale, defeated E. Sargeant, Lawn club, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

BEACON TEAM OF NEW BEDFORD AFTER GAMES IN NORWICH

The Beacon team of New Bedford of which John Sedden, a former Taftville boy is manager, would like to schedule a game with the leading teams in this section. They especially challenge the Riverview club, J. B. Martin team, Socony team of New London, Danielson Town team, Plainfield, Taftville or Sub Base. The manager of the Beacons has seen all the above teams in action and is confident that his team is fast enough to take the measure of any of them. Write to John Sedden, 819 Acushnet Ave., New Bedford, Mass.

BULKELEY CONFIDENT OF WINNING FROM WINDHAM

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 27—Close adherence to a home schedule which was promised by the Bulkeley baseball management has been approved by a large attendance at almost every game played by the Orange and Black this season. Besides the New York trip which was had last month, Bulkeley has appeared on foreign fields but once besides that time. That was in Norwich this month, and for the second time this month the Nine will appear on a foreign territory when it opposes Windham High at Willimantic on this (Thursday) afternoon. The only other appearance of the local nine out of town will be against South Manchester in that town on June 4th.

Due to the fact that a majority of the members of the nine are juniors, little has been done in the practice line since the first of the week. This has been due to the examinations which are being held now, and the preparations for these with the customary hour and a half in the class room which is one of the requisites to be undergone in each study, the players were forced to do some work off the diamond. The examination period will not terminate until Friday, and with the dual track meet which is scheduled for that day and the exams, the players have to take things easy on the ball field. The game with Windham is the only means of breaking away from the stringent rules regarding study.

Dazzy Parisi will toe the slab for the locals. It was the original intention of Coach Canty to start Parisi and to hold Daniels in reserve. Then there is Montali who can be pressed into service. Daniels is being saved for the game with Crosby High which comes on Saturday at the Submarine Base. In the game tomorrow with Windham Daniels will be seen in right field.

While it is a secret with most every fan in this city, yet there is a certain amount of uneasiness among the players for the fear that Daniels has suffered a relapse from the strain to his side. He hurt himself in the game with New Haven Hillhouse, but had kept the matter under cover, the members of the nine being the only individuals who have any knowledge of his ailment and a select few. Daniels will continue to take things easy and the game with Crosby High will determine whether he is right or whether the ailment is still obnoxious to his movements.

LAST AMERICAN IS OUT OF BRITISH GOLF TOURNEY

Westward Ho, England, May 27—America's chances for victory in the 1925 British golf championship were crushed today when Douglas Grant, the lone American survivor, was eliminated by R. W. Crummack, the Lancashire champion.

The play over the rain-soaked links reduced the amateur championship field to eight players. The Argentine champion, J. L. Cruickshank, who brilliantly disposed of his opponent, H. H. Hodge of the St. George's Hill club, was regarded by the experts as likely to be the contender in the finals, probably against the Scotchman, Robert Harris, who is co-favorite.

Cruickshank surmounted the difficulties of casual water and heavy greens, which were added to those already existing on the course, without faltering and has been picked to defeat Noel Layton, a sturdy and experienced match player, in the sixth round tomorrow, and then to enter the semi-finals.

In the fourth round Cruickshank lived up to the expectations of the gallery which followed him, by almost perfect play on the homeward half, winning by two holes on the home green after turning one down. F. Thompson of Wearside, who defeated Cyril Tolley yesterday, was a disappointment, failing to produce anything like steady golf, and went down before Lieut. Boumphrey at the 16th.

The defeat of the former Californian, Douglas Grant, by Crummack was the sensation of the round. Grant started well, but began faltering after the third hole and failed to play up to the standard again.

Harris had a seesaw match with Major C. O. Hezlet, neither playing brilliantly, but the Scotchman holed a long putt for a dormie two at the sixteenth and halved the seventeenth.

The match between H. S. T. Tubbs, Stinchcombe Hill, and the Hon. Michael Scott, Royal North Devon, was a continual sensation, even to the extent of requiring a shed to be removed so that the ball could be played.

HOMER BY MEUSEL GIVES YANKS GAME OVER RED SOX

New York, May 27—New York staged a slugfest in the sixth inning today, scoring four runs and defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 3. Bob Meusel's 10th home run of the season with two on base featured the Yankees' productive inning. Score:

MANNA WINS FAMOUS ENGLISH DERBY CLASSIC

Epsom Downs, England, May 27—Manna, by Pharasis out of Waffles, and owned by H. E. Morriss, won the derby today. Steven Donoghue had the mount and passed the winning post full eight lengths in advance of the field of 23 runners, winning for the sixth time this most highly coveted of English turf classics.

Donoghue pushed his mount in front from the start and kept him there, rounding the difficult Tattenham corner with such ease that he completed the mile and a half course without pulling up, while those behind him were using whip and heels.

The much fancied Zionist of H. H. Aga Khan was second, and two lengths further back in third place came the Sirdar, the entry of the American A. K. Macomber. The time for the distance was 2 minutes 40 3-5 seconds.

Lord Astor's Crown Prince, which reigned favorite for the last week, and Lord Derby's Conquistador, second favorite, the French hope Ptolemy II, Runnymede and others fought for places, but the soft track kept them well in the rear.

POSTOFFICE SETS BETTER MAILING MARK

For the purpose of educating the people of the country to the fact that carelessness of those who use the mail service is causing a waste of $2,000,000 a year the period from June 1 to 7 has been designated as Better Mailing Week and in a variety of ways information will be imparted that will tend to check the financial waste and help the postal employes to handle more expediously the matter that is deposited for transportation.

Thousands of pieces of mail are held up every year in every postoffice that could just as well reach their destinations promptly or be returned to the senders if those who put the matter in the mails would take more pains with the directions and place their own addresses on the letters and packages. It is not always possible to solve the correct address of a person you want to reach by mail, but the postoffice department truly says "Every man knows his own address if not that of his correspondent," and to fail to place it on mail is to invite delay and frequently serious disappointment.

Where Letters Go

Some idea of the necessity of greater care may be gained by the following figures:

21,000,000 letters went to the dead letter office last year.
803,000 parcels and likewise.
100,000 letters go into the mail yearly in perfectly blank envelopes.
$50,000 in cash is removed annually from misdirected envelopes.
$12,000 in checks, drafts and money orders never reach intended owners.

Uncle Sam collects $92,000 a year in postage for the return of mail sent to the dead letter office.

It costs Uncle Sam $1,740,000 yearly to look up addresses on misdirected mail.

200,000,000 letters are given this service.

If every person who uses the postal service would place his own address on the material he tries to send, the dead letter office could be dispensed with and that would be a step in economy that would be well worth the effort.

Insufficient Postage

Many persons still fail to affix a sufficient amount of postage to their mail. Some do not put on any stamps and then wonder why their letters are not forwarded. Some forget to furnish any address and in many cases the directions are so faulty that it is out of the question to deliver to the persons for whom they are intended.

When you drop a piece of mail in the postoffice be sure that it has:

Your own address in the upper left hand corner.

That it carries sufficient postage.

That it is legibly addressed, bearing whenever possible the street and number of the person for whom it is intended.

Whenever possible mail at the main office and remember that the sooner you get it into the office the quicker it will reach its destination.

Postal clerks solve many hard puzzles, but they cannot be expected to qualify as mind readers. Do your part and they will be only too glad to give you the very best service that is possible.

Speakers at Italian Supper.

Rev. E. E. Gates of Hartford, secretary of the Connecticut Baptist convention, Rev. John D. Tiberio of Providence, president of the Italian Baptist Association of America, and Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt of the Central Baptist church, are to be the speakers at the Italian supper to be given at the church this (Thursday) evening.

Queen Mary quietly celebrated in London the fifty-eighth anniversary of her birth. She received a great flood of congratulations from all parts of the country and the most distant domains of the empire.

Stiff, Swollen, Painful Joints Quickly Relieved This New Way or No Cost

Enlarged, swollen, painful, stiff joints, whether it be in the foot, ankle, knee, thigh, wrist, elbow or fingers of your hand, are always traced to a congestion caused by poisons which have been let free in the blood as a result of faulty digestion and delayed elimination of the bowels. Particularly in cases of people who must stand on their feet any length of time, constant pressure is placed on the congestion about the foot, ankle and knee joints so that the circulation of blood is almost clogged up and stopped. Unless relief is had, the joints become swollen, enlarged and extremely painful.

Medical science, having long known that internal medicines are of no help, has now discovered a combination of rare oils, known as Buhler Oil, which when rubbed on the stiff, swollen or enlarged joint, is absorbed at once by the skin tissues and penetrates down deep to the seat of pain, relieving the congestion by expanding the blood vessels thus drawing new fresh blood to the affected part and helping the blood carry away the clogged-up pain-causing poisons.

So wonderful—so quick—are the results of this new scientific pain-killing remedy called Buhler Oil that it is absolutely guaranteed. Get a bottle now—today. Use it freely for one week, then if you are not delighted and amazed with your pain relief your druggist is authorized to refund your money instantly.

There is no sticky mess, no staining of clothes. It will not burn nor blister and will not irritate even the most sensitive skin. You can get Buhler Oil at any of the following good drug stores: Lee & Osgood Co., Andrew McLaughlin, J. A. Morgan, G. G. Engler, Geo. M. Rathbone.

WILL UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO BRIDE BROOK WEDDING

The East Lyme historical society, at its meeting on Friday, June fifth, will unveil a memorial to the romantic and historic Bride Brook wedding. Bride Brook was the boundary between Saybrook Colony and New London Plantation. A great snow storm having prevented their own magistrate from reaching them and Governor Winthrop not being authorized to act beyond his own jurisdiction, Jonathan Rudd and his bride, whose name is not now known, met the governor at the boundary and were married across the stream. Litigation arising later over the western bounds of New London, Winthrop's testimony concerning this wedding became a part of the Colonial archives.

The unveiling will take place at one o'clock p. m., standard time. There will be addresses by His Excellency Governor Trumbull, Senator Hiram Bingham, a descendant of Jonathan Rudd, Congressman Freeman and sketches of Saybrook and New London by Mrs. Elizabeth Beach and State Treasurer Ernest E. Rogers.

The Thomas Lee house, near Bride Brook, will be open in the morning for the reception of Rudd descendants who will be entertained at luncheon by the society, while the New London members will entertain the governor's party and speakers. For other early arrivals basket luncheon will be in order.

These meetings are open and free to all interested in colonial history.

George Griswold is president and Miss C. E. Bush, secretary, of the historical society.

Y "LEARN TO SWIM" CAMPAIGN OPENS MONDAY

All boys of Norwich and vicinity who cannot swim are offered the opportunity of the free course of swimming lessons to be offered by the local Y. M. C. A. in their "learn to swim" campaign, which is to be conducted in the big "Y" pool beginning next Monday afternoon.

Swimming is a valuable accomplishment and each summer becoming more popular as a summer sport, in addition to affording much wholesome exercise and pleasure, one can never tell when he will be called upon to use his ability in rescuing a life.

With the summer season near at hand, parents should encourage their boys to enroll in the Y course, where they have an opportunity to learn the fundamental points in the art of swimming under favorable conditions.

The lessons will be open to all boys between the ages of 11-18 and the classes will meet each Monday, Wednesday and Friday for two weeks. Separate groups will be arranged for the school boys in the afternoon, while the evening classes will be conducted to accomodate the boys who work.

The "more the merrier" is the slogan, and every boy who is willing to bring a towel with him and attend the lessons with regularity is welcome to enroll in the course.

Boys between 11 and 18 who want to enroll for the lessons can do so by sending to the association their names age, address, phone number and the names of their parents.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Home of the King

A mate, a home, a parent's task—
What more may anybody ask?

—King Eagle.

On great, strong wings that carried him swiftly King Eagle headed for the Big Mountain and a certain tall pine tree that grew on the side of it. In that tree was the home of a King, his home. He is one king who does not live in a palace. Being one of the feathered folk, his home is a nest, but such a nest as no other folk possess.

That home was older than Farmer Brown's Boy. Yes, sir; King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle were raising a pair of babies in that very nest when Farmer Brown's boy was born. It was smaller, much smaller then, but it was the very same nest, or at least a part of the very same nest, to which King Eagle was taking that fish now. It was the only home King Eagle had known since leaving the nest in which he was born. It was the home which he and Mrs. Eagle had started housekeeping in years ago. He loved every stick in it and so did she.

It was built chiefly of sticks. There were some big ones in the foundations. They had planned it to be their home always and so they had made those foundations in the great pine strong. Each year they had added something to the nest, so that now it was more than three times as big as it had been when they sent their first children out into the Great World. And how they loved it!

King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle had mated for life. They believe in the home and that the true home depends on a partnership for life. So neither had ever had any other mate. Through good years and bad years, in times of plenty and in times of little food, they had remained true to each other and to their home, and each year they had sent two or three children out into the Great World. Fitted indeed is the Eagle to be the living emblem of America, for in his own life he represents the best in loyal and true home life which is the very foundation of the best in national life.

For a while she rested.

Straight to his home flew King Eagle, and there waiting for their breakfast were two hungry babies still more or less covered with white down, through which the dark feathers were beginning to show. They had the hooked bills which Old Mother Nature gives only to those who must tear apart their food, and already they knew how to use them, as they soon proved on that fish. King Eagle watched them from a perch just outside the nest, until presently he saw Mrs. Eagle headed that way with more food. Then with a last prideful look he started off to hunt once more.

"They take a lot of food, those two youngsters," said King Eagle, as he flew. "They take a lot of food and it takes a lot of hunting to get it. But they are worth all the trouble they cost and more. I have sent some fine children out into the Great World, but none finer than those two back there. (King Eagle said this very thing every year.) My, such appetites! I do hope their mother brought enough to fill them for a while. I'm getting rather hungry myself."

Meanwhile Mrs. Eagle had brought back a treat—a duck, from which she stripped the feathers and which she tore apart before giving to the Eaglets. For a while she rested. Then as the babies closed their eyes for a nap she, too, resumed hunting, for she knew that she must eat in order to keep well and fit to hunt for these growing children. Meat and fish they must have, and these could be obtained only by constant hunting. It would be weeks before these children could hunt for themselves.

Steve Slankowitz of Preston was presented in the Preston court Tuesday and fined $5 on a charge of intoxication, $5 on a charge of breach of the peace, $10 on a charge of assault, and $25 on a charge of interfering with a policeman. He went to jail.

Slankowitz's difficulties began about four days ago when he was arrested by State Policeman Caron and found guilty of violating the liquor law. A fine was imposed at that time. Caron, by way of arrangement, went to the house of Slankowitz Tuesday to collect the fine. He was met at the door by Slankowitz, who attempted to beat up the policeman. He was subdued however, and again taken into custody. He will work out his fines in jail.

As if an answer to present needs and following numerous complaints about the newly beacon frogs in Dixon square, a large traffic beacon with lettering Turn to the Right, the duplicate of the one on West Broad street, mysteriously made its appearance there about 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

Police officers on each side of the river, absent from nearby posts a short time, by calls elsewhere, could not explain its appearance. The base is a solid cement one weighing nearly a ton and was last known to have been located near the stone crusher on the top of Quarry Hill and not of easy transportation. Later in the evening the three frogs were found placed in a similar triangular form on the front lawn of the Grove avenue residence of Police Commissioner Utter who generally superintends the marking of traffic regulations in Westerly.

HOUSE DEBATES MUCH TIME TO CONSIDERATION OF SCHOOL BILL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, May 28.—The appropriations committee this morning reported out favorably an appropriation of $50,000 for an administration building at the "Dome-on-Frances." The present building will be utilized to provide more rooms for patients.

The stream pollution bill passed last week carried no appropriation. It being stated at the time that it was not yet determined how much would be needed to begin the work. Today the committee recommended $50,000 for the two fiscal years beginning July 1, 1925.

The newly formed commission on "forests and wild life" was today given an appropriation to start the acquisition of lands. Several large tracts have been donated. The bill reads:

"The sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars is appropriated to the commission on forests and wild life for the purchase of land under the provisions of chapter 8 of the public acts of 1925, and the expenses incidental thereto, and to pay the necessary expenses of said commission in carrying out the provisions of said chapter."

Resolutions were offered appointing George R. Torrey, judge and Arthur C. Danaher, deputy judge of the town court of Plainfield.

The judiciary committee reported a bill that amends the act providing for the examination of jurors. It is aimed at the perennial or professional juror in that it provides that upon the motion of either party in any action, civil or criminal, the judge shall excuse from service in such action any juror who shall have served within a period of five years on any jury in the court in which such action is pending.

A bill of general interest to medical examiners and coroners passed reads: Section 2236 of the general statutes is amended to read as follows: The following fees shall be paid by the coroner: A sum not exceeding five dollars for services rendered in bringing to land the dead body of a person found in any of the waters of his county; for any necessary photographs, a reasonable sum; for the keeping and removing dead bodies, and other incidental expenses, a reasonable sum; to the medical examiner, that sum paid by him to the person first reporting a death and fifteen cents per mile, actual mileage, for travel; for an external examination only, the sum of ten dollars; for an autopsy, thirty dollars; to each juror, one dollar per day and actual travel at fifteen cents per mile; to the officer serving any process or papers, the same fees as for similar services required in criminal prosecutions; and for attendance on the coroner when requested, three dollars per day; to witnesses, the same fees as in criminal prosecutions; but police officers of cities shall not be paid any fees by the coroner for serving papers or for testifying before or attending on him. Coroners shall receive, to be paid quarterly, for each day necessarily employed, fifteen dollars, and for each legal page of records and copies necessarily made after the termination of an inquest, forty cents.

A report was received that authorizes the state psychiatric commission to secure options on lands suitable for a hospital and secure plans and estimates for buildings and maintenance and report the same to the next general assembly in 1927.

A bill was also received which would give the governor the right to appoint special counsel to secure condemnation of land belonging to the McCook estate, at Crescent Beach, desired by the tuberculosis commission for an addition to the sanatorium there, and appropriating $35,000 or as much as may be necessary to secure the land. The engineer's specifications indicate that about five acres are wanted.

Boxing Bill Passed.

The house without debate adopted the bill which sets up a single athletic commissioner to have control of boxing and wrestling, a bill which gives almost autocratic power to the commissioner with no right of appeal to an aggrieved person who may have been deprived of the right to box or wrestle or promote an exhibition, or who may have been penalized for some infraction of regulations made by the commissioner.

Senate Amends Compensation Bill.

The senate unexpectedly amended the workmen's compensation bill by reducing to $21 the maximum amount of compensation receivable in case of injury. The present law is $18 and the judiciary committee unanimously made the figures $24. This was one of a very few instances wherein the senate had rejected a specific recommendation of the judiciary committee. The bill which had passed the house now goes back to that body.

House

The house was called to order at 10:35 by Speaker Darble and prayer was made by Chaplain Lewis.

Tuesday's senate business was received and concurrence was voted with the senate in their action. It was voted that when the house adjourns Thursday it be till Friday at 10:30, and on Friday it adjourns until Monday at 10:30. On motion of Chairman Lynch of the cities and boroughs committee, called from the table H. B. 776, the New Haven school and offered an amendment that provided that the entire amount of the one and one-half mill tax shall be expended for school purposes. The amendment was promptly passed. Representative Hoyt of New Haven, offered an amendment that would require a referendum vote before the act becomes effective. This was opposed by Mr. Lynch because the purpose of the act was intended to bring the practice of New Haven in accord with the fundamental law of the state. The school affairs of New Haven are in a chaotic condition and this act will clarify them.

Judge Hoyt spoke in favor of his amendment and deemed that conditions were as represented by Mr. Lynch. He did not believe the people of New Haven wanted this bill passed with the exception of a few, and the people of the city should be the ones to determine this question. This they can do if they are granted the referendum. Mr. Hoyt also made a plea for an opportunity for the people of New Haven to vote upon this question. Miss Cheney of Manchester, said that the bill gave the board of finance power to increase or decrease the expenditure for school purposes. She stated the case of West Haven as one town that had recently consolidated its school districts of the town. They were not provided by this provision. Mr. Averill of Branford, said that this was not so. The board of education of West Haven had to submit their budget to the town officers for approval and for appropriations. Lindell of Ashford, gave his support to the amendment. Hill of Stratton, said he had not much sympathy in a referendum vote in his own last week. Sixteen per cent. came to the polls to vote on a large bond issue for his town.

He doubted if any great number would vote if given the opportunity. The finance board of all towns should have control of all financial matters.

Judge Peck of Bristol was of the opinion that referendum should be included in the bill as asked for by the united delegation from New Haven, of four senators and two representatives. Mrs. Alsop of Avon supported the amendment. Judge Alling of New Britain said that if the amendment was passed it would give New Haven powers that have been denied other towns. Mr. Lynch said that in view of the way the discussion had taken he felt that he was compelled to review the conditions existing in New Haven. The real question is, whether the board of education should be allowed to conduct school matters without regard for law, or not. Shall they be allowed to demand any amount they desire and refuse to submit any statement as to what was to be done with it. The bill is desired by the aldermanic board consisting of eighteen democrats and fifteen republicans. They voted without a dissenting vote in favor of the bill. The board of finance also equally divided had voted unanimously for its passage.

The previous question was ordered and resulted in the rejection of the amendment by a vote of 198 yeas and 30 nays. Rep. Cheney asked that the members stop playing politics and vote the bill down. Children in New Haven were being denied the right to attend school on account of lack of accommodations, that are sought by the school board, and could be denied by the finance board if this bill is passed.

Mr. Sturges of Woodbury said that no school board in the state had the right to build school buildings without approval of the town. No finance board should be given power to dictate as to how the studies of the school should be conducted. He thought the bill should be fundamentally amended and Mr Lynch offered an amendment that overcame the objections of Mr. Sturges. Judge Hoyt again objected to the bill. Mr. Averill of Branford said the bill had been before the house since March 24 and no opposition has been offered till now when adjournment was near.

Doubt being raised as to the passage of the bill a standing vote was taken and resulted in its passage by a vote of 107 yeas and 88 nays.

The weights and measures bill that has been on the table for some time was called up and passed. It provides a penalty for any person who shall falsify or pay for any commodity less than he received.

Senate

Lieutenant Governor Brainard called the senate to order at 10:35. Chaplain Ayer offered prayer.

On the unfavorable report of the committee on fish and game the bill relating to the licensing of resident citizens for fishing in the marine district was rejected. Senator Pelton, the chairman of the committee said the subject matter of the bill was taken care of in another bill.

The house amendment to the bill favorably reported by the committee on state parks and reservations, directing the state geological and natural survey commission to investigate and report on the potable water resources of the state was accepted.

On the favorable report of the committee on military affairs the senate passed a resolution to pay the widow of George W. Merry the balance of the salary which he would have received had he lived until January 1, 1926. Mr. Merry was employed at the state armory. His widow will receive about $1,000 under the resolution.

The committee on appropriations reported favorably on the bill appropriating $60,000 to the tuberculosis commission for the erection and equipment for an administration X-ray and laboratory building at the Norwich sanatorium. The bill was tabled for calendar.

The committee on appropriations reported favorably on a bill to appropriate $50,000 for the use of the commission on the pollution of streams, designated as "the state water commission." The bill was tabled for calendar.

COMPENSATION AWARD FOR MOTHER'S DEATH

Mrs. Charlotte A. Page of Quaker Hill, dependant daughter of the late Elizabeth Sonk of Mystic, is beneficiary under a workmen's compensation finding and award made by Compensation Commissioner J. J. Donohue against the Mystic Oral school of Mystic. The claimant is awarded $100 funeral expenses, $150 to pay medical and surgical bill of Dr. E. A. Henkle and a bill for $71.43 from the Home Memorial hospital. Mrs. Page is also awarded $9.27 a week beginning April 30 and to continue in weekly payments for a period not to exceed 312 weeks.

The average weekly wages of Mrs. Sonk, the decedent, were $28.56. On July 1, 1924, while in the duties at the school as housekeeper, Mrs. Sonk sustained an injury, which was found to be a hernia, no disability of any special note.

She continued as housekeeper up to April 15, of the present year, on which day the hernia became strangulated during her attempt to lift a heavy kettle from the stove, causing immediate incapacity and her removal to the Home Memorial hospital, where an operation was performed on April 17, 1925. Her death followed.

Mrs. Sonk contributed a considerable portion of her wages to her husband toward the support of her family, the husband of the claimant not being able to fully support his family, according to evidence introduced.

Considering the evidence, and taking into consideration the personal expenses of Mrs. Sonk, such as wearing apparel and other necessary incidentals; also considering the expenses incidental to the purchase of an auto and its running expenses, the decedent having purchased a car a few months prior to her death, it is found that the sum remaining from her wages which would be available as a contribution toward the claimant's family expenses would amount to $9.27 a week, claimant therefore being found to be a partial dependent on the decedent and the measure of said dependency being $9.27 a week, in view of the defendant's claim that her mother contributed about all her wages toward the support of the Page family.

$20,000 BEQUEST TO COLCHESTER WOMAN

Under the will of her father, the late Luther N. Curtis of Suffield, who left a net estate of $216,451 when he died Aug. 6, 1924, Mrs. Jennie E. Burpee of Colchester, a sister, is bequeathed $20,000 and William S. Curtis of Colchester, a brother, $5,000.

Other bequests include: Claudine M. J. Curtis, widow, realty, valued at $10,000; pictures, furniture, etc., valued at $1,051; cash, $60,000, and half of the residue.

Emily C. French, daughter, of Springfield, $30,000, and the remaining half of the residue.

After deducting the sum of the direct bequests, $125,351, the residue of $91,100 is to be equally divided between Mrs. French and her mother.

EXPERIENCED WOMAN'S SWEET TOOTH GETS HIM IN BAD AT NEW LONDON

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 27—Raymond D. Grover, who claims his only relatives are residents at Norwich, was charged in the police court this morning with having stolen a pocketbook containing $11, belonging to Emma Thorpe, from the Woolworth store in this city. Miss Thorpe came here from Waterford. She was busy in making selections and left her pocketbook on a counter. Grover is said to have a liking for candy such as is sold in 5 and ten cent stores, and for that reason he has been considerable loitering in the store, the time when the Thorpe pocketbook was missed so attention was directed to him as the party who had the opportunity to take it. The management of the store called up the police and asked for the arrest of the man described. That meant Grover and he was taken into custody. The description was so distinctive that no trouble was experienced in getting the man wanted. Grover is a war veteran and it was explained in court that he might be suffering from shell shock. He appeared to be a bit queer. He said he did not think he was stealing, though he took the cash from the pocketbook and left the receptacle where he found it. Grover was examined by Dr. Cheney after his case had been postponed and he was placed in the custody of Probation Officer Mansfield. He was released later in the day.

Gus Olsen gave up his job at the New London Ship and Engine company plant a few days ago without even "shaking hands with anybody there" as he declares at the time. Then Gus seems to have decided to take things easy for a while. He took them so easy that he was found under the influence of what he had taken, on Main street. He had fallen and sustained abrasions of the flesh so he was detained for safe keeping. This morning he appeared in the police court and told his story of what had occurred. He was released on suspension of judgment and with some good advice from Judge Prince.

Deputy Fire Marshal Thomas Shipman is expected to return to his duties in this city next week after having been graduated from the school of the fireman at New York where under the direction of Commissioner Enright, he has been under instruction in the way New York firemen handle their work.

The number of vacant stores continues to multiply, the number being added to almost daily.

Pedestrians along Bank street have noticed that there is a single window lighted in the customs building every night in the week, and the thoughtless wonder what this is the rule. They might remember that a great quantity of liquor has been seized by coast guard steamers and that liquor is in storage in the customs house in quantity. A night watchman is kept on duty there so that the liquor is positively safe from thieves or hi-jackers. The watchman is armed, too, and anyone who goes there under the impression that he is not so protected will have what the stage talent call "a rude awakening."

Lilacs, the flower so generally used for the decoration of soldiers' graves, will not be available Saturday as in years past on Memorial day. The season has been so early that the blossoms have already bloomed and faded. Still there will be no lack of handsome flowers for use for the purpose of decorating.

A real estate operator directs attention to the fact that premises that are provided with garages are in much greater demand than are those where no garage is attached. The use of automobiles has become in general that few tenants will hire unless they can have that accommodation. Garages have come to be regarded much as a necessity as running water and bath and toilet.

Norman M. Ruddy has sold a house on the east side of Montauk avenue to Robert Romeo. The price paid was $9,500.

Acting Lieutenant James D. Gaffney is confined to his home, Colman street, suffering from an infected condition of his right arm.

Mr. and Mrs. William McKintock of Detroit, Mich., formerly of New London, have leased a residence at Glenwood park for the summer and have arrived in New London to take possession of the place.

Mrs. Kelly, proprietress of a lodging house at 28 Tiller street, complained to the authorities this forenoon that she had been robbed of a sum of money. The investigation of Sergeant Cavanaugh revealed that a roomer at the place had borrowed small sums of money from Mrs. Kelly from time to time and that he had disappeared without paying back the money he had been loaned, nor paying his lodging bill.

George B. Bishop of Ocean Beach, complained to the police this afternoon that while his automobile was parked on Bank street, between Pearl and Tilley streets, thieves visited the machine and stole two rolls of copper wire, several cans of paint and varnish which he had just purchased for the purpose of improving his residence.

Attorney Philip E. Brady of Attleboro, Mass., counsel for Bernard McGuire, administrator of the estate of Patrick McGuire, formerly of New London, has again communicated with the New London police in an effort to obtain possession of the personal effects of the former New London man, the effects consisting of over a thousand dollars and wearing apparel. Attorney Brady, who has several times attempted to obtain possession of the effects held by the police, says that a demand has been made upon him by the tax commissioner of Massachusetts for the filing of McGuire's tax and that he is unable to do so because of inability to obtain the effects of the dead man. The local police have been advised by Prosecuting Attorney Cronin not to deliver the effects in their possession to Brady. Patrick McGuire committed suicide by jumping from the deck of the New London line steamer Chester W. Chapin while the craft was en route from New York to this port on the night of Feb. 13, 1924.

Robert Sullivan, residing at 11 Ann street, complained to the police this forenoon that tools belonging to him had been stolen from a partially constructed house on Ann street, where he is employed.

Alice Marks, colored, 360 Main street was arrested this forenoon charged with conducting a disorderly house. Mary Perry, 12 Hadden street, Providence, Marie Evans, 15 Welden street, Boston, Mass., and Fred A. Tucker, of the United States Coast guard patrol boat, 171, state pier, all colored, were arrested charged with frequenting, as a result of a raid on the Marks residence by Sergeant John Cavanaugh, Motorcycle Officer William Babcock and Patrolman Frank Philopena and William Graham. All were held prisoners for trial in the police court tomorrow morning except the Evans woman, who secured a surety on her bond of $50 for court appearance. The two women charged with frequenting stated that they were married and the Evans woman gave her occupation as "stage work." The Marks place has been suspected for some time of having been a place resorted to for immoral purposes, especially so because of the Scott woman having been apprehended several times on charges of conducting houses of ill fame. This morning about 10 o'clock it was ascertained that a merry party was in progress at the Main street place and as a result the raid was conducted.

Mrs. William Sanford and infant daughter, of 47 Church street; Miss Madeline DeWolf, Blackhall street; Miss Aide Benoit, Taftville; Mrs. Church street; Master Robert Ruff, Church street; Master Dorothy Ruff, Branford Farms; Grotton and Gordon A. Beckwith, 151 Lincoln avenue, Pawtucket, at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were dismissed today.

Charles P. Hammond, 101 Blinman street, is spending several days with relatives in Yonkers, N. Y.

Tony Pierodorice, of Willetts avenue, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, was able to return home today.

Hugh Cleveland, the child residing at 154 Lincoln avenue, who was struck by an automobile operated by Elmer Broadwell, 82 Beak street, on a private driveway off Colver street Monday, has not suffered any internal injuries, it has been determined.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan Lovett, 47, wife of Henry D. Lovett, died last night at her residence, 46 Ramsdell street, Groton. Mrs. Lovett had been ill several weeks, having undergone a serious operation at a local hospital a number of months ago. Recently she suffered from heart trouble. Mrs. Lovett, besides her husband, is survived by three daughters, Miss Mary Lovett and Mrs. Margaret Harrison, and Mrs. Dorothy Remmert; also by a son, Henry D. Lovett Jr., all of Groton; two sisters, Mrs. Timothy Sullivan, of Waterbury, and Mrs. Margaret Kierans, of Willimantic. Mrs. Lovett was well known in Groton, where she was a member of the Congregational church. She was also a member of Fidelity Chapter, No. 54, Order of Eastern Star, Brainard Circle and the Woman's Relief Corp, of New London.

Michael O'Connal, of Bulkeley place and Mrs. Julia Falvey, of Chappell street, were married this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the marriage being solemnized by Dr. Timothy M. Crowley. Dennis Foley was best man and Miss Catherine Carver attended the bride. Mr. O'Connell is employed by the Robert Gair company, Montville.

Mrs. Charles B. Graves, commissioner of the New London Girl Scouts, has returned to her home on Granite street, having attended the National Convention of Girl Scout Leaders held in Boston.

Mrs. Harriet Burdick is seriously ill at her home, on Williams street.

Miss Myrtle Woodman of Danbury, is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Forbes, of Gorton street.

Mrs. Henry Comeau has returned to her home on Colman street, having spent several days with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Comeau, in New York.

Carlysle White, a local youth, son of Percy White, contractor, was taken into custody this evening by Patrolman William Riordan charged with resisting an officer. He is being held a prisoner at the police station awaiting the convening of court tomorrow morning. White was at Cannon Ball park where a baseball game was in progress and during a trivial row, White is alleged to have instructed one of those implicated in the row to refuse to reveal the name of the participant in the trouble to the officer, with the result that White was arrested. White denies the accusation of the officer.

The Savings Bank of New London has started acquiring considerable valuable real estate on North Bank street and today that institution, through George Whittlesey, an official, purchased the real estate holdings of the Soltz company, located on North Bank street, between John and Douglass streets and another parcel on Douglass street. The price paid was $26,700. The North Bank street property comprises a store, with tenement above and a dance hall. The Douglass street tract comprises a small plot of ground and was used a number of years by the Soltz company as an abattoir. The sale of the property was to satisfy a judgment obtained by endorsers of notes of the Soltz company, the sale being conducted by James R. May, on order of the superior court.

The banking institution, it is believed, acquired the real estate as an investment for the property is a considerable distance from that part of the bank's property that is located on North Bank street and in a section where expensive structures are not likely to be erected for many years. The bank also acquired recently a tract of land from the W. B. Perry Ice company, North Bank street, just north of the police station.

JEWETT CITY

The Rifle club has an exhibition in Hourigan Bros. window that is attracting much attention. It shows the evolution of the pistol. There are eleven pistols, a very small part of Charles Palmer's large collection of firearms. The blunderous flint-lock is the first one, then a French flint-lock and a United States flint-lock. There is an early model of percussion pistol, Mexican War Colt's percussion, Civil War Colt's percussion, Smith & Wesson top break also a Smith & Wesson lever action, Peacemakers single, double action Colt, and the last word in modern pistols, the Luger. Two silver cups won by a rifle club member, a number of medals won by different members and the emblem of the king shooter of the Taftville Schuetzverein, held by A. C. Stebbins, of this place, are a part of the exhibit. The display was arranged by Edward Wyatt. Examination of some of these ancient models is well worth while. The blunderbuss is heavily mounted in brass, which, with its beautifully carved hunting legend, done in hand work by a workman of a long forgotten age, still attests to his skill, and is as clear and distinct as though it were but yesterday he had laid his tool aside.

The other was the new Oriental Limited. These two trains started at Chicago and went over the route of the Oriental Limited to Portland and Puget Sound May 1924; and were viewed by over two hundred thousand people.

Better cooking with this focused heat

IT'S easy to do better, cheaper, quicker cooking on an oil range that directs its heat just where it will do the most good. The Florence Range sends its flame right straight to the bottom of the pot where there is work for it. This is the principle of focused heat.

You waste no time or energy in priming, in trimming messy wicks, or in cooking on a weak flame. Nor do you need to waste fuel on a strong flame when a low flame will do the job—simply turn the levers and you have whatever degree of cooking heat you need.

The Florence burns a clear, gas-like flame from the vapor of kerosene. It is not a wick flame, such as you see in an ordinary lamp.

The Florence Oven is famous for its even baking. This is due to the "baker's arch," which prevents air pockets, and also to the patented heat-spreader at the bottom over the flame.

When you see the Florence Oil Range at the store you will be delighted with its substantial beauty. Ask to see it in action—you will realize that you can't afford to do without this stove with the focused heat.

EXPECTS TO PICK PEAS IN A WEEK

The attention of passersby is attracted by the thrifty peas which are growing in the garden of William H. Lynch, at 34 Division street. There are six rows, 50 feet long, with the vines standing three feet high and 16 inches across at the top. The peas are already set and in another week of good weather Mr. Lynch plans to commence picking. They were planted about the first of April and show the results of careful cultivation.

NEW HAMPSHIRE IN MAY

If you long for scenes of beauty, dark and white and greenly gay,
Come and visit old New Hampshire, come and visit while it's May;
See the apple trees in blossom, get their sweet while breezes sway,
All the trees in pinky splendor, a magnificent display.
Orchards on a Spring-time day,
Loaded down in pink array,
Truly nothing's quite so gorgeous from New England to Sombay.
When your work is done, I say,
When you long for rest or play,
Come and see the apple blossoms in New Hampshire, now it's May!

Nowhere else are skies so smiling, skies so deeply, bluely blue;
Never were such lacey cloudlets floating softly into view;
If you're weary, you'll feel rested; if you're old, you'll soon feel new,
When you've seen New Hampshire's beauty in its garb of day-time hue,
Skies so bluely blue all day,
Trimmed with chiffon clouds so gay,
Make a canopy of glory, through which sunbeams glance and play;
You'll not surely long to stay,
And you'll surely hate to stray
From New Hampshire when the apple blossoms whisper: "Now it's May!"

There are other States and Nations where contented people dwell,
There are cities full of enchantment every traveller can tell.
There are cities full of splendor, these are facts we know full well,
But for scenes entrancing, nothing can New Hampshire's Spring excel!
If your world looks dark and gray,
If your schemes have gone agley,
Drop your worries, quit your furries, wiser impulses obey;
Recreation's more than play,
If you need a winning way,
Try the apple-blossom ozone in New Hampshire, now it's May!
—Mary K. Hutchinson in Boston Globe.

THE WOOD-DOVE'S NOTE

Meadows with yellow cowslips all aglow,
Glory of sunshine on the uplands bare,
And faint and far, with sweet elusive flow,
The Wood-dove's plaintive call,
"O where! where! where!"

Straight with old Omar in the almond grove
From whitening boughs I breathe the odors rare
And hear the princess mourning for her love
With sad unwearied plaint,
"O where! where! where!"

New madrigals in each soft pulsing throat—
New life upleaping to the brooding air—
Still the heart answers to that questing note,
"Soul of the vanished years,
"O where! where! where!"
—Emily Huntington Miller.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Want to go on a sleighing party?"
"Sure. Who're we going to slay?"
—Rutgers Chanticleer.

Reggie—Why does this train keep on stopping, mummy?
Mother—It's a milk train, Reggie.
Reggie—Do they have to milk it at every station?—London Opinion.

Edwin—You're the first girl I ever kissed.
Angelina—Never mind about that, I intend to be the last girl you're going to kiss.—Life.

Sheik—Pardon me, but how old are you?
Seba—Oh, just turned twenty-three!
Sheik—Oh, I see; thirty-two.—University of Buffalo Bison.

Mrs. A—"I saw a perfect love of a hat today."
Mrs. B—"Did you buy it?"
Mrs. A—"Not yet. I've got to pick out a more expensive one for my husband to refuse to buy so that we can compromise on this one."—English Observer.

"Why did you strike the telegraph operator?" the judge asked the darky.
"Well, yo' honah," said the culprit "it was jest like this: I hands him a telegram for mah girl, an' he starts in readin' it. So I jest nachurally ups an' hands him one."—American Boy.

"The speaker who has just closed," said the president of the Health congress, "is a striking example of the efficacy of the doctrines that he so eloquently advocates. Hale and hearty at eighty years of age, he could tire out many a man younger than himself."

A voice from the audience:
"He did."—Everybody's.

Independence, Kas., decided to repave a street that had a brick pavement which had been laid 17 years ago. The brick had originally cost $6 a 1,000. When the new pavement was laid the city had a big pile of old bricks on its hands. It asked for bids on the old bricks and accepted an offer of $7 a 1,000.

Several times intending litigants and persons with charges to prefer have come to him, but in all cases he has been able to persuade them to keep out of court and conciliate their differences.

A full blown flower of the vine aristolochia, better known as the goose or pelican flower, has been produced at last in the conservatories of the botanic gardens at Washington. The vine is native to the West Indies, and the feat of making it bloom in its new environment represents ten years of effort by George W. Hess, director of the garden. The head and back of a duck appear outlined in white, life size, in this peculiar flower, which is purple within.

London had its traffic problems hundreds of years before the automobile was ever thought of. Old books set forth that, in the beginning of the seventeenth century, traffic troubles were so acute that a contemporary author wrote an article on the subject entitled: "Coach and Sedan, Pleasantly Disputing for Peace and Precedence." Incidentally, London was then described as a city of "fogge and rotten mistes," suffering from traffic congestion like "mutton pies in a cook's oven."

MOTORS FEATURED MARKET.

New York, May 27.—(A. P.)—Strength and activity of the motor shares, a dozen of which broke through to new high levels for the year, was the outstanding feature of today's irregularly higher stock market. The day's sales again totaled about one and one-half million shares.

Reports of record-breaking production and largely increased earnings provided the ground work for the advance in the automobile stocks, which was led by the Maxwell issues, Maxwell Motors B, which was reported to harbor a large short interest, was run up nearly eight points to a record top at 106 and then slipped back about a point from the high. The B certificates closed 5 1-2 points higher at 103 2-4 and Maxwell A and the A certificates advanced two and 1 1-2 points respectively. The B stock had sold as low as 33 1-4 this year.

Revival of a demand for Mack Trucks sent that issue up over 4 points to a new peak at 184 7-8. Other automotive issues to top their previous high prices were Pierce-Arrow common, preferred, Studebaker, Hudson, Paige-Detroit and Eaton Axle, buying of theiast named being stimulated by a resumption of dividends on the common stock.

Public utilities also took on a new lease of life, International Telephone leading that group by climbing nearly ten points to a record top at 102 on publication of the annual report showing earnings of $18.11 a share on the common stock last year, as compared with $2.40 in 1923. American Water Works moved up to a new top at 54 1-2 and then eased a point on profit-taking.

The establishment of a new 1925 record in car loadings for the week ended May 16 stimulated the demand for the railroad shares with the best gains being recorded by the coalers. Reading climbed 2 1-2 points to a new top at 88 3-8 and net gains of a point or more were recorded by Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, Lackwanna and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Oils showed moderate strength with a continuation of heavy buying in independent Oil and Gas, which closed a point higher at 32 1-4. Most of the other oils improved fractionally.

Moderate improvement also was shown by the standard industrials. American Can closed more than a point higher at 189 3-8 and Baldwin and United States Steel showed fractional gains at 114 5-8 and 118 respectively. Several specialties were under accumulation, new 1925 highs being established by Allied Chemical, Ahumada Lead, International Cement, Consolidated Cigar, Simmons Company, F. G. Shattuck, Robert Reis and Goodyear preferred.

Heaviness cropped out in United States Industrial Alcohol, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, General Baking, International Business Machines, May Department Stores, National Distillers and Reynolds Tobacco B, Marine preferred broke to a new low for the year at 36 3-8.

Call money again held steady at four percent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business quiet.

Foreign exchange rates were irregular. Demand sterling held fairly steady, just around $4.86, but French francs broke below 5 cents to a new low record for the year. Reports persisted that the French government was planning to "peg" francs at 100 to the dollar.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS OF FOREST FIRE DANGER

The meeting of the Rotary club held Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel was devoted strictly to business routine of the club. President J. Nelson Weymouth presided and Eben Learned acted as song leader. There were a number of guests from the New London club presented at the meeting and with the assistance of Arthur M Brown and Judge Nelson J. Ayling they sang a very pleasing selection in which there was a decided lack of harmony.

Frank A. Davis, who was the five-minute speaker of the day, took for his topic the danger of forest fires. He told of several instances where there had been severe loss through forest fires in the eastern part of the state and which he knew were the result of carelessness and poor judgment. Either someone had tossed away a lighted cigarette or cigar or had started a fire with a high wind blowing and it had gone beyond control. He urged that everyone who has occasion to go into the woods would use extreme caution and do all possible to prevent any disasterous fires.

There were reports from the various chairmen of the committees and several plans for the summer were discussed. Among these was the intercity meeting at Putnam on June 11th and the annual Rotary outing at Ashland Park on July 16th when the clubs of New London, Norwich, Willimantic and Putnam will get together for their outing. The Putnam club will be host at this meeting.

Chairman McNicol of the programme committee announced that E. LaRue Bliven will be song leader for the month of June. At the meeting of June 3 there will be a Community Chest speaker from Hartford; Otto F. Ernest to be five-minute talker. June 10, Ernest Carpenter of New Haven will speak; subject, "Coolidge;" with John A. Ferguson as five-minute talker. The June 17 meeting will be devoted to a club discussion on the Community Chest subject; Charles A. Gager five-minute talker. June 24 will be a business meeting, with N. A. Gibbs the talker on current events.

James L. Case urged that every members of the Rotary club attend the town meeting next Tuesday evening and Mayor Milo R. Waters also urged that it was the duty of the members of the club to vote in the election on next Monday.

The regular contribution to the Salvation Army was made.

GOV'T WINS SUIT TO CANCEL NAVAL RESERVE OIL LEASES

Result of Suit in Equity Against the Doheny Oil Interests—First Case Growing Out of Senate Investigation Into Elks Hill Reserves—Federal Judge M'Cormack at Los Angeles Decides Conspiracy Has Been Shown Between Former Sec'y of Interior Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, Head of the Oil Company—Counsel For Doheny Announced That an Appeal Would be Taken to the U. S. Circuit of Appeals.

Los Angeles, May 28—Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick today decided in favor of the United States government in its suit to cancel contracts and leases held by the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Company and the Pan-American Petroleum Company in the Elk Hills naval reserve, California.

Judge Olin Wellborn, a member of the Doheny legal staff, who was present when the decision was filed, announced that immediate steps would be taken on an appeal to the United States supreme court.

The trial of this suit in equity against the Doheny oil interests opened in Los Angeles October 21, last, and continued for several weeks.

It was the first of the cases growing out of the United States senate investigation into naval oil reserves to be brought to trial. The government asked that the court cancel two contracts and two leases entered into between the government and the defending companies, providing for the operation of wells in the Elk Hills reserve No. 1, and the building by the companies of tanks, pipe lines and pumping facilities for the storage of 1,500,000 barrels of fuel oil at the Pearl Harbor naval base, Hawaii. The contract also provided for the deepening of Pearl Harbor and the construction of docks.

Closing the government's case, Owen J. Roberts, who was associated with the former Senator Atlee Pomerene, summed up as follows:

First, the leases and contracts should be cancelled because it has been shown that there was a conspiracy between Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Edward L. Doheny, head of the oil company, which resulted in the contracts and leases.

Second, that the transaction whereby Fall received $100,000 from Doheny "contained every element of a bribe."

Third, that a fraud was worked on the United States government by what was done.

BILL CONCERNING SAVINGS BANKS IN CONNECTICUT

Hartford, May 28—Savings banks in Connecticut are authorized to pay interest on deposits quarterly instead of semi-annually under a bill which is to be favorably reported in the legislature tomorrow by the banks committee. The plan is one proposed by the Connecticut Savings Bank association, and will make the Connecticut law on the subject similar to that of the laws of Massachusetts and New York in which states, according to Senator Howard S. Challenger, chairman of the bank committee, the savings banks are growing faster than those of Connecticut.

The bill to be reported will restrict the dividend rate to not more than 4 per cent. of the deposit in each case, except in cases where banks have a surplus in excess of 15 per cent. of their deposits, in which the surplus must be divided among the depositors in sums of not less than 1 per cent. of the deposits. This latter provision is not unlike the present law.

Savings banks officials have found that their inability, under the state law, to allow interest except at the end of every six months, has caused many people to refrain from depositing their money in savings banks rather than risk losing the interest on it in case they should want it before the expiration of a half year.

SIX ARRESTS IN THE R. I. "DIVORCE MILL" CASE

Providence, R. I., May 28—(A. P.)—Arrests of six persons secretly indicted in the Rhode Island "divorce mill" probe are expected to follow that of Mrs. Anna M. Woesthoff of Corona, in the week. According to the attorney Queens, N. Y., announced here, with-general, the depositions upon which Mrs. Woesthoff secured a divorce from William H. Woesthoff last March contained statements found to be false. She is charged with perjury.

Other developments in the divorce situation were withdraw by Leonard W. Horton and Francis P. Dougherty of pleas of not guilty in order to file, through their counsel, John J. Fitzgerald, demurrers to four indictments, and the release of Horton in $25,000 cash bail furnished by his wife. Right was reserved to amend or vary the pleas.

Mrs. Elinor Hoyt Hichborn Wylie, of New York, wife of the literary critic, William Rose Benet, was reported here to have denied that she had ever claimed a residence in Bristol, R. I., in order to secure a fraudulent divorce. The statement issued last evening that she had claimed three years' residence in Bristol prior to February 1923, when she entered suit, was based on her own deposition, signed and sworn to before Master in Chancery Horton and now on file in the superior court for Providence county.

14 PERSONS INJURED IN COLLISION ON ELEVATED

New York, May 28—Fourteen passengers were injured, four seriously, when a two-car shuttle train crashed into the read end of an empty seven car train at the 177th street station of the Pelham bay elevated branch of the Interborough Rapid Transit line today.

The shuttle train carried fifty passengers. Many were mothers with children going to Pelham Bay Park for an outing. All were hurled violently from their seats and showered with flying glass as the impact demolished the front of their train and shattered all windows.

The motorman said he saw the empty train as he rounded a curve in the track, but could not apply the brakes in time.

AUTOMOBILE FATALITY ON THE MILFORD TURNPIKE

New Haven, May 28—(A. P.)—Fred Morro, 40 years old of this city, was instantly killed and three others were seriously injured when an automobile skidded in the sand and turned turtle on the Milford turnpike about one mile beyond the county home in West Haven this afternoon.

Morrow, his wife, his three small children and a woman friend of his wife, were passengers in the car of Dominick Passerullo. Morro sat in the front seat with Passerullo who was driving. Marks on the road bed show that the car swung sharply out upon the right margin on the right hand side of the road, traveled there about sixty feet and then swerved diagonally across the 18 feet of concrete to the margin on the left hand side of the road. The car then skidded around to face the road and turned over. When the first witness arrived the car was on its wheels again and was facing the road at a right angle.

All of the persons in the car had been thrown to the ground and Morro had been killed instantly. The driver, Passerullo, sustained a broken collar-bone and lacerations on the right hand. Mrs. Josephine Guendo, of this city, was taken to the New Haven hospital with fractured ribs. Fred Morro, jr., four years old, has cuts about the head and deep lacerations of the foot. He also is at the hospital.

BILL PROPOSES BLOOD TESTS FOR CHICKENS

Hartford, May 28—(A. P.)—Blood tests for chickens in Connecticut are proposed under a plan for which an appropriation of $20,000 has been requested of the legislative appropriations committee. The plan as announced is to proceed with tests of poultry along the lines of the herd tubercular tests made by the state department on domestic animals, but to confine them to breeding poultry.

The purpose of the tests is to try to stamp out white diarrhoea, which, as said to be ravaging the poultry industry in the state, third most important of Connecticut agricultural activities, according to the legislative committee on agriculture. It has been found, according to committee members, that it is a disease of the blood and that the only effective way to combat it is in selective breeding.

JUDGE DUBBED ALLEGED THIEVES "BUNCH OF LIARS"

Waterbury, May 28—Characterizing four alleged auto thieves as the "biggest bunch of liars he ever saw," Judge John F. McGrath today found John Andrews, 25 St. Joseph's avenue; John Williams, 590 Hamilton avenue; James and Michael Rocco, 596 Hamilton avenue, charged with theft of motor vehicles, over to the criminal term of the superior court, each under bonds of $2,500. The characterization of the four prisoners came from the judge when each tried to throw the blame of various stolen cars, found in their possession, to one of the other of the quartet.

CHEMIST PLANNED DEATH WHILE DRINKING TOAST

New Haven, May 28—Eutace J. Cuy, 27 years old, research chemist, at Yale, who committed suicide Monday, planned his death to the day and hour and carried it out to the letter while drinking a toast to twelve of his friends at a party, it became known today when Coroner Eli Mix issued a finding of suicide after receiving an exhaustive report from Medical Examiner Marvin M. Scarbrough. Cuy was disappointed, according to the coroner, because an unexpected important appointment did not come to him.

Cuy was of Greek ancestry and was engaged in experimental chemical work in the Sterling laboratory under Dr. John Johnston. According to his associates he was brilliant in his work.

A week before his death, according to the coroner, Cuy wrote about twenty letters to leading institutions in Egypt, England, South America and other countries, where he had spent some time in study. Some of the envelopes had postage stamps attached to them, others did not.

On May 25, Cuy tendered 12 of his friends a party and during the dinner drank a toast of them. Not one of them had an idea what he drank. A moment later he sank to the floor and died before medical aid could reach him. An autopsy revealed that he had taken a deadly poison.

The party began at 7 o'clock and on the strike of four, Cuy drank the poison, just as he had set forth in his farewell letters.

REV. FOSDICK ACCEPTS PASTORATE OF CHURCH

New York, May 28—(A. P.)—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted liberal leader in the church, has accepted the pastorate of the Park Avenue Baptist church, known as the Rockefeller church, it was announced. Dr. Fosdick's occupancy of his new pulpit will become effective in the fall of 1926.

The acceptance was made public by Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin, resigned pastor of the church, who was instrumental in making overtures to Dr. Fosdick when he was being considered by the congregation and the trustees as their new pastor.

Dr. Fosdick's conditions of acceptance, including that of "inclusive membership," were approved by the congregation, the trustees announced. It is further understood that in the choice of an assistant pastor for the new baptist church which will be built, Dr. Fosdick will not be restricted to the selection of a Baptist. Dr. Fosdick, it was learned on reliable authority, has intimated he is considering the nomination of a Presbyterian for the position.

Though he will not assume his duties officially for more than a year, Dr. Fosdick will preach his first sermon in the Park Avenue church pulpit next Sunday. He will go abroad in the fall, after a summer vacation in Maine.

CENTENARIAN MOTHERS OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS

St. Paul, Minn., May 28—Memorial Day, its solemnity increasing yearly because of the rapidly dwindling ranks of the boys of '61, will be observed in Minnesota and South Dakota by two centenarians, the only living mothers of Civil War veterans in the northwest.

Mrs. Catherine Sophia Stevens, of Minneseta, three miles east of Belle Fourche, S. D., who celebrated her 106th birthday anniversary last February, is one of the mothers and Mrs. Louise Bickford Shequen, 107 years old last March, is the other. Mrs. Shequen lives at Balaton, Minn.

Added significance is given the day for Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Shequen by the fact that both have grandsons who served in the World War. Mrs. Shequen is the head of five generations, and has 78 living descendants. Mrs. Stevens is a strong supporter of bobbed hair, although she still refrains from cutting her's, while Mrs. Shequen says: "If you want to live long, mind your own business and be busy about it."

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

Renewed signs of reorganization activity in the democratic party furnished fod for speculation for politicians.

President Coolidge was host on the Mayflower to newspaper correspondents who cover the White House.

Prohibition officials conferred on a proposed reorganization of enforcement forces operating in New York and New Jersey.

Inside details of the projected Nickel Plate merger were laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission by O. P. Van Sweringen.

Army officers studied the effect of a further substantial reduction in appropriations, suggested by the White house, for the military establishment.

The suggestion that the Washington government might hereafter exercsie stricter scrutiny of American private loans abroad was revised in connection with the war debt situation.

CHARLES W. GUPTILL, AGED 17 WAS FOUND GUILTY MURDER

Alfred, Me., May 28—The jury in the case of Charles Willard Guptill, Berwick youth on trial for the murder of Fay Tibbetts, wealthy farmer, who was shot to death January 22, returned a verdict of guilty late today after two hours deliberation. Guptill was sentenced immediately to life imprisonment, the penalty in this state for first degree murder.

Tibbetts was shot while driving a load of milk from his farm to market. Guptill, who is 17 years old, testified in his own defense and said, that Tibbetts had fired at him first and that he drew his revolver and returned fire in self defense.

Amundsen Said Flight Might Last Fortnight

Norweigian Aeronautic Association Says There is No Reason to Fear Disaster at North Pole.

Oslo, Norway, May 28—There is no reason for supposing the Amundsen north pole expedition has met with disaster, according to the Norwegian Aeronautic association, which points out that Captain Amundsen's instructions to the other members of the expedition aboard the vessels Farm and Hobby were that the polar flight might last a fortnight. He is also said to have instructed these ships to patrol along the ice edge in the event he did not return within a fortnight.

In order to make this patrol as efficient as possible the association has asked the ministry of defense to place the Farm, which is a naval transport ship at the disposal of the association for a considerably longer period than was originally intended and further to order two naval airplanes to assist in the patrol.

The association requests that the two planes be sent to Spitsbergen, where patrols were on duty two years ago waiting for Amundsen on his flight from Wainwright.

The association is also asking that Donald B. MacMillan, who is soon to leave for the arctic with an all-American expedition, be on the lookout around Cape Columbia.

The Shipping Gazette, commenting on the American preparations for a rescue expedition, voices thanks for the official and private interest which is being shown in the United States. Backed by rich American resources, it adds, the problem of rescue is more sure of successful solution.

"We have always admired the American spirit where human sympathy is needed, and American energy and generosity when something useful needs organizing," says the Gazette. "An American rescue expedition will be accepted with gratitude and confidence in American ability. In this case where the question is one of saving lives, the Norwegian Air club and the Norwegian press concern has acquired no special monopoly."

PREPARING DATA AS A BASE FOR APPROPRIATIONS

Washington, May 28—Staff officers at the war department continued work today on the studies they are making to carry out suggestions from the White House that data be prepared which will show what effect a progressive reduction in appropriations, extending over a period of about five years, would have upon the military establishment.

From one source of information, it was learned that the study is based upon the suggestion that, as part of the administration's economy program, military funds provided for the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserves, the three components of the new army of the United States might be reduced at the rate of $7,000,000 a year for a five year period.

War department officials flatly refused to give any light on those phases of the study having to do with the application of such a reduction to the various army components.

Acting Secretary Davis declined to comment regarding the study or its purposes, declaring the department had not and would not authorize any statement in connection with published reports relating to it. Those familiar with conditions which have arisen in the army by virtue of reductions in personnel and funds made since the war, however, are seriously perplexed over the possibility of still further cuts.

In this connection it was pointed out that the army, with a present authorized enlisted strength of 125,000 men, already has reached a point close to that which existed before the war. The authorized enlisted strength having been 122,693 in 1916.

At the same time, his alleged accomplice, Miltiades Haritos, aged six, too young to be arraigned, for any crime, will appear as a material witness.

May Take Action On Macri Jury Misdeeds

Special Meeting of the New Haven County Bar Association Called For This Morning.

New Haven, May 28—(A. P.)—President Philip Pond, of the New Haven County Bar association, has called a special meeting of the association for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at which time, it is understood, some action will be considered on the recent Macri trial and the events that followed it.

The calling of the meeting followed a meeting today of a score or more of the attorneys of the county when the case and matters connected with it were discussed.

The unpleasantness which is said to have resulted to Irving A. Andrew, the juror who held out for a second degree or manslaughter verdict against the eleven others who voted for acquittal of Miss Macri, will be taken up by the bar association, it is understood, and some action possibly may be taken.

Aside from admitting that he had called a meeting of the association, President Pond refused to discuss the situation, declaring that as president it was not in his province to discuss the matter previous to the meeting.

Attorney Matthew E. Reynolds, member of the bar grievance committee expressed the feeling, held generally among members of the bar, that the association should go on record to the effect that such unpleasantness and censure as had been made to Juror Andrew should not be countenanced.

"Any juror who does his duty as he sees it," he said, "and holds fast to an opinion no matter whether it suits some person or not should be protected from such annoyances and the bar members are the ones to start proceedings to that effect."

PROPOSE CONVICT LABOR ON CONNECTICUT HIGHWAYS

Hartford, May 28—(A. P.)—Use of convict labor on Connecticut highways is provided for in a new highway bill now pending in the house of representatives of the general assembly. Action probably will be taken on the bill tomorrow.

The bill covers the subject of state highways from the appointment of the state highway commisioner to details of detours restored to former condition, removal of snow, boundaries of highways and jurisdiction.

The convict labor section reads:

"The warden of the state's prison, the superintendent of the state reformatory or the sheriff of any county, upon the requisition of the highway commission, may permit any inmate of any of such institutions, other than a person serving a life sentence, be employed in the construction of any highway or bridge, under the direction of said commissioner. Said warden or superintendent or such sheriff shall furnish necessary guards over prisoners while out of the custody of any such institution."

The bill was reported favorably by the committee on rodas, bridges and rivers.

Springfield, Mass., May 28—(A. P.)—The case of Charles E. Brickley, star dropkicker and captain of the 1914 football team at Harvard, who has been on trial here charged with forgery and larceny, went to the jury late this afternoon. Judge Hugo L. Brickley took the stand in his own defense this morning and flatly denied that he was present when certain powers of attorney to transfer fifty shares of Bigelow Hartford Carpet company stock were signed in the name of William J. Hines, the record owner of the shares, by Kirt Sternberg of this city. He was the sole defense witness, and his testimony was largely a general denial of the charges that he forged the stock and participated in loans secured with it as security.

JAPAN LINKS IMMIGRATION AND WORLD LABOR PROBLEMS

Tamon Mayeda, Permanent Japanese Representative at Geneva Contends Both Problems Should be Settled Simultaneously—Maintains That There Should be No Discrimination Because of Racial and National Difference.

Geneva, May 28—Japan suddenly interjected the immigration problem into the world labor conference today when Tamon Mayeda, permanent Japanese representative at Geneva, declared the immigration question should be settled simultaneously with world labor problems.

If this is not done, declared Mayeda, the very improvement of labor conditions may impose impossible restrictions on countries deprived of natural resources and suffering from other disabilities.

The Japanese spokesman said he did not pretend that the principle of the right to immigrate is absolute. He said he believed the right of freedom of immigration should be subject to some limitation by the countries receiving immigrants, but that this limitation should be imposed rationally and impersonally.

"There should be no discrimination because of racial and national difference," declared Mayeda, "and I hope the immigration committee of the labor conference will deal with this problem from a scientific and imperial viewpoint, thus satisfying all the countries concerned."

TELLS HOW GERMANY CAN DISPENSE WITH MILITARISM

Berlin, May 28—If the youth of Germany indulges freely in athletics and outdoor sports generally and avoids the use of alcohol, Germany can dispense with militarism, declared minister of defence, Dr. Otto Gessler, during a spirited defense of the administration of his department before the Reichstag today.

Other countries Dr. Gessler said, subjected their youths to military training and Germany therefore was fairly entitled to encourage its rising generation to go in for the production of brawn and muscle. The whole survey of the German defense situation, as outlined by the cabinet minister, provoked frequent applause in the Reichstag, but his admonition to German youths to abstain from drink startled the members, particularly the Bavarians, who apparently were not prepared for a prohibition sermon.

Dr. Geissler told the Reichstag that the formation of illegal volunteer corps would no longer be tolerated, and that any officer implicated in such activity would be immediately dismissed from the national service. The chief function of the Reichswehr, he said, was to defend the German frontiers. Its maintenance today costs 460 million marks, compared to 1,200,000,000 appropriated for the standing army of imperial Germany.

Answering critics of the executive expenditure for German military defense, Dr. Gessler said: "To reduce expenses it would be necessary to diminish our armaments below the point considered essential by the allies for Germany's requirements.

"Germany's policy is peace; only a lunatic would contemplate war these days. The president, who is a military expert of the first order, has expressed himself in this sense.

"But until universal disarment has been accomplished," the war minister continued, "Germany will be obliged to maintain defensive forces sufficient to meet her requirements. Despite the elimination of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria as active post-war military factors, there are half a million more men under arms in Europe today than in 1913, and such a situation, naturally knocks all moral persuasion out of current disarmament talk."

"Talk of so-called secret German armaments is sheer nonsense," declared Dr. Gessler.

16 BODIES RECOVERED FROM NORTH CAROLINA MINE

Coal Glen, N. C., May 28—Realization had come to the little mining town of Coal Glen tonight, after sixteen bodies had been brought to the surface, that there was virtually no hope of rescuing any of the more than fifty miners entombed by yesterday's explosion.

Working tirelessly throughout the day in relays, crews of miners had succeeded tonight in penetrating to the 2,000 foot level of the mine. In the case of all the bodies recovered, death had resulted from the dread gas fumes which spread through the mine after the three explosions.

A mass of slate, timber and wreckage, in which several more bodies could be seen, early tonight barred the way of the rescuers to the end of the mine, only three hundred feet distant, but they attacked it in the hope of reaching all of the remaining victims before morning.

TROOPERS SEARCH FOR MURDERER OF SHERIFF

It was said today that after about two weeks at the hospital, Mr. Weeks would spend the summer at Cole's Island, West Gloucester.

KIRBY DENIES MURDER OF MISS AIDA HAYWARD

Augusta, Me., May 28—(A. P.)—A six hour grilling failed to shake the story of Harry A. Kirby, who is held at the jail here charged with the murder of Miss Aida Hayward on May 13 at Lake Maranacook, Winthrop. Several county officials and Medical Examiner W. W. Harris were closeted with Kirby in an effort to induce him to change his story that he removed the body of Miss Hayward from one cottage to the one he occupied to shield a person he refuses to name.

Grant Williams, former New York police lieutenant, who was said to be on his way here to question Kirby concerning the death of Lillian White, in Nyack, N. Y., in 1922, had not appeared tonight. It was said tonight that Kirby must first stand trial in Maine before he would be surrendered to the New York authorities. Mrs. Kirby was brought back from Portland tonight for further questioning. She married Kirby in New York state while both were attendants at the institution in which Lillian White was confined.

NO IVY POISON UNLESS PLANT IS TOUCHED

"It may be dogmatically stated," the article says "that one cannot be poisoned by ivy by simply walking in the vicinity of the plant, regardless of rather spread acceptance of certain erroneous views. Investigators have mixed the leaves with water, distilled the mixture, and applied the condensate to the skin of a person known to be susceptible to othe poison. Uniformly the report has been that no evidence of poisoning appeared."

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS IN WHITSUN RECESS

London, May 28—(A. P.)—The house of commons adjourned tonight for the Whitsun recess until June 9. An unusual proceeding marked its final session. A vote of censure was moved against the speaker, John Henry Whitley, by the Liberals, his own party, but was rejected by a vote of 306 to 27.

It was contended by Captain Wedgwood Benn, who moved the vote of censure, that the speaker's action in granting closure on the debate on the second reading fo the finance bill was "contrary to recent precedent" and had prevented the liberals from making as strong a case against the bill as they had desired. The motion was supported by former Premier Lloyd George and Sir John Simon. Not since 1902 has a vote of censure been asked against the speaker.

WILLIMANTIC

Considerable mental disturbance was caused Thursday when girls employed in clerical capacities at the American Thread company plant received notices that beginning next Monday morning they would be required to take positions as workers in the packing room and other branches of the finishing department. At strikers' headquarters it was stated that as a result of the unrest which followed among the girls, six of them joined the striking ranks, and it is expected that at least two more will hand in their resignations. One of the girls, who had been employed in the spooling department as a clerk voiced the sentiment of her followers when she stated that she felt morally bound not to do the work left behind by the strikers and thereby come under the heading of a "scab" in their eyes.

This move on the part of the company is generally accepted as another indication that it is following a definite program to continue to operate the mill without restoring the ten per cent. wage cut. Although the figures are not authentic, it is said that there are one hundred and twenty-six names on the present payroll at the mills and with the invitation open to outsiders to come in and work, the concern hopes to secure a nucleus of operatives in each department and continue to build up its operations.

The passing of the printing department from the city takes from Willimantic one of the most complete establishments of that kind in the country. Relative to this subject the answer was made at strike headquarters Thursday that it had been known to many that the concern had planned for some time to remove the printing [illegible] about five of the printers [illegible] their jobs. The strikers [illegible] offers of the total of forty-[illegible] employed in the printing department have gone to other cities where they are receiving large wages, [illegible] the services of an assigtant.

[illegible] filtering about town of a recent [illegible] battle between employees of the American Thread company who are working at present and some of the professional strike-breakers who were imported for the main purpose of operating the boiler-room at the plant, when the mills were officially opened under power. The trouble started when one of the employes addressed a strike-breaker as a "scab." This was resented by the latter who made a convincing retort. According to the rumor this verbal argument was followed by a combat in which shovels and other tools were brought into play, with the result that one man, said to be a strike-breaker was severely injured by being struck over the head. It is said that the man is a resident of South Coventry and that he is now confined to his home there.

Other than Miss Mary Kelleher, national organizer, who has been here since the opening of the strike, there were no speakers from other cities at the mass meeting of the striking operatives of the American Thread company, held in the Gem Theatre Thursday morning. Miss Kelleher cautioned the strikers against propaganda in word or type. She spoke regarding the statements and notice issued by Agent Don. H. Curtis Wednesday in which notification was made of the removal of the printing department and that the company would not consider the making of any concessions whatever.

The meeting was followed by a home talent minstrel show, which proved a delightful source of entertainment. The minstrel was staged and directed by "Jimmy" Curran who appeared in the role of interlocutor. The end men were: "Joe" Green, George Sypher and the premiers, "Joe" Bernet and Hayward Millard. The thirty minute entertainment, which included many original jokes touching on the strike situation, was received enthusiastically by the audience. Special numbers were: A feature act by Fred Taylor; songs and solos by Miss Anna Bishop, accompanied on the piano by Miss Viola Bishop. The minstrel music was by Harry Rosen, violinist and George Lewis, pianist.

Lonergan was operating a Dodge touring car and was turning from Pleasant street to go down Jillson Hill, when Dow, in a Ford coupe came up the incline. The front of Lonergan's machine crashed into the rear of the Ford. The running board and rear axle on the Ford were damaged. The front axle and fender on the Dodge were bent. The machines were hauled to local garages for repairs. Officer Grant Gombria and Constable William Kelly made an investigation of the accident. He has brought in within a few days an aggregate weight of ninety pounds of turtles, the largest forty-two pounds. # DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

The $6,000 that is to be made available by the legislature for the Danielson state armory is required especially for certain repairs that are essential. In remodeling the armory changes were made that weakened the roof supports and a considerable part of the new appropriation will be required in overcoming this defect. The plumbing system at the armory is also antiquated and inadequate and is to be renewed as well as arranging for the disposal of sewage into the borough's sewer system, a line of which runs within six feet of the state armory property, instead of allowing it to discharge into the river, as at present.

Other proposed changes are to dig out the cellar to allow of arranging locker rooms there and shower baths. This change would make available the present locker room on the ground floor of the building for a company school room, for assemblies and other such purposes.

With these changes made the armory will be much more satisfactory for the purposes to which it is put by the state. It is stated that there is a possibility of further construction to enlarge the armory at some time in the future, but there is nothing definite as to this as yet.

Mr. Smith, cashier of the Citizens National bank, Mr. Boyce, treasurer of the Cargill Trust company, Charles Seder, merchant, newly elected directors, were warmly welcomed by the other officers.

Felicitations were exchanged over the fact that the Edward Bloom company had purchased the plant, including the real estate of the Putnam Manufacturing Company and would operate it as a silk mill. Mr. Metcalf, who is superintendent of the latter company and representative in the negotiations said that the Bloom company would prove a valuable industry for the town and it was the management's intention to use every bit of floor space as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Boyce stated that the Cargill Trust company had been advertising the advantages of Putnam as an industrial location and that he is now in touch with the representative of a fairly large concern which might locate here. If they should so decide, a site for building would be needed. At his suggestion the President was authorized to appoint a committee to see what site could be secured. Mr. De Coudres named Alex Gilman, A. M. Vaughn and F. E. Metcalf to co-operate with Mr. Boyce. A committee consisting of T. H. deCoudres, C. A. Boyce, G. L. Padgett, and Francis E. Metcalf was appointed to act in conjunction with Dr. E. F. Perry, George W. Baker, Arthur M. Keith and Arthur Yourtellotte, in arranging for the decoration of the Soldiers' graves in the Putnam cemeteries.

DEATH OF JOHN A. DADY
LOCAL SILK MANUFACTURER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, May 28—John A. Dady, 69, silk manufacturer, one of the commissioners of Windham County, and a conspicuous figure in the industrial and civic life of Putnam for the past thirty-five years, died at 9 o'clock Thursday morning after an illness which began more than four months ago. At that time he sustained a shock so serious that his life was despaired of for several weeks. Then he began to improve and was able to take automobile rides and be out of doors. Two weeks ago there was a relapse and it was realized that he could not recover. During the past few days he was only semi-conscious.

At the time of his death he was president of the John A. Dady Corporation, silk manufacturers, was a trustee of the Day Kimball hospital, a trustee of the First Baptist church, and held other important positions. For many years, prior to its closing last August he was a director of the First National Bank.

He leaves his widow, Susan Barrett Daddy, and a daughter, Marion Putnam Frost, wife of Andrew Frost.

Mr. Dady was born at Ashford, Conn., December 19, 1855. His parents were Darby and Hannah Snow Dady. His education was obtained in the public schools of Ashford and Mansfield. In 1878 he came to Putnam in order to be nearer to his work as an employe of the silk mill of Hammond and Knowlton, where he had been engaged for seven years. He married April 4, 1880 Susan E. Barrett, of Woodstock. For more than a quarter of a century they had made their home on Sunnyside street. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frost live in the same house.

In the early eighties Mr. Dady formed a partnership with the late Charles Prentice and they built a mill on Bullock street and began the throwing or spooling of silk. Later Mr. Dady became the principal owner of a silk-working mill on Woodstock avenue. Two more silk mills subsequently came under his management, one in New Hampshire, the other at Coventry, Conn.

He was elected in the Fall of 1909, a representative to the General Assembly from the town of Putnam, his associate being Joseph McKechnie. He was chairman of the Manual and Poll committee of the House, and a member of the Finance committee. At that time he was serving his third term as a member of the City Council, and at its expiration he was elected alderman-at-large. He was a member of Quinebaug lodge of Masons, A. F. & A. M., and a member of Israel Putnam lodge at Odd Fellows.

A. A. Young is establishing a new entrance to his home on Main street. Two round, tough stone gateway posts are being erected, which will be odorned on their tops with electric globes.

When it come to diamond breast pin, gilt-edged railroading, this section got it proper Thursday afternoon. First off, the south bound 2:13 trolley blew her fuses and was put completely out of business a little below Bishop's. Secondly, the north bound steam train for Worcester and Boston was here on time, at 2:13, and is due to cross the south bound trolley here, which same trolley failed to show up. Thirdly, Miss Sharkey, the local operator learned over the wire, that the trolley had cleared from Plainfield on time.

Just as visions of a trolley wreck were beginning to take on a horrible sort of realistic shape, who should heave in sight, around the curve above the depot, but Mr. Kent, the trolley's trusty pilot. He having done a fine 3 mile sprint from Bishop's in record time, was able to explain the case, much to the relief of all concerned. Leaving one hour and 15 minutes late the steam train proceeded to Bishop's, and pushed the disabled trolley "in to clear," on the siding, and proceeded on its journey north.

But that isn't all the tragedy! Investigation proved that there were plenty of spare and able trolley cars in the barns at Taftville actually pawing the track in their impatience to be off to Jewett City, but, there was no official pilot to handle the car, after it should be switched to the New Haven steam tracks, at Taft Station. Mr. Kent is a good scout, and a railroad man of efficiency and class, none there are who can instruct him relative to the ethics of railroading; he knows them from Alpha to Omega. He had got to get to Tafts, that's all there was to that! Therefore he hurried to the state road and hired automobile transportation. Only the high spots were touched going down, and before long a newly fed trolley came up the line, fresh from its stall, with the juice fairly flying, as the high tension lines and open wires sang a very agreeable song to the ears of the marooned passengers waiting at the switch at Bishop's.

The stores of the borough will be closed all day Saturday. The postoffice will be closed after 9 a. m. (Standard time). The lobby will not be open. Outgoing mails will be dispatched as usual. Banks and library will be closed.

President Ben Schlieffer, of the Jewett City chamber of commerce, presided at a meeting Wednesday evening that was at once largely attended and full of enthusiasm for putting over a big Fourth of July celebration. The committee, Deputy Sheriff John T. Dolan, B. C. Bliss, Charles Runzenas, Jacob Wechsler and Chief Thomas Wakely, was able to report favorably, relative to the probability of a grand 4th of July day being possible. This committee was discharged with thanks and a committee of arrangements appointed, that practically insures a grand success—Chairman, Warden Matthew Geary, Alex McNicol and Burgess Edmodn Jodoin, they having power to appoint sub committees.

William Bromley reported favorably with reference to the crossing lights, where the state highway and railroad cross at grade. The approaching train is to operate a light signal, identical with that at French's crossing, Central Village.

A fine program was directed by William Dealtry, which included the following pleasing numbers; Clog dancing by Thomas Wakely, song, "All Alone," by Mr. Dealtry; Matthew Exley, gave a humorous character sketch in French, Hebrew and Irish; Herrington Ouillette were fine in a musical number.

There were remarks from the following men, all of whom were enthusiastically in favor of the big Fourth of July day.

L. D. Howe, Matthew Exley, Warden Matthew Geary, Rev. J. W. Payne and Michael Fitzgerald of Boston.

The legion hall in Jewett City has been selected for the meeting of June 8th.

JEWETT CITY

The Memorial Day exercises will begin Saturday morning at nine o'clock. The procession leaves the town hall, where the wreaths will be given out, and moves to Slater library, where the World War soldiers' monument and memorial tree will be decorated and the band will play. Then the Jewett City, St. Mary's and Baptist cemeteries will be visited in turn.

The exercises will be held at Fanning Park, where Rev. J. J. McCabe will deliver the address. The monument will be decorated, under the direction of Miss Alice A. Brown.

Dinner will be served for the ex-service men, band and special guests in the Methodist church vestry by a committee from the four churches, under the direction of Mrs. G. H. Thornton. The Wauregan band furnishes the music. Dr. G. H. Jennings is the marshal. Invitations have been sent to all the patriot orders, and town and borough officials to ride in the procession. It would be a fine community observance if everybody who has a car should fill it with people carrying the American flag, and reverently do honor to the dead and living soldiers and sailors, to whom too much honor can never be shown. A most impressive part of the exercises will be the ceremony of scattering flowers on the water from Lisbon bridge.

White hats for Memorial day. Also new line felt hats. Miss McBroome.—adv.

CAR STOLEN LAST DECEMBER
FOUND IN RHODE ISLAND

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, May 28.—The Cadillac coupe stolen on the night of December 12, 1924, when it was practically a new machine, from the garage of Walter A. Musgrave, on North Main street, has been recovered in Rhode Island.

A message from Chief Finn of the Valley Falls police to Chief John McFarland of the Danielson police, Thursday morning, resulted in a checkup by A. Van Thompson establishing that the car held at Valley Falls is, as was suspected, the Musgrave car. Mr. Thompson said Thursday evening that he expects to go to Valley Falls today with a representative of the insurance company that paid the loss on the machine and take it over for the insurance company.

The car has been held at Valley Falls for several days, following its coming into the possession of the police, after a motorcycle officer had pursued the driver of it that he might arrest hi mfor speeding. At the time the car was being driven about 60 miles an hour and the pursuing officer had no idea it was a stolen car. When the driver failed to slow down in response to signals to do so the officer opened fire, sending one bullet through the body of the car, another through the fender and still another through one of the rear tires. This last shot caused the driver to slow down and ditch the car, at Cumberland, R. I., and to make off and escape before the officer could get him.

MYSTIC

A hearing was held Wednesday afternoon on the appeal of Louis Ballestracci from the order of Dr. C. F. Congdon, health officer of the town of Stonington, to abate a so-called public nuisance, a sewer from the Ballestracci house, emptying on to the land of Herman Kallenberg, facing Greenmanville avenue 100 feet. County Health Officer Hibbard R. Norman, of Norwich, heard the case and reserved a decision. Mr. Ballestracci was represented by Attorney B. H. Hewitt. Attorney George R. McKenna was present, representing the town.

Permission was given years ago to put a pipe to carry waste water from the sink on to the land and since a bathroom has been added, carrying that waste, which, naturally, Mr. Kallenberg wants abated. He has owned his house and this land since 1908, renting it until three years ago he came here from New Rochelle, N. Y., to live. When he put a bathroom into his own house he had a large cesspool built, instead of carrying the waste into the river as some have done.

Last September the W. C. T. U. offered five dollar gold pieces to the pupils of the eighth grade in Broadway and Mystic Academy schools for the best essay. Lamb, president, and were, for Mystic Academy, Miss Amanda Allen, Mrs. Nettie S. Crandall, Miss Mary V. Morgan, all teachers of Groton school, Miss Allen being principal. ### FRENCH DEBT ON WAY TO SATISFACTORY SETTLEMENT

Paris, May 28—(A. P.)—The problem of the French debt to the United States is on its way to a satisfactory settlement, Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, told the American club of Paris.

"I am observing and taking notes," Mr. Ochs said, "but I think I may be permitted to say, and I have the highest authority on which to make the statement, that those reports are untrue and unfounded that say there have been disagreeable or impolite messages received with respect to the French debt to the United States. On the contrary, the messages that have been exchanged or the conversations that have taken place have had nothing of irritation in them.

"On the other hand there have been initiated, and there are now progress, very satisfactory negotiations with respect to arriving at a satisfactory understanding on the problem of the settlement of the French debt. And the greatest confidence and goodwill reposes in President Coolidge and in his ability to approach a settlement in the highest sense of justice, fairness and generosity.

"And as I am somewhat employed in reflecting public opinion in the United States I feel no hesitation in saying that in this attitude the president has the goodwill, support and full confidence of the American people."

Mr. Ochs, discussing "the far too prevalent opinion that the world is in a bad condition," said he was an optimist, and felt sure that the problems and perplexities would be solved. He cited the Associated Press as "a fine illustration that brothers can dwell together in unity.

"This organization of more than 1,200 newspapers, representing diverse and divergent interests and aspirations," he added, "works harmoniously and satisfactorily."

THE REVALUATION PROPOSITION

When the opportunity is offered next Tuesday evening for the townspeople to express themselves on the question of accepting or rejecting the recommendations of the tax analysis committee, it is to be hoped that there will be a large and representative gathering and that serious consideration will be given to the conclusions reached by the committee and action taken that will be in keeping with the needs of the town.

Norwich has drifted along under the assessment methods that are in vogue for a long term of years. It has failed to get out of a rut. Whatever efforts have been made in that direction by assessors have met with a cold shoulder and removal from office, but the time has come when a complete revaluation is necessary in the interest of equalization of taxation.

By a unanimous report of the committee which has been wrestling with this problem for a year it is believed that the board of assessors, under the changes that are suggested, can bring about the proper revaluation and the necessary steps should be authorized that will permit them to undertake what will require probably a year and a half to complete.

There will be an opportunity offered at the special town meeting for the purpose of asking such questions as the townspeople may want answered, to ascertain such facts as may be desired and get all possible information in the hands of the committee concerning this change, its effects and its benefits.

Norwich has delayed too long in bringing about this recommended change, but now that there is an opportunity to overcome the inequalities and to get our tax assessments upon a proper basis it is to be sincerely hoped that it will get better consideration and treatment than the effort of a few years ago to cure certain city ills through the adoption of a new city charter.

OPPOSING CHEMICALS IN WAR

Whether anything is actually accomplished at the conference at Geneva concerning the use of poisonous gas in warfare, there seems to be a strong leaning in that direction. It is a matter, however, in which there must be unanimous agreement on the part of the nations which can produce such chemicals.

The fact that the present conference did not include poison gas in the call may be sufficient ground for no action resulting from the discussion, but it has been possible to disclose what the sentiment of the respective nations is, and to show what the opposition is to the banning of gases in the conduct of wars.

Perhaps one of the most hopeful indications is that which shows Germany's willingness to join in an international agreement to banish war gas. Germany has volunteered to sign an agreement, which is bound to have its good effects in inducing the future conduct of that government.

Here is a case where some suspicion might rest upon the offer, in view of the previous promises of Germany and the fact that it was the nation that resorted to the use of poison gas on a large scale. But Germany is unquestionably acting as the result of experience. It knows what it has suffered as the result of its conduct and understands that it has no advantages when it comes to utilizing chemicals in warfare. It is apparently as anxious to bring about the elimination of such stuff as this or other countries are. It displays an attitude which should have its effect in dispelling the fears of certain nations which, invariably govern their own conduct by what they think Germany may do, or by what they consider must be done to establish the necessary safeguards against that country.

There is no question but what chemical warfare should be banned. If Germany is ready to help in such an effort its aid should be welcomed.

FIGHTING LEPROSY

When General Wood makes an appeal for a million dollars for the extension of the work of treating the lepers in the Philippines he solicits aid in a most worthy cause. There can be none who does not appreciate the plight of those who are stricken with such a disease, the utter hopelessness that has existed in the past and the bright gleam of hope that has come through the modern methods of treatment.

Leprosy has not received the attention in the Philippines in the past that it has since this country became interested in the islands. And even then it is not until the last few years that satisfactory progress, aside from seclusion, has been made in combatting the disease.

What a hold the disease has in the islands is indicated by the fact that there is located the world's largest leper colony, and where such a condition exist there is to be found the opportunities for some of the most effective work both curative and preventive. When the new method of treatment has resulted so satisfactorily that "the people who formerly looked upon Culion (the leper colony) with fear and dread are commencing to look upon it as a place not of segregation and imprisonment, but as a place of care, treatment and possible cure," it is realized that the fight that is being made there deserves a generous support.

Well does General Wood say "We are working not only for the lepers here, but the lepers all over the world," for what is accomplished in the largest leper colony is sure to be of benefit in fighting the disease elsewhere. Thus in the interest of humanity the plea for funds for this purpose must be considered as highly deserving. There is no chance that the fight against disease will be too successful.

MOTOR PICNIC PARTIES

Once more with the coming of the season when picnicing is popular, there arises the question as to whether the property owner is entitled to any rights in the highway in front of his property or whether any who drive along are entitled to stop and have their lunch where they please.

There would be no such question raised under ordinary circumstances. No matter how attractive a spot might be developed by the property owner, he would probably welcome the stopping of motorists for a roadside lunch or for viewing the grounds or the landscape if it were not that there are so many of these visitors who have abused the many privileges extended.

Perhaps it is so that in the highway all have the same rights, but that doesn't mean that Tom, Dick and Harry should halt for lunch at a most attractive spot and after enjoying the delightful place leave all the rubbish and litter that they have created, or on the other hand that such picnickers should consider themselves entitled to make raids upon the flower gardens, the truck gardens or the orchards, which look tempting, but which are the property of others.

Considering the manner in which property owners are overridden, mistreated and at times insulted, there can be no surprise that they regard such people as intruders and resent their coming, even to the extent of posting notices to the effect that picnicking and trespassing are forbidden.

Such developments are of course the result of experience, and the motorists and picnickers should realize that in the great majority of the cases there is no one to blame but themselves, or at least a portion of their number who do not know how to respect the property of others.

WHERE IS AMUNDSEN?

Anxiety over Amundsen and those with him on his flight through the air to the north pole is due to uncertainty. He appears to be much overdue if, as claimed, he hoped to be back in 48 hours, and yet it is because there is no knowledge of what has happened to him that there may be cause for worry.

The polar regions are not new to him, but going there by seaplane is decidedly new, and it is easy to imagine all kinds of trouble that he has encountered. And yet the uncertainty is increased because of the possibility that such favorable results have been obtained in the quest for the pole that he has continued to go forward, possibly to Alaska. There is of course no knowing just where he may be in the broad expanse around the pole. Whether he was forced down before getting to the pole, whether his machines crashed on the ice, whether he is walking back to some settlement over the ice—no one knows. There is not the advantage to him or to those who are anxious over his whereabouts of keeping in communication by radio.

That others who are contemplating trips into the north should be considering going to his rescue is natural, but even such a search, unless undertaken by a flying machine over the course he was scheduled to take, would seem to be like looking for a lost pebble in the sands of a long beach.

Whether Amundsen has met with success or accident, his experiment to the pole has demonstrated the importance of having included in his equipment a wireless outfit that would have made it possible for him to keep the world informed in case any in the party should survive an accident.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The man on the corner says: Are you really interested in good government or do you just like to talk about it?

One bit of satisfaction from the cold days of May is that during such a period there is no trouble from mosquitoes.

Bear in mind that those delegated to decorate the graves for Memorial day can make good use of your surplus flowers.

It seems to be effectively demonstrated that highway oil does not contribute anything to the palatability of the city water.

There's really no need of freezing a person near to death just to show that cold days are possible in the last week of May.

It seems a bit strange that the tidal wave on the great lakes should have occurred during the week when the dry law was modified in Ontario.

Anything within reason is the bathing suit edict for Atlantic City this year. That ought to permit anything considering the way reason varies.

Those voters who are desirous of doing something for the community should make it a point to get to the polls next Monday and vote, and in the interest of good government vote the republican ticket.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to the Bulletin)

Washington, May 28—William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, has an element of forehandedness which continues to upset his democratic competitors. Just at the time the democratic statisticians had begun to present their tabulations forecasting republican defeats in the 1926 elections, growing, incidentally, over the fact, as they saw it, that they had caught the republicans unawares, Butler ambles into Washington and sets forth to the newspaper men at large the plans which he has been making for a month past for a trans-continental tour, during which he expects to strengthen his fences, not only in the republican but even in certain democratic districts.

Butler has apparently an extraordinary faculty of hitting the nail on the head. The tour which he has outlined, which will take him to the Pacific coast, is an absolutely new event, even in republican political history. As a result even the democratic newspapers, like the Baltimore Sun, the New York Times, and World, have already dropped their chorus of cheers over democratic prospects, to berate the democrats for not having thought of this plan first. Mr. Butler, in his talk with the Washington newspaper correspondents, set forth that while the usual practice perhaps had been to call men to Washington for a conference, that his experience as a business man had taught him that the way to get a real insight and real views was to go out and see the people as near their own homes as possible, and that is the program he will follow.

Poland has completed the funding of her debt to the United States. She has delivered $178,560,000 worth of Polish bonds to the Treasury. This will no doubt mean the even more firmly entrenched position by Poland in the world's financial affairs.

A synopsis of the sums owed the United States by the nations of the world indicates the principle amount of obligations now held as follows: $10,556,804,323.40; the accrued interest, as of the last interest bearing date, amounts to $1,594,434,189.99, making a total indebtedness of $12,151,238,393.-39. The payments on account of the principle give a total of $327,261,993.16 while payments on account of interest amount to $946,430,821.72. The funded obligations held, which are included in the foregoing totals, are as follows: Finland $8,910,000.00; Great Britain $4,554,000,000.00; Hungary, $1,-958,412.50; Lithuania, (this funding agreement has been approved by congress but the bonds have not yet been exchanged) $6,030,000.00; Poland, $178,-560,000.00, which gives a total of $4,-749,458,412.50. It will thus be seen that, outside of the debts funded, there remains to be paid $7,401,779,980.89, exclusive of interest. For the sake of convenience and figuring, the indebtedness owed the United States is, in round figures, $7,500,000,000.00, which, if interest were to be paid upon, at 4 per cent per annum, would yield the United States the tidy sum in interest alone of $300,000,000.00.

Since President Coolidge became the president of the United States in August, 1923, he has received over 100,-000 persons. He has shaken hands with over 90,000. The United States chamber of commerce, appreciating the fact that every hour taken up in hand-shaking means just so much more of a burden to the president, when received by him last week sent word to the executive secretary that they would pay their respects to the president but not shake hands, not desiring to add to the physical strain under which he works every day, for it must be recalled that the president is one of if not the busiest man in the United States. It is not uncommon for him to put in 12 to 14 hours a day at his desk, and even while visiting different sections of the country he carries with him stenographers and other aides and transacts business on the train or at the hotel in between time.

While the president has not voiced any desire to curtail the hand-shaking which has become our great national habit, there are many of the president's friends and well-wishers who would be glad to see him relieved, in part at least, of the strain to which he is subjected every day.

Just before congress adjourned there was quite an agitation to have broadcast the deliberations of that body. This was following in the lines of the proposal to broadcast the proceedings of the British parliament.

It is not at all likely that the proceedings of congress will be broadcast to the public for many sessions to come if at all. By the very nature of proceedings, more especially in the house, the ether waves would be cluttered up for many hours by a lot of inconsequential utterances made, in many instances for "home consumption." In addition to this feature of the question comes the all-important one of expense. There is no broadcasting station in the country today that can at all times transmit to every portion of the country, more especially in such a manner as to be properly received by the smaller radio sets.

President Coolidge will, on Memorial day, deliver an address at the amphitheatre in Arlington, and will place upon the tomb of the unknown soldier a wreath bearing his and Mrs. Coolidge's card.

At last a definite program is under way to eliminate the bunk and buncombe out the federal service. The program which the president has enunciated, and which Mr. Hoover and Chairman Butler recently supported in formal speeches which they have made, for cutting the red tape in Washington and abolishing a lot of folderol offices which are only a drain upon the tax payers, is already in execution.

Official Washington, which consists of those persons safely intrenched in the pay roll trenches, is of course, horrified. There is something almost sacreligious, as these people see it, in the thought of dropping people from the pay roll, especially when they have fine, high-sounding titles, as well as beautiful monthly pay checks. No doubt, as far as lies in their power these white-collar gentlemen will attempt to block the scheme. The people of the nation as a whole are with the president. It is about time that someone laid down the axiom that while making two blades of grass grow where one grew before is correct and proper from an agricultural standpoint that the Washingtonian habit of developing two highly paid jobs, or commissions where even the existence of one is not justified, should be stopped.

FUN FOR MOTHERS

"Of all maddening questions the worst is, 'What have you been doing with yourself?' " gasped a breathless woman who by chance had run into a friend at the ladies' entrance of the University club. "Yes, yes, I know you heard me say, when Muriel went back to college after the Christmas holidays, that I shouldn't have to give her clothes another thought till June, but don't tell me you took that literally! Sit down on this davenport and let me tell you a few things before my husband comes. You know that Wells college is near Cornell university, don't you? And you've heard of junior hops, haven't you? Well!

"Muriel had hardly got back to Wells when she sent me a special delivery imploring me to find out whether Mrs. Macon, the professor's wife, you know, would write to her sister—another professor's wife at Cornell—and ask her to invite Muriel to be a guest in her home during the J. hop. It was the only way she could get permission to go, and an exceptionally fine young man—really of a rather important family—had invited her, and her heart was going to be broken, if she had to refuse.

"If it had been any one but Mrs. Macon! And her sister a perfect stranger to us! But I said to myself, 'What's a mother for?' I bought two expensive matinee tickets and invited her to join me. That gave me ground to stand on—and I must say she was nice about it. She mailed me a copy of her letter to the Cornell sister next day and it spoke beautifully of Muriel. I wrote Muriel to send Mrs. Macon a prompt thank you, and imagine my feelings when, after about a week, came a note saying Muriel had been crazy with exams, and wouldn't I please tell Mrs. Macon something pretty and explain that it was all arranged beautifully now. The girls were to be allowed to stay at a fraternity house with chaperons, which would be so much more fun. And naturally I took Mrs. Macon to lunch when I told her that!

"In the same letter Muriel said that though she might have squeezed through if this hadn't happened, she simply must have for the hop one more formal and another informal and gloves and a hat and slippers and—well, you know!

"Of course I flew. My dressmaker is always booked up weeks ahead but she put off somebody else.

"And just as I thought I had everything bought, a letter from Muriel said that any color but apricot would suit her for the formal—and apricot was the color I had! So I changed that to porcelain blue and we had planned a lovely draped effect, when in came a night letter warning me that the dress must have flaring line in front—preferably ruffles—and a plain back.

"Then Muriel telegraphed that she had been shopping in some town near there and found just the thing for the informal, so would I get the hat to harmonize, with sample mailed today, and would papa send check?

"I'd subsidized my milliner into making Muriel's hat right away, but I took it back and ordered another color, and then Muriel wired that she had bought a dream of a hat from a senior girl and so glad to save me the bother!

"So you see—there's Henry now! Good-by, but don't you ever ask me again what I've been doing with myself!"

As the breathless woman joined her husband the other one, looking after her, murmured audibly, "The meekness of mothers!"

But a third woman, who had evidently been bursting with motherly sympathy as she listened, said with a whimsical smile, "Don't pity her. She loves it! We all do!"—Exchange.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Benjamin F. Yoakum, who has laid before President Coolidge a proposal for funding Europe's war debts to the United States on a basis of payment over a one-hundred-year period, is a celebrated railroad financier, known among his associates as the man who built up the Frisco system from a pair of rusty rails and a right of way through No Man's Land. He is a Texan both by birth and residence. His father was a doctor in the Lone Star state and wanted to train his son to be a dominie. But the younger Yoakum wasn't built along those lines. He took to railroading because he couldn't keep away from it. He learned the business in the employ of the Great Northern under the tutelage of the late James J. Hill. Subsequently, in the service of different roads in the west and southwest he rose step by step until he attained the presidency of the Frisco, which line he built up in spite of bitter opposition from some of the most influential financiers and railroad magnates in the country.

STORIES THAT RECAL LOTHERS

A Cow and Her Horn.

Paul, age four, was making his first visit to the country and was introduced to the cow. The animal's horns interested him most and his only experience with horns had been with those of tin, campaign variety.

Later, while at dinner, Paul heard the cow bawl and cried out:

"Oh, mamma, listen to that cow blowing her horn."

In Robin's Nest

Little Lathryn, age four, insisted on being lifted up that she might see the contents of a robin's nest in the tree. As her mother lifted her up, mother robin flew away to a telephone wire nearby. Kathryn looked long and seriously into the nest and after being put down her mother said: "Well, what did you see, eggs or birdies?"

She looked quizically into her mother's face and said: "Oh, nothing, just fishing worms with orange on them."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Memorial Day in Plainfield.

Mr. Editor:—As one of the committee referred to in the Plainfield item of Wednesday May 27, I will state there has not been a vote taken in regard to the turning over of Memorial day to any pastor, any club, in fact, no committee could have that right.

May I ask the meaning of the word "bucking" as used in this particular instance? We Ladies of the G. A. R. reverence our Memorial day as something sacred, the one day in the year that we can honor our Soldier dead.

Surely not a day to be used as a means of contention through the daily press. One who would so desecrate it should never command it.

Why should an aged veteran's wife be deprived of the pleasure of serving and the memories that must be her while making the wreaths that will decorate the graves of bygone friends?

Lest we forget.

ONE OF THE COMMITTEE.
Central Village, May 27, 1925.

From Small Beginnings

amuel Coleridge Taylor, the Great Negro Composer

In 1912 there died a most talented man, a genius, in fact—Samuel Coleridge Taylor, the negro composer. Like many another genius he met an early death, for he was only 37 when he breathed his last. It is often the case that the fires of great ability destroy the very one to whom they attract attention.

In the music composed by Samuel Coleridge Taylor there is a peculiar quality that comes, perhaps, from the blending of the emotions and the ability of two races, the black and the white. Samuel's father was a black man from the tropical region of Sierra Leone in Africa; his mother was English. The son showed in his short life the intense love of music of one race, and the constructive ability and the directing power of the other.

From his childhood he was a lover of music, and very early in life learned to play upon the violin, from which he could draw strains of unusual sweetness. He could not only produce music that others had written but he could also compose works of his own. His talent was recognized, and he was sent to good teachers of music, the expectation being that he would develop into a rare player of the violin. At the age of 15 he was successful in winning a scholarship for musical composition. Even at that early age he was looked upon as a genius.

Fortunately for him, he had in his blood the staying power of the white race, and he bent his energies to serious study under the best masters. He was only 23 when he composed his famous cantata called Hiawatha's Wedding, a remarkable piece of music that has in it suggestions of open spaces and free life. Music lovers saw in this work such a new appeal that they gave lavish praise to the young composer. At once he wrote two other compositions on the Hiawatha theme, making three notable contributions to music. After this he continued to write, always with originality and with reaching power, producing waltzes, ballads, operettas and symphonies. His early death cut short a life full of promise.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

AZIZIA BEATS DEATH VALLEY

"Azizia bristles with 'z's'; so does sizzling," and there you have the story of this inland town of Italian Tripoli "in one word," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"That Azizia fully deserves the adjective is apparent," continues the bulletin, "from the fact that it has just shouldered our own Death Valley from first place as the world's hottest place. A sheltered thermometer at Greenland Ranch in Death Valley, on July 10, 1913, reached 134.1 degrees Fahrenheit, which stood as the world's verifiable record until the Azizia temperature—136.4 degrees—recently announced, was observed last summer.

"Azizia is little more than a desert village—the North African equivalent for our 'wide places in the road,' —but it is strategically located about 25 miles inland from Tripoli City and the Mediterranean. It figured importantly in the guerrilla warfare between the Italians on one side and the Turks and Arabs on the other, that went on from 1911 until recently. When the Italians landed in Tripoli and the Turks fled from that city, Azizia, in spite of its insignificance, was made the Turkish headquarters. It consisted of the Kasr building—a sort of administrative stronghold—and several rows of low, narrow, mud-walled barracks. But there was also an unseen side to Azizia—numerous underground dwellings of the extremely poor inhabitants of the country. Sloping tunnels led to a depth of 8 to 10 feet under the surface, and through very small openings into chambers hollowed from the conglomerate rock of the region.

"Azizia and the country in which it lies have two totally different aspects, that following the rainy season of winter and that during the much longer dry season. After the rains large regions are covered with grass which supports flocks of sheep and numerous camels. In summer most of the country seems a hopeless desert of golden sand, gray scrub, rocks and heat.

"The Italians, who now have Tripoli pretty well under control, have built a railway from Tripoli City through Azizia and on into the Jebel, 15 or 20 miles to the south. The Jebel is usually considered a mountain range, but it really it is the cliff-like escarpment of the Sahara Plateau, broken into gigantic steps, which has all the appearance of a mountain range from the low ground to the north. The ower levels of the Jebel are bare and sun-baked, but higher up is the pleasant green olive groves. The level parts of still steps are carpeted with luxuriant grass during a considerable part of the year.

"The top of the Jebel lies about 2,000 feet above sea level. On its crest just south of Azizia, and on a long used pass, is the town of Charian, a place of importance in Roman times. Near by are the ruins of Roman villas. If Azizia increases in importance because of the railway, Gharian may become its Simla, to whose cooler and greener upper levels those who must live in the desert town may flee during the sizzling summer heat."

Dollar's Life Six Months

Although few citizens of the United States would admit that they could make a dollar bill last six months, this is the record Uncle Sam has hung up. Averaging even those dollar bills which get secreted in vaults and old shoes and other treasure places, and are neglected for years, the average life of a dollar bill is only six months, which means many of the "long greens" last only a few days when they leave the government or bank printing presses.

Holland Losing Windmills

Due to the increasing cheapness and good economy of motors, windmills in Holland are steadily disappearing. Few new ones are being built and repairs are less also. As old mills become inefficient motors are substituted. A windmill costing $10,000 will develop only eleven and one-half horsepower and the wind blow with working strength only about 1440 hours a year, so that motors are found more economical and efficient, though less picturesque.

Industry 4,000 Years Old

The silk industry of China is more than 4,000 years old. It began with the domestication valued silk worm and it has continued without serious interruption in China ever since. Although the industry has had its ups and downs like others, it is still flourishing and growing in spite of the artificial silk industry, due to the growing popularity of silk as a fabric for the Western world. The silk stocking vogue has had much to do with recent progress.

Business Tender Hearted

Officials of the Birch Valley Lumber Company at Tioga, West Virginia, demonstrated that "big business" has a tender heart some times. This company refused to fill a Philadelphia lumber yard's order for white oak until a robin, which was discovered rearing a young brood on top of the pile, had time to teach the fledglings how to fly. The officials declined to remove the timbers, though it meant waiting some days for the brood to grow up, and there were no other seasoned white oak planks in the yard.

His prescription HEM-ROID, a tablet medicine, taken internally, that is now sold by druggists generally. ## LOYALTY.

He may be six kinds of a liar,
He may be ten kinds of a fool,
He may be a wicked high-flyer
Beyond any reason or rule;
There may be a shadow above him
Of ruin and woes to impend,
And I may not respect, but I love him,
Because—well, because he's my friend.

I know he has faults by the billion,
But his faults are a portion of him;
I know that his record's vermillion,
And he's far from the sweet seraphim;
But he's always been square with yours truly,
All ready to give or to lend,
And though he is wild and unruly,
I like him because he's my friend.

I knock him, I know, but I do it
The same to his face as away,
And if other folks knock—well they rue it
And wish they'd had nothing to say!!
I never make diagrams of him,
No maps of his soul have I penned,
For I don't analyze, I just love him,
Because—well, because he's my friend.

Be certain that the fish you buy is strictly fresh. ## VARIOUS MATTERS

This is calendar day for June.

An Eastford correspondent writes: The length of the day is now fifteen hours.

MEN OF NEW LONDON ARCHDEACONRY MEET FOR THIRD ANNUAL BANQUET

The changing Orient is on the move; the Occident better look out because the direction in which the Orient is moving is significant, said William C. Sturgis, Ph. D., educational secretary of the national council of the Episcopal church, the principal speaker at the third annual dinner of the laymen of the New London Archdeaconry held Thursday evening at the Wauregan hotel. There was an attendance of 185 at the dinner, including delegations from the Episcopal parishes from Norwich, Putnam, Yantic, Poquetanuck, Plainfield, New London, Mystic, Hebron, Danielson, Willimantic and Pomfret. The banquet menu served about 8 o'clock was as follows:

Orange Bar-le-Duc
Hearts of Celery Queen Olives
Dill Pickles
Yankee Bean Soup.
Roast Spring Lamb Potatoes Rissole
Asparagus Tips Salad
French Bread
Chocolate and Vanilla Ice Cream
Coffee

During the banquet there was a musical programme by Geer's orchestra and group songs and solo numbers under the spirited leadership of Fred G. Prothero. The banquet opened with the singing of America by the assemblage. There were popular and old-time songs by the single men, the married men, the clerky and parish groups and solos by James Lockwood of Norwich, quartette numbers, and solos by Rev. Thomas Martin, of Groton.

About 9:15 o'clock the gathering was called to order by Alfred L. Reed, of St. Alban's, Danielson, toastmaster. We have been told a great many times that the church was losing its hold on the men, said Mr. Reed. When we look around this hall and see all these men from all parts of eastern Connecticut we must challenge the truth of this statement. The men are more interested in the church than ever before. Toastmaster Reed then presented as the first speaker, William C. Sturgis, Ph. D., educational secretary of the national council of the Episcopal church.

One of the important results of meetings of this kind, said Dr. Sturgis, is that the men who attend get away from their home towns and surroundings. In the place you live you think in no wider terms than your parish or the town your parish is in. When you get away to a meeting of this kind you realize you are a member of something bigger than your parish. You are a member of an archdeaconry. Once in three years comes the general convention and then you realize you are a member of a great international church.

It amuses me to hear the members of various Protestant churches refer to their church as a great church. Not one of them can compare with the Anglican communion, 13,000,000 communicants strong. That is the church that today stands as a great power. We are living in times when the world is changing with appalling rapidity. The church exists in the midst of the changing world as the one great stabilizing institution of the day.

Dr. Sturgis spoke of the extraordinary change coming over the American boy and girl. All barriers seem to be down; all fences are broken, he said. But I have the greatest confidence in this movement of the young people. They are building new fences of their own. If those youngsters can be held for the church and by the church the future of the church is safe. It is a profound and significant change, that the church, thank God, is meeting.

Dr. Sturgis spoke of the change coming over our social and economic life through our foreign born. They are introducing an entirely new element in our country. Your church stands foremost in work among the foreign born in this country. It is a matter which concerns every man and woman in the church. Those people have come among us expecting one thing, friendship. Only on the basis of sympathy and friendship is the future of this republic safe as far as the foreign-born element is concerned.

As another change, Dr. Sturgis spoke of the migration of the negro from the south to the north. He told of the twelve great schools, industrial training schools for negro boys and girls that the Episcopal church is maintaining in the south. Good farmers, industrious citizens are the results of your schools in the south, he said.

These changes are nothing when one thinks of the changes that are taking place among half the world's population in the Orient. The east is changing with the most astonishing rapidity. Japan has accomplished in 60 years what it took England 350 years to accomplish and what it took this country 150 years to accomplish.

Japan is one of the four great powers that hold the destiny of the future in their hands. Time and distance are being eliminated. The changing Orient is on the move. The Occident better look out because the direction in which the Orient is moving is significant. Praise to the church that puts light in the midst of the appalling darkness of changing China.

In conclusion Dr. Sturgis spoke of the working conditions in China and Japan, telling how women and children, four and five years old, are employed in cotton mills, seventeen hours a day, for three or four cents a day. He spoke of the church as the power that can meet the astounding changes in the Oriental countries.

Resolutions Adopted

Following Dr. Sturgis' splendid address, H. M. Hitchon, secretary of the general committee in charge of the banquet, presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved—That the committee recommend that there be formed in each parish and mission a group of laymen to study the book to be set forth by the Department of Missions of the National Council on the relations between the United States and the Latin-American republics.

It was moved that a committee of three be named to carry out the purport of the resolution and the chair appointed Rev. Mr. Williams, Rev. J. Eldred Brown and Rev. L. R. Richards a committee to confer and bring in names for the committee of three. The committee, later in the meeting, presented the names of A. L. Reed, W. A. Gilbert and E. A. Bidwell, as the committee of three and their report was unanimously accepted.

Bishop Acheson Speaks

Chairman Reed presented as the final speaker Rt. Rev. E. Campion Acheson, suffragan bishop of Connecticut, who in a brief address supplemented the remarks of Dr. Sturgis. Bishop Acheson said he is always pleased to attend a meeting of this kind in eastern Connecticut. He said he always feels that "you have a splendid crew of men, willing to work." You also have here in eastern Connecticut a splendid body of clergy. I know of no finer body of clergy in the diocese.

The measure of your interest in the church is not simply your presence here tonight but what you do in your home towns. A gathering of this kind shows that the church is really alive and has a work to do. We don't realize what it is to have the tremendous power of the church with us.

Just before the meeting closed the toastmaster said that Dr. Sturgis wished to say a few more words. After speaking briefly of the mission in Alaska, Dr. Sturgis read the following:

Stealing a Minister

One of the most northerly stations in the interior of Alaska is a little unnamed Indian village far up the Chendale river. The 150 Indian people there built themselves a log chapel and begged Bishop Rowe to send them an Indian catechist. This the bishop was able to do. Recently there came to him a letter from one of the head men of a still more distant village with this interesting piece of village news:—

Fort Yukon, Jan. 15th, 1925.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Rowe

My Dear Sir

Last December the 9th, we went after Albert the minister at Christian Camp to come and pray with us for Christmas and New Year. May be we have no right to do that. I hurt my finger that why we got all, the lumber and windows and door on the ground. Next summer we will finish it. We got you help us to get a bell. We like to everything now. But no bell. I wish have a minister at our place. If Albert come some time we pleased. We don't like to steal him. Last spring Albert come to see us. (Signed) NED ROBERT Second Chief of Upper Yeus-du-lac River.

Collection Taken For Bell

Following the reading of the letter to Bishop Howe, and at the suggestion of Toastmaster Reed, a collection for the bell for the Alaskan church was taken up, and when it was counted it was found that $65 had been raised. Dr. Sturgis, after the meeting, stated that the bell will be inscribed to show that the New London Archdeaconry made the bell possible.

The collection for the bell brought the meeting to a close about eleven o'clock.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the banquet comprised: Walter E. Gilbert, chairman; Rev. J. Eldred Brown, S. Hussey Reed, Trinity church; Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong, Joseph C. Worth, W. Russell Baird, Francis Gilman, Christ church; Rev. Lionel E. W. Mitchell, William J. Banfield, James Johnson, St. Andrew's church; Rev. Robert B. Day, E. A. Bidwell, H. M. Hitchon, Yantic parish.

The entertainment committee comprised Rev. Lionel E. W. Mitchell, W. J. Banfield and James Johnson.

THURSDAY-NITERS IN PROGRAMME AT Y. M. C. A.

Davis, consisting of playground ball, kick-ball, quoits, paddle-tennis, ping-pong. Following the games the boys all gathered at the rear of the building to take part in a big peanut scramble. A full peck of peanuts were thrown out to the bunch and some lively scrambling took place for about fifteen minutes. After the scramble everybody made a quick get-away for a swim in the pool, where swimming was enjoyed under supervision and also under safe conditions.

The auto that Coman was driving is owned by John H. Smith of Norwich.

AGAINST CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS OF STATE

Hartford, May 28—(A. P.)—Any attempt, under present conditions to consolidate the schools of the state would not result in practical gain, the commission on the revision and codification of the school laws reported to the general assembly. The fact that administrative duties have been delegated to towns, parishes, school districts and societies for two centuries would make it impossible to secure mere verbal unity, in the light of diversified conditions, the commission finds.

The commission gives as its opinion that the act under which it is created did not contemplate such a radical change in the whole body of school law as would be implied from present conditions.

WINDHAM MAKES EXCELLENT SHOWING AGAINST BULKELEY, LOSING 7 TO 2

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 28—Before the largest crowd of the season Coach T. A. Callaghan's Windham High school nine was beaten for the eighth consecutive time this year by Bulkeley High school of New London at the Recreation Park field this afternoon. The score was 7 to 2. The Crimson and Blue held the lead up to the sixth inning, when an error by Haggerty with two out prepared the stage for Daniels' terrific home run to the race track in left field, driving in two runners ahead of him. The visiting coach thereupon sent his pitching ace from right field to the mound in place of Parisi who was well nigh invincible during his tenure on the hillock only yielding four hits and for the remainder of the game Windham had not the least chance to add to the two runs already scored. Said pitching ace, Tillie Daniels by name, held the locals in the hollow of his hands, striking out four of the batsmen who opposed him and forcing the others out by the infield route.

Johnny Miela pitched a pretty game for Windham and he limited the apple crashing state champions to nine hits and only one earned run.

Bulkeley opened the scoring proclivities in the very first inning, registering her only earned run on a base on balls, a stolen base and a rip snorting single to center field by Sheflott. The Callaghan proteges went the opposition one better in their turn at bat through two errors by Gaetano and two singles by Prater and Usher, between which were lapses in form by the Bulkeley defense.

Both teams thereupon proceeded to play gilt edge ball. Windham flashed forth some brilliant fielding features for the next four innings but the spell was broken in the sixth by "Lorrie" Haggerty who paved the way for a Bulkeley scoring spasm with an error on a ground ball hit by Sheflott. There were two outs at the time.

The next batter, Booth, was passed. Up to the plate strode Daniels and with the count two and one he found a ball to his liking with the result that he drove a terrific circuit clout to the left field confines of the park and was just crossing the plate as the ball was returned to the infield.

Bulkeley scored once more in the eighth. Sheflott hit one to the box and J. Miela tossed widely to first. He stole second and was propelled across the final station by a single off the bat of Booth. Two singles, a stolen base and a couple of errors in the ninth brought the total of the visitors up to seven.

Fielding features were contributed by Hutchinson, Barry, Usher, Parisi, E. Nichols and Storrs. The only other extra base hit in addition to Daniels' home run was a two base clout by Prater in the third.

Saturday, Windham goes to New London to fill a return engagement with Chapman Tech. The score:

PLAINFIELD EASILY BEATS WARWICK HIGH TEAM, 6 TO 1

Easily overcoming the highly-touted Warwick High school baseball nine, 6 to 1, at Warwick, R. I., Thursday afternoon, the Plainfield High ballstossers incidentally won their third game in succession. Although the Plainfield boys outplayed their "Little Rhody" opponents throughout the contest, the game was not without its thrills. The speedy up state infield kept the spectators on edge and more than one prospective base-runner was retired via the French Mecerin route.

For three innings Gunderson, the Warwick speed ball artist had the Plainfield boys guessing, but in the third frame, a single by Allard, a pass to Wallace and a hot single by Maggia scored two runs. The fifth and sixth each fattened the Plainfield score by two runs and the eighth proved to be Gunderson's Waterloo, as two more runs crossed the plate bringing the grand total for Plainfield to six and putting the game on ice.

Warwick's lone tally came as a result of errors in the fifth inning. The Plainfield nine is a smooth working combination, being the only Connecticut High school team to overcome the fast La Salle Prep team in a long time. On Saturday the team travels to North Attleboro to engage the N. Attleboro High team. Belknap and Allard will do the battery work and the regular lineup will support them. The score:

AGGIES TO PLAY CLARK AT WORCESTER FRIDAY

(Special to the Bulletin)

Storrs, May 28—The Connecticut Aggie baseball team will enter on the last lap of the present schedule when it travels to Worcester tomorrow to play a return game with Clark University. On Memorial day, the Aggies will play a return game with Trinity in Hartford and the Aggie tracksters will also travel to Hartford to meet Trinity in a dual meet. On June 6 Dole's men will meet Rhode Island State at Kingston, after which the Aggies will engage in a two game series with Massachusetts Aggies on June 12 and 13. One game will be played at Amherst and one game at Storrs.

Connecticut defeated Clark 5-0 at Storrs a couple of weeks ago, when "Bill" Makofski held the Bay State team to one lone hit in nine innings of play. Clark was woefully weak in its stick work in that game, and unless they can show much better form tomorrow the Aggies should make it six victories in the last six starts. Either Wells or Nanfeldt will start on the mound for the State College team.

LARGE OFFERS MADE TO NURMI TO DESERT AMATEURS

New York, May 28—Offers totalling approximately $350,000 to renounce his amateur status were made to Paavo Nurmi, wonder runner from Finland, during his visit to the United States, Frederick Rubien, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, said today shortly after Nurmi sailed for his home in Abo, Finland.

All offers were refused, however, Rubien said, and Nurmi is particularly happy over the fact that his amateur standing remained undamaged. According to Rubien, the Miller Brothers' circus offered Nurmi $60,000 if he would travel with it for 20 weeks. Numerous other offers were made, Rubien said, including several from breakfast food companies.

Rubien reiterated previous denials that Nurmi made large sums of money for running in races in this country, stating the Finn received only $7 a day as expenses. Profits made by clubs at which Nurmi appeared, he said, probably would average about $3,000.

Nurmi, according to Rubien, not only stimulated public interest in running, but had a psychological effect on American runners, including Goodwin, Ray, Connolly and Hahn, all of whom showed improvement.

A crowd of several hundred persons were at the pier to wish Nurmi bon voyage. One was Willie Ritola, Nurmi's track rival.

What might have been a serious accident to the famous runner was averted when a fellow passenger on the Stockholm grasped Nurmi's arm as tripped over a cable on the deck and nearly fell into the Hudson river. The crowd cheered as Nurmi regained his footing, and the runner doffed his cap and smiled.

After visiting his mother, and sisters at Abo, Nurmi it was learned, will go to Helsingfors to work as a mechanical draftsman at a salary of 2,500 marks or about $62.50 a month.

Before sailing Nurmi, through an interpreter, said he hoped to return to the United States next January, but if he does not, to return in 1927.

HARRIS AND FRADGLEY TO PLAY FOR BRITISH TITLE

Westward Ho, England, May 28—The finals of the British amateur golf championship will be played tomorrow between Robert Harris, a Scotsman from Dundee, and K. F. Fradgley of Warren. The last hope of the western hemisphere, J. L. Cruickshank, Argentine champion, fell a victim to Noel Layton at the nineteenth hole in the sixth round.

Five Americans were eliminated during earlier rounds, Douglas Grant, who lives in England surviving until yesterday, when he was beaten by R. W. Crummack, Lancashire champion.

Harris, who is the favorite for the 1925 amateur title, was captain of the British team that played against America in the United States in 1922 and at St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1923.

The players left in the Westward Ho competition today again had to negotiate a flooded courses and to face a stiff wind. Cruickshank, playing and putting well, held a one-hole lead at the turn, but Layton succeeded in squaring the match at the thirteenth and again at the sixteenth. The seventeenth and eighteenth were halved and Cruickshank lost at the nineteenth failing to hole a six-foot putt for a half after Layton had holed out a longer one.

Harris easily disposed of H. F. B. Tubbs in the morning and for this match with Layton in the afternoon the weather was somewhat improved. Layton took the first hole with a beautiful four, but lost the lead immediately and the match see-sawed until Harris succeeded in sinking a long putt to win at the eighteenth.

Fradgley, playing his best golf of the championship, beat R. H. Hardman by two holes.

PROFS DRIVE RUSHFROM BOX AND BEAT BRASSCOS

New Haven, May 28—(A. P.)—Andy Rush, in his first start for Waterbury since his purchase from Brooklyn, was knocked out of the box by the Profs today. The locals continued their long hitting on Pierce and won from the Brasscos by an 11-7 score.

Runser led the attack with a triple and a homer. It was Waterbury's fifth consecutive defeat. Score:

J. B. MARTIN TEAM TO PLAY HARTFORD TEAM SUNDAY

The attraction at the J. B. Martin grounds for Sunday will be the Yankee Filling Station team of Hartford against the local Velvetmen. Manager Erlbeck of the Martin team had made arrangements to bring the Colored Giants of Hartford here but, owing to some misunderstanding, the Giants have a previous game scheduled and were unable to play but will come here later in the season. The Filling Station team is reputed to be a fast organization with a number of fast ball players in the lineup.

CARTIER PITCHES BRILLIANT GAME AGAINST POMFRET

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, May 28.—The excellent pitching of Gerard Cartier gave Putnam High school a victory over Pomfret school at Pomfret yesterday afternoon for the first time in many years. Cartier pitched absolutely the best ball seen at Pomfret this year. He struck out seventeen batters, gave only two hits, allowed only two men to reach second base and knocked in the winning run as Putnam triumphed, 1 to 0.

Included in his list of strikeout victims was every man on the opposing team with the excention of Captain Howard Johnson. With two out in the third inning he got the third man, R. Thayer, on three swings. In the next session Whittemore, F. Thayer and Kniffin were all sent back to the bench after three futile attempts to hit the ball. In the fifth he continued his sensational twirling, striking out Plunkett, Probst and Perkins. To start the sixth Gundry breezed his bat three times, but Johnson broke the streak with a grounder to the third baseman.

Putnam's game winning run came in the first inning. After Dupre and King had been retired, St. Onge rounded to Probst, who obligingly threw the ball over the first baseman's head, the runner keeping on to second. Cartier, batting in the clean-up position, singled off R. Thayer, St. Onge coming in from second. Cartier died stealing. Thayer, who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Windham High school a week before, worked for two more innings, then gave way to Gundry.

Gundry proved a capable worker and Putnam got not a single hit in the three innings he was on the mound. Then Foster heaved them up for three innings more. In the seventh he was nicked for a single by Hennifan, but no damage resulted.

Pomfret threatened in the ninth inning, when with one out R. Thayer got a single, the only hit since a double by Johnson to open the game. Thayer stole second, but the promising rally was stopped as Whittemore lined to Cartier and Thayer was doubled at the midway base.

MEHLHORN LEADS FIELD OF THIRTY QUALIFIERS

Chicago, May 28. (AP)—Thirty mid-western golfers qualified today at Owentsia for the national open golf championship with scores of 151 or better for 36 holes. The leader of the field was "Bill" Mehlhorn, of Chicago, western open champion, who had a remarkable score of 71-66—137. Mehlhorn's total was within two strokes of the record qualifying score made by Jock Hutchison three years ago at Skokie, where he shot 68-67—135. The former British champion played with Mehlhorn both yesterday and today, but took ten strokes more than the leader to tie for fifth place.

Dave Robertson, of Detroit, was second, six strokes behind Mehlhorn, by virtue of a fine 69 for today's round. Third place went to Alex Cunningham, Toledo, who made 73-72—145, while Bob Shave, Cleveland, was fourth with 146.

Chick Evans, who holds the record for the national open title with 287 strokes, failed to qualify by two strokes. Only recently released from a hospital, Evans scored a fair 74 yesterday but weakened on the final round and eventually threw away his chances to qualify on the 615-yard 17th, where he got tangled up with rough and bunkers and took a 7.

Among the stars who failed to qualify were Bobby Cruickshank, of Oklahoma City, who lost to Bobby Jones in the play-off for the open title two years ago; and John Rogers, of Dayton, Ohio, who, after scoring a brilliant 67 in practice, took a pair of 83s.

NORWICH TWILIGHT LEAGUE WILL GET INTO ACTION ON EVENING OF JULY 9th

The managers of the eight teams that will battle for the honors in the twilight league during the summer months met at the Duwell club last night and practically completed arrangements that the league will swing into action on Tuesday night, June 9th.

The election of officers of the league resulted in Mike Morin being chosen to head the organization with Charles Heebner as secretary. A board of arbitration was also named also to decide on questions that are bound to arise from time to time.

Although ten teams appeared for a place in the league the fans will have a chance to see the East Ends, Hardigs, Nuggets, Yantic Mills, Hallville, Palace, St. Josephs and Centrals perform during the season. these teams were selected as they really represent nearly every section of the city. The fans are well acquainted with the first three mentioned and know that they can do their stuff and do it right, and according to all reports, the five new entrants are bound to furnish many a thrill for those that wend their weary way to the Duwell field after supper nights.

MICHAEL MORIN
President of League

In addition to the one hundred dollars in prizes that the Duwell club will offer for the winning teams, leading batters and fielders, a local merchant has announced that he will offer a loving cup to go to the man that proves himself the most valuable to his team during the season.

Many of the best men that ever dug a pair of spiked shoes into a ball field in this locality will be seen on the different teams, including Chip Dugas, Mike Morin, the Simcox brothers, Tim Coughlin, Artie Lane, Gene Fuller, Sullivan, formerly of the Baltic Rivals, Roy Leonard, Ray Heebner, Johnny Greene, Harry Mills, and last but not least, big Bill Austin, the pride of local fandom will perform with the East Ends. Although Bill is getting along in years he still has some good baseball left in his system and is really one of the most popular ball players in this part of the country.

The fact that Jimmy Holland has entered a team to be known as the Centrals should create quite a little interest as Holland managed the East Ends last season, which like most champions proved rather a tough proposition to handle and it was only a question of time before he would have to quit or have the can tied to him which resulted in his getting the team and forming the Centrals. Although Holland makes no predictions about his team copping a pennant, he does frankly state that he intends to put a crimp in the East Ends chances of winning another championship.

A schedule for the coming season is being drawn up and will be published during the early part of next week.

With only a few days to go everything looks rosy for a big year this year.

A final meeting will be held at the Duwell club next Wednesday night to put on the finishing touches so that the league can get under way on June 9th.

The Duwell field has been greatly improved during this spring and will be in first class condition for the opening game.

FIRST GAME OF RIVERVIEW SUB BASE SERIES TOMORROW

The first game of the annual series between the Submarine Base team and the Riverview club will take place Saturday afternoon at the Riverview diamond. The rivalry between these two clubs is always keen and there is no need to tell local fans that a good game can be expected. Riverview has been traveling at a good clip, losing its first game last Saturday to the State Capitol team by a close score. The Sub Base as usual has a nice team as was shown in the recent game against Providence college. Lefty Harrell is expected to work for the Base and Tony West will bend them over for Riverview.

HIGH COST OF LIVING CHIEFLY A CITY AFFAIR.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

The more one knows about Secretary Hoover the higher rises one's opinion of his ability and his sound common sense,—so called because it is so uncommon.

His successful management of the Belgian relief, during the abominations of German occupation, was a conspicuous example showing vividly to an admiring world what a combination of those two qualities,—ability and common sense,—could accomplish.

Into a problem complicated beyond seeming possibility of disentanglement by the lies of politicians and the lunkheadedness of "statesmen" and the loot-lust of junkerdom and the incapacity of industrial leaders, he injected a new idea,—that of doing the nearest right you can in the best way open to you. Whereby he accomplished results which the able diplomatists assured him were impossible, which the military war-lords told him were forbidden, and which the commercial magnates told him were impracticable.

In his less spectacular but perhaps no less useful work as secretary of commerce in the federal administration he is showing a similar ability to see around corners and through fogs and to take direct routes to desirable ends.

He doesn't worry much over precedent or worship at the shrine of routine. He is less concerned about the way in which it has been customary to do things than in the right way to do those things. And he has small patience with fools, either in politics, business, or economics.

In a recent address before the associated advertising clubs of the world he showed up with merciless logic the utter fatuity, not to say imbecility, of that too numerous class which is all the time howling action to cure this, that or the other evil, or to enforce this, that, or the other so-called "reform."

"It seems different to get away from the government cure idea," he told the ad men, "as almost everybody knows of some evil in the other fellow's business that ought to be cured right away." Therefore "we are confronted with the daily demand to extend government aid in order to cure some abuse or other." And he went on:—

"The arm of the federal government as a poor cure for abuse, for it at once becomes a restraint of liberty which cannot operate even to restrain evil without bringing about some instance of oppression."

He openly asserted that, if this country is to become wholly dependent on the government to cure its wrongs, "we shall, by this very method, have created an enlarged and deadening abuse through the extension of bureaucracy, and the clumsy and incapable handling of delicate moral and economic forces."

In short, he holds, and told the ad. men so, that the one test of our whole social and economic system is its capacity to cure its own abuses, without the rigid and inflexible compulsion of governmental "Thou shalts," and "Thou shalt nots." To insure which capacity, he added, American business needs a lifting purpose finer than the struggle of materialism. It calls for a nicer regard for the rights of others.

In all this Mr. Hoover is dead right. This country is overlawed, already. Its legal system is so top-heavy that it can't any longer stand up alone, but needs annually fresh bolstering and buttressing by new laws to stiffen the weak backs of existing statutes. Every session of congress and of the 48 state legislatures pours out a flood of new laws which the legislators are assumed to believe necessary to supplement the failure of the existing 42,000 already on the statute-books.

It is as if the engineers should, year after year, attempt to stop the flow of the Mississippi river by piling mud dams across its mouth. How long would a mud-bank across the river delta in lower Louisiana estop or hinder the spring floods roaring down the Big Muddy by Omaha or over the Falls of St. Anthony in Minnesota? There is probably no engineer in the five continents so idiotic as to believe it could avail. Yet several thousand congressmen and state legislators spend, every year, many months that might have been more usefully employed shoveling paths for woodchucks through the woods, in "considering" and enacting new laws to make the muddle more confused and confusing.

When it comes to "business," the situation is even worse. A recent investigation by agents of the federal department of agriculture shows that it costs more, in actual money, to truck a sack of potatoes in New York city than it does to haul that same sack by railroad freight 1,100 miles from Michigan.

The port authority of New York city shows that consumers within what is called the "metropolitan" district pay almost one hundred per cent over wholesale prices for the fruits and vegetables they purchase. That is, what the farmer sells for $1, the wholesaler sells for $1.25 and the ultimate consumer pays the retailer $2.50 for.

What's the explanation? Well, mainly trucking, credit and delivery service in the city. There are other elements, but these seem to be the chief.

Take trucking first. It was found that out of every hundred hours the trucks were getting pay for, only thirty-six hours were actually spent in constructive work. Sixty-four hours out of every hundred were wasted by one sort of wait or another, by inadequate terminal service, by congested streets, etc.

It was found that credit and delivery cost the consumer fourteen cents out of every dollar. This means credit and delivery by the retailer alone, and takes no account of the big trucking waste or the simply enormous tribute levied by credit on the wholesalers' borrowed capital.

The Herald-Tribune, editorially discussing these findings, says, frankly:

"We are in the grip of a system which is archaic and uneconomic. Habits of life in a crowded center have something to do with this. But these habits are forced on the people by obsolete methods of marketing."

True enough. But who, other than the "business" magnates of New York, are responsible for the maintenance of those "archaic," "uneconomic" and "obsolete" methods?

If such an inequitable, predaceous, confiscatory system in the handling and distribution of food is the natural result of 150 years' free opportunity for New York city "business" to develop along its own chosen lines, has it really anything whereof to boast itself?

Isn't it evident, as Secretary Hoover suggests, that a new spirit is needed in business; one compounded with a higher percentage of desire for service and a lower of selfish greed; one which shall show finer regard for the rights of others and lay less stress on opportunities for individual encroachment?

We farmers are involved in this city marketing problem, not only intimately but almost vitally. We spend our lives producing food for the consumers of the cities. We supply all the nutrition value that food possesses. And we get in payment, 10,20, or sometimes 30 cents of the dollar the final purchaser pays for that food. Why?

Simply because those "big" managers of city business have so muddled and jumbled and embrangled the distribution end of the transaction that it costs as much to get a sack of potatoes across the city as it does to haul the sack 1,100 miles by rail from Michigan,—and more than the farmer gets for all the contents of the sack.

The stall-fed and city-stalled "economists" and "uplifters" are all the time beseeching farmers to meet them half-way in the endeavor to cut down the high cost of living.

Great Heavens! We've already gone three-quarters if not four-fifths of the way towards them; while they and those for whom they assume to speak, instead of moving an inch towards us, have steadily backed away from us, farther and deeper into the morass of their own shortsightedness, incapacity and greed.

As things are at present, the high cost of living is mainly a city affair, city-made and city-kept. Its solution rests in and with the cities,—not with us farmers. When they've taken the seven-by-nine beam out of their own eye they may be at liberty to train their microscopes on possible motes in our optics. Till they do, they are, at least morally, estopped from blaming or criticising us.

How they shall set at the task of removing that beam is something for them to consider, not for us to advise about.

The diagnosis is certain: the need of operation is manifest. The patient must choose his own surgeon and pay his own hospital bills. He shows not only unreason but pitiable babyishness if he continues to call on us for either sympathy or contributions.

We need absolutely all of both those commodities in our own rural ills. We of the country are deprived of the fair dues coming to us, chiefly by the city's inordinate greed for an increasingly unfair proportion and by its apparent incapacity to seal the scales true.

Snivelling and whimnerine is a poor substitute for constructive action and needed amendment.

When the snivelling and whimpering are joined with utterly unjust criticisms of the innocent and demands for furthur sacrificers from those who are already stripped to their shirts, it becomes intolerable.

THE FARMER.

Mrs. Robin Is Troubled.

There's very little that gets by
A mother's watchful, jealous eye.
—Old Mother Nature.

Welcome Robin and Mrs. Robin had taken pride in and had worried over four blue eggs until they had hatched into four as homely babies as ever lived. Neither Welcome nor Mrs. Robin admitted that they were homely babies. Goodness, no! To them they were as perfect as babies could be. They were everything that babies should be. They were so proud of them that they could hardly contain themselves. Welcome just had to do a little extra singing from sheer happiness.

Now Robin babies, like the babies of all the other feathered folk of the Old Orchard, grow very fast. They seem to think that all they are in the Great World for is to eat and grow, and they do both with astonishing results. By and by the first feathers began to appear. It seemed to Mother Robin that every time she got back to the nest with a worm a new feather had appeared on one or another of those four babies.

Then as she was feeding a worm to one of them she noticed something that gave her a funny feeling inside. That baby didn't look just like the others. At first she couldn't think just what was wrong. Then it came to her. That baby wasn't as dark as the other, the feathers she was used to. She ier side of the nest for a better look at his back. There was no doubt about it, the feathers just starting were not like the feathers of the others, the feathers she was used to. She didn't understand it. Perhaps when they got really out they would turn darker.

For a day or two she kept to herself what she had discovered. When Welcome Robin brought food she watched to see if he would notice anything. But Welcome didn't. Each time after feeding them he drew away without the least bit of worry. When she could stand it no longer she flew down beside him as he was feeding one of the babies.

"Welcome," she said, "what do you think of these babies?"

"I think they are the finest babies in the Old Orchard, my dear. I think that they will grow up to be a credit to the Robin family," he replied.

"Have you noticed anything wrong, that is, anything unusual about any of them?" inquired Mrs. Robin in rather a hesitating way.

Welcome Robin looked at her sharply. Then he looked at the four babies. "I don't see anything wrong with any of them," said he. "They all have equally good appetites so far as I can see."

"It isn't their appetites. Goodness knows, their appetites are good enough! If they were any better I don't know what we would do. It is nothing to do with the way they eat. Look at them again and see if you don't notice something odd about one of them," replied Mrs. Robin.

Welcome once more stared at the babies, all four of whom stretched up their necks and opened their mouths very wide. Then he gave a little start and bent over to look a little closer at one of them. "Bless my sorgful heart!" he exclaimed. "I do believe that that one looks different from the others! What do you make of it, my dear?"

"I don't make anything of it excepting that it is so," declared Mrs. Robin. "I noticed it a couple of days ago and I've been waiting for you to say something about it. There doesn't seem to be anything wrong with him excepting in the looks of that coat he is getting. His appetite is as good as I want it to be, and he is just as strong as any of the others. But I am afraid he is going to grow up queer. Yes, sir, I fear he is going to be queer."

VOLUNTOWN

Voluntown will hold its annual Memorial Day exercises Saturday morning, May 30th. This custom has been carried out annually since the adoption of May 30th, as Memorial Day. The exercises as usual will consist of a parade, in which the remaining members of the Grand Army of the Republic will be escorted to the soldiers' lot at Robbins cemetery, by the veterans of the World War, the school children, Foresters of America, Unity circle, Companions of the Forest, Boy Scouts and Sons of Veterans. The parade will be headed by the recently organized Voluntown Brass band, under the leadership of Mr. Olkenen. Members of Pachaug and Ekonk granges have also been invited to take part in the parade. All organizations are to report to Louis H. Ritchotte, at Union Square, not later than 8:45 a. m. (D. S. T.). Decorated cars will be given precedence in the automobile section. The parade will start at 9 a. m. (D. S. T.) in the following order: Band, World War veterans in command of 2nd Lieut. Herbert Heywood, the Public school pupils principal, Mrs. John O. Peckham, Unity circle, No. 1250, Companions of the Forest, chief, Miss Irene Magrey; Court Liberty, No. 122, F. of A., chief ranger, Alfred T. Dupont, Sons of Veterans, members of granges, Boy Scouts, car containing veterans of the G. A. R., speaker, town officials, decorated cars, and general public. The line of march will be from Union Square to Baptist church, countermarch Main street to Church street to Robbins cemetery where patriotic exercises will be carried out, after which the line will reform and return to Union hall, where a program will be given to consist of selections by the band; vocal selections by Mrs. Christina B. Murphy, Mrs. Henry Kaufman; Lincoln's Gettysburg address; singing and recitations by the school children. The committee has been fortunate in securing as speaker of the day, Mrs. George H. Prior, of Jewett City, a woman nationally known as a speaker of ability. Every citizen of the town is expected to help in every way possible to make this annual tribute to the nation's dead, a great event. The committee says: Every home should have its flag, every member of marching organizations should be in line and every one who can afford it should contribute to the fund to defray the expenses of the day.

At St. Thomas' church, Saturday at 8 a. m. (D. S. T.) Rev. Ludovic Paradis is to sing a high mass for the repose of the souls of deceased soldiers and sailors of the American forces in all wars. This service will be concluded in time for those intending to take part in the other exercises of the day.

MOTOR REGISTRATION REDUCTION BILL IS KILLED IN THE HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, May 28—The house put in a full day with a large amount of business before them. There were forty-one matters on the calendar for action. They were not reached till 2 o'clock at the afternoon session. A long debate was held on the bill introduced by Mrs. Fenniman, of Naugatuck, that would base the motor registration fee on a flat rate instead of piston displacement as at present. The bill was defeated. The bill reimbursing towns for loss of taxes on land used by the state will benefit Norwich and Preston, as the two institutions located there are occupying a large amount of property formerly in the grand list.

The bill making an appropriation to the board of fisheries and game for the purpose of leasing streams was passed without opposition.

In a bill passed today, Section 1—The town of Windham is authorized to issue bonds to an amount not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars, bearing interest at a rate not greater than five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually. The proceeds of such bonds shall be used for the payment of said town's share for the erection and equipment of a school building in said town of Windham to be erected by the state.

The charter of the Pawcatuck fire district in the town of Stonington, is amended in a bill passed today, by creating a zoning commission, to consist of three electors of the district. The district is authorized to designate certain localities in the district as strictly residential, to establish building lines, to regulate the alteration, repairing or rebuilding of any structure within the district, to order the removal of buildings destroyed by fire or otherwise which may be considered a menace to public safety, to control all sidewalks and crosswalks built by the district, to control all traffic in time of fires, to control the erection of poles, posts, awnings, projection of signs, banners and flags and to make penalties for the enforcement of the same.

In the bill revising the statutes relating to state aid and trunk line highways an important addition has been made. It sends the warden of the state's prison, the superintendent of the state reformatory or the sheriff of any county, upon the requisition of the highway commissioner, may permit any inmate of any of such institutions, other than a person serving a life sentence, to be employed in the construction of any highway or bridge, under the direction of said commissioner. Said warden or superintendent or such sheriff shall furnish necessary guards over prisoners while out of the custody of any such institution.

A bill of importance and of interest to all parts of the state passed in the senate and house today provided that the state geological and natural history survey is directed to report to the next session of the general assembly on the water resources of the state with special reference to the present and future needs of cities and towns for potable water supplies, and on the feasibility of cooperation by the state park and forest commission with municipalities and towns in safeguarding drainage areas of municipal water supplies so that the location of state forests may be made to coincide as far as practicable with such drainage areas.

H. B. 699 which is an omnibus highway bill, which takes away and adds to the trunk line system, includes the addition of that portion of the highway in the towns of Montville and East Lyme from a point on the Hartford New London state highway near Chesterfield to the point of intersection with the Boston post road is included in the trunk line system of highways.

H. B. 1047, passed, provides that the motor busses, carrying passengers for hire shall pay a tax of 3 per cent on their gross income, the same as is paid by the railroad and trolley companies.

The House

The house was called to order at 10.35 by Speaker Darbie and prayer was made by Chaplain Lewis.

Unanimous consent was given for the introduction of a bill relating to a reduction of registration fees of motor vehicles, by Mrs. Fenniman of Naugatuck. She then asked that the rules be suspended and the bill be acted upon at once. A vive voce vote being doubted a rising vote was ordered and immediate action was taken by a vote of 117 yeas and 53 nays. Mrs. Fenniman made an earnest plea for the passage of the bill saying that it was a more equitable way of taxing. She was not opposed to the gasoline tax. This bill if passed will reduce the fee on fifty three thousand light weight cars.

Chairman Clark of the appropriations committee said that it was not fair to upset the work that has been done by his committee. They have made their recommendations on the estimated income and this bill if passed would disrupt the whole apportionment.

Adomion of Ansonia supported the bill saying that the flat rate was the only fair way. Hurlburt of Somers, said the bill had been before the committee on roads, rivers and bridges in several forms and had been seriously considered by them. They had rejected them all.

Bill of Salsbury wanted the bill passed, the bill was fair and he wished the reduction was greater. Averill of Branford said the people of the state wanted more roads and they will have to be paid for by the people who use them. His fee of fifteen dollars enabled him to travel all over the state on good roads. Any one who is not willing to pay the present rate is not a good sport.

Lynch, of West Haven, said this bill would reduce the estimated income over a quarter of a million dollars. It was stated by the introducer that the bill was imperfect, and he was of the opinion that it ought not to pass without careful consideration. The passage was also opposed by Sturgess, of Woodbury, and Weatherhead, of Windham. Hungerford, of Watertown, supported it. Mrs. Fenniman closed the debate. The bill was rejected by a very large vote.

The time at which the governor is to make the appointment of the stream pollution commissioners was extended from June 1, to July 1, 1925. Resolutions appointing George R. Torrey, judge, and Arthur C. Donais, deputy judge, of the town court of Plainfield were passed.

At 12 o'clock a recess was taken to 1 p. m.

An act concerning the appointment of members of certain boards in the city of Waterbury was taken from the table and after being amended to provide that the appointees shall be of the same political party as the mayor.

The committee on capitol furniture and grounds reported that the bill proposing alterations in the hall of the house should be referred to the appropriations committee and it was so ordered.

The house concurred with the senate in making the minimum amount to be paid under the compensation act $21.00 per week instead of $24.00 as previously voted by the house.

A long speech was made by Representative Brinsmade, of Washington against the incorporation of the Connecticut Electric Service Co. (known as the Roraback bill), and offered an amendment that would make its provisions subject to the approval of the public utilities. Chairman Tolcott, of the incorporations committee, opposed this, saying that this was a matter for the legislature to determine and not a commission. The bill allowing the town of Manchester to call itself a city was opposed by Representative Averill, of Branford. He said the bill was a joke in its present form. Miss Cheney, of Manchester, urged the passage of the bill. Lynch, of West Haven, said that the committee on cities and boroughs did not favor the bill neither did the judiciary. There was a great division of opinion from the people of Manchester. It had been said that "the people of Manchester aspired to the title of major general and still wear the uniform of a buck private." The bill was passed.

Senate

Senator Joseph Tone called the senate to order at 10:45 (standard time). Prayer by Chaplain Ayer. A few minutes later Lieutenant-Governor Brainard took the chair.

A joint resolution was passed to pay Clarence G. Willard, of New Haven, $1,200 for compiling the Legislative Bulletin. It was transmitted to the house under suspension of rules.

The senate concurred with the house in passing a resolution to pay Alderman Dominick J. Murphy of Hartford $500 for the preparation of the list of bills.

A resolution, reported by the committee on appropriations, appropriating $9,600 to the state department of public health for the rent of a laboratory during the fiscal period June 30, 1927, was tabled for calendar.

The committee on finance reported a substitute bill on the assessment of property. It provides that assessors shall send to non-resident taxpayers, at least fifteen days before the expiration of the time for the filing of tax lists, blanks for returns of property. The bill was tabled for calendar.

RECENT IMPORTANT SALES OF LAND ARE RECORDED AT NEW LONDON

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 28—Lawrence B. Brockett has sold two parcels of land at Happy Day Island, adjoining Ocean Beach, to the Ocean Beach Park Development Corporation, of which corporation Mr. Brockett is also one of the incorporators. The price paid was $11,500.

Deeds transferring a section of the property of Henry E. Bond, on Pequot avenue, to Frank L. McGuire, and another strip of land owned by Mr. Bond on Montauk avenue, together with a second tract on the west side of the avenue, to Silas Maxson, Jr., were received for record today at the office of the city clerk.

The funeral of Charles Brooks, formerly of Lyme, where he was employed many years as station agent by the New Haven railroad, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 48 Shapley street. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth. The bearers were Ernest Tryon, Valentine Miller, John Hayes and Henry Haas, the last named of Boston. Burial was in Duck River cemetery, Lyme.

Ferryboat Jamestown, operating between Newport and Jamestown, R. I., and used principally for the conveyance of automobiles, which has been hauled out at the plant of the Thames Towboat Company several days undergoing repairs, cleared today for Jamestown, the repairs having been completed.

Benjamin Wolfe of 1 Grand street; Mrs. Rene Nuenier, 91 Huntington St., and Mrs. Arthur Radway, Waterford, were patients dismissed at Home Memorial hospital today.

Fire was discovered late last night in the candy store of the M. P. Johnson Co., 311 Bank street, when a lively blaze in the rear of the place was detected by pedestrians. A still alarm was sent to fire headquarters causing the Niagara Engine company and the Allen Hook and Ladder company to respond. The firemen forced an entrance and a quantity of chemicals quickly subdued the flames, the damage not exceeding $200.

The funeral of William J. Hall, late of Masonic street, held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the rooms of New London lodge of Elks, Washington street. The services attended by a large gathering of mourners, were conducted by officers of the lodge. Members of the Elks also acted as bearers. The committal was in Jordan cemetery, with service conducted by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge rector of St. James' Episcopal church.

Two phrases that sound alike, but which are very different in meaning, led Carlisle White into the police station and before the court today. White was the catcher on a ball team of boys contesting with another team at Cannonball park yesterday. As the game progressed some lads who were onlookers set fire to the dry grass at the border of the field. Policeman William Riordan was there, and doing his duty he ordered the boys to extinguish the fire. At the moment the officer tackled the boys, White called out to the pitcher of his team, "Don't give 'em the the game." Officer Riordan heard the exclamation of White and understood what he said to be addressed to the offenders who had started the fire and who then were being disciplined by Mr. Riordan. The policeman understood the words spoken by White to be 'Don't give him your name," so the officer remonstrated with White, with the result that the latter grabbed Riordan by the arms, fearing the policeman was to strike him. The impression the officer got from the spoken words was that White was obstructing him in the performance of his duties and he arrested White, in court today, the prosecutor explained what occurred. Judge Prince smiled and continued the case for a fortnight, that further facts may be learned if there are any to be ascertained.

The police force, with the aid of the police court, today closed up a resort at 368 Main street that had become known as a black and tan joint. The proprietor of the place gave her name as Alice Fontaine Scott Marks, and smiled out from under a black straw hat with a red brim. Now Alice is very black, and she had with her Mary Perry and Mary Evenes, also colored but many shades lighter than was the woman with nearly all the letters in the alphabet in her name. Alice said she was guilty of maintaining a place of bad repute and her associates admitted that they were frequenters. Miss Evenes said she came from Boston a fortnight ago "to work." Miss Perry claimed Old Virginia as her home and was emphatic in the statement that she had resided in the north part of the state that claims so many presidents as her sons. She had only been in New London a few days, less than a week, and she too came "to work." Whether she sought employment or whether she was waiting for "work" to seek her she didn't say, but she had not labored. The conditions represented gave Judge Prince the notion that New London would be a better place to live in if the colored girls in court were not residents here. He fined Alice $10 and each of her companions $10, and told the trio that they would have to leave the city or make another visit to the court, that they might receive the penalty prescribed for women of immoral character. Alice was told that she would be obliged to serve out a sentence of thirty days in jail if she tarried here longer than was necessary to get her belongings in a pile and decamp. A chief petty officer, white, from the submarine base was found in the resort and he too pleaded guilty of being a frequenter there. He said he came to the city for a good time and admitted that he found it at the hospitable home of her with the long name. He was fined $10 too. All had the wherewith to settle the fines with the costs attaching. Where did they get it? What's their occupation?

These boys who some weeks ago took the auto truck of I. Goldstein, operator of the Mohican dairy, without permission of the owner, were in court to answer for their folly. When presented a fortnight ago they were quite certain the son of Goldstein gave them permission to drive the truck, but they had changed their minds since then and had agreed to pay for any damage they had occasioned to the truck. With the understanding that they would make payment to the satisfaction of Goldstein the case was continued till the 27th of June. The youths were released, in the custody of Probation Officer Mansfield.

The hearing of Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky, on charges of failing to patrol his beat by absenting himself from his patrol 45 minutes, on the night of the 22nd inst., will take place at the office of City Manager William A. Holt tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. So far as is known, Selesnitsky and Acting Lieutenant James D. Gaffney, who preferred the charges, will be the only witnesses, but if it becomes necessary to substantiate the testimony of Acting Lieutenant Gaffney, James Treadway, will be a third witness. City Manager Holt notified Captain Charles A. Pinney this morning that the hearing would occur tomorrow, also instructed him to cause the two officers to be on hand at the appointed time.

George E. Bishop, of Ocean Beach, who reported to the police Tuesday that a quantity of canned paint, varnish and copper wire had been stolen from his automobile while the car was on Bank street, today reported that the goods had not been stolen as he had recovered them. Bishop unconsciously placed the goods in another automobile, thinking that the machine was his property.

Robert A. Sullivan, 11 Ann street, who yesterday informed the police that some of his tools had been stolen from a house under construction, corner of Pequot avenue and School street, where he is employed, reported today that he had recovered a saw that was stolen, the implement having been found a short distance away from the partially constructed building.

George Leary, 15 Moore street, New York, complained to the police this afternoon that 1,000 pounds of lead ballast had been stolen from the yacht, To Windward, which is moored at one of the wharves in Shaw's cove, the theft having been committed since last Sunday. Moore, who is a member of the crew of the yacht and who has been here a short time arranging for the craft to be fitted out for the summer, absented himself from the boat last Sunday. When he went aboard the boat this afternoon he discovered that it had been boarded during his absence. He made an investigation and found that the great quantity of ballast, valued at several hundred dollars, was missing.

Allen C. Beckwith, of Moredian street, night clerk at the Hotel Winthrop, is spending a few days in Providence and Boston.

Mayor Waldo E. Clarke and Councilor Edward L. Streeter, Jr., aroused considerable curiosity Wednesday night, when they appeared in the vicinity of Bank street and Montauk avenue and Bank street and Jefferson avenue and there assumed a position of watchful waiting and in the company of Sergeant John Cavanaugh and George R. Morris, Jr., a local newspaper reporter, together with two reputed friends of Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky, who is awaiting a hearing of charges of failing to patrol his beat in conformity with the police rules and regulations last Friday night. Inquiry at the police station failed to reveal who had assigned Sergeant Cavanaugh to special duty, for Captain Pinney stated that, while he was aware that Cavanaugh was in the company of Mayor Clarke and Councilor Streeter for several hours, the sergeant had not been assigned to any special work by him. The group was in different locations at various times, but centered their watchfulness on the points mentioned.

Councilor Streeter and Morris first appeared with Sergeant Cavanaugh, the patrolman being visited at his home, Shaw street, by Morris and Streeter. All then proceeded to the vicinity of Bank street and Jefferson avenue. Later they were joined by Mayor Clarke and the two supposed friends of Selesnitsky. The watchful waiting tactics continued until late at night and so conspicuous were the city officials and Sergeant Cavanaugh in their task of observation that they attracted attention from pedestrians in general. Several theories of the purport of the watchfulness of the city officials and officers has been advanced. Whether any of them are correct will probably be revealed within a few days; but that a watch was maintained for the acts of one or more individuals is certain.

A number of youths assembled at the corner of Federal and Union streets this evening and were so boisterous in their conduct that the police were called upon by residents to disperse the gathering.

The only business in sight for the attention of the police court tomorrow morning is a lone drunk, the fellow being taken into custody tonight by Patrolman Edward Riordan, who found the man making a nuisance of himself on State street.

The electric switch, which has been defective several days at the trolley terminal, State street, and which defectiveness resulted in the derailment of the trolley car due to leave from New London for Norwich at 9:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, has been given the attention of repairmen.

MARKET WAS ACTIVE

New York, May 29—Stock prices moved up briskly today with "shorts" supplying much of the buying power. The approach of the holiday caused some profit-taking, but selling was well absorbed in most issues. The day's sales again totaled about one and one half million shares.

Resumption of dividends by the Inspiration Copper Company, announcements of additional gasoline price advances and higher lead prices were the principal news developments of the day.

A brisk demand was noted for such popular industrials as American Can, Baldwin, Dupont and May Department Stores, all of which closed 2 to 3 points higher. United States Steel common, selling ex-dividend $1.-25, opened at 117 1-4 but slipped back later to 116 for a net loss of one quarter on the day.

Rails were irregular and featureless except for the renewed accumulation of Reading, which touched a new high record at 87 and then eased to 86 3-4 where it was up 1 1-2 points on the day, and the heaviness of the St. Paul issues on selling inspired by reports that the assessments on the stocks under the reorganization plan would be larger than Wall street had anticipated.

Chief speculative interest in the motor group again centered in the Maxwell Motor issues, all of which attained new peak prices. Considerable confusion arose in the early trading as a result of reports that trading in the "B" stock had been suspended, traders short of that issue rushing to cover through the purchase of "B" certificates, hich were run up ten points to 113 1-2 and then fell back to 106 1-2 for a net gain of 3 1-2 points on the day. The "B" stock the initial sale of which took place around noon, opened at 109, droppe dto 105 1-4 and then advanced to 107 1-2.

Heavy buying took place in motor accessory issues. American Bosch Magneto was bid up 3 5-8 points to 35 7-8 and then slipped back half a point from the top. Fisher Body jumped 4 points to a new high at 73 and Stewart-Warner closed 1 3-8 higher at 70 3-8. Mack Trucks touched a new peak at 185 3-8 but reached to 185 7-8 for a net loss of 1 5-8 on the day. Paige Detroit got into new higher ground at 22.

Heavy buying of the local traction issues featured the public utility group Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit closing more than two points higher at 46 1-8 and Interboro Rapid Transit showing a net gain of 3 5-8 at 32 7-8 Havana Electric soared twelve points to a new peak at 147. Other issues in that group to reach new high ground were American Telephone, International Telephone and Pacific Gas & Electric.

Good buying also developed in the tobacco group, American Tobacco "B" American Sumatra Tobacco preferred, Consolidated Cigar and Philip Morris all establishing new 1925 high quotations. Other issues to top their previous years maximum figures were Kelly-Springfield 6 and 8 per cent preferred, Robert Reis common and first preferred, Woolworth, International Shoe, Allied Chemical, Certain-Teed Products and Frank G. Shattuck.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading was in small volume with rates holding relatively firm. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85 7-8 and French francs were quoted just above five cents. Other changes were unimportant.

FRIENDS WORKING FOR BISHOP ACHESON'S ELECTION

Now that the Protestant Episcopal diocesan convention has failed to nominate a coadjutor, there is found to be a considerable disappointment in the denomination circles the state over, especially among the supporters of Bishop E. Campion Acheson of Middletown.

Some of his friends are asserting that the proper course was not taken to direct his support. It is pointed out that while something was done for every other name mentioned, little, if anything, was done in behalf of Bishop Acheson, largely because of a belief that anything of the kind would be out of place.

One of Bishop Acheson's supporters among the laymen in the western part of the state summed it up in this fashion in commenting on the doings of the convention last week. "It is all very well to halt what in politics is called campaigning, provided everybody else does the same thing. But when you find that not only is there marked activity in Connecticut upon the part of supporters of other candidates and outsiders are deep in it, evidently something must be done. Some of us plan to work from now on."

The Middletown Herald says:

It is pointed out by Bishop Acheson's supporters that he was elected suffragan bishop without effort on his part, or without activity by his many admirers, who recognized his sincerity of purpose and his intense zeal for the church. But with so much pressure under way for others now, it is held this same course should not prevail in the coadjutor contest. "I believe it would have been decided before this if a reasonable effort had been put forth." one supporter declared, "but advantage was taken by others of the apparent determination not to act. Now a decidedly more active and united movement must be got under way or the state is likely to find the selection of one from outside Connecticut, something, to my way of thinking, not at all desirable."

Now the curious thing disclosed in the campaign is that persons from outside came into the state and went from parish to parish, urging the clergy to vote for another man, and he is in another diocese. The vote showed that this outside effort was far from being unsuccessful. The supporters of Bishop Acheson did not become aware of this outside activity until the convention was about to assemble at New Haven.

Physical Activity Remarkable

So far, the chief argument advanced against Bishop Acheson is his age. Yet he is only 65, and in mental and physical vigor, it is held by his friends, he is the peer of any other candidate in the voting. His physical activity is remarkable. Few would take him to be, more than 50 years old. He is young in spirit, his supporters say, and his enthusiasm would be most helpful in inspiring the parishes throughout the state. He knows every parish as a teacher knows his pupils. He has been active in all of them, it is pointed out, it seems astounding to the Episcopal denomination as a whole, so his friends say, that there should be any desire to go outside and bring in one who will require many years of service before he can understand the requirements of the diocese.

Bishop Acheson's career has been marked by successful effort in behalf of the Protestant Episcopal denomination. He was the rector of the church of the Holy Trinity in Middletown from 1892 to 1915, a period of 23 years. His efforts were appreciated, not only in Middletown, but throughout the diocese. Not a candidate originally for suffragan he reluctantly gave up the parish to which he had become attached only after the diocese had tried twice unsuccessfully to elect a suffragan.

Of the bishop's services in the position of suffragan for the past eight years, only strong approval has been expressed, the bishop's friends say. One of his sincere friends expressed himself strongly about the statement circulated to the effect that "a younger man" was needed. He said: "Surely this is but little more than a pretext. By reason of his exemplary life Bishop Acheson is in the full vigor of manhood, both mentally and physically. In my judgment he is really younger in spirit, purpose and energy than any who oppose him. His attitude as to the coadjutorship has been passive, yet receptive, as he believes should be the case in such a situation.

Knows Needs of Diocese

"He regards the office as too sacred to be the subject of a campaign that savors of political doings. Yet he is confronted with efforts for others of just that character. In my judgment his services to this great church as suffragan strongly suggest his selection, as coadjutor. That it would be for the immense interest of the diocese so to do is my firm belief and the belief of thousands of others in Connecticut. No one from outside the state can possibly understand the demands of the diocese as he does. Bishop Brewster unquestionably had him in mind when he advised that the time had come to name a coadjutor, with intent to secure for him a vote in the house of bishops, something not now possible for him as suffragan."

It is pointed out as an interesting fact in connection with the Protestant Episcopal church of America that the first American bishop, Samuel Seabury, native of Groton in this state, performed his first episcopal act in Connecticut 1785. He had been elected bishop by 14 rectors residing in Connecticut and then he went to London to be consecrated. But the English prelates refused to consent. He then went to Scotland was consecrated by the bishops of Aberdeen and Moray, in November, 1784. He returned and entered upon his duties the following summer.

Just when the next diocesan convention will be called in Connecticut to elect a coadjutor is not yet certain. It might be in a few weeks, again, it might not be for months, and then again, no special gathering may be called and the selection may be left to the next annual gathering. Meanwhile the supporters of Bishop Acheson are not discouraged over the situation. They feel it may be made far more favorable to him by hard work and some of them at least plan to keep eternally at it from now on.

CONTRACTOR'S SECRETARY SUES FOR $17,000 FOR SERVICES

Alice L. Hewitt, of Waterford, is the plaintiff in a suit, brought in the superior court, for $17,000 damages against Charles A. Gallup, administrator of the estate of George W. Hewitt, for whom she was clerk, secretary and assisted in his contracting business from March 15, 1918, up to the time of his death, September 9, 1924. She alleges that he made an agreement to leave her $17,000 by will or otherwise that his estate was worth $49,000, that her services were worth $30 a week for 468 weeks, but her claim has neither been allowed or disallowed by the administrator.

Annie S. L. Perkins, of Waterford, sues for $4,000 damages against Edwin W. Perkins, also of Waterford, for a claim for compensation for services from March 1908, to March 1925, in caring for the defendant who is infirm and totally blind.

TAFTVILLE

The Thursday Evening Basketry Class held its weekly meeting in the Red Cross rooms in the Poneman building.

The Thimble Club was entertained this week by Mrs. Axel L. Aberg at her home on North Third avenue.

Chief Ranger William Smith was in the chair at a meeting of Court Wequonnoc, No. 58, Foresters of America, held Thursday evening in the court-rooms in St. Louis hall on Dion street.

Committees have been appointed by the Polish Workers Sick Mutual Aid Association, to complete plans for a picnic at Columbus Park next Saturday. There is to be dancing and refreshments.

Castle Perilous, K. O. K. A. held a ceremonial conclave Wednesday evening at the Taftville Congregational Church. The members were pleasantly surprised by a visit of a committee of men representing the parents of the members, who during the conclave made the castle a gift of a processional cross. Albert Airey, who made the presentation, said, "Your parents and your friends have been quick to notice the good you are getting out of your Order and how all can be helped by the good fellowship of the Round Table. It is their desire to present your castle with a processional cross, such as is used by other fraternal orders in their work. This gift is presented to you by the heads of 73 families of this parish, some of them members of your order, and it is their desire that you use it at your ceremonials and conclaves as a token of the interest which your parents are taking in your work. I have the honor of presenting to you this cross as an addition to your castle equipment." The cross was accepted in the name of the castle by Victor H. Davis, who was the presiding officer at the conclave. He thanked the men for their interest in the order and spoke to the members about appreciation for the gift. Others who spoke were Oscar E. Mathewson, Fred Knowles and Earle M. Wood. A rising vote of thanks was given the parents for their gift. It was also announced that among those to be present at the Pentecost conclave next Monday evening in Poneman hall would be Howell E. Estey of Lynn, Mass., Grand Seneschal of the International Order; Kenneth R. Henley, baron of Castle St. Paul of Lynn, Mass., Dr. Henry Hulbert merlin of Castle Devonshire, Groton, with a large delegation from the castle and Rev. Arthur Varley of Portland. Two Esquires are candidates for the third degree, having stood their vigil-at-arms in the darkened church with their swords on the altar. If they successfully pass other requirements of the castle, they will be raised to knighthood by Mr. Estey at next Monday's conclave. All members of the congregation and others who may be interested are invited to attend the ceremonial.

TEN TEAMS TO CARRY ON IN DRIVE FOR SALVATION ARMY SERVICE FUND

Although the $5,000 goal for the home service fund of the Salvation Army was not reached in the one-day campaign last Tuesday, Captain Earl G. Taggart and his workers are to "carry on" until the $2,000 raised then is boosted to the full amount.

Ten captains, each with a team of men, have volunteered to finish the drive, the following being the captains and teams who have made themselves responsible for putting the drive "over the top" in the next few days:

Team No. 1—Edwin Hill, captain; E. A. Prentice, J. C. McPherson, A. F. Wyman, John H. Barnes, N. E. Smith.

Team No. 2—John J. O'Rourke, captain; H. D. Johnson, A. L. Peale, C. E. Smith, E. F. Davis.

Team No. 3—E. A. Harris, captain: C. A. Gager, E. V. Ross, W. A. Anderson.

Team No. 4—J. B. Caron, captain: Jean Kieffer, R. Henachel, Frank Rinels.

Team No. 5—Abner Schwartz, captain: Max Hanover, John Barry, George Madden, Joseph Greenstein, Herbert Corey.

Team No. 6—Frank L. Arnold, captain: S. B. Palmer, Robert McNeely, Joseph Carlevale, Joseph Panek.

Team No. 7—C. Edward Carpenter, captain: E. Y. Messinger, William Wyman, George Ashbey, Al Bliven, Joseph S. Adams.

Team No. 8—L. M. Crandall, captain: L. R. Church, Harold S. Burt, Frank Hazard, A. E. Wilbur.

Team No. 9—Earl G. Taggart, captain: Theodore Sage, B. C. Fuller, John J. Sullivan, Martin Colbert, Louis Fontaine.

Team No 10—Charles W. Taggart, captain: W. R. Clark, F. W. Johnson, Harold T. Robinson, Walter N. Block, A. E. Ravenell, Tyler Rogers.

The men named above have set out with a determination never witnessed before to raise the balance of the $5,000 needed. A very significant fact in this drive is that not in a single instance has a solicitor been turned away without receiving some kind of a contribution. The service rendered by the Salvation Army in the World War has earned for it the respect and sympathy of all people. This friendly sentiment has enabled it to enlarge its functions and charitable activities and it has become an institution for public good and a great help to the needy poor. Day by day the demand upon the resources of the Salvation Army are becoming more urgent and its workers make more and more sacrifices to meet this demand.

The Salvation Army is again appealing to those of the citizens who were not seen by the campaign workers to send in their contributions or pledges. Every contribution, no matter how small, helps to alleviate the suffering of some poor person.

All contributions are to be made payable to Theodore R. Sage, treasurer, Dime Savings Bank.

CLAIMS BLIND MAN HAS BROKEN AGREEMENT

New suits for the superior court, which are returnable in June, were filed here as follows Thursday with Judge George E. Parsons, clerk of the court:

For breach of contract Louis E. Perkins, of Waterford, sues Edwin W. Perkins and Jessie A. Clancy, both of Waterford, claiming $5,000 damages and the conveyance of certain real estate. It is alleged that in March, 1905, Edwin Perkins, who is infirm and totally blind, made an agreement in 1906, with Louis Perkins, whereby they were to buy land and build a house in which the plaintiff was to live and take care of the defendant who agreed to leave the house to the plaintiff by will or otherwise. The house was taken in the name of the blind man at his insistance, it is claimed, in order to secure the tax exemption for blind people. In March, 1925, it is claimed, the blind man compelled Louis Perkins to vacate the house and conveyed the property to Jessie A. Clancy, a daughter of the blind man. This, it is claimed, was for the purpose of depriving the plaintiff of any rights to the property.

STATE'S ATTORNEY BROWN ADDRESSES LIONS' CLUB

With Vice President Louis J. Fontaine in the chair the regular weekly meeting of the Norwich Lions' club was held Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel. David Kerr was the song leader and Lionel Ethier presided at the piano. Two piano solos were given by George W. Farrell, guest of the meeting. He played Titania (Lefebure Wely) and Valse in E Flat (Durand). Several solos were given by Lion Tyler Stanton.

Lion Earl Taggart, general chairman of the Salvation Army $5,000 campaign, strongly appealed for a new effort to raise the remaining $3,000 needed. With regard to the campaign Mr. Taggart said:

"I sincerely was in the hope to be able to raise the entire $5,000 for the Salvation Army in one day. How could I feel otherwise? Since I became acquainted with the inside facts of how the Salvation Army is functioning among the poor and unfortunates in our city I felt that the drive ought to be consummated in one day. However, the first day netted only a little over $2,000 and that was only because we were unable to secure sufficient workers to see our citizens and receive their contributions. It is a significant fact and greatly to the credit of the people of Norwich that not a single worker who solicited a contribution for the Salvation Army was turned down. That proves that the heart of the people are with us. Personally I consider my present responsibility as the most sacred duty in my life and although I have been working day and night since the last ten days I shall not cease in my efforts until the $5,000 is secured. I expect every Lion to do his bit and stand behind me and I feel very grateful for the kind assistance rendered to the cause by many Rotarians. We have ten new captains who have pledged to make their workers put the drive over the top."

Chairman Fontaine urged the Lions to support Mr. Taggart in raising the money. The president-elect, William A. Anderson, suggested that the club take up the advisability of urging a community chest for Norwich. The suggestion was approved and the matter turned over to the civic committee for investigation and action.

The entertainment committee then took charge of the meeting. Rudolph Henschel, chairman of the entertainment committee, introduced as the speaker of the day, Arthur M. Brown, state's attorney. Mr. Brown compared the basis of Lionism, i. e., the Golden Rule, with the fundamental reasons for the law and stated that they were identical. Judge made special comment on the fact that Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas, although political opponents both emphasized wide-spread reverence for the law and recommended that it be stressed from earliest childhood to old age. In this connection he brought out the tremendous increase in the number of laws on our statute books and the size of clerical and executive bodies necessary to enforce them.

Multiplicity of laws, he said, makes it hard for us as citizens to know and obey them but it is clearly our duty to keep within the law. Some day, stated the judge, we must simplify our laws on the basis of the Golden Rule which would tend to cut down the large number of officials and lawyers now required to interpret the present laws and keep them effective. In closing he symbolized the word "Lions" as applied to the objects of that international organization by saying that the "L" might well stand for loyalty to officers, community and nation; "I" for industry in all good endeavors; "O" for obedience to law; "N" for nobility of purpose and character, and "S" for strength to fulfill all projects attempted.

Mr. Brown was given a rousing ovation by the meeting at the conclusion of his talk. The meeting adjourned with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. The speaker next week will be Dr. David Sussler and the song leader will be Tyler Stanton.

During the entire evening special numbers were rendered by the orchestra in connection with the use of colored lights produced under the spot and harmonizing color scheme which was used in decorating the stage and hall, the Grotto colors of orange and blue forming a beautiful background on the stage.

WISE CROOK DUPES NORWALK BANK CASHIER

A Norwalk bank found itself short $1,200 Thursday because the cashier was impressed by a stranger, who, giving the name of Leonard Davidson, pretended to buy a factory in Norwalk and deposited a check for $16,000, drawn on an Indianapolis bank, immediately taking out $1,200 of the amount, which happened to be purely an imaginary one.

After spending two days inspecting factory sites and selecting the plant of the Wimpfheimer Mat Co., as the one he wanted, the stranger presented his check and departed in a taxicab, explaining he would use $1,000 to bind the deal for the plant and the rest for his expenses. He was traced later to Stamford railroad station, where he boarded a New York train.

WAR SEC'Y DAVIS CALLS FOR DEFENSE TEST ON JULY 4

War Department Has Sent Telegrams to Governors of all States and Corps Area Commanders Requesting Support —Object to Acquaint the People With the National Defense Policies—Call Recommends Historical Demonstrations.

Washington, May 29—Telegrams requesting the support of governors of all the states and corps area commanders in "a second defense test on July 4, 1925," were sent out today by Acting Secretary of War Dwight Davis.

In his telegram to the governors, Secretary Davis said:

"The president has authorized a second defense test on July 4, 1925. On this day, the war department desires to present to the people our national defense policy and plans for support thereof as contemplated by the national defense act of 1920, and to emphasize the historical occasion when congress first pledged the man-power and resources of the country to national defense and to commemorate the sacrifices made for national defense. Letter follows covering details.

"I have directed General (name of corps area commander whose jurisdiction includes the state addressed) to confer with you reference all arrangements. Request your support and cooperation. Of course, state response to the proposed test plans is purely voluntary and must necessarily be predicated on which you consider to be the best interests of your state."

The message sent the commanding generals of the nine corps areas and various military departments, said, in part:

"The general purposes of the defense test are to acquaint people with their national defense policies and existing organizational and muster plans of the army of the United States, as well as to test said plans. Patriotic demonstrations should emphasize the historical occasion when congress first pledged the man power and resources of the country for national defense. State response to the proposed test is purely voluntary."

The corps area commanders were advised to initiate necessary action for the defense test without delay and were informed that the same requirements which prevailed in the defense test last September would be applied to that for July th.

ENPHATIC ENDORSEMENT OF THE FRENCH MINISTRY

Paris May 29—The government of Premier Painleve was sustained in the chamber of deputies today by one of the biggest votes ever given to a French ministry—537 to 29. The vote came as a climax to three days of debate on the government's Moroccan policy, which, in effect, as explained by Premier Painleve, is that the government seeks not a single inch of additional Moroccan territory, but is prepared to defend to the bitter end every inch which France holds under the treaties.

The premier declared that his government was willing to consider peace overtures accompanied by sufficient guarantees presented by responsible representatives of Abd-el-Krim, leader of the invading Riffian tribesmen.

The vote is regarded more as a defeat for the socialist party in the French chamber than as a victory for the Painleve government. The right and center parties supported M. Painleve without qualification. The socialists, facing exclusion from the ruling majority, were maneuvered into supporting the government, at the last minute, having changed their decision, taken at a party caucus last night, to abstain from voting.

The any negotiations concerning the future status of the Riff Protectorate must be conducted with the full collaboration of Spain, was made plain by M. Briand.

The military operations of the French troops, it was declared, henceforth will come under the observation of a special mission of control under parliamentary instructions and responsible to the chamber.

It will be unable to interfere with the actual conduct of the operations, but will report to parliament any movement not strictly in keeping with the policy outlined by the government.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 29—A meeting of the city council, sitting as a committee, was called this evening by City Manager William A. Holt and at 8 o'clock went into session in the council chamber, municipal building. The meeting was called to discuss the matter of securing a police officer, a member of the New York police department, which matter was referred to committee last Monday night, to act in an advisory capacity, as a means to promote more efficiency in the police department.

It became known tonight that Frank Walters, a caretaker at the Pequot Inn and a retired member of the New York police department, Monday would seek an interview with City Manager Holt and offer his services for the purpose desired by the city manager. Mr. Walters served many years on the New York force, including 12 years in the Tenderloin district.

The proposed hearing of charges of failing to patrol his beat on the night of the 22nd inst. against Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky and made by Acting Lieutenant James D. Gaffney, scheduled to occur at the municipal building this morning at 10 o'clock, did not take place. A continuance until next Saturday morning was granted the request of Selesnitsky because of the inability of his attorney, G. Curtis Morgan to be present. Besides the principals in the case, James Treadway, night watchman at the plant of the Columbia Leather Goods, Garfield avenue, where Selesnitsky is alleged to have been housed when he was supposed to be performing duty, has been summoned as a witness. Harry Frishman, a local real estate dealer, was also present at the hearing and may be a witness, although Frishman declares that he simply went to the hearing at the request of Selesnitsky as a witness to the officer's request that a continuance be granted. Frishman declared tonight that he knew absolutely nothing of the movements of the officer the night that the alleged absence from his beat by Selesnitsky is charged.

VIGILANTES ON THE TRAIL OF COP WHO FAILED TO APPEAR

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 29—It became known today the reason for the police work of Mayor Waldo E. Clarke, Councilor Edward L. Streeter Jr., Sergeant John Cavanaugh, and three disinterested men Wednesday night, when the group conducted a systematic watch of the passersby in the vicinity of Bank street and Ocean avenue, also Bank street and Montauk avenue. It also developed that their night of vigil did not bring them the reward they had hoped for, as the particular man they sought to shadow did not appear. That individual was a police officer and they had hoped to shadow him and find him in a compromising position, but for some reason the plans of the watchers were not realized by the locating of the officer. A resident became aware that the police officer was paying too much attention to the former's wife and in an endeavor to put an end to it and cause the officer to be punished, the husband, it is claimed by Mayor Clarke, appealed to the latter. Mayor Clarke, instead of causing the head of the department to take action in the matter, took it upon himself to ferret out the case, with the assistance of Councilor Streeter and Sergeant Cavanaugh. The first intimation that Captain Pinney had of the work being done by one of his subordinates was when he was acquainted of the watchful waiting of Sergeant Cavanaugh and the city officials by a newspaper reporter this afternoon.

GOV. TRUMBULL DESIGNATES MONDAY, JUNE 15, FLAG DAY

Hartford, May 29. (AP)—Governor Trumbull today issued a proclamation designating Monday, June 15, as Flag day. The proclamation directs that the national colors be displayed on that day on all public buildings, and that suitable exercises be held in the schools to teach the traditions of the American flag, and to inculcate a sense of obligation to the institutions it represents.

"The flag will repay study," the proclamation says. "From its origin and pattern may be traced the history and growth of the United States; each of its colors is emblematic of a national ideal; the ceremonials connected with its use express the dignity and power of a great people and its worth as an education in our past glories is not more than its value as a test, showing the path to future opportunity. As our heritage was not lightly won, so is it not easily to be maintained.

"The flag is not only a relic of ancient valor, but an inspiration to continued vitality. It is not by the salute of the hand so much as by the faith and veneration expressed in loyal service, that we do most honor to the flag, and to ourselves."

BELGIUM IS READY TO NEGOTIATE DEBT TO U. S.

Washington, May 29. (AP)—Baron De Cartier, the Belgium ambassador, informed Secretary Mellon today that his government desires to initiate negotiations at an early date for funding of the Belgian debt to the United States.

The ambassador, who conferred with the treasury secretary for an hour, late today, plans to sail soon for home to confer with his government on the question, and upon his return will be accompanied to Washington by members of a commission to take up negotiations.

The move by Belgium came with striking suddenness, and was based, it is understood, on cabled instructions to the ambassador to notify the American treasury of his government's intentions before leaving Washington for Brussels.

After the conference, Mr. Mellon, who heads the American debt funding commission, dictated the following statement:

"On his return from Cuba, where he represented his government at the inauguration of General Machardo, the Belgian ambassador, Baron De Cartier, after consultation with the secretary of state, called on the secretary of the treasury and informed him of the desire of the Belgian government to initiate, at an early date, negotiations with the foreign debt funding commission for the definite settlement of the Belgian obligations to America, and that the Belgian government will send over to Washington a committee headed by Mr Theuns and which will comprise prominent Belgian financiers. Baron De Cartier plans to sail shortly for Belgium to confer with the Belgian government and intends to return to Washington with the members of that committee."

THE LIQUOR QUESTION AT YALE COMMENCEMENT

New Haven, May 29—Yale public opinion must solve the commencement liquor question which has been brought to the fore by the class reunion committee and the Alumni Advisory board, according to the Yale Alumni Weekly, which takes up the question in its current issue.

Commencement drinking, according to the alumni weekly, is not a technical or academic question, but a very concrete local problem. "What is to be done about it," the weekly continues, "has got to come from public opinion, and because of its relation to the good name of Yale. It will not be settled by those who propose that every individual be forced to obey what, is, as it seems to many, an unpopular law incapable of observance. Neither is it to be solved by those who believe, quite as sincerely that the best way to get rid of an unpopular national statute is deliberately to make it inoperative through personal disobedience to it on a nation scale. The solution of the problem as it affects Yale must be based on willingness and desire to submerge private interest and opinion to Yale's good name. Yale public opinion must inform itself on the situation in New Haven. It must then make itself not only known but felt in securing a solution."

Guard Boats Fired On Harvard Launches

Men in Harvard Boats Failed to See Stop Signal From the Government Boats.

Boston, May 29—Coast guard boats fired on two Harvard coaching launches last night while they were on their way to New London, Conn., it was learned here today. The coast guard thought the launches were rum runners.

The launches making their way peacefully along the coast to the Harvard training quarters where the varsity crew will prepare for its race with Yale on June 19, were making good time in the darkness off Point Judith. The government boat signalled them to stop, but it was some distance away and the men in the Harvard boats did not suspect that they were the objects of warning. Both launches, the Patricia and Pep, kept

MEMORIAL DAY

Let fall the roses gently. It may be
That in the sunlight of some fairer clime
Then shall rebloom to beauty as sublime,
As this departed flower of chivalry;
And ever as the sobbing of the sea,
Breeze-rippled, breaks to chants of lordlier rhyme,
Silence your dirges, and, in martial time,
Let loud-lipped trumpets blazon victory!

Yield not to grief the tribute of a tear,
But 'neath the forefront of a spacious sky
Smile all exultant, as they smiled at fear,
Who dared to do where doing meant to die.
So best may comrades prove remembrance dear;
So best be hallowed earth where soldiers lie.
—Francis Howard Williams, in Harper's Weekly.

on their courses even after a shot had been fired.

Soon, however, a second shot was fired across the Patricia's bow, missing her by only a few feet. The Harvard men decided to stop, the rum chasers drew alongside, explanations were accepted and the Patricia and Pep proceeded on toward New London.

The incident gave some confirmation to various reports that yachting parties and persons in other craft had been stopped by government boats since the opening of the intensive warfare on rum row.

In the Pep were Irving Slater, superintendent of boat houses, Oliver Loring of Newtonville, Mass.; a Harvard junior who was steering and Loring's brother, Richard, a first year student at the school of architecture. The Patricia carried Arthur Sims, negro boatman Edward Wachter and Carrol Getchel, both of the Harvard A. A. staff.

After the boats had stopped, a small grey patrol boat, about 25 feet long, crept out of the mist and drew alongside.

"Why didn't you stop when you heard our siren?" demanded her captain.

The Harvard men explained the noise of their motors had drowned out the siren and also told the captain they had no idea that the shots they heard were intended for them.

Both launched flew the American flag and the flag of the Harvard boat club. The commander of the government boat saw them and apoligized and the launches proceeded on their way.

At the Harvard Athletic association today it was said the incident was "regretted" very much. Officers of the association pointed out that the coast guard used only army rifles when they fired, but declared it placed the men in the launches in a dangerous position and that the reports they received said the bullets came too near to be comfortable.

It is realized, however, the officers said, that the coast guard was only trying to do its duty and regrettable as it was, no protest would be made to government authorities.

MOTIVE OF TRIPLE TRAGEDY AT STAMFORD STILL MYSTERY

Stamford, May 29—Investigation was made today by Coroner John J. Phelan into the triple murder here May 17 when Paul Di Angelo, of Stamford was stabbed to death and Frank and Guiseppi Vartuli, brothers, of Stamford, were shot. Despite a diligent three hours cross examination of witnesses, the coroner was unable to definitely establish a motive for the shooting.

It was brought out at the hearing that an investigation by the police and a report by John Dickerman, ballistic expert, indicated that the Vartuli brothers were shot by Di Angelo and that Di Angelo was stabbed by the brothers.

The three men were practically strangers. The Vartuli brothers had been in Stamford less than a month. From the evidence presented at the hearing the coroner gained the impression, he said, that Di Angelo in shooting the Vartuli brothers was acting for someone else.

DELUGE OF LIQUOR IS BEING SMUGGLED FROM CANADA

The Nautical Blockade Has Tremendously Increased Activities of Land Runners—Forged Government Seals Found on Freight Cars Into Which Liquor Has Been Transported Through Canada—False Manifests Used to Transport Ales, Beer and Hard Liquors Past Government Officers Without Suspicion—Federal Authorities Are Waging a Strenuous Campaign Against the Smugglers

St. Albans, Vt., May 29—The government's blockade along the Atlantic coast that has so effectively checked the activities of nautical smugglers of liquor has tremendously increased the activities of land runners, bringing their wares from Canada across the Vermont and New Hampshire borders, it was said today by Harry C. Whitehill, United States collector of customes.

Despite the fact that it is spring and the opening of the highways usually means increased activity, the runners have displayed considerably more than their usual amount of energy and the customs officers are making plans to reinforce their strength that they may halt the flow of contraband.

In addition to the highways, the smugglers are using the railways, Mr. Whitehill said, and he explained that a conspiracy had been uncovered whereby forged government seals were being placed on freight cars into which liquor had been stored on their passage through Canada. False manifests also have been found, he said, which were designed to enable the smugglers to move carload lots of ale, beer and hard liquors past the government officers without suspicion.

The forged seals on government cars present evidence of perhaps the most far flung activities of the rum operators, Mr. Whitehill said. Freight sent from points in the west are sent under government seal to some fictitious address in the eastern part of the United States. Routed through Canada, they are shoved onto a siding at some point where the seal is broken and a quantity of liquor is stored aboard. A forged seal is then placed on the door of the car in the hope that it will pass the customs officers.

Discovery of these activities has caused the federal authorities to wage the most strenuous campaign against smuggling in the history of this section of the border. As evidence of this campaign, and also as evidence of the increased smuggling operators, 17 automobiles loaded with liquor have been seized on the highways since the route became passable a few weeks ago. Last year at this time only one had been captured and only 98 in the entire season. In May alone of this year, 105 persons have been penalized for their part in liquor smuggling. On June 1 the patrol force along the border will be increased and each of the 18 customs officers along the border will be given an automobile to help run down the highway runners.

Two patrol boats are on Lake Champlain and they are expected to play an effective part in preventing the flow of liquor from coming unhindered over that route.

MACMILLAN TELLS OF SUMMER CONDITIONS IN THE POLAR SEA.

Portland, Me., May 29—Roald Amundsen, who has not been heard from since he left Spitzbergen on a flight to the North Pole, would not be able to walk to Cape Columbia, as he had planned at this season, Commander Donald B. MacMillan said today in an address before the Rotary club of Portland. Before leaving on his flight, Commander MacMillan said, Amundsen made the statement that if his plans gave out at the Pole, he would return by foot to the cape.

In the summer, MacMillan said the Polar sea is a moving mass of water with a slight coating of ice which forms overnight and is sharp enough to cutt to shreds a canvas boat such as Amundsen carried. Eighteen years in the Polar regions taught the late Rear Admiral Peary that conditions such as described always prevail in summer in the Arctic the speaker said. He recalled that Peary, when leaving on the expedition which resulted in the discovery of the North Pole, said that if he did not return by the end of May he would never come back.

Commander MacMillan said that it was hard to tell what had become of Amundsen because it was not known how much food and gasoline he took on his airplane dash for the Pole. He reiterated his statement that if word had not been received from Amundsen when he sets out in three weeks on his northern expedition, he would devote himself to a search for the missing explorer.

The occasion was a farewell to Commander MacMillan before he leaves for the far north. A traveling bag was presented to the explorer and a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Letitia Fogg, of Freeport, his sister.

TEMPORARY RECEIVER FOR B. B. & R. KNIGHT, INC.

Providence, R. I., May 29. (AP)—Presiding Justice Tanner entered a decree in superior court today appointing G. Edward Buxton, treasurer, temporary receiver of the B. B. & R. Knight, Inc., and fixing his bond at $50,000. The move was declared to be a preliminary to re-organization for the eventual salvation of the property which has been operated by a bond holders' committee since November, 1924. The same management will continue operation.

Seven of the corporation's mills have been running at full capacity for several months, employing 3,500 persons, and it is declared that the present management has effected many economies, purchased cotton at prices below present replacement and sold the product in advance, with the result that in the last five months some profit in excess of manufacturing cost has been shown.

ROCKEFELLER VAULTS TO REMAIN UNDISTURBED

New York, May 29. (AP)—The vaults in which the Rockefeller millions are believed to be kept, in the form of securities of the Standard Oil companies, may remain undisturbed for another forty years under a supreme court decision today.

The vaults are beneath the Produce Exchange building and are said to be the only vaults in New York which can be immediately flooded with sea water in case of fire.

The lease on the vaults made to the company which maintains them in 1887 by the Produce Exchange expired on May 1. The safe deposit company claimed it had the right to another forty-year term but the exchange disagreed and refused to extend the lease. The decision today was in favor of the safe deposit company.

PRINCESS ADMITTED QUARREL WITH HUSBAND

New York, May 29. (AP)—Princess Indovisco Pagnatelli De Aragon, formerly Ruth Waters, of Philadelphia, and Andrew Reid, of Baltimore, arrived today on the Fabre liner Providence from Morocco, bearing denials of various stirring reports which have drifted back concerning them and Prince Pagnatelli.

They said that the fact that they were both on the ship was a "mere coincidence." The princess admitted that she had had a quarrel with her husband in the street in Biarritz which had attracted public attention, but she denied that she had thrown pearls which were a gift from him in the prince's face.

Mr. Reid admitted that the prince had insulted him in public at the same resort but he discounted the reports that a duel had been narrowly averted.

The princess said that she was on the way to visit her mother at Rumson, N. J., and Mr. Reid announced that he was also on his way to see his mother in Baltimore.

The report of the scene at Biarritz which preceded the pair to this country was to the effect that Prince Pagnatelli had taken affront when his wife left his table to go to sit at one occupied by Mr. Reid. It was said that the princess became so incensed at her husband's alleged rudeness that she tore a string of pearls from her neck and threw them in the prince's face. Later the princess was reported to have announced she was suing for a divorce but the proceedings were dropped.

TO INVESTIGATE CONDUCT OF THE MACRI TRIAL

New Haven, May 29. (AP)—A special committee of the New Haven County Bar association will investigate the conduct of the Macri trial and the events following it. This was decided upon today at a meeting of the bar association when the case was discussed at length.

In a resolution adopted, the association condemns any and all censure of a juror that conscientiously performs his duty.

The resolution called for a committee of five but a motion was made later to permit the president, Philip Pond, to enlarge the committee at his discretion or when the members of the committee shal le rsequest, it being the intention following suggestions by Colonel E. L. Isbell to have the inquiry extend to the press and welfare workers, in order that the inquiry might be most complete.

President Pond stated tonight that he would not appoint the special committe until Monday. The next meeting of the bar association at which the matter will be taken up depends on the time taken by the committee of investigation, he said.

President Pond in stating the reasons for the special meeting said that since Tuesday last an ever-increasing pressure by members of the bar in general for action by the associaties "on the unusual occurrences recently in this building, with emphasis on the criticism of a juror whose judgment apparently controlled his emotions, led to this special meeting being called."

New York, May 29 29—The suit brought in Tombs court against Charles W. Solomon, owner of chain stores at Hartford, New London, Springfield, Fall River, and New York, by David S. Bradwein, who charged Solomon with stealing $30,000 worth of endorsed notes, today was continued until Friday, Magistrate Edward Weil advised settlement out of court. The many societies of the parish will turn out in full force to give a fitting opening to the new playgrounds and as the proceeds of the sales at the new grounds will go toward the completion of the new 17-room school now under construction by Contractor P. F. Sweeney it is expected that a goodly amount will be realized.

On the whole this spot is one of the finest recreation grounds in this part of the state and it is believed that many people not members of St. Joseph's parish will attend the opening day and the many events that are to follow, where one can sit and enjoy the sports of the season. Many games are booked for today and contests between the young men, old men, young women and married women of the parish.

Mayor M. R. Waters and the court of common council have been invited to attend the opening and express their intention to attend at the evening session, and will no doubt give a short talk to the people. There will be no admission charge and all the citizens of Norwich are invited to attend.

Bread Theater

Now and then comes along one of those films of which it seems reasonable to say to everyone. "You can't afford to miss it." And that, as this reviewer believes, is most certainly the case with Hobart Henley production So This Is Marriage, which comes to the Bread theater Sunday for three days.

This picture, from the original story by Carey Wilson, is an ultra-modern one, dealing with the marital difficulties of Peter Marsh (Conrad Nagel) and Beth Marsh (Eleanor Boardman) and the influence of a bachelor student of books—and women — Daniel Rankin (Lew Cody.)

The young wife is gay and frivolous. When Peter mildly protests against her extravagance she retorts: "Why don't you earn more money; other men do?"

She finds comfort in the companionship of Rankin, and runs to his home for comfort when her husband has treated her roughly after hastily taking her from a restaurant where, after many previous experiences of the sort, he has heard her criticized for her extreme manner of dress, and her irresponsible ways.

This is a Louis B. Mayer presentation through Metro-Goldwyn. The scenario was done by John Lynch and Alice D. G. Miller. Others in the cast are John Patrick, Clyde Cook, Claire de Lores, Shannon Day, Jack Edwards, Estelle Clark and Thelma Morgan.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The World Shall Be Established

Every once in a while some alarmist breaks into the news of the world with the announced discovery that the world is booked ahead until next Wednesday night at midnight, after which all dates will be off; for we shall all be in the midst of a roaring fiery furnace, in which our back yards, stone walls and mill ponds will be fuel for the flames, and we ourselves will be turned to white hot cinders. All this is very painful. At least it is for some of us until Wednesday night comes around, and we find it isn't so. After that, we breathe more easily, and go along the same as before.

But there is one body of people who, though often improperly accused of such notions, entertain exactly opposite views. This is the International Bible Students association. These good folk believe and teach that the word, the good old literal world in which we live, will never, never, never be burned up at all; and that the idea that it would be is all a sorry mistake.

At the G. A. R. hall on Sunday May 31 at 3 p. m. one of their speakers, Mr. W. L. Pelle of Brooklyn, N. Y., will present the evidence in support of the permanence of the earth. This evidence is of two sorts. One is that the earth is only just now finding out what a treasure-house the earth is, and what uses to make of the infinite variety of resources at their hands.

The paramount picture, The Dressmaker from Paris, a Paul Bern production featuring Leatrice Joy and Ernest Torrence, which comes to the Broadway theater for a four days' run Sunday is a riot of beautiful girls, gorgeous gowns and colorful settings.

The story, written for the screen by Adelaide Heilbron and Howard Hawks, brings Leatrice Joy to the screen in the role of a little midinette of a Paris shop, who becomes a famous creator of fashions.

For this production Paramount has assembled fourteen international beauty models, all either winners of beauty contests or selected by well known critical judges in the roles of manikins. The girls wear some sixty odd gowns designed especially for this picture by one of Paris' most prominent creators.

One of the high spots of the production is a gorgeous fashion revue staged by Miss Joy, as Madame Louise and the fourteen girls, in a department store in a small middlewest American town. Torrence is the proprietor of the store. Allan Forrest, leading man in the picture, is the junior partner in the firm. It is said that nothing ever before attempted for screen purposes can hold a candle to this array of beauty and gorgeousness.

Other big scenes in this fine Paramount comedy-drama include the shots in Paris, when Forrest, as an American army officer, meets Fifi (Miss Joy,) the little errand girl, who is to become the French capital's most prominent gown designer. The arrival of Fifi and her fourteen models in the little town of Clarion, Ill., with the usual small town reception committee awaiting them is a big laugh too, is said to be a sure-enough eye-filler.

FRANK LIPKA'S CAPTURE CLEARS UP BURGLARIES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, Conn., May 29.—Admissions made by Frank Lipka, 18, clear up seven burglaries committed within the past few weeks in Danielson, Dayville, Goodyear and Putnam. Lipka, arrested in Putnam by Sergeant George Laird as the youth was emerging from a place he had entered during Thursday night, is now at Brooklyn jail, in default of bonds of $2,000.

Lipka admitted to State Officer A. W. Williams that he was responsible for the recent breaks at Walter L. Hoyle's and Gallup Brothers and Lindner here, for the breaks at the Dayville post office and at the Dayville drug store and for two breaks at Goodyear's store in Goodyear and at the Goodyear school, this latter break made early Thursday evening. Part of the loot from the break at the Hoyle store has been recovered and information obtained from him as to what he did with the remainder.

Lipka finds himself in a very difficult position, his record and all considered. He admits having taken about 50 letters from the post office at Dayville and opening them and strewing the contents along the railroad track above that town. One of these letters was a piece of registered mail containing two $10 bills. This involves him with the federal government.

Lipka, who has been going about this territory under the name of John Rodulski, has been in various shady transactions within a year. While his people, now resident in Jewett City, were living at Goodyear, he was arrested for stealing cigarettes and given a jail sentence of eight months in the Killingly town court. Because of his youth this sentence was commuted, after he had served about a month. February 13 of this year, at New London, he was one of a group of boys arrested for breaking into a tailor shop in that city, one of his companions drawing a state prison sentence for his part in the affair. Since April Lipka has been on probation from the New London county superior court on account of the New London break.

Thursday night, while a teacher of the Goodyear school was quietly finishing some work at the building, he heard a noise in the cellar and on going there found Lipka, who told him what has since proved to be a fairy tale. The youth had gained entrance through a cellar window. The state police barracks were notified of this and given a description of Lipka, who was trailed from Goodyear to the vicinity of Attawaugan crossing by Officer A. W. Williams. Lipka later in the night appeared in Putnam and was caught red-handed.

NORWICH TRUCK BUMPED ON REYNOLDS ST. FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, Conn., May 29.—"Rain and Wrecks" have been coming to be synonymous as pertains to motoring over Dark Lantern hill on stormy days, and Friday proved no exception to the rule. Cars began to pile up over there, Friday afternoon, when scores of machines were going over the road on holiday journeys. Possibly to illustrate that similar accidents can happen elsewhere, upper Reynolds street turned in a wreck, this being the first reported. Several of the people who figured in the accidents were more or less injured.

In the Reynolds street affair, checked up by Chief John McFarland, an Essex coach owned and driven by Ray Arias, of Center street, Cambridge, Mass., crashed into a truck owned and driven by James E. Allen, of Norwich. The Arias car was coming down the hill, just west of the Ezra Burress place, as the Allen truck was climbing the grade.

Arias told Chief McFarland that he slammed the brakes on his car when another machine that was following the truck up the hill pulled out from behind the truck to pass it. The Arias car promptly started skidding on the wet highway surface, struck the Allen truck and turned around twice before it brought up with its front end crumpled up. The truck had a fender and headlight damaged. Arias showed a bump on the head as a souvenir of the incident. William Rivera, of Boston, and Donald Connors, of Boston, who were riding with him, also sustained minor cuts or bruises. Arias did not get the registration of the car that he said dodged out from behind the truck, a position from where he could not see it. Arias said he did not know how fast he was coming down the hill just prior to the accident.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE IS ASSURED AFTER ALL

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, May 29—Preparations have been completed for the decoration of soldiers and sailors' graves in Grove street and St. Mary's cemeteries, an observation that almost went by default because the organizations which had had charge of it in the past are not functioning at present. The local post of the American Legion has but six paid-up members and no officers and it seems almost impossible to get a quorum at a called meeting. The G. A. R. post has been disbanded long ago, there being but 10 remaining veterans of the Civil war living. The Sons of Veterans is also inactive, likewise the Spanish War veterans.

Dr. E. F. Perry, who served overseas in the war, has been an interested and active worker in arranging for Memorial day services during the past few years, but this year he did not feel that he could assume the entire burden. In a letter to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, he called attention to the situation and suggested that that body look after Memorial day observance. The directors realized the gravity of the situation, that Putnam could not afford to allow the day to go without the usual recognition and tribute to the memory of those who died or fought in the service of their country. The following committee of arrangements was appointed: T. H. deCoudres, C. A. Boyce, G. L. Padgett and F. E. Metcalf. They will act with Dr. E. F. Perry, George W. Baker, Arthur M. Keith and Arthur Tourtelotte, all former service men or sons of American soldiers, who are familiar with the routine work in connection with the affair.

Because of the limited time it was decided to attempt no parade or other public services. The directors felt that the vital thing was to carry out the spirit of the day and the graves of every soldier will be visited and decorated with a flag or flowers, or both.

At 9.00 o'clock this (Saturday) morning the soldiers' graves in St. Mary's cemetery will be decorated.

At 9.30 o'clock the soldiers' graves in Grove street cemetery will be decorated.

At 10.00 o'clock at the Soldiers' monument, Ring and Grove streets, flags and wreaths will be placed at the base, in memory of the soldiers and sailors who are buried elsewhere, or whose records are missing.

There are ten survivors of the Civil war in the city. The health of every one of them is impaired by weight of years. Their names are Major Jerome Tourtelotte, Chauncey Morse, Thomas Taylor, Richard Gibney, ——— Lepire, Capt. George A. Hammond, ——— Lucier, Hiram Barrett, ——— Lewis, Anson Buchanan. Major Tourtelotte is totally blind and will be unable to take part in the simple ceremonies. Two of the others will be unable to ride in the automobile that will be furnished for them. All signified their wish to pay homage to their former comrades, but it is probable that not more than seven of the ten will take part in the exercises.

Six of them will ride in motor cars but Anson Buchanan told the committee that he intended to visit both St. Mary's and Grove street cemeteries but that he didn't want any car sent for him, he intended to make the trip on foot.

In the above list is "Tommy Taylor," the colored powder monkey, who was on board the ironclad Monitor when the famous battle between "the Yankee cheese-box" and the Merrimac was fought in Hampton roads. Tommy is the one man still alive who took part in that encounter. In one of the issues of Harper's Illustrated Weekly printed after the battle is a picture of the officers and crew of the Ironclad and although but a boy at that time, Tommy is easily recognizable notwithstanding the 63 years that have intervened. He is slight of build, with smooth face and the similarity between that picture and one recently taken is remarkable; but aside from that, he has the military records to establish the above facts. He does not know exactly how old he is but like Anson Buchanan he said that he was able to visit the cemeteries on foot. Captain G. A. Hammond celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday Tuesday of this week, as told in the Bulletin the following day.

At East Putnam, Rev. John C. Stoddard, former pastor of the First Baptist church here, will deliver the Memorial day address.

MONTCLAIR COLORED BOY HELD FOR OFFICE BREAK

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, May 29—William Grooms, 18, a colored boy of Montclair, N. J., was arrested by John Murray of the New Haven police force, for loitering on railroad property. A search of his clothes revealed some papers that led to further investigation. Officer Sponcey of the Putnam police force was called and to the two officers the boy confessed that he had broken in the office of Whipple and Gilpatric, shortly after midnight Thursday, gone through the desk and safe and taken some papers. These he threw away as being of no importance to him but he led the officers to a dump near the Putnam Trade school where the papers were found.

In court this morning he pleaded guilty and said that he had entered the office through a side window, after climbing up the banks from the railroad tracks. After getting in the building he found the safe unlocked discovered nothing which he thought of any value to himself. With the aid of an ice pick he opened the desk and there found contracts, etc., but no money.

He told of coming into town Thursday on a freight and had expected to continue to Boston on a blind baggage trip. Before leaving home he said that he had broken into the Montclair Country Club house and stolen an overcoat and 99 cents in money. His father had warned him that unless he mended his ways he would get into trouble.

Judge Geissler found probable cause for holding the youth for the next session of superior court and fixed his bond at $1,000 which Grooms was was unable to furnish so was taken to Brooklyn jail.

THREAD STRIKE SITUATION AS ANOTHER MONTH ENDS

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic May 29—The usual meeting of the striking operatives of the American Thread company plant was held Friday morning at the Gem Theatre, following the daily march from the mill to the theatre. The meeting was in charge of Miss Amy L. Hooker, president of the local United Textile workers. The speaker was Organizer Horace Riviere, who also addressed the French operatives in their native tongue at Labor Union Hall, Friday afternoon, at two o'clock. In both of his speeches Mr. Riviere said that encouragement was to be derived from the steps being made to unionize the Holyoke Mills of the company where the strikers' allege that considerable of the local work is now being done.

A letter written by one of the former employes of No. 4 mill has been printed for the public and estates the fact that the workers of that mill not only understood that they had already received a ten per cent. cut in wages on January 12, last, but that another cut of 10 per cent was coming to them in April. Furthermore they wondered why the mill doors were closed to them one morning, when they went back to go to work, in spite of the fact that a strike had already been called in the plant. In a public answer made to this communication, the board of directors of the American Thread Company plant first remove the responsibility for any action relative from the strike from the shoulders of the local agent, Don H. Curtis. It is true, it is admitted, that the wages were reduced in January by ten per cent following the lead of other cotton manufacturers in such centers as Fall River and New Bedford, in exactly the same way as they followed the lead of these manufacturers in advancing the wages to 13 and 1-2 per cent. in 1923. The rumored cut of another 10 per cent in April is denied as an absolute falsehood. No. 4 mill, it is said in the statement, was closed as the direct result of the firemen going out and refusing to man the boilers, which action is much regretted by the company, as it barred out from work several hundred employes who had not gone out on strike. These operatives, the company asserts, are in no sense "strikers," except in so far as they have not returned to work since the mills resumed operations—and they allege a considerable number of them have already done so.

Regarding rumors which have spread about the city in the past few days regarding the strike situation as it affects those now employed in the mills of the American Thread Company, it was learned Friday that a large part of the one hundred and two now employed in clerical capacities at the plant who received the alternative of taking up work in the finishing department of the plant, were not commanded to do so, but rather were given the option of doing that on behalf of the concern or resigning their positions. The notices as issued stated that the clerks had been paid for practically no return in labor since the strike started, about thirteen weeks ago and that under the circumstances they were given the opportunity of working in the packing room and other departments under the finishing for the time being with a practical guarantee that they would return to their original position as clerks, when the full operations of the mills were resumed. Several of the girls refused this option and presented their resignations.

A full denial was made Friday of the rumor that trouble and a pitched battle had taken place between some of the employes and the professional strike breakers, in which one man was hurt. Officials stated that investigation on their part failed to reveal any ground for the rumor and that to their knowledge no one had been injured at the plant recently.

THE R. G. WATROUS HOUSE AT WINDHAM BURNED

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 29—Fire starting from an unknown origin Friday afternoon totally destroyed a two story house on Mullen Hill, Windham, owned by R. G. Watrous. The fire was discovered about 1.30 by Charles Potter. A group of neighbors collected and did what they could to save the building, but even assistance came too late to save the house, which burned to the ground. The only occupant of the house, Frederick Edwards, was away at the time of the fire, which destroyed all his personal affects. The building was about fifty years old. The loss, placed at $1500 is partially covered by insurance. The fire is believed to have been due to a defective chimney.

GET OUT AND VOTE

With the city election coming Monday it is none too soon to make up your mind to go to the polls and vote. Repeatedly has it been demonstrated what an unfortunate influence the stay at home voter exerts. In the choice of city officials the responsibility rests upon the voters. There's no one else going to make the choice, but it should be expressive of the will of just as many of the voters as can get to the polls.

It is a deplorable fact that there are too many voters who are disposed to vent their criticism of city affairs following election day, but who too often fail to respond to their duty in going to the polls. They leave the matter of selection to others and then complain because of the outcome is not satisfactory.

It is just such a situation as this that can and should be avoided. There should be an interest in local government affairs at all times. This applies to the caucuses and to the elections. If all those voters, women as well as men, who are able to get to the polls will do so there will be disclosed the wish of the people, an expression which carries its own significance in connection with the conduct of municipal affairs will be given. Such expressions cannot fail to be accepted as a guide when it comes to administering city affairs.

The ticket which is printed above sets before the voters a list of men of ability, experience and adaptability. They are well known citizens, deeply interested in giving Norwich the city government it wants, and should appeal to the independent as well as the party voter. Their qualifications are such as to warrant their endorsement at the polls. There is a duty resting upon the republicans and seekers of good government to see that they are elected, and with the getting out of the vote, there is no reason why they should not be.

APPALLING FIRE LOSSES

E. A. Smith, retiring president of the national fire underwriters organization, went into a new angle of the fire losses sustained in this country when, in speaking before the annual meeting of the organization, he pointed out the fire loss for 1924 amounted to more than $535,000,000, an increase of more than $203,000,000 in ten years, and the estimate that the total loss for 1924 will reach the total of nearly $560,000,000, and directed attention to the large number of fires which are caused by the aliens. He has pointed in his declaration that there is a close relationship between the increase in the fire losses and the spread of radicalism. The alien he figures is responsible in connection with the many conflagrations fires, and by no means an insignificant fact which he brought out, was that there are 15,000 lives lost annually while the huge property destruction is taking place.

The insurance leader directs attention to a situation which ought not to exist. It is long past the time when this country should awaken to the necessity of effecting a smaller annual fire loss instead of complacently accepting a steadily increasing one. More fires and greater losses are not comfortable signs of progress. They indicate a carelessness and wastefulness, and in many instances a criminality, that deserve a constant and ever increasing discouragement.

Statistics and figures may be monotonous and uninteresting but they nevertheless tell a story that should arouse action. President Smith deplores "We have many laws—too many—but so far as criminal prosecution of incendiaries is concerned our courts are woefully lax." Certainly the constant increase gives support to such a contention, and there is no possibility that too much can be said in behalf of the much needed reduction in fire losses and deaths from fires.

THE OIL DECISION

In the first round of the suit for the annulment of the lease of the naval oil reserve at Elk Hills, California, the government secures over E. L. Doheny. The lease is declared void because of the fraud practiced upon the United States through the deal with Secretary Fall and because of the conspiracy of the latter for the contract of the reserve from the navy to the interior department was in excess of the authority conferred upon President Harding who made that transfer. By the decision a settlement between the parties would be made to adjust the action taken under the lease, but the lease becomes a scrap of paper.

This decision is to be regarded as only one of the steps in the carrying of the matter to the highest court. It will be contested as long as there is a chance but Federal Judge McCormick says it means a victory for the government in the prosecution of this suit undertaken by this administration and which the president has repeatedly declared would be pushed relentlessly.

This lease gave Doheny the chance to draw on the naval oil reserve and in payment for the [illegible] was to construct huge tanks for an oil reserve station at Hawaii. That work has progressed but the property has not been turned over. For this work he will be entitled to reimbursement, but so will the government be entitled to pay for the oil which has been drawn from the reserve.

It doesn't appear that the court was impressed by the view taken by Secretary Fall concerning the authority conferred upon him or the manner in which he negotiated the lease without getting the approval of congress. It bids fair to be some time before the final decision is handed [illegible] in the matter, but only through carrying the matter to the highest court will the matter be properly decided.

MEMORIAL DAY

Once again there rolls around the day upon which thoughts revert to those who made great sacrifices for their country, those who fought, bled and died in war that their country might be sustained and its safety increased.

Memorial day is for the purpose of keeping green the memories of those who made the supreme sacrifice during the conflict and those among the survivors who have subsequently joined their comrades. The observance of Memorial day followed the Civil war, but since it was begun there have been two other wars which have served to develop a greater interest in the decorating of the graves of the heroic dead.

Not many of the members of the G. A. R. are left. There are posts which have ended their existence, there are those with only a few members but where those veterans of '61 were active in the day's programme there are many places where others have been obliged to assume the responsibility, and gladly have they done it. It is the result of the passing of time, but neither those who are directly concerned nor those who are a bit further removed can think of anything but a full and proper observance of the day when tribute is paid to those who made it possible for this country to be what it is.

Likewise Memorial [illegible] is not solely for the veterans and their families. It is an occasion which [illegible] is for a general public participation. It is a time for a public demonstration at least to the extent of attending the parade and exercises and making manifest the fact that it is a general Memorial day in fact as well as in name and that public tribute is being paid by those who are the beneficiaries of the great and vital services rendered.

AUTO HEADLIGHTS

The news of the day carries a report of activity by officials in certain Massachusetts cities in behalf of properly regulated headlights on motor vehicles. This is in keeping with requirements if those accidents which are attributable to glaring and dazzling headlights are to be eliminated.

In Washington, D. C., the traffic department is seeking a squad of policemen properly trained in headlight regulation for the purpose of enforcing the headlight laws in that city. There men would be provided with a screen for testing the lights when discovered by taking the machine to some side street and if the lights are found to violate the law the car owner would be given notice to appear in court.

These are some of the steps which have been found to be necessary in order to put a stop to dangerous conditions. It is unfortunate that such measures are called for but there is no one responsible for it except those who are determined to pay no attention to the regulations until they are forced to it. When it becomes understood that the law means something, that it is going to be enforced and that those who disregard it can be expected to pay the penalty it is invariably the result that compliance will follow.

There is plenty of reason for putting an end to the improper and dangerous headlight. It is one of the important requirements to insure a greater degree of safety and there isn't anything that is more important today than a general participation to such an end.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Wonder if the legislature realizes what procrastination does.

Preparations are now centered on June weddings, graduation and vacations.

If Amundsen is alive and well he knows where he is, which is more than the rest of us do.

The man on the corner says: May certainly must be given credit for giving us rain for our reservoirs.

Memorial day, and don't let it be said that there is a noticable decrease in the observance of the day, or a lack of flags.

There are too many instances when failure to go to the polls has resulted in poor city government. Don't let there be a repetition next Monday. Use your vote.

Electricity for lighting is five cents a kilowatt hour in Holyoke, which means that Holyoke is a long way from Norwich, with a rate twice as large.

The beer being served in Ontario isn't strong enough. Will it ever be possible henceforth to provide the kick which has been gotten from wood alcohol, et al?

Now if Amundsen only had a broadcasting outfit he might be in a position to relieve a great amount of anxiety which is being felt over his long stay in the polar regions.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

The natural forces that control the material world are so fiendish according to the fanciful way of our looking at it as to cause more or less of fear and trembling on the part of the timid. The frequency of floods, droughts, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, destruction by insects and pestilential diseases seem to many nothing less than the bringing in of general world collapse. As a matter of fact these things have been present ever since the world was created. The Bible has anticipated our idle fears and has sought to comfort us beforehand. Back in the days of Genesis the people were looking for some fatal shadow that never came. Now to calm their excited nerves these words were given: (Gen. 8:22.) "While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease." Now this promise ought to allay our dark forebodings. The hand of the Absolute is still at the helm.

In many ways the discoveries of science border on the miraculous. Take for instance what has been recently discovered of the way in which bees communicate with one another. They do not make known their wants by means of vocal utterance, but are not [illegible] helpless as to the means of communicating their feelings. A German scientific journal under the caption, "The Greatest Mystery of the Hive" has made public some of the recent discoveries of Herr von Frisch, the eminent naturalist. The color sense of the bee is quite defective, but the sense of smell is quite acute. The bee will have nothing to do with a flower that offends its sense of smell, and the flower with the right kind of odor is best for preserving the activity of the bee. It is not always the most prolific in the production of honey. The bee finding the right kind of flower, returns to the hive. She begins to dance around in a frenzy to attract attention, and then returns to the flower with hundreds of others.

Is not determination the real basis of the administration of law? It goes without saying that outbreaks of lawlessness always follow laxity in enforcing the law. But when it is clearly seen that judges and juries mean business in stamping out crime, and act utterly regardless of what the personal consequences may be, then criminals begin to tremble in their boots, and give up law breaking as a bad job. Now all this explains the extra vigilance set forth of late to break up the illegal smuggling of intoxicating liquor into the United States territory by ships that fly a foreign flag. Is it not something more than a political question? Outside the legal limit a ship may carry anything not contrary to the laws of the country which its flag represents. But is it not a moral question? Is any nation morally justified in allowing her ships to carry commodity that is contrary to the laws of a friendly nation? Let us indorse the administration's stand in the matter.

The day on which these lines appear in print has become an organic factor in the patriotic side of our national existence. No man is now alive when the first Fourth of July was celebrated. But Memorial day is of comparatively recent origin. Those who are hardly past middle life can remember when "Decoration day" as it was then called was first observed. Little did John A. Logan realize when he made the suggestion that the Grand Army of the Republic would become such a powerful organization. But when the last hero of the Civil war shall have passed on, the organization will remain—or some other organization that embodies its principles, because we have had two wars since, whose [illegible] was identical with that of 1861.

In the rapid onrush of time how easily personalities that were once in the limelight can slide at least into a partial obscurity! When the Rebellion of 1861 was finally quelled, the name most frequently on all lips, next to Lincoln's was Grant's. He was lauded to the skies as the man who had done most to bring the long war to an end. His masterly skill as a military strategist was praised by all the field marshals of the old world. It was undoubtedly his reputation as a general that swept him into office the white house. And when his administrative work ended with his second term of office, we remember how the entire civilized world received him. He was easily the most popular man of the world when the cruel cancer cut short his days. But how seldom is any mention made in these days to him, and school boys and girls in their teens must connect him in their minds with a distant age! The same might be said of Gen. Lee his mighty opponent, who was the greatest figure that the Confederacy produced.

How differently do we look at persons and things from the standpoint of calmness and cold reason than we do when heated by prejudice and passion. When the north and south were in deadly conflict during the Civil war, how utterly unjust were many of the imputations that were hurled at one another! Each accused the other of being actuated by unworthy motives. At the time being, under the sting produced by the firing upon Fort Sumter, we of the north failed to realize, that carrying the war into the south, that, if the south fought at all. It was for the preservation of its homes and the protection of its property. The rank and file of soldiers on one side were no more sincere than the rank and file on the other side. The paint that was used by some of the New York dailies in giving the motives of Gen. Robert E. Lee was altogether too black.

If we were called upon to affix a proper label to the present age, we would not hesitate a moment in calling it The Young People's Age. Never in all history was so much done as now to prepare them for the ever increasing responsibilities of life. To say nothing of the urge that comes from colleges, universities, and all manner of technical schools, but also from new positions which our advancing civilization has made possible. Both boys and girls are called upon to qualify in the new life of scouting. The healthful and educational value of camping is exploited before them. And what is offered to them religiously is simply legion. But there is another side to an otherwise pleasing picture. It is reported that schoolboys—some schoolboys carry flasks in their hip pockets, and are sometimes seen intoxicated. It may be nothing more than the mere bravado of youth. But if it is more, it is very serious, and shows what school teachers are up against.

Twenty-four years ago today the Hall of Fame was dedicated in New York. Why not a Hall of Fame for America's illustrious sons and daughters? Ancient Greece had its Parthenon, one of the most beautiful buildings ever erected. Rome its Pantheon, London its Westminister Abbey, and why not New York its Hall of Fame? As one looks over the list of men and women who have been honored by having their statues there, they will compare with anything Europe has to show, past or present. I am thinking what joy it must be to old Dr. Lyman Beecher to look from his home in glory and see two of his children there, Henry Ward Beecher and Harriet Beecher Stowe. No American Hall of Fame would be complete without them.

A Mother's Criticism

Mr. Editor: I can't see why children should be kept after school for going to the theatre the evening before. They were told in the morning early, before the teacher knew whether the days lessons were effected by the late hours or not. And that wasn't enough, they were nagged all day about being out and the teacher ending up by telling them not to go again.

If the fathers and mothers see fit to take them I don't think it is any teacher's business.

There were a great many more children at the Palace Theatre Monday night from other schools and I know they couldn't have got home as early as mine, and I am sure they weren't nagged all day for it.

Well the children should worry. They went and saw the East Side Drum corps carry off the second prize, and if my children's applause helped them to get it I am more than glad that they went and if there had been another occasion Tuesday evening I would have taken them again.

I don't believe in children running to shows every evening, but I guess once in a while doesn't harm them. I can't see that mine look any the worse for it and if they should look bad that is my lookout, not the teacher's.

A MOTHER.

Norwich, May 28, 1925.

From Small Beginnings

Thomas Platter, the Swiss Shepherd, the Great Educator

I wish I could make the mountains speak. They seem to want to say something!" The Swiss boy who sat on the slopes of a mighty hill clasped his hands together and looked off at the view that spread before him. There in the distance clear across the horizon lay a range of snowy-capped mountains serene and awful. Nearer at hand and on either side were rugged mountains lifting up great cliffs of rock. Just before the boy the goats that he was watching grazed quietly without looking up.

Thomas Platter was only a poor shepherd. It was in the first years of the 16th century—no one except the privileged few had education and so Thomas Platter had no more learning than his neighbors. But in the days when Thomas sat looking at the mountains he thought much. He resolved to study, and so, with the help of the village preachers, he learned to read and write and procured books. Then, a little older, he set out to find larger places than the little Swiss hamlets where he could study. He went north into Germany and there found many people who were interested in books. He became acquainted with men who were interested in the new art of making books by printing them and he learned something about type. He studied Latin and Greek and Hebrew in an effort to read the Bible in its original languages and to read religious books. Finally he drifted back into Switzerland, more or less homesick for his boyhood friends. There he began to teach and to print books. He worked day and night, but still from his learning he could not make enough money on which to live, so in addition to teaching the classics he made rope!

Meanwhile year after year he lived a simple, good life, taught young men and filled them with ambition. He became like a torch at which others kindled their fires and he sent out many who became scholars, teachers and leaders of thought. He gave the new education, printing and knowledge of languages to many. From his mountain valleys he indeed made the mountains speak. Men learned to love him and today, nearly 350 years after his death at the age of 83, men still speak of Thomas Platter, the great Swiss scholar, the shepherd who made the mountains speak.

BAFFIN ISLAND; NORTH AMERICA'S MYSTERY LAND

Baffin Island, which United States navy planes of the MacMillan Arctic expedition will explore, is one of the least known regions of North America, according to the following bulletin from the National Geographic society —the society under whose auspices the expedition will work:

"Frobisher discovered the southern point of Baffin Island 349 years ago," says the bulletin. "North America in those three and a half centuries has acquired civilization and 120,000,000 people, but scarcely anything more is known of Baffin Island than what the old sea captain himself discovered.

A Quaint Description

"'Mountaynes, in most parts covered with snow,' so Frobisher describes the southern extremity. Modern discovery confirms this and his further belief that 'the norther lands have lesse store of snow, more grasse, and are more playne countreys.' His description of the birds and beasts and of the Eskimos, their character, implements and boats, fits precisely with our 1925 estimate.

"Yet Frobisher touched only one corner of this vast island and his successors scarcely more than the shore, so a vast virgin field awaits the expedition cameras.

"Baffin Island is the third largest island in the world, Australia and Greenland, surpassing it. Resolution Island, off the southern point of Baffin Island, is about on a latitude of the southern shore line of Alaska and of Oslo, capital of Norway and Leningrad. But Baffin Island is more than one thousand miles in length, so its northern latitude is five hundred miles north of both Hammerfest, at the top of Scandinavia, and Point Barrow, Alaska. Baffin Island has resisted thorough exploration by virtue of its vastness. It is larger than any state of the United States except Texas and would make almost four New Englands.

Region of "Great Lakes"

"A lake nearly as large as Ontario is one of the islands features. Angmakjuak, 'the great water,' in Eskimo language, is 120 miles long and 40 miles wide. It is, however, only one of the 'Great Lakes' of Baffin Island. There are also Tesseyoakjuak Lake and Lake Netsellk. The latter may be larger than Angmakjuak.

"These lakes offer one of the few places for safe water landings for planes to be found anywhere in the Arctic. Floating ice is an ever present danger in the sea but the high temperatures of the warmed lake water eliminate this hazard.

Fish Through Igloo Floors

"South Sea islands are supposed to afford a life of magnificent ease in contrast with the Arctic, since there a family can live on the fruit of three trees. Baffin Island Eskimos, however, have improved on this handy commissary. In the winter they build their igloos on the lakes, cut a hole through the parlor floor and fish for their dinner. The Eskimo population is placed at 670.

"Rivers and lakes of the island are well stocked with fish, notably sea trout and speckled trout. The Arctic have wolves, and white and blue bear are found. The bears apparently live on mice of various kinds. Reindeer are numerous and a few musk oxen are believed to inhabit the northern section.

Commander MacMillan believes that Baffin Island may contain the mysterious home of the blue goose. It is known that the trumpeter swan and the common eider breed on Nottingham Island, at the mouth of Hudson bay, but the breeding ground of the blue geese, whose flying wedges hosting across the spring sky are so familiar to North America, has never been discovered. Should this home be discovered, it will open up a virgin field for an important ornithological study. No danger of the planes colliding with great flocks of frightened birds is anticipated, since similar geese breeding in islands north of Siberia lose their power of flight because of molting during the nesting season.

Flowers and Butterflies Abound

"For delightful summer climate a person would not go to the seashore of Baffin Island, but inland. Currents bearing icebergs and chilled by melting ice make the coast cool and damp. Inland, within the shelter of the rocks, the sun beats down for long hours of the Arctic day. Brilliant flowers blossom, butterflies enliven the warmed rocks, and even the pestiferous summer flies irritate modern explorers just as much as they did Frobisher.

"Like the Americas, Baffin Island takes its name, not from its discoverer but from a later explorer, William Baffin. Baffin never led an expedition to its shores, but his scientific observations made as pilot on three important ventures into the 'Northwest' earned him the honor of having the great island, as well as the big bay between North Greenland and Baffin Island, named after him. In remarkable voyage was with Robert Bylot, ship master, through Davis strait, now the highroad to North Greenland, and into Baffin bay, which had never been seen by white men before.

"At the top of the bay, Baffin noted down the great declination of the compass, the greatest discovered up to that time. Three merchant adventurers of London's rialto, who sent this expedition and many others to plant the British flag in new soil, are memorialised in guide posts to the Arctic left by this expedition; Lancaster sound, for Sir James Lancaster, boundary to Baffin island on the northwest; Jones sound, farther north, for Sir Francis Jones; and Smith sound, on which Etah lies, for Thomas Smith.

A Land of Many Parts

"Baffin island is virtually a land of many lands. Within its shores are Penny Land, Hoppner Land, Greenwood Land, Cockburn Land, Fox Land, Prince William Land, Milne Land and Meta Incognita. So sprawled out is the island with points and promontories that a succession of explorers discovered various parts independently. With the wish farther to the thought, they christened their find a 'land.' Later exploration has tied all these diverse 'lands' into one island, Baffin island.

"It is easy to guess that Meta Incognita, the odd name for southernmost Baffin Island is the little joke of Queen Elizabeth, for she bestowed it. Discoveries were as common as rain in her age when civilization was first going into high gear. Land bodies sprang up on maps like mushrooms. 'Queen Bess' was bored, perhaps, when the caparisoned and courtly Frobisher sought audience to lay his latest find at her feet.

"'What manner of land is this?' she probably asked.

"With an explorer's pride of discovery he undoubtedly told with fervor of the 'mountaynes in most parts covered with snow,' the absence of trees, and the handful of Eskimo inhabitants. Would her gracious majesty choose to give a name to this new found land? Her Majesty would. There must have been twinkle in the royal eyes as she named it Meta Incognita, meaning 'beyond the unknown.'

"But Queen Elizabeth's joke is still good and not until the U. S. Navy airplanes have surveyed it, will Baffin Island be 'beyond the unknown.'"

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

The Temple

At Florence, in the museum, is a chamber, known as the Temple. In its center stands the statue of the great Florentine who first turned a telescope to the sky, and around that stately figure are arranged the busts of great masters in science and art, facing toward him who was prince among them all; and the walls shining with precious stones, and the ceilings glowing with glorious frescoes which picture forth the great events of his life, cast rays of splendor on the head of Galileo.

There is another temple, around whose outer circles, constellations, mutely march. It is the shrine and fame of the Unseen Creator. With radiant fingers all things point toward one central figure veiled from our earthly sight, and around Him the universe ceaselessly revolves. All His works demand a master workman greater than all He has wrought, equal to the planning and decorating of such a fane. A creation whose dimensions span the infinities and whose durations span the eternities demand a correspondingly great personality behind it, and so again as in the nineteenth Psalm we see "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handiwork." Shall man withhold the glory which even nature yields to the creator?

CHILD TRAINING

A MAN'S IDEA ON DISCIPLINE

By Russell Coryell

A smart spanking with the flat of the hand doesn't hurt a child very much. I mean to say that it isn't very painful from a physical standpoint—and it is so simple to administer, and such a relief to a nervous parent to be able to expend his overwrought feelings on the naughty child.

But what a pity it is that often the spanking does the child no good! If only one could have the satisfaction of relieving his feelings and at the same time benefiting the child. But alas, it seldom helps the child from a moral standpoint, but instead usually does him harm. It is an object lesson in violence and vindictiveness. A child soon learns to beat his companions when he is angry.

But if we were to abandon this good old custom of whipping, what then could we do with naughty children?

The answer is rather difficult. In the first place, what constitutes naughtiness? Is it doing something that is bad for the child? Or is it doing something contrary to custom? Or is it simply doing something that annoys the parent?

Let's be honest for once and admit that we want to punish children almost always because they have annoyed us, pestered us, made us nervous.

Take the first case: Suppose the child is doing something dangerous or likely to harm him. If it really is dangerous it ought not to be very hard to demonstrate this fact to the child. In case the child cannot be shown the danger then the only thing to do is to remove the danger, remove the child, or keep a watchful eye on him. If you are honest with yourself you must admit the inadequacy of whipping. It simply doesn't register.

Take the second case: Suppose the child is doing something contrary to custom, etiquette or some other of our civilized taboos. Suppose, for example, that he likes to play in the coal bin and get dirty, or that he prefers to eat his food with his hands instead of his spoon. Well, these things in themselves are not wicked or wrong. The first makes extra work for mother and the second is shocking to finicky old maids, but there is nothing wicked about them, is there? Nothing wicked until mother has commanded the child never to do it again and the child promptly does it. The child has then committed the sin of sins; he has been disobedient. I won't attempt to justify a child in being disobedient in such a case. I could never convince you. Let us rather assume that disobedience is to be avoided. I suggest, then, that if a mother doesn't want her child to disobey she would be wise not to issue any arbitrary commands. Don't tell Johnny never to go into the coal bin on pain of punishment. That's the easiest way out of it. You might explain that you hope he won't go in again, and then suggest something more interesting to do.

Now we come to the third case: Suppose the child is making a nuisance of himself, "driving mother distracted." This is, indeed, a difficult case to handle for the reason that we must now make mother be reasonable —and of course a grown-up is much more difficult to reason with than a child.

Mother has a right to her peace and comfort. But so has Johnny. Then they must both learn to compromise and be reasonable.

Let us suppose that mother is working in the kitchen. If Johnny is very fond of her and has been taught never to stray far away, it is altogether probable that Johnny will gravitate to the kitchen also. He will begin to play cars there. More than that, he will want to play cars just where it is most inconvenient for mother: right under her feet. Mother will probably tell him with more emphasis than reasonableness to get out from under her feet. She may give his car an inconsiderate kick to one side. Johnny will patiently get them again and return to his post under her feet. Mother will then pick him up more or less violently and carry him into another room, scold him with raised voice and return to the kitchen. Johnny will shortly return under her feet again.

If the little chaps didn't have this courageous persistence, they would soon have all personality squeezed out of them.

However, mother must get dinner. Suppose she puts Johnny in the other room and shuts the door. She has a right to protect herself, and then she can work. Johnny, however, will probably shriek. He has found that to be the most effective way of getting what he wants. Until he was able to talk, crying was his only means of expression.

At this point there enters into the equation mother's frazzled nerves. She simply can't stand his yelling, so she opens the door again and slaps him.

"What else can I do?" she asks desperately. The fact that she knows nothing better to do is hardly a reason for doing something wrong.

Suppose, instead, that mother stops work just long enough to explain to Johnny that her work must be accomplished, and that it cannot be accomplished with him under her feet, and that therefore he must choose between playing in a corner of the kitchen where he won't disturb mother, or she will have to put him in the other room and shut the door.

Some children will recognize the logic of such a situation at once; most children will if they have been raised from the very beginning with reason and [illegible] Johnny, however, has not been so raised, and ten to one will not be reasonable. Mother will have to put him in the other room. She will have to be firm with herself. She will have to steel herself against his wails—angry, furious wails, pleading, heartbroken wails, and wails in all keys. She may have to repeat the experience more than once. It may cost her considerable effort and courage, but in the end Johnny will see the logic of it, and then mother's life will be a hundredfold easier—and so will Johnny's.

TALI-FU

"Tali-fu, latest Chinese city to suffer from earthquake, lies almost at the southwest corner of that huge country" says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Tali-fu, next to Yunnan-fu, is the most important city in Yunnan, the remote border province that adjoins Burma on the west and French Indo-China on the south. A railroad, built by the French, reaches Yunnan-fu, but Tali, nearly 200 miles farther west, can be reached only by horse and mule caravan over execrable roads. Progress is slow and the journey from the rail-head normally requires a month or more. The latitude of Tali is approximately that of the southern tip of Texas, but it lies nearly 7,000 feet high and has a pleasant climate with warm days and cool nights.

"The setting of Tali is almost ideal. It lies on the west shore of a beautiful blue lake about 30 miles long, while to the west and north tower high, snow-capped mountains. Among the foothills to the north are fertile little plains and hillsides where rice, wheat and beans are grown. More and more, too, the opium poppy is coming back into cultivation. Yunnan Province was the best poppy country in China in the past, but about 15 years ago an anti-poppy edit went forth, and its sudden enforcement nearly ruined the Yunnanese farmers. Enforcement of the edict has grown lax lately and poppy fields are now to be seen even along the main roads.

"The city of Tali is situated about eight miles north of the foot of Tali lake. At the foot is the town of Hsia-Kuan. The relation between the two communities is very roughly that between Gary, Indiana, and Chicago, if mercantile activity is substituted for industrialism. Hsia-Kuan is the mercantile town, while Tali is the official and residence city. Between the two, along the lake shore, is a road paved with cobblestones that, through long use, have become polished to glass-like smoothness. Over them the caravan horses pick their way gingerly at the slowest of paces.

"Revolutions, local uprisings, and bandit raids have combined to make Yunnan province one of the most turbulent places on the map in recent years. If conditions become stabilized it is probable that China will at last have railroad connection with India via Tali and Burma. A Burmese railway now runs to within about 80 miles of the Yunnan border at Lashio. British interests have considered the feasibility of extending this road to Tali, Yunnan-fu, and some port on the Yangtse river.

"The mountains and hills near Tali are covered with a profusion of rhododendrons which give the country an aspect of loveliness in spring and summer. An expedition of the National Geographic Society led by Joseph F. Rock recently brought into the United States from Yunnan an extensive collection of these beautiful flowering shrubs, many of which will be introduced."

Home Sweet Home

The approach of a storm was being eagerly watched by a mother and her children. Little Johnny manifested considerable fright.

"Maybe, children," said the mother seeking to appease the little boy, "Jesus will come, give us wings and take us all to heaven."

Her words seemed only to aggravate Johnny's fear and he began to cry. "What is the matter, Johnny?" asked one of the older children. Between sobs the young fellow answered:

"I don't want to leave home, and I've no business with wings, besides."

Going in Raw.

Freddy, age six, had been in swimming against orders and had lost his bathing suit. A few days later father was going swimming and Freddy wished to go too, but mother said he could not because he had disobeyed.

"And besides you lost your suit and have nothing to wear," she added.

Fighting back tears of disappointment Freddy thought for a minute. Then his face lighted up and he shouted after his mother:

"Well, I know. I can go to the Y. M. C. A., they let you go in raw."

Be certain that the fish you buy is strictly fresh. Your nose is probably your best barometer in this for the fish store having an unsavory odor, is bound to contain something creating that atmosphere, and just on general principles should be avoided. ## SPECIAL TRAFFIC ORDERS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Police Chief George Linton announced Friday that special traffic and parking orders for Memorial Day during the hours of the parade would be in force on Main street, Washington street, Williams avenue and Broadway.

The parade is scheduled to start from the Buckingham Memorial at 10:02 in the morning, but from 9:45 until after the parade Main street is to be kept clear of traffic from Burnham Square to Washington Square.

Parking on Washington street will be allowed on the easterly side, but not on the westerly side, while parking on Broadway will be on the westerly side, but not on the easterly side. There will be no parking on Williams avenue which runs across the end of the Chelsea parade.

The squad of officers which will be the police escort in the parade will be under command of Captain Thomas Murphy and will consist of Officers Timothy Driscoll, Patrick Murphy, Elmer Allen, Peter Driscoll, Albert Lamphere, Joseph Farrell, Hugh McAvoy and Michael Pounch.

Committee Handles $237,000

The importance of the committee to which Mrs. Jerome Mayer (Sadie Plaut) has been appointed may be inferred from the following in a Hartford paper:

"When the new charity board meets June 8, indications are William Raphael, democrat, will probably be elected president of the board with Frank Montel, republican, as vice-president, although both are appointees of former Mayor Kinsella. This situation comes about more or less automatically by the attitude which President Eugene C. Lamoreux has taken in adhering to his attitude of a year ago when, in assuming the presidency, he said he felt the presidency of this board should rotate as all members worked hard for the department. The commissioners were ready to reelect him had he desired it, it is said. The two new commissioners are Mrs. Jerome Mayer and Thomas B. Curry. This department has an appropriation of $237,900 in the present budget and in no department do the commissioners have as much opportunity for personal service in getting into close contact with the beneficiaries of the city's bounty as in this department.

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE WILL START AT 10.02

The Memorial day parade, as has already been announced will start from the Buckingham Memorial this morning at 10.02 and proceed over the usual line of march to the Chelsea parade, where the memorial exercises will be held and the address will be delivered by Rev. J. Harlow Graham, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church.

GERMANIA LODGE ENTERTAINS STATE CONVENTION OF SONS OF HERMANN

JOHN SEIDEL
Chairman of Arrangement Committee

With an attendance of 91 delegates and officers, representing all but two of the 24 lodges of the order, the 25th annual grand lodge convention of the Order of Hermann's Sons was opened here Friday morning at 10.30 in Pulaski hall.

The convention was called to order by the first grand vice president, J. Henry Leipold, of this city, in the absence of Grand President Carl Henckels of Bridgeport, who was delayed on the way to the convention by an accident to his automobile. Reports of the grand officers, including Grand Secretary Otto Berger of Ansonia, Grand Treasurer F. A. Baier of New London, and others were received with applause as they showed the order had had an exceedingly prosperous year and was in a fine condition, financially and numerically.

At noon, dinner was served by the Norwich women's committee and Mayor Milo R. Waters was a guest of honor. The mayor extended a welcome to the city of the delegates,

J. HENRY LIEPOLD
Treasurer of Arrangement Committee

complimented the delegates upon the standing of the order, and said he hoped they would make Norwich their convention city frequently.

Secretary Berger made the response on behalf of the convention, assuring the mayor of their appreciation of his suggestion to come again but remarking that it was possible Montreal might be chosen for another year.

Afternoon Session.

When the afternoon session opened, Grand President Henckels was in the chair and a number of amendments to the by-laws and constitution were debated. Some of these were rejected and some accepted, but those adopted are, as a whole, for only minor changes.

The convention adjourned at 6 o'clock for supper and will be reopened this (Saturday) morning at 9 o'clock when important resolutions are to be debated. The election of officers will come at the close of the convention which it is expected will be about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

There will probably be active committees on Vacation Bible schools, Week Day Religious Education, Sunday religious education, teacher training and finance.

Lillian Margolis, of Ledyard, was granted divorce from Morris Margolis, now of parts unknown, and change of name to Lillian Zakhem. They were married Feb. 26, 1921 and the divorce was for desertion March 1, 1921.

Divorce from John Dickerman, of Norwich, was granted to Frieda Dickerman, of New London, with change of name to Frieda Gley. The couple were married May 4, 1910 and the divorce was for intolerable cruelty since Jan. 1, 1915.

On the ground of desertion since Oct. 7, 1916, Clara Bradley Schultz, of East Lyme, was granted divorce from Christopher Schultz, now of parts unknown. They were married July 30, 1916. The court gave her the custody of an eight year old son.

Custody of seven children ranging from 16 to two years old was given to Anthony Fredowitch, of Sprague, when he was granted divorce from Mary Fredowitch, of the same town. They were married in May, 1908. The divorce was granted on the ground of adultery between Jan 1, 1923 and Jan. 12, 1925, at Sprague, with one Tony Galt.

On the ground of desertion on Sept. 1, 1912, Minnie Crandall Noyes, of Norwich, secured divorce from Byron F. Noyes, of Detroit, Mich. They were married on July 4, 1906.

Intolerable cruelty since Aug. 5, 1924, was the grounds upon which Edwin Allen Kearney, of Groton, was granted divorce from Vivian Lincoln Kearney, of Philadelphia. They were married Aug. 5, 1924. A complaint alleging unfaithfulness was not pressed in the suit.

TRI KAPPA FRATERNITY'S 28TH ANNUAL BANQUET

The twenty-eighth annual banquet of Tri Kappa fraternity of the Norwich Free Academy was held Friday evening at the Wauregan hotel with a good attendance of members and alumni. After enjoying the usual banquet a number of members were called upon for brief remarks by Toastmaster Donald F. Whitney.

Wilford Sutthill spoke on Our Fraternity and Romeyn Holdridge spoke on Athletics. Judge Frank H. Foss of Willimantic, one of the charter members of the fraternity, was present and gave a most interesting report on the first meeting of the frat and the purposes for which it was organized. Fred C. Crowell spoke for the alumni, reviewing old times.

The banquet proved most enjoyable and will be followed by other special gatherings between members and the alumni during the fall and winter terms of the present year.

Nearly 5,500 miles of new railways are projected in Spain.

ORDINATION OF J. O. O'BRIEN AT NEW YORK JUNE 6TH

Invitations have been received by Norwich relatives to the ordination of J. Osmond O'Brien, Saturday, June 6th, at St. Patrick's cathedral, New York, at 9 o'clock. Cardinal Patrick Hayes will ordain the young man, with other candidates.

Father O'Brien will sing his first solemn mass in St. Patrick's church, Norwich, the following day, Sunday, June 7th, at 10.30 o'clock. He will remain in this city until the following Thursday, when he will report back to the diocese of New York, going from there for a brief visit to his father, a resident of Prince Edward Island.

He was born in Prince Edward Island, was graduated from Holy Cross college, Worcester, Mass., and has made his course in theology at Dunwiddie Seminary, New York. During the World war he enlisted from Connecticut, serving abroad for two and a half years, during which period he was badly gassed. His war experience has delayed his ordination somewhat.

Besides his father in Prince Edward Island—where his mother died about two years ago, the young theologian has a sister, Mrs. John J. Morley, of Laurel Hill avenue, Norwich, another sister, Miss Margaret O'Brien, R. N., a nurse at Norwich State Hospital, a sister in Philadelphia and a brother in Montana. He will be assigned to the Diocese of Montana after his visit home.

For the ordination in New York, the center aisle of the cathedral is to be reserved for relatives and friends of the candidates. At the mass in St. Patrick's church, Norwich, there will be a great congregation to welcome the young priest and to receive his blessing.

After the Norwich mass, there is to be a breakfast for Father O'Brien and his relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morley, 428 Laurel Hill avenue.

The young student has spent many of his vacations in Norwich with Rt. Rev. Mgr. M. H. May, rector of St. Patrick's, his last visit having been made during the Easter recess.

600 SCHOOL CHILDREN IN EXHIBITION ON PARADE

On the beautiful greensward of the Chelsea parade at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, an exhibition of the physical education work in the Norwich schools was splendidly given by about 500 children from the seventh and eighth grades. The girls were all in white dresses and the boys were hatless and in white shirt waists, making a most attractive picture as they went through the programme under the direction of Miss Florence Schaeffer, director of physical education.

Music for the exercises was furnished by Swahn's band and the children were so perfectly drilled that the boys marched out and the girls skipped up to their places without a word from Miss Schaeffer, merely following the music as the band gave them their cues. The grade teachers were on hand in charge of their classes.

Just as the last exercise was concluded it began to rain so that the children were allowed to seek the shelter of the trees without singing America, the closing number.

The following was the programme: March—by all pupils (in rank formation).

Memitie Drill—Commanded by Greenebille Boy, by boys.

Chebogah (Hungarian Folk Dance), by girls.

Games, Call Ball, Crown the King, by boys.

Troika—(Russian Melody), by girls.

Free hand exercises in varied rhythm, by girls and boys.

NORWICH EAGLES MAKING BIG MEMBERSHIP INCREASE

Twenty-five candidates were initiated Friday night at the special meeting of Norwich Aerie, No. 367, on Eagles hall, making over 50 new members taken in during the last week and closing the administration of President Timothy Fields in fine shape.

A booster club was formed among the new members with Edward T. Connelly as chairman and a similar club among the old members with past president Victor Payment as chairman. They will be rivals in securing new members.

Next Monday night the new officers will be installed by state president Fedit of New Britain and on June 4 the Norwich Eagles are going to Putnam for the installation by the state officers. On June 9 they will go to New London where the state officers will conduct the installation.

ANOTHER YOUTH OF 19 JAILED UNDER $2,000 BONDS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, May 29.—In passing out of Union street about 1:10 o'clock this morning, Sergeant George Laird discovered the Putnam News company store had been broken into. Upon investigation he found John Rodulski, 19 years old, in the store. It was found that he had made his entrance by smashing the plate glass in the door and then reaching in and turning the lock.

When arrested he had on his person 16 fountain pens, nine silver pencils, a small box containing $2 in money and several packages of cigarettes. He told Officer Laird that he was carrying revolvers which he had taken from the Chandler and Morse Hardware store earlier in the morning.

In court this morning he pleaded guilty on two counts of breaking and entering and two of theft.

He had gained entrance to the Chandler and Morse store by breaking glass in a window and lifting the catch. There he took three revolvers, about $5 worth of ammunition and two knives. The largest one of the guns and most of the heavy ammunition he hid in a truck belonging to the state highway department which was in the rear of Keith's garage and where it was afterwards found.

Warren S. Ames, of the Chandler and Morse Hardware company, and C. C. Talbot, of the Putnam News company, were in court to identify and claim the young man's plunder. The property stolen from the former was worth about $47 and from the Putnam News company about $75. All of it was recovered.

In answer to questions by Prosecuting Attorney Johnson, the boy said that his people were in Poland and that for the last three years he had been wandering from one town to another and had been in Putnam four days. He also stated he had worked most of the time and had never before been in trouble.

Judge M. H. Geissler bound him over to the next criminal session of the superior court under bonds of $2,000. He could not raise the money, so went to jail.

LIQUOR LAW VIOLATION DRAWS $100 FINE

On a charge of violation of the liquor law by actual sale, Mrs. Jennie Vandola of Franklin street was fined $100 and costs by Judge Arthur F. Libby in the city court Friday morning. State Policemen Giles Watson and Murphy of the Groton police barracks who made the seizure Thursday, testified in the case. A hundred gallons of wine seized at the house will probably be destroyed by court order.

Norman J. Cloutier, 19, of No. 21 Treadway avenue, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of reckless driving. He was apprehended by a state policeman while driving at a fast rate of speed.

August Teixeira (Portugese) was discharged by the court. He was charged with breach of the peace in striking August Gomes, colored, who had assisted the police in securing liquor evidence on the East Side. It was shown by the testimony that Teixeira did not have any hand in the fight, other than to try to stop it, and that he did not hit Gomes.

Rev. Valentino Paniszoli, Italian pastor of the church, was toastmaster and music was rendered by the Sunday school orchestra. Rev. J. Harlow Graham of Trinity Methodist church asked the blessing.

The seventy-five present at the banquet enjoyed the following menu which was finely served: lettuce, radishes, olives, ham, spaghetti, veal cutlet and green peas, fancy pastry and coffee. The banquet was prepared by Mrs. Paniszoli, Mrs. B. Romano and Mrs. F. Madio. The waitresses were the Misses Joannetta Romano, Adeline Pomano, Violet Pedace, Marian Pedace, Mamie Grieco, Mamie Madio, and Duido Ottaviano. Others who assisted were Mrs. A. F. # CARBRAY CAUGHT AFTER SHOOTING DIVORCED WIFE AND HERMAN GREINER

In an alleged fit of jealousy, John Carbray of Boswell Ave., shot and badly wounded his divorced wife, Anna Weltin Carbray, and her alleged fiancee, Herman Greiner of Preston about 12:35 o'clock this (Saturday) morning. The double tragedy took place at her home on Main St., above the silk mill.

Capt. Thomas P. Murphy was notified of the shooting affray by telephone from the home of Mrs. E. B. Worthington at 632 Main street a few minutes after it took place. He immediately rushed the patrol wagon, Sgt. John Casey and a squad of police to the house and summoned Dr. William Driscoll who quickly responded to the call.

The wounded man and woman were rushed to the Backus hospital in the patrol wagon where they were attended by Dr. Driscoll.

A city wide call was sent out by headquarters to all patrolmen on duty to be on the watch

MANY STELLAR BASEBALL ATTRACTIONS IN EASTERN CONN. OVER THE WEEKEND

There are many baseball attractions for today and Sunday in Eastern Connecticut that should appease the taste of the most critical of fans. Several stellar attractions are scheduled for today and a number for tomorrow. Perhaps the most important of these contests will be the Academy-Aggie Freshmen game at the Campus this afternoon, the game between the State Hospital and the Sub Base at the State Hospital this afternoon and the Bulkeley-Crosby game at the Sub Base diamond this afternoon. On Sunday will be the J. B. Martin-Hartford game, the Ashland-Westerly game and others. These games should all draw large crowds for each team has a strong following.

Velvetmen vs. Yankees

The attraction Sunday at the J. B. Martin Park will be the fast Yankee Filling Station nine of Hartford. This team having been playing wonderful ball in the Hartford twi-light league and holding second place for the last two seasons, will make the Velvetmen step to come out on the top end of the score. The lineup consists of: Bazzolo, who will do the backstop work with either Torassi or Shovac, on the mound. Shovac needs no introduction to the fans having defeated Riverview last week which was their first defeat this season. Hayden, will cover first, Donahue, or Waterman will be on the initial sack, Kirchits will take care of third and Dixon will be seen in the shortfield. The outfield will be taken care of by Charon, Dillion, Quinn and Giritico.

The Velvetmen this season are playing a wonderful brand of ball and are going out to make it their fifth straight victory this season. The lineup will be the same that defeated the Herrup's last Sunday, J. Murphy, c. Lamieux or Pepin will be on the mound, J. Joubert 1st, Krauss, or F. Murphy, 2nd. F. Gley, 3rd De-Celles ss. The outfield will be taken care of by Bill Gley, who pulls those sensational shoe string catches E. Murphy, E. Joubert, and Dona.

Bulkeley vs. Crosby

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 29—The entire state has its eyes focused upon the battle which is in the offering for Saturday (Memorial Day) at the Submarine Base diamond when Bulkeley's greatest baseball machine will battle for the coveted position which will be almost certain if the nine scheduled to take the opposite side Saturday is down. The nine in question, Crosby High of Waterbury, comes with the distinction of being an able oppenent for the Orange and Black athletes, and a merry melee which usually accompanies a baseball game where two teams are evenly matched will taper off.

Bulkeley with its super athletes of the diamond and with Captain Tillie Daniels gracing the mound will be out to do a Frank Merriwell act for the populace. The stage is all set and one of the banner crowds of the present year is expected to be present, regardless of the fact that the game is being played away from the usual haunts of the Bulkeley nine—Morgan Park. With a record that includes the scalps of the largest schools in the state and which sums up as thirteen wins out of fourteen starts will be pitted against that which Crosby has to offer both on paper and on the diamond.

Irion will oppose the Bulkeley captain on the mound and he has an enviable reputation this year of sending down the majority of his opponents for the count. The nine from the Brass City is a mighty aggregation of ball tossers, and Bulkeley if it is at its best should give the visitors all the battle they are looking for if not more. The Bulkeley lineup will remain the same.

Academy vs. Aggie Freshmen

This afternoon at the Academy Campus the Academy team will clash with the Connecticut Agricultural College freshmen team. This game is bound to attract wide attention as the Aggies have an excellent reputation and will be one of the strongest teams that the local boys have been up against this season. Coach Brigham an Aggie alumnus, will send Johnny Greene against the yearlings in today's game with Jack Hinrichs on the receiving end. The remainder of the lineup will be: Burke 1b; Garlin 2b; Carroll ss; Cimikoski ss; Capt. McGowan lf; Jarvis cf; Brewer. The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

The Aggies come to Norwich with a long string of victories to their credit and under the coaching of Alexander have developed into a team that has been the equal of any Frosh team in the state. If the Academy manages to win out, and they will if they play alert baseball, it will rank them with the leading teams of the state.

Vandels to Have Busy Week-End

The Rose City Vandels are booked to play three of the best amateur teams in Norwich over the week end. Saturday morning on the Norwich Town Green they will meet the fast Shiggers team in what is expected to be one of the best local games over the week end.

Sunday afternoon on the County Fairgrounds the Vandels will play a double header against the West Ends of Norwich and the Pirates in the order named. The West Ends have a well organized and snappy bunch of ball players and should, from past indications, prove a stumbling block for the Vandels.

Little is known about the Pirates but it is expected that they will also do their share in keeping the Vandels on their toes at all times. No lineup was to be had for either the Slugsters or the West Ends but the following is the team that will represent the Pirates: Alock 1st; Dugas, 2nd; Zuke, 3rd; Morin, ss; Bubbleski, lf; Crewe, cf; Bounce, rf. The probable battery will be Hoffman doing the twirling and Gromke behind the bat.

The Vandels after laying off last Sunday and putting in a stiff weeks practice are expected to be in perfect form for all three games. Some radical changes have been made in the Vandels lineup and it is understood that the pitching staff which hitherto has been rather uncertain has been considerably strengthened by the addition of several new hurlers.

The following is the lineup that the Vandels will probably use with the exception of the batteries in all three games; Fideli will cover the initial bag; DeRusha will hold down the keystone sack with Joe Gillis handling the dizzy corner. Gil Kampf is slated for the short position. Out where the tall grass grows Brown and Armstrong and Leffingwell will do their stuff. The batteries will be Burdick or MacLaren behind the bat and either Mandell, DeRusha, Armstrong, Leffingwell or Lasky in the box.

Riverview vs. Sub Base

The first game of the series between the Riverview club and the U. S. Submarine Base will be played this (Saturday) afternoon on the hospital grounds. The Riverview club has defeated this aggregation in four out of five starts to date, and Lt. Jeffs the new athletic director at the base has marshalled his strongest forces for this series. The Gobs are leading the parade in the New London Twilight league but that has no significance, as the Riverview club holds a 17-4 win over the Socony Club which ranks next to the Sub Base in the league standing. Lefty Harrell, pitcher and first baseman extraordinary will probably toe the mound for the navy with Ascell on the receiving end. Hawes, a member of last year's organization and Capt. will play 2b. The rest of the lineup is composed of new faces this season and little is known of their ability.

The Riverview Club will send in its regular lineup for the first game of the series. Tony West will toe the rubber, and claims that his arm never felt better. Joe Belair will do the receiving. Mills will cover first and the rest of the infield will be taken care of by Hamel 2b, Normandin ss, Dugas 3b, Noell lf, Lefty Couillard cf, and Duffy rf. The game will start at 2:45 p. m. d. s. t. and Hank Morin and Jack Curran will officiate. This means that the ceremonies will be run off in big league fashion.

Windham at Chapman

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 29—Besides the big game locally with Bulkeley and Crosby High of Waterbury battling it out at the Submarine Base, Chapman Tech will entertain Windham High here Memorial Day. With a 5 to 0 verdict already on its slate, Chapman Tech is expecting another victory at the hands of the Willimantic aggregation who have yet to win their first game this season.

Zip Gero is expected to receive the assignment for mound duty, for Morrie Brown worked in the game with the Academy Wednesday. However the plans of the Chapman Tech mentor may be altered in the last moment and Brown may be sent upon the mound in an effort to start Windham back to its haunts a defeated outfit. But the under dog fights, and this is what Windham represents. The showing against Bulkeley was impressive, for any team to hold the Orange and Black to such a low count has some real claim to distinction. Because J. Melia twirled against Bulkeley on Thursday, there is little doubt that he will appear on the slab against Chapman Tech. It would be an iron man's feat to accomplish what will be a pitcher's attempt to hurl twice in three days. But then High school pitchers receive very little over work during the season, and this may decide the upstate coach to attempt to bring his team out of the rut.

Taftville Take Game.

This morning at the Providence street grounds in Taftville the recently organized Taftville A. A. will open the season against the Tabs of New London. This game is bound to be fast as the New London team is one of the leading contenders for the city title in the Whalley Village. Manager Troland will use either Harry Mills or Lefty Dugas against the Temperance men, with Eccleston on the receiving end. The rest of the lineup will include, A. Dugas 1b; Gardie 2b; Chip Dugas 3b; Gauthier ss; Gaudette, Lucier, Joubert, and Leo Jarvis in the outfield.

The Tabs will use Dickenson, star hurler of the New London city league and their lineup will include a number of the more prominent of the New London ball players.

Ashland vs. Westerly.

On Sunday afternoon at Ashland park the Ashland club and the George Moore team of Westerly will renew their battle which was halted last week by rain, with both teams tied at 2 and 2. Nick Mooney is slated to pitch for the Westerly team with Lenihen of LaSalle doing the backstop work. Ashland will use either Leo Jarvis or Stanley in the box. Stanley is a new comer and has shown a world of speed and fast breaking curves. Weston will do the backstopping. He made a very favorable impression in the last game. Carroll will cover third for Jewett city and the remainder of the lineup will be the same as last week.

Rosedales vs. Speed Boys

The Greeneville Rosedales will play the Jewett City Speed Boys Sunday at the Greeneville playgrounds at 2:30. Ryan and Goldblatt is the battery for the Rosedales and Harris and Weston will be the battery for the Speed Boys.

Hardig's to Play Double Bill

The Hardig's A. C. will travel to Montville on Saturday morning and at 10:30 will play the fast Gair team. Last Sunday these two teams clashed but rain stopped the game at the end of the fourth inning with Montville leading by four to two.

NINETY-SIX GOLFERS IN FOR OPEN GOLF TOURNEY AT WORCESTER COURSE

Long Beach, N. Y., May 29—(A. P.)—Ninety-six golfers will fight for the open championship at Worcester, Mass., next week, five from the Pacific Coast, thirty from the Middle West, sixty who qualified in the Eastern rounds at Lido yesterday, and the champion, Cyril Walker.

MacDonald Smith of Lakeview, finished three strokes ahead of the field by duplicating today his record opening card of 70 for a total 36-hole score of 146.

Second to Smith and leading the second section, which played the entire final round in a downpour, stood Bobby Jones, Georgia amateur, with 148. Jones was home in par figures of 73 this afternoon, only one stroke more than he required yesterday, but he was compelled to sink a 20-foot putt on the eighteenth green to match Lido and its hazards.

Walter Hagen of New York finished third in a 147 tie with William Kline of Garden City and John G. Curley of Nantucket, by posting a final eighteen of par 72, but the British open champion disappointed a large gallery by failing to better Smith's record.

MEMORIAL DAY TOURNEY AT NORWICH GOLF CLUB TODAY

The tennis stars of eastern Connecticut will gather at the Norwich Golf Club for the Memorial Day tournament today if the weather permits. If the weather prevents play the tournament will be held the following week end. There are seventeen plays in the first round and there is expected to be some fast playing especially in the match between John Williams and Wells Lyman who are slated to meet at 1 o'clock. Both these players play a hard smashing game, a game that furnishes plenty of thrills for the gallery.

The favorites in the tournament are R. A. Powers, winner of the Eastern Connecticut tournament, Percy Harwood, runner-up to Powers, and Williams. However there are plenty of good players who may upset the dope and come through as winner. The drawings for the first round are as follows:

Weymouth vs. Harwood, Court 1, 11 o'clock.

TIGERS OUT SLUG WHITE SOX, 13 TO 9

Chicago, May 29—(A. P.)—Detroit defeated Chicago 13 to 9 in a slugging match here. Cobb's strategy almost cost him the services of one of his pitchers when he removed Dauss in favor of a pinch hitter and then sent Johnson to the mound. Johnson was hit hard and before he retired the side in the ninth inning was knocked out by a line drive off Falk's bat. He was removed to a hospital. Barrett's home run with two on base was a feature. Score:

MCINNIS SIGNS CONTRACT WITH PITTSBURGH CLUB

Pittsburgh, May 29—(A. P.)—John (Stuffy) McInnis, veteran first baseman and one of the most prominent figures in major league baseball, has signed a one season contract with the Pittsburgh club of the National league. Today, after completing arrangements whereby he became a member of the club, "Stuffy" indulged in an extended workout.

The Pirate management has not specified its intention as to how McInnis would be used, but it is likely that the old-timer will get many chances to hold down the initial sack before the season comes to a close. The Pirates have two youngsters who have been playing first base, and while they have been playing good ball, they lack experience, something that McInnis has had an ample opportunity to acquire. He is also a heavy hitter.

McInnis, who was a member of the famed Athletic infield which helped to win pennants for Connie Mack, was given his unconditional release by the Boston Braves last winter.

Buttercups, Buttercups

...ercups, buttercups,
...at do you hold?
Buttercups, buttercups,
Minting your gold.

How do your rootlets
Filch from the mire
The sunken sunbeams
To fountains of fire?

What blooms have crumbled
To lift you there,—
Golden Amens
To beauty's prayer.

You tip-toe and listen
To birds that rejoice—
These bits of a rainbow,
Blessed with a voice.

I also am hearing
Your golden words,
O buttercups, buttercups,—
Rooted birds!

When Mother Made an Angel Cake

When mother baked an angel cake
we kids would gather round
An' watch her gentle hands at work,
an' never make a sound;
We'd watch her stir the eggs an' flour
an' powdered sugar too,
An' pour it in the crinkled tin an' then when it was through
She'd spread the icing over it, an' we knew very soon
That one would get the plate to lick, an' one would get the spoon.

It seemed no matter where we were those mornings at our play,
Upstairs, or out of doors somewhere, we all knew right away
When Ma was in the kitchen, an' was gettin' out the tin
An' things to make an angel cake, an' so we scampered in.

An' Ma would smile at us an' say:
Now you keep still an' wait an' when I'm through I'll let you lick the spoonand icing plate.
We watched her kneel beside the stove, an' put her arm so white, inside the oven just to find it was heatin' right
An' mouths an' eyes were open then, 'cause we always knew
The time for us to get our taste was quickly comin' due.

Then while she mixed the icing up, she'd hum a simple tune,
An' one of us would bar the plate an' one would bar the spoon.

Could we catch a glimpse of Heaven, and come snow-white kitchen there,
I'm sure that we'd see mother, smiling now, and still as fair!
And I know that gathered round her we should see an angel brood
That is watching every movement as she makes an angel food.
For I think that little angels, as we used to do await
The moment when she lets them lick the icing spoon and plate.

Bees

The folks at my house half the time are thinkin' about dirt;
It sort of gives 'em horrors and they act as if it hurt.
The sight of just a little makes 'em duffy as can be.
They're always washin' sumthin' an' half the time it's me.

It ain't cause I wet my feet that gives me colds an' such;
Tain't runnin' round that keeps me thin, it's cause I'm washed too much.

It does no good to tell 'em they're so stubborn, but I hope
That some day they'll discover what deceitful stuff is soap.

I tell you very often when my hands was clean and white
I've gone along to wash 'em cause it did no good to fight;
When I struck them in the basin 'twas plain enough to see
The soap did make the water as dirty as can be.

If folks would give me half a chance, with soap that didn't cheat,
I guess they'd be surprised to find I'm mechanically neat.
I'd take on flesh an' leave off havin' colds and such, I know
An' anyone couldn't kick about the parts of me that show.

SACO—BIDDEFORD

Dear Corner Members: Abounding in history, legend and narrative are Saco—Biddeford, cities dating back to the very early days of old Maine and many are the Revolutionary and colonial landmarks to be found there at the present time.

The Duchy of Saco is set in the year of 1616 and during the next seven years crude habitations were built up on either side of the Saco river. Biddeford shares with Saco as one of the more historic places of York county. Both Saco and Biddeford over 300 years ago rose humbly from a wilderness. The lords of the soil were the men who were the first to inhabit the territory now known as the Pool but in earlier times called Winter Harbor. They have both forged ahead in proportion to other cities and towns nearby.

They were to some extent seaboard and today are industrial centers.

Biddeford extends down the river to the Saco and the twin cities are known to Old Orchard and other of the shore resorts.

They are shopping centers for the summer colonies and the storm are equipped to supply any and all demands. Up and down the twin cities are numerous points of interest and the grounds thereof, historical, romantic in connection to Old Orchard beach, Camp Keeta, Beachwood, and Pine Point Beach, between Cape Porpoise and Biddeford, a most and are comfortable attractions for visitors.

SOCIAL CORNER EVENTS

June 5—Meeting of club No. 2 in Buckingham Memorial, the last until the September meeting.

June 5—Social Corner Meeting at Union Baptist Church, East Killingly.

Biddeford Pool, conservative and exclusive, is given over to a cottage population of the wealthy, and artists find here a beautiful field for sketches, and there is a magnificent view of surrounding sea shore and countryside. Saco is a residential city of great beauty, and handsome residences abound on the broad street, while Biddeford although a residential city in some respects is more of a busy commercial district.

The first court of the governors and councilors of Maine took place in what is now Saco. There are several landmarks which have for years been points of interest to the vacationist and tourist. Both places are where Crimson Rambler and I enjoyed our selves in 1914—a pleasure never to be forgotten.

It is quite satisfactory to learn the Corner enjoys my bits of history.

Please to read your letter, Fresno. Trust you may write again.

Best wishes.

WASHING BLANKETS AND PAINT

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: It has been quite a while since I have written. I have meant to several times and that is as far as I got.

These are busy days now with flower gardens and housecleaning. It seems as though everything needed to be done at the same time.

I have learned something about washing blankets this spring. A lady from Scotland told me how they did it there and I tried it and the results were so satisfactory I will pass it on to you.

Wash the blankets in hot soapy water and put them through the wringer not screwed down very much. Then rinse in water the same temperature once, or twice if you want to. When they are ready to hang out let one person take hold of each side of one end and another each side of the other and shake them hard, turn over and shake again. The shaking raises the nap and when the blanket is dry it will be almost as fluffy as when new.

I have also learned a new way of washing paint, which I think is an improvement on the old way.

Dip a cloth in kerosene and wipe over the place you are to wash. Then wash in soapy water and rinse in clear water and then wipe dry. The advantage of this method is that it cleans the paint without much outlay of strength.

I have to record the passing of Sister Just Me. She went home May 16th. She had been in failing health for two years, but not to be in bed, but her heart suddenly weakened and the end came. She has been a life long friend of mine and a dear neighbor. We have always been associated in a social way and in church work. She could not take so active a part lately, she has always been interested in everything. The loss of an old friend is a loss that can never be replaced.

I was sorry not to attend the meeting of Club 4 last week. I am looking forward to going to East Killingly June 5, and renewing acquaintance with sisters I have met before.

I would like a pin, Mr. Editor, if there are any left.

WONDERFUL DAY AT CENTRAL

To Our Editor and Member of the Social Corner: I want to write a few lines and thank our editor for my pin which I received quite a while ago but have been too busy to write.

I wore my pin to the meeting at Central Village, May 26th and it was a lovely meeting. I enjoyed the day very much and a very fine dinner was enjoyed after which there were recitations, readings and songs by the members. The sketch call Friendship by Mrs. Gallup and Mrs. Burke was very nice and I am sure every one enjoyed that.

I met lots of the sisters I had not met before and I think our club is rightly named for they surely are so nice and sociable that no one can feel strange among them.

I do enjoy the meetings and the letters too.

The poetry sent in by Picos, Sittin' the Fields is very good, also Crimson Rambler's letter.

I have been reading over all the letters today and find them all interesting and helpful.

ARIES: I hope your picture will be sent they surely ought to be. I was so glad to meet you.

I hope Rosalind got home all right. It was a wonderful day.

Well I must close now with best wishes to all.

...OF NEW YORK

...of Social Corner and ...nuch interest to the ... New York, as given by ... Being a New Yorker, ...ored, I can fully appreciate ... comprehend her attitude... Reason to transplanting a flower ... must pull up another. Flowers, recollections of my early childhood, when living in New York are indeed most pleasant and I can assure you we were deprived of none of the pleasures so dear to the heart of every child. We enjoyed all the out door sports, including skating and sleighing, and in summer we had wonderful May parties, out in the open, with our king and queen of the May and May pole gayly decorated with flying streamers and the other children dressed in all white and last but not least a most generous supply of refreshments—enough to feed an army. Then later on in the summer, family parties were formed for an all day excursion up the Hudson, to West Point or Newburgh and sometimes down the day to Rockaway, Long Branch, Sheepshead and other beaches, and many warm summer evenings were spent on Riverside drive, enjoying the beautiful sunsets over the Hudson and watching the boats sailing up and down the river. The sunsets over the Hudson are wonderful and it may well be called the "Rhine of America."

Living near Central park, we embraced the opportunity of playing on the common, where the millionaire's children, accompanied by their nurse maids, and the children of the self-made man were all on a common footing. So we were out in the open as much as the average child in smaller cities and the same advantages hold good today, with a great many more added. We frequented the museum of natural history, Metropolitan museum of art, and the Aquarium to broaden the intellect and cultivate a love of art. In the summer months we had the opportunity of hearing band concerts, conducted by famous leaders in Central park, and other parts throughout the city, instilling a love for good music in New York. The influx of strangers is greater than the city can accomodate, all eager to avail themselves of the many opportunities of the large city. For that reason it is difficult to discern the real New Yorker from the masses. In fact they are few and far between, but we have no better example of the real type than can be found in Governer Alfred Smith and Chauncey Depew. The average New Yorker is hospitable, wonderfully good natured and forebearing in large crowds under trying circumstances. Great lovers of good music, they are likewise deeply religious and can be found more frequently in churches or attending instructing lectures. They are fond of dancing, but are no slaves to it. They enjoy the opera and a good play, always followed by a good feast, and the best is none too good. Conditions in the subway are most deplorable, but when you stop to consider it is only a five cent fare for over 30 miles it is not to be wondered at. But there are many other means of transportation and none more delightful than a ride on the top of a fifth avenue bus and that costs but ten cents from one end of the city to the other.

So all summed up, little old New York is not such a bad place after all, when compared with other cities of equal size.

FINE TIME AT CENTRAL VILLAGE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I want to thank Rural Aunty and her helpers for the delightful time they gave us at Central Village. Those that did not go missed a great deal. I have seen a few replies in the Corner about ridding a house of ants. If the sister will get some black flea at her druggist she will have no more bother with ants. It is a powder and has no odor. Kerosene will keep them away as long as the odor lasts, but it is impossible to put it along the floor of a pantry because the food will taste. I know I have tried it. I put it in the cupboard where I kept my flour once. The floor did not touch the oil but it took the scent and I lost it all. If one has those little red ants, the tiny ones such as are often in old houses, a bag, or dish, of onions set on the floor of a cupboard will drive them out of that particular place as they dislike the odor. One sister tells of setting traps, I tried that for seven years and then put the onions in the cupboard and they left, and came in under the sink. A while after I had some sulphur in a bag and put it in there not thinking about the ants and I have never seen one in the house since. It must have been the sulphur. I wish to thank Cakkie, I think she is the one, for the yellow rose.

I would like a pin also and thank you, if I am in time. I hope many of the sisters will come to the meeting June 5 at East Killingly.

MOCK MINCE PIES

Dear Social Corner Friends: Just a word to the Corner Members. I enjoy the letters so much I feel that I ought to try to help out a little. Will give a few things that may be useful.

To take out paint from clothing use equal parts of ammonia and spirits of turpentine. No matter how dry or hard it may be saturate the spot two or three times and then wash out in soap suds.

To take out machine oil, rub with a little lard or butter and wash in warm water and soap, or, simply rub with a little soap and wash out in cold water.

Mock Mince Pie: Twelve crackers rolled fine, one cup of hot water, half cup vinegar, one cup molasses, one of sugar, one of currants, one of raisins, spice to taste. Measure with a tea cup. Some use one cup of dried bread crumbs and also add a small cup of butter. This is for four pies.

I would likes to know the address of Mrs. Edith Hammond if any of the sisters know.

I have been a Social Corner member a long time and would be pleased with a Social Corner pin. I think its nice to have one.

Best regards to all the sisters and editor.

SUGGESTS CARDS GIVE ADDRESS

Dear Social Sisters: How nice to find the Corner page on well filled. I was sorry to read of the death of our sister Betty Brown. She was such a pleasant person and always had something for our entertainment. We have lost quite a number during the past year.

I hope the sick ones are on the gain. Catnip, Red Clover, Gaga and others who have had to be operated on, you have my sympathy especially when you have trouble with the eyes.

By the next meeting hope you will be able to see us all. I wish to thank the sisters who so kindly remembered my birthday—Maple Leaf, Eca, Chocolate, White Dawn, True Blue, Free Air, I. J. B., Dearie, Robin, Scottie, U. No Me, Strawberry, Rosy Posy, Franklin, So. West, Forglove, Comewah and any others.

I think it would be nice to put name and address on a card when sending.

CALL FOR HELP OF THE POET WRITERS

Dear Sisters of the Corner: I am calling again just for a few minutes. Am wondering what is the matter with the pieces out this way, no letter from any of them in several weeks. Is it because I have not written? If so here goes for a letter soon from Eca, Maple Leaf, Lorna, G. B. M. And what is the matter with M. E. B.? You know in order to be a good member you must write occasionally.

U. C. E.: Were you tired out waiting on the party who gave you the time of your life? They all said they had a good time and they would call again sometime, and will always remember how hard you worked to give us a good time. The trip to and from your lovely home was greatly enjoyed by all those present.

Bumble Bee: Was disappointed not to see you there, while you were so near yet so far, and we looked for you as we went by each way, but only saw the kiddies.

M. E. B.: Welcome to the Corner, we shall expect to see you meeting with the members at the Buckingham.

Catnip: Very glad to hear you are feeling so much better and hope you will continue to improve.

Wordy Belle: Why so silent? Do you remember where you spent the day the Wednesday before Memorial day last year? It doesn't seem so long, does it?

Saville: What a nice time we had that day we spent with Eca. Recently, didn't we? Hope you three reached home safely, although I have not heard from you since.

Balsam Fir: Your letter, describing Poland Spring was very interesting to me as I have a relative who goes there every summer. The previous one describing Old Orchard also was of much interest to me as I had been there many times when I used to visit in Maine and was there and spent the day before it was consumed by fire several years ago, what a beautiful surf there is to be seen at Old Orchard! I also attended the theater at that time at the end of the boardwalk, a beautiful sight.

Hope all the sisters who have been sick are improving and to those who have lost dear ones, I extend my sympathy.

CRIMSON RAMBLER.

THE USES OF EXPERIENCE

Dear Corner Friends: Experience is a wise and beneficient teacher, it is the pupil who is to blame if the lesson learned is not taken to heart. The men and women who have achieved greatness have been so profited by the experience gained in their earlier years.

At 79, Goethe, found his life more valuable and satisfying than in his so called prime. He was "superior in many respects" he said, at 46 but time had more than paid for advantages of which it had deprived him. We lose with age unless we are able to make good use of experience. If action is all we appreciate, old age must mean loss, but if contemplation is among our pleasures the cool of the evening may surpass in charm the midday sun.

The wise man plans and prepares for a happy decline by sobriety, by thought, by unselfish interests, by keeping alive his imagination. Bolingbroke, writing in old age to Swift, rejoiced that the gales of passion were subdued; that from surfeit and anxiety had come serenity, refreshments, calm. Indolence means decay. If we do not make gains our inevitable losses overwhelm us. Eagerness must never be allowed to depart or enthusiasm, or belief in man.

Social Corner Editor: Many thanks for the button. I think it very neat.

FORT GRISWOLD

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: Today the winds play lightly over the green turf where on Sept. 6, 1781 the massacre of Fort Griswold occurred, and where 166 British against one-fifth the number of Americans burned the towns of New London and Groton.

Looking across the harbor from New London the imposing monument which stands in memory of those who fought against treason, seemingly touches the blue sky.

It is but a few minutes time taking the Groton ferry from New London and walking up the steep embankment to the entrance of Fort Griswold, which is now maintained as a public memorial.

The curious or interested pedestrian wanders through this historic spot, silently reviewing the tragedy of nearly 130 years ago, when the British under the command of the traitor Benedict Arnold destroyed the neighboring towns.

But today the stars and stripes float idly in its midst. Here and there a pale violet forces its way to the sunlight. The silence and loneliness overwhelms the stranger. Only the marvellous view out to sea uplifts the soul of the stranger.

Within the ramparts the cannon balls are piled in heaps, and over the re-inforcements the guns silently point seaward, even now awaiting the signal for defense.

The monument stands near the top of the embankment at the right of the site of the fort looking out to sea. At the top of the stairway nearly 400 feet above New London, a wonderful view of the harbor, up the Thames river and over the sea, the endless Atlantic ocean, is before you.

The Monument House under the jurisdiction of the Daughters of the Revolution is in the rear of the monument, and contains much of historic interest. The public library is also within a short distance.

Enclosed by an iron railing is a slab in memory of Col. William Ledyard who on that spot fell by his own sword in the hands of a British officer to whom he had surrendered in the deadly massacre of Fort Griswold.

Today the gentle flowers of the springtime are scattered over the mounds of those who without faltering gave their lives against the treason of one of their own countrymen, and gave us our freedom.

But the sunshine sparkles on the harbor, and as one stands on this historic spot and looks away to sea and across to Fort Trumbull, whose guns also silently point seaward in an eternal vigil, to the left to the right the phantom ships of the British cross the horizon—fade away in the distance and are no more.

THE LITTLE SPINSTER.

FOXGLOVE'S TRIP TO CHICAGO

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Home again and on the job. Whirlwind and I attended both meetings this month and saw a lot of familiar faces. Also we visited Dom Pedro for a short time while attending a convention of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty last Tuesday. We found her well and smiling.

I wish to thank the sisters that so kindly remembered me on my birthday—Strawberry, Neela, Cenanah, Whirlwind, White Clover, True Blue, Old Glory, Olive, Calla Lily, Rosy Posy, Pond Lily, Scottie and Remember Me. They had a party for me at my friend's cottage at India Neck. There were 35 there. They gave me the fountain pen I am using to write to you.

Whirlwind and I reached home safe and sound. She did fine, driving her car when she got here so we could visit often during the summer.

Strawberry: Tea and chard have asked me for the recipe for crab salad. Am sorry to have kept you waiting so long.

Crab Salad: 1 can crab meat two or three stalks of celery, 2 sweet green peppers, about 12 good sized potatoes and salad dressing, also a little salt. Cut potatoes, celery, and peppers very small, pick over crab meat and mix all together. Use salad dressing and salt to taste.

I like this as one can of crab meat will serve 8 people.

Now I am going to write a little about my wonderful trip to Chicago. Those of you who were at the Buckinghams will pardon me for you heard me talk about it, but there are so many shut-ins, etc., it might help to chase them.

I left home at 9 a. m. Wednesday May 1st went by auto to Springfield, took train there and rode 24 hours through Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Ind., and Ill. The country was not very pretty when I went out as everything looked so dead. There were acres and acres of level farm land, then off in the distance you would see a farm house and all the out buildings. I reached Chicago at 12.45 central time, my sister-in-law met me with the car and we rode about 2 minutes before we reached her home in the south side. The first day I was there I went out to the theater. As I am writing about theaters will tell you all about them all. The Tivoli holds 2,000 people, has a 45 piece orchestra, has a $36,000 pipe organ and cost several million dollars to build. I thought it was wonderful, but when my brother told me he would take me to the Capitol, which was so large the Tivoli would go inside of it I began to think I was going to see something. We went to the Capitol and it certainly was beautiful. As you took your seat one of almost 5,000, you could look up and there was the blue sky, stars twinkling, moon rising, just like the out of doors, at the left was the front of a bungalow, with statuary and gardens, pergolas and fountains, while the stage was like a big arch with fountains at each side. State Lake theater was the largest vaudeville theater. I went to ten different ones and there are over 100 in all, big and little, all kinds and prices.

The parks—One can not realize or imagine how beautiful the parks are until they have seen them. There are miles and miles of boulevards all through these parks, tennis courts, ball grounds, golf links, bridle paths, and conservatories. One can go for 300 miles and not leave the boulevards. Their signalling system is wonderful. Any one can drive with safety if they mind the signals. We spent one whole day in Lincoln park. Here they have the zoo where I saw lions, tigers, leopards, monkeys, buffaloes, camel, deer, bear, wolves, wild cats and zebras. One whole house was devoted to tropical birds. Such sights and such sounds one rarely has the opportunity to see and hear. We also went into the conservatory which was lovely. The one in Garfield park is the finest in the world and it happened to be flower show week while we were there. I saw orchids growing and hundreds of thousands of tulips and daffodils and other flowers. One section was for tropical ferns, trees and plants. The walks through the whole building were cool and among everhanging lease and ferns, with waterfalls, ponds, etc., interspersed all through them.

I also visited the natural history museums. I could not begin to tell you all the wonderful things I saw there. Also visited the Art museum and both of these are considered the finest in the world.

One of the things that would interest you all are the stores. Of course Marshall Fields is the largest in the world. It's 17 stories high covers one block and has everything in it. The men's store is across the street and reached by a tunnel of marble and onyx. This is four stories high and covers a block, and devoted entirely to men's toggery. In the big store in the 9th floor they had a seven room bungalow all furnished ready to live in. This was to give one a chance to see how to drape windows and furnish a home. The other half of the floor was to show you how to furnish your porches and lawns.

They have a playroom for the kiddies. Here the parents can leave their children, a lady is in charge, and there are sandpile, merry-go-rounds, bobby horses, swings, chutes and playthings to amuse them. One department alone is larger than the whole floor of an ordinary city store. There were heaps of other stores large and small.

We were 11 1-2 miles from the loop and we could take surface cars, busses elevated trains or autos. One of the finest boulevards in the city is owned for blocks by colored people of which there are 250,000 in the city.

One thing more and I'm done. The most wonderful thing of all was the fact they had filled in Lake Michigan for two miles and built a boulevard and the new Field Museum on the built up land. I saw how they were doing it and it is wonderful.

We had theater parties, bunco parties, lunches, auto rides and sight-seeing trips nearly every day I was there.

Mother and I started home April 24, going up into Michigan into Canada (where I got out and walked around just so I could say I had been on Canadian soil) back into the United States and of course we passed by Niagara Falls but I could not see them as it was about midnight. We reached Springfield at 1.30 p. m., waited 15 minutes and took train to Meriden where friends had a taxi waiting and they took us home to lunch where 30 of our friends were waiting to welcome us. I had a wonderful time every minute I was gone but was glad to get back to dear old Connecticut. There, I hope the editor will forgive my taking so much space and I will try not to write very often.

Now I wonder if the editor does not think I deserve a button.

Please come to Elizabeth park the last of next month for a Social Corner picnic.

One thing I forgot, I had lunch with my cousin's wife in the most exclusive club in Chicago,— the Athletic club, where it costs about $1,000 per year for dues. It has 12 dining rooms and there are parlors, club rooms and ladies rooms. My cousin has a membership there. I had lunch also at the Log Cabin, Stephanson's, Blue Moon and several others I can't remember. You would not think to see the people on the street that anybody was poor in Chicago, but they tell me it's the vilest, wickedest city in the world next to Paris. But I did not see any of that part of it.

There I'm all done.

ANTICIPATING EAST KILLINGLY MEETING

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Have not written but have not forgotten the Corner. Castus, Peggy Alden, Cara, and Butterfly. Have not seen any letters from you. Where are you now? I want to go to the Social Corner meeting very much at East Killingly.

I wonder if the editor has one more pin, as I want one very much, and thank you very much for it.

CLUB NO. 6'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Dear Editor and Corner Folks: In reading the letter of 1491 announcing the meeting at East Killingly on June 5th I found she had left out one very important thing, so am writing to let you know, that this meeting is to be a birthday celebration of Club 4 which was started on June 5th 1916 at the home of Primrose with six members, five of whom were present (am I telling the truth this time. Happy Go Lucky?) Hope as many of you as can will come and see how we have grown in seven years.

Thank you, editor, for the pin. Have worn it twice, the first time at the funeral of our dear sister Just Me who passed away after months of suffering and who was beloved by all Corner members, who had the pleasure of knowing her. Heard one sister say that she always reminded her of a piece of Dresden china, she was so delicate and fragile.

The second time of wearing the pin was at our meeting at Central Village where Rural Aunty made it so pleasant for all who attended. It takes time and labor to plan and carry out every thing so nicely as it was done there. The little one act playlet and reading were enjoyed.

Black Eyed Susie: How did those pictures come out, especially the group of three? If they are good I would like one. Am wondering what Butterfly will spring on me at the E. K. meeting.

Ino: I think of you often and wish I could cheer you in some way in your days of sorrow and loneliness following the death of your dear husband.

Delilah Deal: If you are able to ride in an auto I do hope some one will bring you to our meeting at E. K. It is a beautiful spot, there at the church, and we would all enjoy seeing you very much.

Whirlwind: What are you and Foxglove saying? You know I have extra beds so come the day before if you can.

As this is the time of year for getting out in the woods for flowers and roots, I am sending in a poison ivy cure. To equal parts of alcohol and water or glycerine and water, add sufficient ferric chlorine to make a five per cent solution. Ferrous sulphate may be used but the ferric chlorine is preferred. If one bathes with this solution before going into the woods the ivy may be handled without fear of poisoning. If the poisoning has already occurred, the parts should be bathed with the solution and dried thoroughly with a fan. Quicker results may be obtained by coating the poisoned parts with paraffin, on which should be laid a thin layer of cotton and a coat of paraffin put on top of the cotton. This excludes the air, prevents scratching, and allows the new skin to be more quickly restored.

Hope all our sick ones and shut ins are on the road to recovery and that you, Red Clover, are able to be in your own home.

Best wishes for all from

TWICE TWENTY.

JUNE 5 IS CLUB NO 4'S ANNIVERSARY

Dear Editor and Sisters: First of all I'll say thank you for the pin which came Saturday night.

Twice Twenty reminded me that I forgot something in my last letter but if I didn't forget something it would be because some one else wrote the letter and not yours truly. I forgot to mention the fact that June 5th is club No. 4's anniversary, as it was organized June 5, 1917. I think at Primrose's house.

Let every one come prepared to read or write the first piece they ever learned.

Hope Cobweb: Your letter received and have asked Twice Twenty to answer for me, as she knows more about the subject than I do.

Thanks to the rain, Zany, I didn't have to resort to the small pox sign.

Well, Just Pete, how's the cross word puzzle? That word was spelled correctly. Hope you can meet with us June 5.

Hope to see a goodly number at the anniversary. There's plenty of room. Put on your thinking caps and decide what was your debut into the literary field.

Well, Keziah Doolittle, what has become of you? Have been looking and listening for you, lo these many days. 1492.

KEEPING RUST FROM — PEN

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Thought I would write a few lines and not let my pen get rusty.

Crimson Rambler: How are you? Hope you are feeling better.

Eca: Time you got busy and wrote. You know rusty pens will do good service.

G. E. M.: Why so silent? You know it is not nice to neglect one's sisters. Hope to see you at the next meeting.

U. C. E.: How are you? We arrived home safe and we surely had a good time that day. I enjoyed it and I think everybody did.

Charleen: Was surprised to know you are one of our members.

Aries: Shall you be at the next meeting? Let me know if you will and I will bring those slips.

True Blue: How are you? Suppose you are thinking of the outings that are coming later.

Papa's Boy: I see you occasionally when I pass by. Hope to meet you in the near future.

Many thanks to the editor for pin.

AGREES WITH ELIZA JANE

Dear Editor, Sisters and Friends of the Social Corner: Please don't think I have forgotten you. I know it is a long time since I have written, but one thing and another came along to prevent so letter writing has been neglected.

I read the letters every week and enjoy them all. They are both helpful and interesting.

I am at Golden Spur this summer and it is very pleasant here. The robins have nests in trees near the house and I love to watch them. Not a robin would be killed if I had my way.

I have the Norwich Bulletin every day and keep in touch with my home town. I agree with Eliza Jane when she said "how any mother can leave their children at home and carry around a poodle dog is more than I can understand." Some day they may see their mistake and then perhaps it will be too late.

Yellow Daisy: We are all waiting patiently for your letter.

Narragansett: I read your letter and am sorry you have been sick. You have been a good friend to me. We are thinking of riding up your way before very long and we will stop and say Hello, to you.

How good our editor is to remember us with a pin. I would like one, and thank you in advance.

Yours for the Corner.

GOOD RECIPES

Dear Sisters: Some more recipes to try.

Grape Nut Pie: 1-2 cup grape nuts, 1-2 cup pastry flour, 3 tablespoons cane sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup cold water, 2 cups scalded milk, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Mix flour sugar and salt to a paste with cold water and add to scalded milk, cook over water 15 minutes, add beaten yolks and cook three minutes. Remove from heat, add lemon juice and grape nuts.

Grape Nut Golden Cake Filling: Four yolks beaten thoroughly with one cup of sour cream and sugar (1 cup) add grape nuts (1-2 cup) and vanilla, when cold spread between layer and on top of an average sized cake.

This has a slightly piquant taste and is a pretty filling. The cake may be made with the four whites using no yolks in the batter.

I save my sour cream for two or three days until there is one cup on hand.

GREETINGS FROM AUNT JERUSHA

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Well it is raining nicely and guess it will do a lot of good for it was getting quite dry. Now I just thought I would send in what I had tried for ants which bothered me last summer. My son got it from a lady where he boarded. It comes in sheets called Magic Hoodoo Paper and on the sheet it tells you how to use it. There's something about it they don't seem to like, and it is no bother to use like some other things.

Sister Barbar: Hope you will wear your pin.

My how I did want to go to Central Village. If the trolley cars were closer I think I should have been there. It must take some pins to go around. Think the editor very kind to supply each of us with one. I see in Saturdays' page of two more sisters passing away. Am very sorry for those left to mourn their loss but it is the way of the world and all have got to pass along sooner or later. No one knows who is to be next. Sometimes it is those you don't expect in the least.

Aries: Hope you went to Central Village and of course you had a lovely day. I thought of you many times through the day. I have 22 turkeys doing well at present, got turkeys 28 27 more eggs to be off by the middle of June. How are those little goosies? Hope you raise them.

R. L. J.: Don't you think you would like a pin to wear then I would know you quickly, as I meet you so often? My I am not a shut in but a stay in. Guess I must be getting old.

Olga: Hope sister's eyes are much improved by this time. Hoping the sick are gaining and all others are well. Will say good night. As ever.

AUNT JERUSHA.

GREETINGS FROM U. C. E.

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Corner: Am writing to say I have received a Social Corner pin and many thanks to the editor for it.

Crimson Rambler: Glad you survived the day. Your verses are very cute and witty.

Eca: How about those yellow beauties? Hope they did not cause you any trouble.

Maple Leaf, True Blue, and Lorna: Why so silent? Hope you arrived home safely. Every thing O. K. up here. Hope to see you all June 3rd.

Snow Flake: Glad you are satisfied. I am not worrying.

Bumblebee: Some rides we are having and dont have to pay for gas either.

Queen Elizabeth: Glad to see you if only to say Hello, and good bye.

Catnip: Am very glad you are better, and hope to see you soon.

Red Clover: Glad you are improving Golden Glow: Hope my visit with you that day did not make you sick so you could not come over the 16th. Will close with these verses, entitled A Perfect Day.

When you come to the end of a perfect day,
And sit alone with your thoughts,
While the chimes ring out with a carol gay,
For the joy that the day has brought,
Do you think what the end of a perfect day
Can mean to a tired heart,
When the sun goes down with a flaming ray,
And the dear friends have to part?
Well, this is the end of a perfect day
Near the end of a journey too—
But it leaves a thought that is big and strong
With a wish that is kind and true
For mem'ry has painted this perfect day
With colors that never fade,
And we find at the end of a perfect day,
The soul of the friend we've made.
Success to the Corner.

PEN FRIENDS.

Dear Editor and Corner Sisters: I enjoy as of old your nice letters and intend to write oftener, but am prevented from doing so. I am sorry so many of you have been or are sick, and my heart goes out in sympathy to those who have been called to part with a dear one. We shall long feel the influence of the letters which we shall now miss sadly.

Pen friends seem as near as personal friends. I think some times we draw nearer to each other. There is not any restraint as there is sometimes in a personal interview. Of course you have all been busy preparing for the summer. I have been poorly but hope to feel better now. My still remains cool and sometimes chilly and warmth feels good.

Everything is looking beautiful, the fruit trees were full of blossoms, making huge bouquets of sweet fragrance which permeates every where for the air is filled with it.

I enjoy reading of all the clubs' meetings and sharing the pleasure with you. It is nearly time for picnics and the out of door good times. I feel pleased that I receive letters from some of you occasionally and I shall always be glad to hear from any of you at any time. Now I wish to thank one and all the sisters who remembered me on May 7th, my birthday. You did indeed help to make it a happy and a pleasant day for me and I thank each of you most heartily.

I wish you all a happy summer but if shadows and clouds arise I trust that strength will be given you according to your needs.

Best wishes to all.

DIANA.

KNOWS SOME OF THE MEMBERS

Dear Social Corner Folks: Have you room in your corner for me? I always enjoy all the letters and have a lot of fun trying to guess who the different ones are. I know a lot of you but not by pen names. My folks have spoken of you until I feel as if I had met you. I know Calla Lily and have known her for a number of years. Afraid I used to pester her when I was a kid but we had a lot of good times together anyway. Funny what a difference a few years will make. Most of the old crowd is married and scattered. I find home is a pretty good place yes awhile.

Have to go by one sister's house on my way to work. Think there is a "brother" in the family also. Just love to see all the flowers around her place and some day I am going to get up courage and speak as I go

LARGE VOLUME OF BUSINESS DISPOSED OF AT YESTERDAY'S LEGISLATIVE SESSION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, May 29—Forty-three reports stapled ready for action greeted the members of the house when they met today. Several of them, being those that were not acted upon yesterday when the house was forced to adjourn, when a lack of a quorum was disclosed while the fight was on to get certain roads added to the trunk line system and others eliminated.

Among those it was sought to include was the one leading from near the Taftville station to the line on the Willimantic road at Hyde's Corner, introduced by Representative Davis, of Franklin. The adjournment was forced when the elimination of the highway from North Woodstock to West Willington was under discussion. Considerable criticism was heard today of those whose absence created such a condition in these closing days.

H. B. 1049, developed in committee passed today, provides a commission to be appointed by the governor to prepare a plan for uniform court charters that will meet the problem that comes before every general assembly for charters for town and town courts. The commission is to report to the 1927 session.

The bill increasing the minimum amount to be paid members of the Teachers Retirement association from $300 to $350 was passed.

The doors of the house were ordered closed while the nomination of Albert B. Hamlin as judge of the court of common pleas for Litchfield county, by Governor Trumbull on which there was a fifty-fifty vote in the judiciary committee, came up. The question was divided on the two reports, and Judge Alling moved the passage of the resolution appointing Mr. Hamlin. Johnson, of Kent, endorsed the nomination. The appointment was opposed by Representative Burpee of Groton. From the evidence given at the hearing before the committee it was shown that he was not of a judicial temperament. He has had very little legal experience in our courts. He has been in the state only a short time.

It was a matter of regret to him that he had to be in opposition to the governor. It would be a mistake to create as a judge, the man who was so poorly qualified for the position. Burpee, of Woodbury, received the qualifications of the candidate and approved of them. Many of the members of the bar in the county and in practice there, had refused to consider a nomination by the governor. He wished that the nomination might be approved.

Bell of Salsbury was of the opinion that the governor had made an error. The man nominated was not passed of the qualifications for the position. The candidate had been over all sections of the state seeking endorsement for the position, which was not a proper thing to do, for a position of as high a character as udge of an important court. He is a man that is almost unknown by the bar.

Averill of Branford was satisfied that the governor had made no mistake, he had all the points under discussion before he had nominated him. The nomination should be approved. Judge Peck of Bristol said that while the nominee had been a resident of the state for twelve years, he had never practiced or had a case in the courts of Connecticut. It was an undignified proceeding for a man going about the state asking for the support of the members of this house for such a high position. It would be a disgrace to the state if he had the endorsement of eminent lawyers and judges in the state of New York. The nomination should not be confirmed. Mr. Burrows said that while he was not a resident of Litchfield bar he was a member bar of the bar of Connecticut and a member of this assembly and on his oath of office he was compelled to oppose the nomination. If the nominee was fit for the position, after all that has been said against him, he would go without delay to the governor and ask him to withdraw his name. He has been endorsed by only three members of the bar in Litchfield county. Weatherhead of Windham said that he did not know the candidate but he had confidence in the judgment of "honest John Trumbull". He moved the previous question and Leader Alling closed the debate. If this man was qualified to fill important judicial positions in New York, why not in Connecticut. Balloting on the nomination resulted in 110 yeas and 78 nays and the resolution was declared carried.

The house met at 10:47 with Speaker Darbie in the chair. Prayer was made by Rev. Arthur C. Lewis, house chaplain. The bill concerning the highway bill that was under discussion when the house adjourned yesterday was on motion. Mr. Hurlburt, of Somers, moved that the bill be recommitted to the committee on roads, rivers and bridges. It was voted to transmit all matters to the senate as soon as action had been taken. Several bills seeking to validate medical licenses which had been canceled were rejected.

Resolutions were passed appointing Charles F. Willard, deputy judge of the town court of Groton and Frank E. Robinson, deputy judge of the town court of Griswold.
